In an effort to get at the cause of the increase of crime in the United States, Case and Comment, a legal review printed at Rochester, N. Y., is inclined to blame the indifference of the public in the matter of what are regarded as small offences. An immigrant arriving in the country, it says, sees in almost every city, that the laws for the regulation of saloons are a farce. Sales of liquor on Sundays and to minors are illegal, but it is as easy to be served in a saloon on Sunday, as any other day. There are laws against lotteries, raffles and various kinds of gambling, but they are violated persistently and with practical impunity. Perjury in court is so frequent and often so obvious that everyone from the judge down, feels certain the witness is testifying falsely, yet the attempts to punish it are so rare that few witnesses, willing to falsify their evidence are deterred by fear of the consequences. Children learn that there are offences against property and the person they may indulge in with practical certainty that they will never be punished. They strip fruit trees of their neighbors and make a pastime of stoning Jew peddlars. Young men on a lark damage property and fight the police. Drivers of automobiles imperil the lives of the public without hesitation. In cases of strikes, destruction of property, violent assaults, and even murders are treated almost as legitimate incidents. What wonder, asks the article, that as the result of such an education, there should now be a generation in which lawlessness is a plague. The people are merely reaping what they sowed. The argument of the article is that the whole range of lawlessness among the people needs to be repressed with the same stern and inflexible justice, until it becomes known and understood by all men, high and low, that laws are made to be respected and obeyed. As the opinion of a legal review, addressed especially to lawyers and judges, this is worthy of attention in more places than the United States. The tendency to look leniently on the perpetration of crime is an encouragement to those who break the law in small things, and so creates a disregard for all law, and leads to a situation that sometimes brings on communities, great evils, indeed.

SPIRITS TOOK FLIGHT

It is not often that police officers play an important part in a spiritualistic seance, but it seems that they did so on Friday night, October 18, at No. 572 Bathurst street, in the city of Toronto, says the Christian Guardian. "Rev." C. C. Howland and "Rev." Mrs. Howland, both ministers of the gospel of spiritualism, were giving a series of seances, and receiving communications from the spirit world, to the great satisfaction of their hearers. But another local spiritualist, it is asserted, took umbrage at the intrusion into her territory, and laid information at police headquarters that these two very reverend individuals were really deceiving the people by discreditable tricks. This, coupled with information received from the Boston police, seemed to justify investigation; and Constables Hogue and Brisbane were accordingly sent to the seance to investigate. When the spirit appeared, as usual, rude hands laid hold upon the celestial visitant, and the constable turned on his electric torch. But some of the "worshippers" rallied around the gentle spirit (which by the way, turned out to be "Rev." Mrs. Howland in very scanty attire,) and the constables were forced to use their clubs in order to retain their prisoners. However, in the end the law prevailed, and the two "Reverends" and their paraphernalia were duly landed at the police station, where a charge of fraud was promptly laid against them, and they were only released from custody when each had secured bail of $400. We rather think that for awhile the spirits will be inclined to give Toronto a wide berth, as in a rough-and-tumble it seems that disembodied spirits stand a poor chance against policemen's clubs. Yet people believe in these things!

PEN POINTS

This is the last day for sending in your Limericks.

The Thanksgiving turkey is scarce; so is cash.

The Thanksgiving Day "burd" is just now feeling like many an aldermanic candidate after election day.

Thanksgiving Day and Hallowe'en will be observed on the same date this year. Surely the small boy has a double cause for gratitude.

It is too bad that the financial crash has not struck the inflated quotations for turkeys.

Three bye-elections take place on Tuesday next in Ontario. Just watch two of them line up in the Conservative column.

Now, if some of the great clouds of dust flying around the streets were only of the financial variety, we should hear but few complaints.

An exchange says "only three banks closed their doors in New York city in one day." Is not that enough?

With two of Toronto's largest industries already laying off men, it looks as if there were a few breakers ahead, but it is hoped they will be mildly passed.

Every head of a family pays $27 a year more taxes than he did ten years ago, because of the Ottawa grafting. And yet we wonder why so many things are dearer than they used to be!

Nothing is sacred to the "Yank." He is even talking of removing a portion of the world-famed "Giants Causeway" to America. Next he will be after the blarney stone.

The members of the Young Conservative Club should not forget the annual meeting which will be held on Thanksgiving Day afternoon at three o'clock. A full attendance is requested.

If the Laurier Government is to be eternally praised for the prosperity created, surely it will not object to being saddled with the responsibility for adversity, should hard times come.

The London Advertiser must surely have a funny man behind the scissors. The following, which is clipped from the Canadian News in brief column, is the latest; "Lindsay is to have an automobile telephone service. We have heard of the "Hello-lens" telephone and of the tele-a-woman" phone, but never before of the automobile phone. The advertiser meant to say "Automatic" instead of automobile.

A gentleman at a political meeting in Campbellford said a company was ready to build electric roads through the county if the Government would develop the power and allow them to use it. Now that is really a generous offer. It is a wonder he did not suggest that the Government should build the roads as well for the company. The Grand Trunk Pacific promoters can give the Campbellford gentleman pointers worth money. — Bobcaygeon Independent.

Industrial accidents occurring to 340 individual work people in Canada during the month of September, 1907, were reported to the department of labor. Of these, 26 were fatal, and 244 resulted in serious injuries. In addition, five fatal accidents were reported as having taken place, prior to the beginning of the months, information not having been received by the department before September, 1907. The number of fatal accidents reported in September, 1907, was 70 less than the previous month, and six more than in September, 1906.

The Canadian Club movement is popular and progressive. It has "caught on." Not only have such clubs been formed recently in Peterborough, Brantford, St. Thomas and Stratford, but other lo[illegible] are all taking up the work of organization. The influence of these clubs was referred to in a recent address by Mr. Rudyard Kipling, in Montreal, who said that they were performing a good work, and he had found it really amazing to discover the network they had spread from east to west. In these clubs he found that all were united on the essentials of the empire. Mr. Kipling devoted considerable attention to a discussion of what he meant by the development of the national spirit, and the after development of the imperial spirit.

The allurements of commercial life and fear of the "Ministerial dead line" were given as reasons for the alarming decrease in the number of young men entering the ministry, by the Congregational national council meetings in Cleveland. Increased pay for ministers was the only solution suggested. One minister said, "Congregations seem to think that a minister should labor for nothing. We cannot blame young men if they do not venture their own lives and their families in such a precarious career, as the ministry affords." Another clergyman was convinced that the fear of losing their pastorates after they reached middle age, deterred many who would otherwise enter the ministry.

While the average person does not believe in kow-towing, salaaming or genuflexion to the ordinary man, there is a painful lack of reverence and politeness exhibited in many boys of the present day. A correspondent points out the tendency of the present day youth to badger innocent people, to annoy passersby, to commit acts of vandalism, and generally to make a nuisance of himself. He sends the following as an example of what has recently come under his observation; "One day last week, when coming down street I saw a quiet Chinaman going down the street and following him were about twenty school boys, ranging in age from eight to twelve years. The crowd was led by the larger boys, who were hooting and shouting insolent remarks at the poor man, who looked very much troubled over the rude exhibitions, but said nothing to his tormentors. I started over to ask them how they would like to be treated in a similar manner if they had just landed in a foreign country, but they were so taken up with their cruel amusement, I could not attract their attention, so I had to let it pass. But really parents should see that their children are given training of the heart, as well as the head, then we could expect the next genration to be kindly, helpful citizens.

HAVELOCK HAS MANY BRIDES

Three Weddings at Railroad Town Within Few Days

Havelock, Oct. 25.—A wedding of unusual interest to the citizens of town took place at the residence of Mr. S. Cole, west of Havelock, on Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock, when their eldest daughter, Miss Maude Beatrice, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Edward J. Kelsey, of Falding, formerly of town, the nuptial knot being tied by the Rev J. Balfour, pastor of the Methodist church, of town.

The bride, who was charmingly gowned in a dress of cream silk coliene, trimmed with all over lace, and silk ribbon, carrying a bouquet of white carnations, was given away by her father.

The young couple were unattended, and left on Thursday for a trip to Kingston, Belleville and other points. The bride's travelling costume was of grey cloth with white picture hat. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs Kelsey will join in wishing them every success in years to come.

QUACKENBUSH — BARTON.

The marriage of Miss Eva Barton to Mr. Herbert Frank Quackenbush, of town, took place on Wednesday evening, at 7 o'clock, at the home of the bride, George street east, the ceremony being performed by the Rev Mr. McLennan, of Norwood. The young couple, when they have returned from their wedding tour, will the bride, George street east, the joining Mr. E. Donnelly's residence. Their many friends will extend best wishes to the young couple.

HUBBLE—KELLY.

The marriage of Miss Ethel Kelly, of Belmont, to Mr. Bert. Hubble, of Barrows, Sask., took place at the home of the bride, Belmont, on Wednesday. The young couple will take up their residence at Barrows.

A Fisherman's Luck

Weak, Worn and Almost in Despair When Dr. Williams Pink Pills Came to His Rescue

"My strength was almost gone, my breath very short and I could hardly walk. I tried many remedies, but they did not help me. Finally a friend advised me to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I did so and today, thanks to the pills, I am a perfectly well man."

This very emphatic statement is made by Mr. R. L. Porter, of Maitland, N.S. Mr. Porter is a fisherman, and naturally a hard working man, subject to much exposure. He further says:—"I was in a state of debility and bloodlessness. Sometimes I could attend to my work, but often was too weak and miserable to do so. I was wakeful and restless at night, and could not eat in the morning. I was troubled with pains in my back and shoulders, sometimes I could hardly straighten up. Then indigestion came to add to my misery, and my condition was one that made me almost hopeless. I tried several medicines—but in vain. Then one day a friend said, "Why don't you try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills?" I tried them and I shall always be grateful for them. In a short time I began to regain my health. I could eat better and could eat any kind of food. My strength returned. I could attend to my work. I was in fact perfectly well again, and this is actually due to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up the strength and drive out disease in just one way—they actually make new, red blood. That is all they do, but they do it well. They don't act on the bowels—they don't purge and weaken like common pills. They don't bother with mere symptoms, they go right to the foot of the trouble in the blood. That is why they cure anaemia, with all its headache and backaches, and dizziness and heart palpitation. That is why they cure indigestion, rheumatism, neuralgia, St. Vitus dance, general weakness and the special ailments that growing girls and women do not like to talk about, even to their doctors. But you must insist on getting the genuine pills with the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" on the wrapper around each box. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail, at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A MEMORY OF THE WAR

An Old Soldier's Story of the Battle of Yellow Tavern.

JEB STUART'S LAST FIGHT.

The Wounded General's Heroic Bravery in the Face of Death—Custer's Brilliant Charge as Seen by a Confederate Cavalryman.

"The most brilliant charge I ever witnessed was made by Custer at the battle of Yellow Tavern," said an old Confederate cavalryman. "It was near the beginning of what historians now call the Wilderness campaign.

"I was with Jeb Stuart, General Fitz Lee's division. Wickham's brigade and Phil Sheridan's troops were hanging on us like a pack of hungry wolves, nipping us at every turn.

"We left Hanover Junction about 1 o'clock one night and reached Yellow Tavern before 10 o'clock the next morning. We hadn't more than halted at the Tavern when up comes Sheridan and tries to drive us out. It was a pretty tough struggle, a hand to hand fight, and we fell back from the Tavern, but held our position on the telegraph road leading to Richmond. I was with the battery on the extreme left wing, and it was about 2 o'clock in the afternoon when orders came for the whole division, except the First ginians, to dismount.

"It did seem good, I can tell you, after so many hours in the saddle, to stretch out on the ground and take a smoke—that is, all who had anything to smoke. There was just one pipeful among that whole battery, and the boy who owned it passed it down the line, and each man took his turn puffing at it. When it was gone we all began to speculate on what devilry Sheridan would be up to next and how Jeb Stuart would head him off. It wasn't long before some fellow wished for a drink of water.

"You know how it is. When one man wishes for water the whole company begins to swear they are dying of thirst. Jack Saunders and I took a bunch of canteens and started over the hill to a spring that he had seen that morning. I was on my hands and knees over the spring when I heard Saunders' grunt of surprise.

"There, only a few hundred yards away, was a considerable body of cavalry. Sure that it was our right wing, I wondered to see them mounted and in ranks. Just then the voice of an officer rang out:

"'Cavalry! Attention! Draw sabre!'

"The entire line moved forward at a quick walk, and as the officer wheeled his horse I saw his face. My God, it was Custer! The situation came to Saunders and me like a flash. We threw down the canteens and started back to the battery on a dead run.

"'Trot!' Custer's voice rang out again. Then he shouted, 'Charge!'

"With wild cheers, his cavalry dashed forward in a sweeping gallop, attacking our entire left wing at the same time. We saw our battery taken, our line broken and our men running like sheep. Saunders and I had but one thought—to join our fleeing company. As we reached the telegraph road above the din of the battle I heard Jeb Stuart's voice. There he was, making a stand with a handful of men around him.

"It seemed but a moment before Custer's troops were coming back as fast as they had gone forward. They had met the First Virginians. We greeted them with the rebel yell and the last charge in our weapons. Jeb Stuart cheered us on—ah, how he cheered us! I gave them my last shot and was following with my weapon clubbed when I saw a man who had been dismounted and was running out turn as he passed our rally and fire his pistol.

"Jeb Stuart swayed in his saddle. It was only for a moment; then his voice rang out, cheering his struggling troops. The enemy rallied just across the road and fired a volley into the little band gathered around Jeb Stuart. His horse sprang forward, with a scream of agony, and sank down on its knees. As we lifted the general off the young officer who was helping me exclaimed:

"'My God, general, you are wounded! Your clothes are soaked with blood! You must leave the field, sir!'

"'No,' General Stuart answered; 'I will not leave until victory is assured. Get me another horse.'

"When I returned with the horse he was seated with his back against a tree, and when he tried to get up, weakened by loss of blood, he sank back again.

"'Go!' he commanded us. 'I am done for. Fitz Lee needs every man. I order you to go.'

"'We cannot obey that order, general,' the young officer told him, and I'll never forget the look that came over his face when he faced the general. 'We must carry you to a place of safety, however the battle goes.'

"'It must not go against us,' Stuart replied, and the thought seemed to put fresh vigor in his body. 'You must put me on my horse and keep me there. My men must not know that I am wounded.'

"We lifted him on his horse, and, mounting our own, we held him in his saddle. When the tide of the battle turned, supported between us, he made a last effort to rally his fleeing troops.

"'Go back, men!' he cried. 'Go back, men! Go back and do your duty!'

"We felt him sway in his saddle. The young officer turned our horses' heads to the rear, and we carried our fainting general from the field, still holding him upright in the saddle. That was Jeb Stuart's last battle and Custer's most brilliant charge."

LONG BOW STORIES.

Legends of the Famous Archers of the Remote Past.

Many "long bow" stories may be cited in the literature of the world, and by far the greater part of them had their origin in the remote past.

Vergil, in the "Æneid," tells of four archers who were shooting for a prize, the mark being a pigeon tied by a cord to the mast of a ship. The first man hit the mast, the second cut the cord, and the third shot the pigeon as it flew away. The fourth archer, having nothing left at which to shoot, drew his bow and sent his arrow flying toward the sky with such speed that the friction of the air set the feathers on fire, and it swept on like a meteor to disappear in the clouds.

That is a bow and arrow story that tests the strongest powers of credulity.

The stories of Robin Hood's archery, illustrated by his wonderful performance as Locksley in Scott's "Ivanhoe," are also a decided strain on one's power of belief.

The famous legend of William Tell is believed by some to have a foundation in fact. There was a Dane named Foke, of whom the same story was told, and William of Cloudesley, an Englishman, is said to have shot an apple from his son's head merely to show his skill.

The majority of bow and arrow stories relate to the accurate aim of the archers, but a Frenchman, Blaise de Vigenere, tells one in which the main point is the tremendous force with which an arrow may be propelled if the bow is strong and long enough. According to his own account of the matter, he saw Barbarossa, a Turk, admiral of a ship called the Grand Solyman, send an arrow from his bow clean through a cannon ball. Whether the cannon ball had a hole in it or not he neglects to inform us.

Perhaps the most astounding of all stories about arrow shooting is that of the Indians who used to inhabit Florida. It is said that a group of them would form a circle; one would throw an ear of corn into the air; the rest would shoot at it and shell it of every grain before it fell to the ground. Sometimes the arrows would strike the ear of corn so hard and fast that it would remain suspended in the air several minutes, and the cob never fell until the last grain had been shot away.

HINDOO PROVERBS.

Happiness consists in the absence of anxiety.

Truth, contentment, patience and mercy belong to great minds.

Little things should not be despised. Many straws united will bind an elephant.

It can never be safe to unite with an enemy. Water, though heated, will soon extinguish fire.

He who removes another from danger and he who removes terror from the mind are the greatest of friends.

Courage is tried in war, integrity in the payment of debt and interest, the faithfulness of a wife in poverty and friendship in distress.

Every one looking downward becomes impressed with the idea of his own greatness, but looking upward feels his own littleness.

He who in your presence speaks kindly, but in your absence seeks to injure, must be rejected like a bowl of poison covered with milk.

Obedience of Orders.

A naval commander in the reign of Queen Anne was ordered to cruise with a squadron within certain limits on the coast of Spain. Having received information that a Spanish fleet was in Vigo, beyond his limits, he resolved to risk his personal responsibility for the good of his country. He accordingly attacked and defeated the Spanish fleet with uncommon gallantry. When he joined the admiral under whom he served, he was ordered under arrest and was asked if he did not know that by the articles of war he was liable to be shot for disobedience of orders.

He replied with great composure that he was very sensible that he was, but added, "The man who is afraid to risk his life in any way when the good of his country requires it is unworthy of a command in her majesty's service."

Coughing in Lieu of Oratory.

A singular fashion which prevailed among the preachers of Cromwell's time was that of coughing or humming in the middle of a sentence in order to attract the attention of the congregation. The necessity of continually attracting the attention of the listeners could not have argued well for the brilliance of the sermons. Some authorities say that the preachers coughed merely as an ornament to speech. At any rate, when the sermons were printed, as many of them were, the coughs and hems were always indicated on the margin of the page.

Interested in Antiques.

Professor McGonnie (suddenly checking himself)—Pardon me, Miss Genevieve, for talking so long. When I get started on my hobby I never know when to stop. I ought not to have assumed, anyhow, that you are interested in antiques. Miss de Muir—Indeed I am, professor. I could listen to you for hours.

We Promised.

"I can't spare the money very well, but I'll gladly loan it to you if you promise not to keep it too long."

"I solemnly swear that I'll spend every penny of it before tomorrow morning!"

Rock temples at Esampool, on the Nile, are believed to be the world's oldest architectural ruins.

THE HUNTING SEASON

The deer hunting season is the same this year, as formerly, viz: Deer, from 1st day of November to the 45th; both inclusive. Moose, reindeer or caribou, south of C.P.R. main line from Mattawa to the Manitoba boundary, Nov. 1st to 15th, both days inclusive. The fee for non-residents of the Province is $50.

The Grants for School Libraries

Money Will be Paid to Schools Entitled to Receive it.

County Treasurer Elliott has received from the Provincial Treasury the sum of $128.24, being the portion coming to this county of the $5,000 voted at the last session of the Legislature as an extra grant to rural schools purchasing libraries between July 1st, 1906, and June 30th, 1907.

The money will be paid to the schools entitled to it within the next few days. The expectation is that a similar appropriation will be made for next year.

The Reason Why

Zutoo

Is Used by Thousands.

It would probably surprise you to know how many thousands of people are using Zutoo Tablets who had never before used a headache cure.

This is due to three facts.
They tried the tablets.
The tablets cured their headache.
The tablets did not hurt them.

Like sensible people, they do not suffer from headache any more. They either let Zutoo ward off the headache—nip it in the bud—or assist nature in stopping it.

Which do you do? Do you suffer from headache or do you take Zutoo?

The Tenders are Not Yet Awarded

Many Bidders on Southern Section of Trent Canal

There are seven or eight bidders on the southern section of the canal at Trenton, and the Government engineers are considering the different tenders, and no doubt the public will be apprised of the successful bidder in a short time. We understand there are 123 different items to be considered by the engineers. The plans calls for a fine and substantial class of work, of a high order and on an extensive scale.—Trenton Courier.

Comet May be Seen in S. E. Skies in Early Morning

The Harvard College Observatory informs Dr. Neal, secretary of the Peterborough branch of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada of the position of the comet discovered by Mellish, at Madison, Wisconsin, on Oct. 13th. Dr. Neal says that the comet may be seen with a good field glass about 4 o'clock in the morning, in the south-eastern skies. The comet is not at all a bright object, but with a good field glass it may be picked out.

WILL PROBABLY BE MANY DEER

It is Expected Large Number of Licenses Will be Taken Out

The deer hunting season opens next Friday, November 1st, and according to reports of settlers in the northern townships, indications point to a very plentiful run of deer. Col. Miller, issuer of game licenses, says that he thinks quite a number will be taken out this year, although up to the present time not very many have been disposed of. Next week, however, will probably see a big rush for the papers entitling the holders to the privilege of laying low the shy animals that supply such toothsome roasts and steaks, as it is the last week before the opening of the season.

All the licenses that have been taken out up to the present time are for red deer and cost $2. No licenses for moose or caribou, which amount to $5 have been sold yet and the prohibitive fee of $50 has kept non-residents from securing any licenses whatever.

Following are those who have taken out licenses to this date:—M. C. Tooley, F. Stevenson, W. Snowden, C. Butcher, A. L. F. Hall, Clarkson, L. Lynn, J. D. Collins, G. Moore, A. Stevenson, (Peterborough; W. F. Stevenson, Toronto; R. Tedford, Deuro; Frank Pearson, Smith;, Jos. Hesselt, Lampton County.

Train From Peterborough Was Stopped Just in Time

Grand Trunk Express Would Have Crashed Through Burning Bridge Between Stirling and Madoc Junction Had it No- Been for a Boy's Presence of Mind

The Grand Trunk train from Belleville which leaves Peterborough at two o'clock p.m. had a narrow escape from being wrecked yesterday. The express was rapidly approaching the bridge over Mosher's creek, midway between Stirling and Madoc, when a boy on the track a short distance ahead, frantically waving his arms brought the train to a standstill. The bridge over the creek was on fire and had it not been for the presence of mind of the boy, the train would have gone to destruction.

A Belleville despatch has the following particulars of this incident:

The mail train from Peterborough due here at 4.30 p.m., today, had a narrow escape from destruction and no doubt serious loss of life, was averted by the presence of mind of a young son of William Keegan, a farmer, residing midway between this village of Stirling and Madoc. The bridge over Mosher's creek caught fire from the sparks of an engine which passed an hour previously. When discovered by the Keegan family, who were the nearest residents, the bridge was almost burned and the passenger train was nearly due. The whole Keegan family turned out and endeavored to fight the flames, but their efforts were useless. Young Keegan ran a mile around a dangerous curve, stopping the train within a rod of the bridge which had just fallen. The train was crowded with passengers coming into Belleville for Saturday.

MORE DETAILS.

At the local station it was learned that one end of the bridge was destroyed, but it is expected that the repairs will be completed this afternoon, at least sufficiently to allow the trains to pass over. Last night and today, the Peterborough-Belleville trains have been running in two divisions, running from Belleville to the bridge, and then transfering passengers there to the train on the other side of the bridge, running to Peterborough. The morning train from Peterborough today was met at the burned bridge by a train from Belleville and the passengers and baggage transferred and taken to Belleville in this manner.

A large force of men with a pile driver are now at work rebuilding the bridge and hope to have it ready for the trains to pass over soon.

Are Apparently Convinced That Financial Scare is Over

Special to the Review.

New York, Oct. 26.—Wall street and even the general public today, are apparently convinced that the financial scare is over, or at least fairly under control. "The fight has practically been won," declared J. P. Morgan.

Treasurer Cortelyou said: "I can only affirm my former expressions of belief that matters are steadily improving."

The sentiments of all the other men of finance were of the same nature. There were small lines of depositors in front of the Trust Company of America, and the Lincoln Trust Co., but their number was not so great as yesterday.

Campbellford Carried Power By-law by Large Majority

Campbellford, Oct. 26. — By the large majority of 296 to 6, the town of Campbellford adopted a by-law to build a $60,000 power plant at Middle Falls. The scheme will furnish the town, with far more than all the power it wants, and the municipality will be able to supply adjacent points. The building of the Dominion Government dam on the Trent River at Middle Falls makes the scheme feasible.

Will Not Break With Methodists

Rev. Dr. Workman Declares He is No Heretic

Montreal, Oct. 25.—The decision of the Board of Governors of the Wesleyan Theological College, calling upon Dr. G. C. Workman for the resignation of the chair of Old Testament Exegesis has created a sensation. In an interview Rev. Dr. Workman stated that he had no definite plans for the future, but that he would for a time at least make Montreal his home. He has engagements ahead that will keep him busy for some time preaching and lecturing, and any spare time he will devote to writing.

"Are you going to leave the Methodist Church?" Dr. Workman was asked.

"I am not; I am a member in good standing and I intend to remain a member as long as the members of the Conference continue their loyalty and kindness towards me. I have never even hinted at heresy, but have simply advocated a radical remedy. I am a Methodist of the Methodists."

MEN'S BANQUET IN BELLEVILLE

Belleville, Oct. 25.—A unique event took place tonight at Bridge Street Church, being a banquet, given to four hundred men. Sir Mackenzie Bowell was chairman; Mayor Sulman, vice-chairman; and addresses were given by Mr. N. W. Rowell, K. C., LL.B., Toronto; Mr. C. B. Keenleyside, B. A., B. D., London, and Judge Deroche. The banquet was under the auspices of the District missionary campaign.

Have Not Located His Relatives

Willis Hastle Remanded for Another Week

Willis Hastle, the young man who was brought to the local jail from Dummer, charged with having stolen two watches, was remanded for another week by County Magistrate Edmison this morning. The county police are in communication with the chief of police at Berlin, endeavoring to locate the relatives the young man says he has there. So far they have not been successful.

Five are Dead and Seventeen are Injured

Bad Smash on Underground Railway in London, Eng.

Special to the Review.

London, Oct. 26.—Five persons were killed and seventeen others injured today by a crash on the Metropolitan underground railway, between a moving train and a second, which stood at the platform of the West Hampstead station. The fog prevented the moving train from seeing but a few feet in front and interfered seriously with the rescuers' work.

Both trains were crowded with suburbanites.

All Have Come Back but One

Party at Bottle Lake Only One From This City That Has Not Returned

The hunting and fishing parties that left this city this fall for the back lakes, have all returned, with the exception of the one at Bottle Lake, consisting of Messrs. H. Long, H. C. Winch, Perry Alexander and C. B. Routley. Mr. Ernie Lawrence, driver for R. Gibb's livery establishment, encountered them while he was up north for the purpose of bringing home some of the Ketchecum party. They say they are having a splendid outing, and have not yet decided when they will return.

About 150 Went on Excursion

Rugby Club Will be Ahead About $20 on the Trip

About 150 went on the excursion of the Rugby Club to Toronto. As 100 passengers were all that were required to make sufficient money to cover the guarantee to the C.P.R., the club will be ahead about $20 on the trip, as they are allowed 40 cents on every ticket sold. The train left at 9.30, and reached Toronto about noon. Most of the excursionists will return tonight, although several will stay over until Monday.

Ruins of Bridge are Cleared up

Auxiliary Train Returned to Lindsay This Afternoon

The auxiliary train passed through the city from the scene of the burned bridge, near Stirling, on its way to Lindsay, this afternoon. The ruins of the structure have been cleared away and operations will begin at once on the work of rebuilding. The pile driver went down this afternoon, having just returned from building a burned bridge near Hamilton. It will not be long before the Stirling bridge is rebuilt.

People's Band Met Last Evening

A meeting of the People's band was held last evening at the residence of Mr. Wm. Armstrong, Hunter street. Fifteen members were present and advisability of changing the present name to that of "The Independent Band" was discussed. It was decided not to change the name at the present time. This is a musical organization that was formed about two months ago. They are open for engagements and have recently purchased new brass instruments. They meet for practice once a week.

Both Parties Working Hard

Mayor McWilliams Spoke at Political Meeting at Campbellford Last Night

Mr. Mulholland, the Liberal candidate in East Northumberland, held a meeting at Campbellford last night that was attended by a large number of voters and others. Among the speakers were Hon. Geo. P. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals, and Mayor McWilliams of this city.

Mayor McWilliams returned to the city this morning, and states that the two parties are working hard to win the bye-election, and the result is uncertain. The Conservative candidate is Mr. C. L. Owen of Campbellford.

The Lordly Turkey in Great Demand

For Thanksgiving Day—Bird is Scare and Price High

The lordly Thanksgiving turkey was rather scarce this morning on the market, very few of them being offered. People this year will have to content themselves with a goose, duck or chicken. These were in large quantities and were picked up rapidly. What turkeys there were sold at 75 cents to $2.00 a piece. Geese were somewhat higher today, selling at from 90 cents to $1.15. Ducks were $1.00 and $1.10 a pair, while chickens brought 50 and 60 cents a pair.

The number of buyers and sellers was large, on today's market, and good prices were realized on all sales.

Butter retained its high mark and sold at 30 cents per pound. Eggs also went at the same price.

On the outside market the first load of beef by the quarter that has been on the market was sold today. It went at 5 and 6 cents. Lamb sold at 11 and 13 cents and pork at 10 and 11 cents. Potatoes sold at 85 cents, and apples at 60 and 75 cents per bag.

DECISION WILL BE INTERESTING

Is Man Who Rented Horse That Dropped Dead Liable for the Value of the Animal?

Is a person liable for the price of the horse, if the equine should die while he has it rented from a liveryman?

This is the question that His Honor Judge Weller will have to decide in the Division Court at its next sitting. R. J. Wolstenholm, liveryman, of this city, is suing a local young man for $60, the value of a horse belonging to the plaintiff, that dropped dead while the defendant was driving it. The case was to have come up at the sitting of the Division Court yesterday, but it had to be left over until the next sitting.

The judge's decision will be awaited with interest.

CARLOAD HORSES FOR TORONTO

One Team in Shipment Was Purchased at $525

Duncan Bros., the local horse buyers, are shipping a carload of horses to Burn's and Sheppard's Repository, Toronto, this afternoon. One fine team of draught horses weighing about 3,100 pounds, is included in the shipment and was purchased yesterday morning by Mr. J. Duncan from Mr. Dennis S. Crough, Ennismore. The price paid was $525. The price paid for the other horses in the shipment was on the average about $100.

Tree Fell on Wood Chopper

John McKnight Had His Collar Bone Broken

An accident which will probably result seriously occurred to Mr. John McKnight while working in the bush at Moose Lake. A falling tree felled him to the ground resting heavily upon his shoulders and back of neck breaking collar bone, and injuring a lung. When arrested from his pressed condition he was found to be unconscious. Dr. Shady was called and he reports the injured young man in a very critical condition, principally on account of the pierced lung.—Minden Echo.

Photographers Have Grievance

Coupon Selling Canvassers of Cheap Pictures Should be Tabooed

The photographers of this city have a complaint. They state that, now and then a picture artist comes here and as an inducement to get trade, puts on very cheap work. Canvassers are sent out and coupons sold for a small sum, which entitle the holders to so many pictures. These canvassers, it is said, have gone to stores, factories and other places, and sold many dollars' worth of coupons.

The photographers who have been in business here for years, state that they can give the public just as cheap a class of photos, if desired, as any outsider or canvasser can offer, and they do not ask any money beforehand either. The canvassers pay must come out of what those buying coupons, give him. If people who want cheap photos will only go to the old established studios, they can secure them, and get better work too, than from others, who have to grant a commission to canvassers, who dispose of the coupons. The old established photographers wish the public to understand this and an announcement along these lines will be found in another column.

DIRECTIONS FOR SENDING IN ALARMS

A Key for the Alarm Box will be found hanging in a small box, with glass front, adjoining the Alarm Box. Break the glass, remove the Key, and open the Box; pull the lever down, when the Alarm is at once transmitted to the Fire Hall, Pumping Station and residences of the Firemen. Do not attempt to remove the Key from Box, as this can only be done by the use of a small Referring Key.

HOW ALARMS ARE SOUNDED

The number of the Ward from which the Alarm is sent in is always sounded on the bell, which also constitutes the first number of the Box nearest to the fire, and when an Alarm is sounded, the War number is given first, then a pause, and then thereafter the remaining numbers of the Box.

ORGANIST SENDS IN RESIGNATION

Miss Bullen Resigns Her Position in All Saints' Church

Miss May Bullen, who for several years has ably filled the position of organist of All Saint's church, has sent in her resignation. She will preside at the instrument tomorrow for the last time. Her resignation is deeply regretted by members of the choir and congregation who appreciate her faithful and capable work.

The bridge across the creek at what is known as Ferguson's shops collapsed on Friday last with the weight of Lou Morton's thresher and team. Ben Davidson was driving the team of big grays and all went down into the water. Fortunately no one was hurt and even the engine was not much damaged.—Millbrook Reporter.

THE DAILY REVIEW

SECOND PART.

PETERBOROUGH, ONT., CANADA, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1907

The beginning and the end of the meals of the day should be Chase & Sanborn's SEAL BRAND COFFEE. It's the first thing for breakfast—the last for dinner—and the "best thing" in every meal.

The Weather Prophets do Not Agree in Their Predictions

Indians of Sault St. Marie Claim That the Winter Will be an Open One—Nipigon Indians Declare There Will be an Early and Severe One.

Weather prophets resemble most other prophets in that their prophesies do not altogether agree at times, and sages may be found predicting most any sort of weather for any day in the year. The result is that it is almost as difficult to select a prophet to follow, as it is to make out weather predictions for one's self, says the Montreal Star.

A curious instance of disagreement between weather sage is furnished by Mr. L. O. Armstrong, colonization agent of the Canadian Pacific, who has just returned from a trip to the country about Sault Ste. Marie, where, he says, the Indians are foretelling that this winter is to be a mild and open one. It will be remembered that Mr. Armstrong, on his return recently from a similar trip, to Lake Nipigon, stated that the Indians there predicted an early and severe winter. They gave the reasons which led them, in their knowledge of the woodland, and its signs, to make such a prophecy, and told of the thick pelts of fur-bearing animals and the large nut-hoards of the squirrels.

Now come the sages of the wigwam and the forest, who build their fires by the shores of the great lakes, and who live fully four hundred miles to the southeast of their brothers of the Nipigon district. They, too, give their reasons, because they, too, have studied the woodland and its denizens and have pored over the face of its waters. But they make other predictions and tell another story.

Clothes Made to Order Within Four Days

New Departure in the Tailoring of Fine Clothes

Semi-ready Company Have Perfected the System in the Special Order Department of Their Big Factory.

The special order department of the Semi-ready Tailoring is now delivering suits and overcoats within four days after reception of the order at their Montreal office. They have perfected their system and organization.

The special order work was at first instituted simply to help out the agencies where only a small stock of the "finished-in-two-hours" garments was carried, but it has now become a feature in the Semi-ready business. The Semi-ready trade mark and the price is on every special order garment.

In addition to their stock of garments, every Semi-ready store carries a set of sample fabrics, and these are made up and finished to the exact measure of the customer. Last year over $150,000 worth of mail orders were filled in this way, and but four mistakes were made. Oresman's say that not a single error was made in the special orders they had made. "The four-day-record-making is a good departure," said Mr. Tempfe.

Roselle Knott Quits the Stage

The Shipman Company, of theatrical producers, has sent out notice that Miss Roselle Knott, the vivacious Canadian actress from Hamilton, Ont., has retired from the stage permanently. She will live, says the circular, "in her beautiful country home on Long Island, which she has recently purchased with part of the moneys which she has accumulated during her exceptionally prosperous career on the stage. Miss Knott was the original Lygia in the production of "Quo Vadis," and more recently will be remembered for her excellent portrayal of Mary Tudor in "When Knighthood was in Flower."

He Shed Tears Over the Beer

Smith Farmer Met With Sad Mishap

Lakefield, Oct. 25.—On Friday evening of last week a Smith farmer met with a mishap. He had been in Peterborough and while there had purchased a keg of lager. On his way home he stopped at an hotel in the village for a few minutes, and when making preparations to resume his journey, discovered that some evil-disposed person had removed the keg of lager from his wagon. There was a hot time around the hotel for a short time.

Purity Essential in Confectionery

The confectionery business is one that must be built up on quality of goods, and this feature of their business is what the Coleman Bros. gave the credit to, for their large and rapidly increasing business.

To get the right kind of goods, they must start right, and so the Coleman Bros. look first after the quality of material used in the manufacture of their cakes and candies. "Everything pure," is their motto, and the vendor need not quote them prices on anything that is a substitute for what they want. For this reason their cakes, especially are in big demand, and the trade in them growing fast. Seasonable suggestions will be found from time to time, in the display advertisement of this firm.

"Cinderella" Dance Was Much Enjoyed

Over Two Hundred Dancers in Wide Variety of Costumes in Attendance

There were costumes quaint, costumes pretty, and costumes humorous, at the "Cinderella" costume dance given in the market hall last night. The affair was purely a private one and had no connection in any way, with any society or organization of any kind. There were over two hundred in attendance, and "make-ups" of a wide variety were in evidence. The hall and dining tables, the latter being conducted in a highly satisfactory way by Mr. Coleman, were tastefully decorated by Mr. Alf. Kingscote. Splendid music was supplied by an orchestra of four pieces, under the direction of Mr. C. M. Bennett, and the merry dancers continued in their fantastic mazes until after the midnight hour. There were two-steps, waltzes, round dances, square dances, oblong dances—in fact dances of almost every variety. The most popular one of the evening was undoubtedly the "Paul Jones Dance," which opened in a ring-around-a-rosey" and during its progress every variation and deviation imaginable was introduced. The dance was encored and re-encored, while the band played "Arrah Wanne."

The "Cinderella," or "Barn" dance was hugely enjoyed by all present, and an affair of a similar character should be again attended with much success.

The committee who made the arrangements for the dance were; Mrs J. J. Howden, Mrs R. J. Dovey, Miss L. Mantin, Miss Birdie Dawson, Mr. Comstock, Mr. C. Graham, Mr. F. Linton, Mr. C. Cossey, and Mr. R. J. Dovey.

The "Sailor Boy" brand of canned goods are the best that are put up. They never fail to please. Try a few cans.

Promotion for Mr. Hutchinson

Retiring From the Examiner Staff to Become One of the Editors of Dry Goods Review

Mr. M. J. Hutchinson, who for the past four and a half years has filled the chair of city editor of the Examiner, will leave in a few days for Toronto, to accept an important and responsible position with the MacLean Publishing Company. He has been appointed associate editor of the Dry Goods Review, one of the many excellent and splendidly managed trade journals issued by the MacLean Company. The step is a well deserved promotion for Mr. Hutchinson, who is a capable, energetic and wideawake newspaper man and one who has many friends in Peterborough. He will carry with him to his new and larger field of labor, not only a varied, thorough and successful journalistic experience but also heartiest well-wishes for his continued advancement.

MR. M. J. HUTCHINSON

Mr. Hutchinson, after serving several years in Bowmanville, in a leading dry goods store, went west and was for a time engaged in reportorial work at the Soo. He has held many important offices during his residence in Peterborough, being secretary-treasurer of the Peterborough Rink Co., and a past president of the Peterborough Press Club. He has always taken a very deep interest in the promotion of clean, healthy sport. Mr. Hutchinson has also been a member of Charlotte street church choir, the B. A. O. and other organizations. His friends are confident that he will "make good" in his new sphere of usefulness, and that under his direction the Dry Goods Review will attain wider recognition, and greater prestige among its hundreds of patrons in all parts of Canada, than it even now enjoys.

London Stock Exchange remained calm and steady throughout the panic in New York.

Sold His Wife Then Wanted Her Back

Glace Bay, N.S., October 25.—It has just come out that a few weeks ago a young Englishman, living at Dominion, purchased the wife of a fellow-countryman working at Sydney Mines. Twenty dollars was the consideration paid in the presence of witnesses. The buyer departed with his buxom purchase to Port Hood, and all parties appeared well satisfied.

A few days ago the lawful husband ordered his wife to return, bringing all she could lay her hands on. She complied fully and her buyer is endeavoring to invoke the laws for what he considers a gross injustice.

OFFICER WAS OVER ZEALOUS

Case of Canadian Printer Who Was Stopped at American Border

The Peterborough branch of the International Typographical Union was today notified of a ruling by Immigration Commissioner Sargeant of Washington, in the case of the Canadian printer, who was stopped at this American border, while on his way to the Printers' Home at Colorado Springs. The reason given was that the man was without money and liable to be a charge on the country. Commissioner Sargeant holds that a Canadian printer has a perfect right to cross the border to go to the Home, so long as he is not in a dying condition, as he is a charge only on the printers themselves. The officer was over-zealous in his action.

While Canadians contribute about $2,000 a year to the Printers' Home it has never been patronized to any extent by them. Today there are only six Canadians in this place, one from Halifax, two from Toronto, one from Vancouver and two from Winnipeg. The period of stay varies considerably, as the Home is used largely as a place for convalescents.

Note of Warning at Bobcaygeon

Parents Should Keep Children off Streets at Night

The Bobcaygeon Independent says; In the neighboring towns of Lindsay and Peterborough the magistrates and police are making determined efforts to relieve the residents from the annoyance of troublesome, rowdy young hoodlums. In the one town two boys have been sent for 5 years to a reformatory, and in the other two have been sent to Gaol for three months a hard labor. In the former case they were young boys, in the latter youths of sixteen years of age, who loafed around the sidewalks at night, and made themselves objectionable to passers. There are a number of boys and girls in this village, who are annoying the residents, with their pranks, depredations, and destruction of property, and some steps will have to be taken to end it. Respectable parents may not be aware of what their children are doing, but they must know perfectly well that children running the streets till nine and ten o'clock are not there for any good to themselves or anyone else.

ELEVATORS ARE FULL

Wheat Blockade at Moose Jaw—Many Farmers are Dissatisfied.

Moose Jaw, Sask., Oct. 25.—The elevators at Moose Jaw are all full and cars cannot be obtained, to take the grain away, hence it is impossible for them to take any more grain at present. Consequently there are many disappointed farmers in the city with grain today.

Companies Laying Off Men and Curtailing Their Output

Mr. Frederic Nicholls Reviews the Industrial Situation—How a Prominent Manufacturer Looks Upon Existing Financial Conditions.

A Toronto despatch says:

The works of the Canadian Shipbuilding Company will practically be closed down as soon as the present contracts are completed, while the Canada Foundry Company has begun reduction by cutting its force of 85 blacksmiths in two. The latter had made a demand for a ten per cent. increase in wages. Recently quite a number of contracts have been refused by the Shipbuilding Company because of the labor situation and the stringency in the money market. Last winter the Shipbuilding Company had 4,025 men on its pay roll, while the pay list was over $30,000 fortnightly. However, Mr. A. Angstrom, the manager, stated yesterday that he thought conditions would be greatly improved within a couple of months. Mr. Frederic Nicholls, who is connected with both companies, was prepared to make a more general statement.

"It is clear," he said, "that every conservative manufacturer will prepare for a possible diminution of production, because even if the demand does not slacken a healthful contraction should prove beneficial."

Referring to the Canada Foundry Company, Mr. Nicholls further said: "Instead of rushing work night and day as we have been doing, and which has never been the most economical method of production, we are proceeding in the normal manner, taking advantage of the better average conditions of business in so far as manufacture is concerned, that are likely to prevail. In the shipping yard the work during the winter time is more or less unsatisfactory, and consequently the staff has been reduced to only a sufficient force to finish up certain contracts that are nearly completed, and at the same time sufficient to keep the organization intact."

Again referring to general conditions Mr. Nicholls said he thought that Canada as a country had got too great a start to fear any setback for a prolonged period. In the opinion of Mr. Nicholls this was the worst possible time for workers to select to advance claims for wages. The Canada Foundry Company had been operating to the fullest extent for some time back, he said, and the blacksmith shop had been running two gangs night and day. A short time ago the men made a demand for a ten per cent. increase in wages. The prevailing conditions made it impossible to favorably consider such a request, but he, Mr. Nicholls, advised a reduction in the staff so that the remaining men might have greater assurance of work during the winter. Mr. Nicholls further said that the tendency might be toward a greater or less falling off of orders in the future owing to the fact that stringent money conditions might prevent customers making contemplated improvements or additions.

Mr. Nicholls thought the Canada Foundry Company was perfectly justified in acting in the manner in which it did, although more orders were in now than at any time in its history.

"Until the present situation is cleared," he said, "any man engaged in business who does not prepare for a slackening off would be acting contrary to the signs of the times. Even now it is known, though, that the harvest in the Northwest will return as much money to the farmers as last year, and the population will continue to increase and land will come under cultivation, which means that the railways and other facilities must be completed with as little delay as possible."

In conclusion Mr. Nicholls pointed out that the present peculiar situation came as no surprise, and as proof of this statement he produced copies of London papers, wherein in the spring he had stated that the country was suffering from over-prosperity, because the growth of the country's material prosperity had been so rapid and so great that the existing organizations were scarcely able to keep pace with the national progress.

'Are You Strong?

Do You Eat and Sleep Well? —Or Are You Pale, Weak and Miserable?

Has your nerve given out? Have you lost confidence in yourself? Has work become such an awful burden that you look upon it with horror?

There's just one thing left to do, and that is to take Ferrozone and get your system into good shape again.

It's quite impossible for anyone to be weak or nervous that uses Ferrozone. It contains so many strength-giving properties benefit is bound to result from its use.

Ferrozone possesses the power to kindle new vitality and vigor where almost a dying condition of weakness exists.

It is an extraordinary and magical tonic, containing more actual nourishment and strengthening elements than you can get at in any other way. As a blood purifier, nerve strengthener and appetizing tonic there is simply no equal to Ferrozone. Of this we are positively sure.

It is crowned with the success of splendid cures; will restore anyone to health who uses it. The following letters from people who have actually experienced what Ferrozone can do will clearly show you just how beneficially it acts:—

No Medicine Ever Did So Much Lasting Good as Ferrozone.

"It would be difficult to express my thanks for the benefit I have received from Ferrozone," writes Miss Eva Wight, of Florenceville. "I was so weak and miserable that I could scarcely go around the house. My head ached, there was a dragging weakness in my limbs, and I felt as if every spark of life had left me. Ferrozone improved my appetite, toned up my blood, and soon made me well. Nothing I ever used did me half the good I got from Ferrozone."

The Great Tonic, Ferrozone, Brought Back Life.

"I am anxious to speak a good word for such a magnificent tonic as Ferrozone," says E. P. Gerow, of Yorktown. "I was wretchedly worn out. I was apprehensive, and lacked confidence. It was simply due to my very weak state. The only remedy that really did me lasting good was Ferrozone. It rebuilt my strength, has made me as vigorous and happy as a man could be. In the whole range of medicines I never used anything with half the merit I found in Ferrozone."

The Emperor May Be Called; Progress of German Libel Suit

All Germany Aroused Over the Harden Libel Case.

Emperor William May Be Called to the Witness Stand—Alleged Infamous Secret Crimes—Shocking Revelation of Depravity—Prince Eulenburg Summoned to Attend Court—Editor Backed by Public.

Berlin, Oct. 26.—The hearing of the case of Count Kuno von Moltke, former military governor of Berlin, against Maximilien Harden, editor of Die Zukunft, for defamation of character, is growing more and more sensational every day.

In the course of yesterday's proceedings Dr. von Gordon, counsel for the plaintiff, declared that he would eventually ask for the testimony of Emperor William to prove that Count von Moltke never had used his official position to promote political ends. Herr Bernstein, counsel for Harden, agreed to this proposal.

Herr Bernstein then charged that the court clique of which Count von Moltke was a member was guilty of infamous secret crimes. If Count von Moltke is innocent, he said, no one else is, and this would seem incredible.

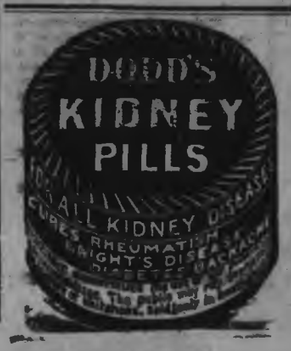
Harden proposes to call the head of the police department dealing with this aspect of public morals to testify as to what he knows regarding Prince Philip zu Eulenburg, at one time German ambassador to Vienna, and Lieutenant-General Count William von Hohenau, one of the Emperor's adjutants, who, together with von Moltke, have been mentioned by Harden as members of the so-called Camarilla, or "round table."

Harden has said that he will call as a witness Paul Lindau, the author of a life of Emperor William, who will testify that the late Prince von Bismarck once expressed himself concerning excesses of Prince Philip zu Eulenburg in the strongest terms imaginable. Harden will also call Prince von Buelow, the imperial chancellor, and Field Marshal Count von Hulsen-Haeseler chief of the Emperor's military cabinet.

The bench has decided to admit testimony to prove the allegation that certain practices prevailed among the friends of Count von Moltke. The public will be excluded from the hearings but representatives of the press will be allowed to remain.

An army officer who had served in the Garde du Corps at Potsdam was called as a witness yesterday and testified to having taken part in orgies at the house of Count Lynar, which had resulted in the dismissal from the service in disgrace of the count and Count von Hohenau. The witness said he had heard that Count von Moltke was present on this occasion, but he thought that Prince Philip zu Eulenburg certainly was there.

The court has decided to reject Prince zu Eulenburg's medical certificate, submitted Thursday, saying he was too ill to attend the hearing, and he has been summoned to appear to-day.



Empress of China Afloat.

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 26.—The Empress of China is practically afloat, and yesterday an army of men are trying to make a new record of the most rapid overhauling an ocean liner ever received, with the object of enabling the vessel to sail for the Orient in time to deliver British mails, so avoiding the penalty.

Capt. Archibald, who has sailed the Empress of China for 17 years, says this is her first mishap. It is probable the vessel will sail Thursday, two days late, which is to be made up in passage. The upper works of the vessel were never below water, as the clearing of the fog revealed yesterday morning, and the vessel was saved from going on her side by lighter craft and cables. One of the lashings from the mainmast to the wharf broke, striking Quartermaster Rose, breaking his leg.

Trade Disputes.

Ottawa, Oct. 26.—The total number of trade disputes during September was 25, one less than during the previous month, but a decrease of four compared with September, 1906. About 65 establishments and 959 employes were affected. The loss of time in working days was 61,900. Of the 25 disputes definite settlements were reached in four, and in four others industrial conditions ceased to be affected, leaving 17 still in existence at the end of the month.

Weary of Knocking.

Melbourne, Oct. 26.—Premier Deakin is angry at Germany's cavalier treatment of the claim of Burns, Phillip & Co. for illegal actions by the German commissioner on the Marshall Islands. He claims it is a violation of British treaty rights. "For a duennium," he said, "we have been knocking at the door of the German Foreign Office seeking redress in vain."

Channel Ferry Scheme.

London, Oct. 26.—Sir Charles Rivers Wilson, president of the G. T. R., speaking to Lloyd-George on behalf of a deputation seeking to further the channel ferry scheme, said there were seventy-eight of such ferries in America. His own ferries on Lake Michigan worked exceedingly well. They never had an accident, even on a passage of eighty-five miles under the severest conditions of sea fog.

Innocent Man Electrocuted.

Columbus, O., Oct. 26.—After the electrocution of Albert Davis in the penitentiary yesterday, Father Kelly, who had acted as spiritual advisor to Davis, declared that an innocent man had been electrocuted.

Made Wife Commit Suicide.

New York, Oct. 26.—Charged with having induced his wife, Laura, to commit suicide on June 17 last, James Wardell yesterday was convicted of manslaughter in the first degree.

At Port Arthur, Ont., Duncan Cameron was fined $100 and costs for [illegible]

RAILWAY BRIDGE AFIRE

Boy With Cool Head Saves Peterboro Train.

Terrible Calamity Narrowly Averted —Bridge Set Alight by Sparks From Engine and Collapsed — Express Flagged by Young Keegan Just In Time—Curve Prevented Engineer Seeing Flames.

Belleville, Oct. 26.—A calamity was narrowly averted close to this city yesterday afternoon. But for the presence of mind of a lad named Keegan, the Peterboro train, due in this city at 4.30, would have gone through a burning bridge, and the loss of life could not help being large.

The facts of the case are that a railroad bridge on the Midland Railway, between Madoc Junction and Stirling, known as Mosher's Bridge, was set on fire by sparks from a passing engine.

After it had been burning some time the Peterboro train came along and was flagged by the lad Keegan. The bridge fell just as the train stopped, about ten yards from the burning structure.

A curve near by would have prevented the engineer seeing the bridge on fire till too late. The train was pretty well loaded with passengers, who were extremely thankful for their escape. Traffic will be delayed for some time.

BURNS MAY BE ARRESTED.

Sensational Developments in Suspected Murder Case.

Ottawa, Oct. 26.—At Osgoode station, yesterday, before Coroner Baptie and County Crown Attorney J. A. Riche, the inquest was begun into the death of Mrs. Thomas Burns a month ago. Sensational evidence was produced when the husband contradicted several witnesses point-blank and denied all the points against him.

Burns will likely be arrested to-day, in view of next week's sitting, when the stomach of the exhumed wife's body will be produced in evidence. The woman died and was buried in 24 hours on an unsigned death card.

Strict silence was observed in the family, and Burns denied having had on a shirt that he said was torn in his wife's death-agony from cramps. He says the shirt was an old one and is now lost.

TORONTO GIRL'S DEATH.

Helen Worth's Demise to Be Investigated by Coroner.

New York, Oct. 26.—A handsome young woman of 23, who lately arrived here from Toronto, and whose correct name the police believe is Helen Worth, though she was known in the apartments of Miss Anna Hall, with whom she lived, at 101 West Fifty-Eighth street here, as Helen Burke, died under suspicious circumstances Thursday night, and Coroner Shrady has ordered an autopsy. The Hall woman is said to be a midwife.

Among the young woman's luggage was found by the police a large number of love letters from an apparent lover, signed "Allan MacClaspie," postmarked for the past year from various points of the country.

A FRIGHTFUL ACCIDENT.

Woman Burned to Death by Exploding Oil Lamp.

London, Ont., Oct. 26.—A frightful accident happened at Putnam, three miles from Dorchester, Thursday night, whereby Mrs. John Adam, wife of a well-to-do farmer, met her death. Mrs. Adam was carrying a lighted lamp, and was preparing to go to her room for the night. As she crossed the living-room the lamp suddenly exploded, and the oil immediately took fire and spread over the clothing of the unfortunate woman. The only part of her clothing which was not burned from her was the stockings she wore. Her hair was badly burned and her eyebrows and face also. She died shortly afterwards.

Accident to Shrubb.

Winnipeg, Oct. 26.—An unfortunate accident forced Shrubb, the English champion, to retire near the close of his fifteen-mile race with Marsh, the Manitoba champion, last night, thus permitting the latter to win the honors which he clearly was not entitled to.

Shrubb's ankle gave out in the thirteen mile, when he was a lap ahead of Marsh after having gained the handicap of two minutes conceded to the Manitoban.

Notwithstanding the fact that he did not win this race, Shrubb smashed several Canadian records, which he had previously established, covering five miles in 24 minutes, 45 seconds, and ten miles in 51 minutes, 18 seconds.

Killed by Runaway Horse.

North Sydney, Oct. 26.—An accident yesterday afternoon resulted in the death of Alexander Lemoine of the firm of Lemoine Bros., merchants. Mr. Lemoine noticed a horse attached to a cart with a load of coal driven by a small boy, running away. Rushing into the street, he endeavored to stop the runaway, when the shaft point of the cart struck and knocked him down, the wheel of the vehicle passing over his chest. Death followed in half an hour.

Aged Woman Burns to Death.

Whitby, Oct. 26.—Mrs. Walters, aged 88 years, and blind, who resided with her daughter, Mrs. Edward Pascoe, East Whitby Township, was burned to death Thursday. She was warming herself at a stove in her room when her clothing took fire. When her daughter arrived in answer to her screams her clothing was in flames.

Opening of Parliament.

Ottawa, Oct. 26.—A special issue of The Canada Gazette yesterday afternoon proclaimed the opening of Parliament on Nov. 28.

DOUBLE MURDER CHARGE.

F. H. Warner on Trial For His Life—Once Prosperous Merchant.

New York, Oct. 26.—Frank H. Warner, formerly a prosperous hat dealer, insisted upon acting as his own lawyer when he was put on trial in the Court of General Sessions yesterday, charged with two murders. Counsel had been assigned by the court to defend Warner, but the defendant said he would defend himself. "I have got 40 or 50 witnesses here, some of them prominent business men in the City of New York," he also told the court.

Judge Foster assured him that his witnesses would be subpoenaed for him and directed that the case go to trial.

Warner began personally to examine the talesmen, but upon a suggestion of the court, he gave way to the attorneys who had been designated to defend him.

Warner is charged with the murder of Esther C. Norling, cashier in a haberdashery store in East Forty-Second street. He shot the girl down in the doorway of the store. After shooting Miss Norling, he escaped, after a sensational chase through the crowded street, and went down town and killed Charles Wilson, a business acquaintance. A policeman, who failed to capture Warner during the chase after Miss Norling was shot, was publicly degraded and dismissed from the police department, after he had been tried and found guilty on a charge of cowardice.

FOR UNIFORM PROCEDURE.

Colonial Office Sends Intimation of Change in Taking Evidence.

Ottawa, Oct. 26.—The Lord High Chancellor and the judges of the High Court in England have at present the right to pass rules, which govern the taking of evidence here for use in the courts either in Great Britain and the colonies of the Empire. But, through a despatch, bearing date of Sept. 25, from Lord Elgin of the Colonial Office, the Government was yesterday notified from Ottawa that on the adoption of these rules of the Supreme Court a copy of which is enclosed, by the judges of the High Courts in this and other provinces, a uniform method of procedure in this respect will be obtained throughout the Dominion. The Lord Chancellor and his confreres on the English bench have agreed in these circumstances to waive their rights in the matter.

It appears from Lord Elgin's despatch that the advisability of bringing about a uniform method of procedure in this relation throughout the Empire was raised in Mr. Chamberlain's despatch—"General"—bearing the date of June 23, 1909.

The judges in all the provinces will, in all probability, shortly conform to this request from the Colonial Offices, and bring these rules into general use.

BOLD ESCAPE FROM POLICE.

Prisoner Bolts Through Door of Court and Gets Away.

Almonte, Oct. 26.—William Farrell, committed Thursday to stand his trial in Perth on a charge of theft, boldly ran out of the Police Court yesterday morning in the presence of Acting Chief of Police Anderson and escaped.

Farrell was brought out of his cell and appeared before Police Magistrate Smith to answer another charge of disorderly conduct. The door of the courtroom was open, and Acting Chief Anderson was at some distance from the prisoner.

Farrell was on the point of answering a question put to him by the magistrate, when he suddenly turned and ran out, pulling the door after him. He was too fleet for Anderson.

This makes Farrell's fourth escape from police custody.

German Balloon Wins.

Washington, Oct. 26.—President Willis M. Moore of the International Aeronautic Congress said, in an announcement issued yesterday, that Chief Draughtsman Welch of the signal corps of the army, who was designated to make the official measurements of distances covered in the international balloon race from St. Louis, had decided to accept the figures made by the United States Geological Survey, and these would be made the official records for the Aero Club of America in governing the award of prizes. These figures made the German balloon Pommern the winner by six miles over its next competitor, the French balloon, L'Isle de France.

Alfonso Has Consumption.

Madrid, Oct. 26.—The alarming reports circulated earlier in the month regarding the health of King Alfonso appear to be confirmed.

It is understood that His Majesty who will travel under the strictest incognito as Duke of Toledo, during his coming visit to London, will submit to the examination of a specialist in tuberculosis, from which disease his father died. The King's open air life has thus far kept the hereditary disposition in abeyance, and an operation was performed on him recently in the hope of checking the growing symptoms of consumption.

Prince Edward Tunnel.

St. John, N. B., Oct. 26.—Hon. William Pugsley, Minister of Public Works, was tendered a banquet at Sussex last night by his friends in his former constituency of King's County. In his speech Mr. Pugsley referred to the work of his department, and said he hoped before giving up his portfolio to see the work of the Prince Edward tunnel begun. He made particular reference to the great growth of Ontario and its importance to the Dominion.

Would Have Engineer Released.

St. Thomas, Oct. 26.—Over 1,000 names have so far been secured to the petition for the release of Murray Stephens, the convicted Wabash engineer.

His solicitor, Mr. T. W. Crothers, has written Hon. A. B. Aylesworth, Minister of Justice, asking for an appointment to receive a deputation.

W. F. McLean, M.P., addressed a labor meeting at London Thursday night in support of Mr. Jacobs' candidature [illegible]

ARRESTED A 2 YEAR OLD BOY.

Pittsburg, Pa.—George Shaffer, 2 years old, was arrested on a warrant and charged with trespassing. A neighbor swore that George tore up his lawn and flower beds. But the Court declined to hear the case. The little son of Mrs. John Cline of Aylmer, Ont., was only a year older than baby Shaffer when his mother noticed that he suffered with severe attacks of Biliousness. She tried everything she could think of, but the boy grew steadily worse. "I cannot praise Fruit-a-tives too highly," writes Mrs. Cline. "I have tried so many different kinds of medicine for my son. He has had bilious attacks ever since he was three years old, and since he began to take "Fruit-a-tives" he has been so well." "Fruit-a-tives" are the ideal medicine for children, as well as grown folk. They are pleasant to take and mild in action—being made of fruit juices and tonics. 50c a box. At all dealers.

How to Be Healthy and Beautiful

By Mrs. Henry Symes

Overcoming Tiredness.

"The Summer Moon" after painting by Sir Frederic Leighton.

THERE are a few ills to which all mankind is subject, and which seem to assure us that in the end we are all brothers.

The man or woman has never lived who has not at some time been overwhelmingly, exhaustingly tired. Perhaps a long strain has been the cause, perhaps merely an unwonted effort. Often one becomes fatigued from doing nothing at all.

Real fatigue may be divided into the mental and muscular varieties. The latter is decidedly the simpler of the two. Where one has so overworked physically that one cannot sleep, the first thing to do is to learn to relax.

In such a case the first thing to do is to take a warm bath, into which a little rock salt has been dropped to counteract the weakening effects of hot water.

Then shut out every ray of light from your bedroom and lie flat on your back. Do not close your eyes and think desperately of going to sleep.

Instead, devote yourself entirely to the subject of keeping your eyes open. If they close, open them; if necessary, even prop them open with your fingers; whatever you do, continue to stare wide-eyed into the darkness, and most important of all, think of that one question only. In about five minutes you will be so sleepy that no will-power on earth could keep you awake.

We used to be told that tea was good for mental fatigue and coffee for muscular. Unless, however, you know that coffee will not keep you awake, it is a risky experiment to take it at such a time.

The one cure for fatigue is rest, and after prolonged physical effort, the paramount issue is to get to sleep immediately, and to sleep as long as possible.

Often a good rub-down with olive oil, or a "slush bath" of moist salt, will relieve the tension of tired muscles. Wherever possible, however, the warm bath should be resorted to.

A Cold Facial Bath Is Refreshing. Needful Way to Carry Purse.

For that other muscular fatigue which occurs during the day, in the midst of one's duties, there are many remedies. Give up everything, if it be only for five minutes, lean back in your chair and relax.

COLD WATER WORKS WONDERS

See how limp you can make every muscle in your body. Devote yourself to doing this for five minutes, and you will be more refreshed than if you had slept for an hour.

If possible, wash your face in cold water and lay hot cloths over your eyes. And if no other relief is feasible, at least let cool water run on your wrists for three or four minutes.

The touch of cold, running water is a prime sedative for that nervous, overwrought tiredness that everybody knows.

So many little things will increase or decrease fatigue. Carrying the handbag, for instance, as shown in the illustration, is much more restful than is swinging it nervously at one's side.

Avoid little unnecessary habits. Often a pencil placed unthinkingly between the teeth will drive one to the point of distraction before one realizes that it is actually there. A stray lock of hair floating before the eyes may mean torture to weakened nerves, and a sharp collar edge may become real agony.

Unpleasant as muscular fatigue is, mental fatigue is even more disagreeable, and is a thousand times harder to remedy. It is this which causes nervous prostration, which has aptly been called the great American disease.

It is often the danger signal of a complete nervous breakdown, and it is imperative that it be heeded.

Often change of occupation is better than the reaction arising from complete rest. It is for this reason that it is well to have a hobby of some sort, to which one can devote one's self when the strain of everyday affairs becomes too great to bear. What it is will vary with one's temperament.

Change of Occupation Is Helpful.

Where one would find in such a pastime as solitaire, for instance, a rest and distraction for tired nerves, another would have to seek them in the open air, or in the midst of city crowds.

Many people find in phrases or verses dear to them the quiet and peace they need. One woman simply repeats, when overfatigued, Matthew Arnold's beautiful little poem, "The Last Word," while another finds surcease in a restful and innocuous "Good Night" verse which hangs on her bedroom wall.

Sometimes, too, it is in a call to action that rest can be found. Perhaps a stirring invocation to battle is all that is needed to incite one to fresh action.

FOR MENTAL WEARINESS

Often music brings relief, and occasionally mere mechanical action, such as aimless walking or monotonous tapping with the fingers, is soothing.

A good way to overcome mental tiredness is to make one's self physically tired. Then in the sleep which follows exhaustion, the nervous irritability passes away as well.

The great secret back of family harmony is the learning to "rest together." Until each member of a community can avoid friction in the tense hours following undue mental strain or physical exertion, friction is bound to ensue.

Finally, there are two things to remember. One is that "recreation is recreation," a thought pregnant with meaning; the other, that the cure for fatigue is sleep, actual or figurative.

With these two phrases in mind, there is no danger of actual collapse, however great the inciting cause.

Advice by Mrs. Symes

Eyebrows, Scar and Rouge

KINDLY give me a formula for something to make the eyebrows grow. Kindly tell me also, if there is anything that will remove a scar or make it appear less noticeable on my face. It has been there nearly all my life.

I would also like to know if there is any rouge for the face that is harmless and the manner in which to use it. ANNA.

I am giving you a harmless and effectual eyebrow grower:

Eyebrow and Eyelash Grower.

Cologne	5½ ounces
Glycerine	1½ ounces
Fluid extract of jaborandi	3 drams

Agitate ingredients till thoroughly incorporated. Apply to the eyebrows with the brush, and to the lashes with a tiny camel's-hair paint brush. The fluid must be freed from any drop and passed lightly along the edge of the eyelids, exercising extreme care that no minutest portion of the lotion touches the eyeballs.

Try the ointment for scars I am giving you. If it causes the skin to burn or smart, use zinc oxide ointment instead.

Salve for Scars.

Lanolin	2 drams
Ointment of bichloride of mercury	1 dram

Rub in well once a day.

I never advise the use of rouge, and I would be especially cautious in using even a harmless one when a scar is present. However, here is one of the best I have; use it as directed.

Sultana Cream Make-Up.

Sweet almond oil	4 ounces
White wax (melted)	225 grains
Spermaceti	220 grains
Benzoin (finely powdered)	150 grains
Rice powder	330 grains
Pure carmine	15 grains

Blend the fluid in the inside receptacle of a custard boiler, and beneath while they are heating, the rice powder and carmine white colorings, and the tincture last of all. Spread it on the face and thread neatly and carefully, rubbing it into the skin, and avoid getting it into the eyebrows or close to the eyes. Follow with any flesh-colored powder or velouting, applying freely with a puff, and after a little while wipe off with a bit of chamois. This makes a specialty on account of pearls and gains all slight imperfections of the skin without having the repulsive artificial look which many display artificial that it is imperceptible.

Preventing a Bunion

Kindly tell me what to do to prevent a bunion. I seem to be getting one on each foot. On the right foot it will just be noticed, and sometimes it feels a little sore. I have been told that short shoes cause bunions, and since then I always wear shoes that are a good bit too long for me and which fit loosely. Will tight-fitting shoes cause a bunion to grow?

My hair is very thin and short. Can you please tell me of something to thicken it? Is a certain tonic which is advertised so widely good? I am afraid to try it for fear it will change the color of my hair. I would not mind if my hair turned a little darker. D. C.

I am giving you rules which, carefully followed, should keep you from ever having a bunion.

I am giving you also the formula for a good hair grower. I cannot say anything as to the merits of a proprietary preparation.

To Prevent Bunions and Corns.

Bunions and corns are due to improperly fitting shoes. Have the shoes and stockings a trifle too long for the feet, so as to relieve the pressure on the toes.

Soak the feet night and morning; wipe dry and rub with a mixture of one tablespoonful mirrits of turpentine and lard (equal parts) or turpentine and sweet oil (1 to 3 parts) until the soreness subsides. Dust between the toes with talcum powder and place a little cotton between toes, so as to absorb any moisture.

Hair Grower.

Bay rum	7 ounces
Distilled witch hazel	3 ounces
Common salt	1 dram
Hydrochloric acid (3 per cent.)	1 drop
Magnesia	sufficient

Removing Superfluous Hair

Kindly give me your formula for removing hair from the face and arms. I have used your hair tonic with good results. NAN.

Hair on the arms can be removed by rubbing with a cake of pumice stone—not pumice soap. I am giving you a depilatory for the face. If the hair is in a delicate or tender part, however, I should advise you strongly to bleach it white with strong peroxide.

All these treatments are merely temporary, and must be renewed whenever the hair reappears. Nothing but the electric needle will be permanent.

An Efficient Depilatory.

Sulphide of strontium	2 drams
Oxide of zinc	2 drams
Powdered starch	2 drams

Leave on until it stings; then remove with a blunt knife and wash the skin with warm water.

Mrs. A. D. C.—I no longer advise the use of the physician's prescription, owing to general dissatisfaction on the part of my readers, and to the dangerous sugar of lead which it contains. Use instead one of my other stains.

To Massage the Nose

I AM 18 years old and would like to know if I am too old to massage my nose to get good results. Do you think massaging it every night would help? How should I massage to get the bump off the end?

My eyes are quite sunken. Do you think massage would help this condition?

What could I do to make my eyes bright and make them seem to have life in them? They are a light brown and seem very expressionless.

My hair is a pretty shade of light brown, but is quite thin and oily. It is falling out quite a good deal. Do you think the lotion to make the hair curl would make it fluffy? Is a certain patent preparation a good help? C. J.

You are not too old to reduce the tip of your nose. For five minutes nightly massage it, using the tips of the forefingers, and drawing them over the nose toward each other. In about a year you should begin to see results.

Sunken and expressionless eyes point to poor general health. Improve that and you will be benefited otherwise also.

I am giving you a formula for oily, falling hair. Do not use the curler until you no longer need the tonic. I can express no opinion as to the proprietary grower you mention.

Falling of the Hair.

Tincture nux vomica	1 ounce
Spirits of rosemary	2 ounces
Alcohol	5 ounces

Apply several times a week to the roots of the hair.

MRS. A. F.—I have discontinued advising the prescription you mention, owing to its dangerous effect upon some scalps. If it has not harmed you previously, it will not hurt to continue with its use.

You would find it very hard to increase your height at your age. Stretching exercises might help you slightly.

Do not try to get any stouter. You are just the right weight for your height now.

I am giving you a formula for dry, falling hair. Eczema is too serious a disease to be treated by correspondence. I am giving you a diet for skin diseases, but you should consult a physician.

Tonic for Falling Hair.

Phenol	½ dram
Tincture nux vomica	1½ drams
Tincture cinchona	1 ounce
Tincture of cantharides	½ dram
Cologne	4 ounces
Sweet almond oil	1 ounce

Apply to the roots of the hair with a soft sponge once or twice a day. This lotion is especially good for very dry hair.

Diet for Skin Diseases.

The following diet list may be adapted to almost all skin disorders:

MAY TAKE.

Soups—Fresh fish soups, vegetable broths (clear.

Fish—Raw oysters, fresh fish, boiled.

Meats—Fat bacon, boiled or broiled chicken, game (all shortnesses).

Farinaceous—Cracked wheat, oatmeal, rice, sago, hominy, whole wheat bread or biscuits, rye bread, graham bread or rolls, crackers, dry toast, milk toast, macaroni.

Vegetables—Mashed potatoes, green peas, string beans, spinach, cabbage, cucumbers, cresses, lettuce, celery.

Desserts—Plain milk pudding, junket, rice and milk, sago and milk, stewed fruits (all without sugar).

Drinks—Weak tea (no sugar), milk, buttermilk, toast water, pure water (cold or hot).

Thoroughly masticate all foods. Eat slowly.

MUST NOT TAKE.

Veal, pork, goose, duck, turkey, salted, dried, potted or preserved fish or meat (except fat bacon), eels, mackerel, crabs, salmon, lobster, eggs, rich soups, gravies, patties, tomatoes, sweet potatoes, asparagus, mushrooms, rhubarb, lemons, pickles, vinegar, fried or made dishes, rich puddings, spices, pies, pastry, sweets, cheese, nuts, dried fruits, tobacco, coffee, cider, malt liquors, sweet wines, champagne.

Wrinkles and Blackheads

Kindly advise me what to do for wrinkles. I have two from my nose to the corners of my mouth which annoy me very much.

I am also troubled with blackheads on my nose and cheeks. A. B. L.

Massage with a skin food, such as the one I am giving you, will remove the wrinkles. Massage twice daily for ten minutes, using close rotary motions.

I am also giving you a remedy for blackheads.

Cream of Sweet Oranges.
(A Skin Food.)

Sweet oil of almonds	3 ounces
Orange-flower water	2 drams
White wax	2 drams
Oil of sweet orange	1 dram
Spermaceti	2 drams

Half fill a saucepan with boiling water. Stand a jam jar in this. Shred the wax and spermaceti into the jar. Let it dissolve. Heat almond oil and add to the wax. Heat orange-flower water; add it half a teaspoonful at a time, stirring the mixture quickly. Lift the jar out of the saucepan. Beat mixture with the whisk. Heat and add oil of sweet orange. Whisk cream until it is cold. Put in pots and cover with parchment.

Blackheads of the Skin.

Apply a very little of the cream to each pimple; wait until the pimples are cured before using the face brush, which might irritate them.

Boracic acid	2 drams
Alcohol	2 ounces
Rosewater	4 ounces

Use with friction twice a day on the skin affected.

Doesn't Remove Skin

Is bleaching with pure peroxide, does the bleach remove the skin or simply turn it white?

I have two obstinate brown spots on my chin which I wish could be faded out, but nothing I have tried seems to do any good. A READER.

Peroxide bleaches the skin, it does not remove it.

If the brown spots are moles only electricity or a surgical operation will remove them. Otherwise, try the following:

Dr. Shoemaker's Bleach.
(For Brown Spots.)

Bichloride of mercury, in coarse powder	8 grains
Witch hazel	3 ounces
Rosewater	2 ounces

Agitate until a solution is obtained. Mop over the affected parts. Keep out of the way of ignorant persons and children.

Which of These Is Desired?

Kindly republish the formula for removing superfluous hair from the arms that you published some time ago. It contained chalk and one other ingredient. CONSTANT READER.

Both of the following formulas contain chalk. You will doubtless know which is the one to which you have reference.

Good Depilatory.

Barium sulphide	20 grains
Powdered chalk	60 grains

Mix with water. The barium sulphide must be absolutely dry to be effective when it is mixed with the chalk. Enough water should be afterward added to make a thin paste.

Old Depilatory.

Sulphydrate of soda	120 grains
Chalk	30 grains

Mix thoroughly, and keep dry in well-corked bottle until wanted for use. Take enough to make a paste, and add warm water (a little) until the proper consistency is secured.

Spread over the hairy surface, and allow to remain for from one to five minutes according to the nature of the growth and the susceptibility of the skin; then scrape off with a blunt blade—a paper knife, for example.

It should be removed, as in every case with a depilatory, when the burning sensation is produced. Too long contact with the skin should be avoided, and immediately after the hair has been removed the denuded surface should be gently washed with warm water and a cold cream or a bland oil applied to prevent irritation.

Correction of Formula

In a recent paper in the formula for jaborandi hair tonic you use two ounces each of tincture of cantharides and fluid extract of jaborandi, and in a previous formula you used two drams each. Which is correct? Would it not be better to use quinine alkaloid in place of the quinine tincture of sulphate, as it is much more soluble in alcohol?

The correct formula provides for two fluid ounces of tincture of cantharides and two fluid drams of fluid extract of jaborandi. Very occasionally unavoidable mistakes of this sort occur, and in such cases I am always glad to be reminded of them.

Quinine sulphate is better than quinine alkaloid in this formula, although, as you say, the latter is more soluble in alcohol. You forget that the sulphur is a necessary ingredient.

Hair Prematurely Gray

Kindly advise me of something harmless I can use upon my hair that will turn gray hair back to its natural color, which is a light brown.

I have no scalp disease, no poor health. I have followed your advice as to daily massaging and also use the shampoo you give, but the gray hair remains.

I am about 20 years of age. F.

Hair often turns prematurely gray for no apparent reason. When massage will not arrest the grayness, there remains but dyes and stains. Any of these would make your hair dark, not light brown. The following treatment will keep your hair from growing any grayer, though it will not restore the color of the hair already turned.

Add 5 cents' worth of oil of wintergreen, drop by drop, to a tablespoonful of pure lard, beating it until it is about the consistency of cold cream. Then, after brushing the head thoroughly to remove all dust, rub the mixture, with friction, into the roots of the hair.

Wishes a Curling Fluid

Kindly give me the formula for a harmless curling fluid, to be used before the hair is curled.

The formula I am giving you is simple, harmless and effective. I hope it will prove satisfactory.

Curling Fluid for the Hair.

Is made of a teaspoonful of bruised quince seed to a pint of hot water. The water is poured over the seeds and the whole allowed to stand for several hours. The resultant mucilage may then be strained with a few drops of essence of violet. The hair is moistened with the fluid before curling.

Hair Very Oily

My hair is very damp and oily. I would be so pleased if you could give me a formula for it. Its color is a very dark brown. Mrs. E. F.

The formula I am giving you is an excellent one, and is just the thing you need. It will not at all affect the color of your hair.

For Damp, Oily Hair.

For greasy, moist hair the following is an excellent dry lotion. If used daily, it tends to produce a crispy condition:

Powdered bicarbonate of soda	½ ounce
Borate of soda, powdered	½ ounce
Eau de cologne	½ fluid ounce
Alcohol	½ fluid ounce
Distilled water	½ fluid ounce

Mix and agitate until solution is complete.

Wrinkles in Forehead

I am only 18 years old, but I have three very bad wrinkles in my forehead. I would be so glad to have you tell me how to get rid of them.

I wish also something to fatten my face. I am stout enough for my height, but my face, neck and arms are thin. J. C. M.

I will wager that I could find a reason for those wrinkles! Do you not raise your eyebrows continually? Girls of your age do not have deep wrinkles without some bad habit behind them.

Massage the wrinkles twice daily with cocoa butter or a good cold cream and try to keep your forehead perfectly smooth at all times.

This same massage, in close rotary motions, will benefit your face and neck. Practice singing and whistling to round out your throat and shoulders. For your arms, massage with a twisting, wringing motion, and exercise them by waving them in the air.

Care of the Face and Skin

Bleach and Cleansing Cream Combined

KINDLY give me the formula for a cleansing cream that contains a strong bleach. I have light hair and blue eyes, and my face should be white.

I cannot use any cream that will remain on my face, as it has a tendency to hair growth. That is the reason I am asking for a bleach and cleansing cream in one, so that I can derive both benefits and immediately remove the cream.

Peroxide seems to make my skin dark and withered looking, so I don't know what to use.

I have been using your premature wrinkle lotion, and find it very satisfactory. M. B.

I think you would find a bleach and cleansing cream in one not at all to your liking. I am giving you instead the formula for a cream which you need only rub into your skin, and can then remove, and am also giving you the formula for a liquid bleach which will not raise hair.

Cleansing Cream.

White wax	2 ounces
Spermaceti	2 ounces
Sweet almond oil	12 ounces
Distilled water	3 ounces
Glycerine	3 ounces
Salicylic acid	80 grains

Liquid Whitener.

Water (previously boiled and strained	1 quart
Alcohol	30 drops
Oxide of zinc	1 ounce
Bichloride of mercury	2 grains
Glycerine	30 drops

Skin in Need of Clearing

Kindly publish the formula for a skin food for the face. I have dark, open pores and a skin subject to blackheads, which form pimples. Mrs. M. G.

Your complexion seems generally in a poor condition. Instead of a skin food I should advise you to steam your face nightly with hot cloths held against it, press out the blackheads, dash cold water on the skin to close the pores and dry by absorption.

Before you begin this long operation apply the following and let it dry on the face:

To Clear the Complexion.

Rub the face over, just before washing it, with two teaspoonfuls of flowers of sulphur mixed in half a pint of new milk. This mixture should stand a little while before it is used on the face.

X-Ray for Skin Diseases

Kindly give me information concerning the cure of chronic skin diseases by the use of the violet rays.

Kindly give me also the formula for bleach cream. B. E. W.

The X-ray has been successfully used for the cure of skin diseases of the most serious character. The treatment is, of course, expensive and more or less painful. Details can be given only by one skilled in the work. Only—a word of warning—be very careful in your choice of a specialist. Incalculable harm may be done by an inexperienced or incompetent one.

I am not sure to which bleaching cream you refer. I am, however, giving you the formula for a thin cream, which has a whitening effect on the skin.

Cucumber Lotion or Cream.

Expressed juice of cucumbers	½ pint
Deodorized alcohol	1½ ounces
Sweet almond oil	2½ ounces
Shaving cream	1 dram
Blanched almonds	2½ drams

This is a snave lotion, very whitening, softening and cleansing.

Circles Under Eyes and Enlarged Pores

What should I do for dark lines or rings under the eyes?

I am greatly troubled with enlarged pores, which form blackheads. Electric massaging does not seem to do me any good. E. W.

Shadows under the eyes point nearly always to some more serious trouble. They tell of late hours, overwork, lack of fresh air, tight clothing, constitutional disease, dissipation. Occasionally they are seemingly hereditary and incurable. Try to find the cause of yours and remove it. Bathing with equal parts of eglogue and water will effect a temporary, but not a permanent, cure.

As for the enlarged pores, practice the utmost cleanliness of the entire body. Every night steam the face and pick out the blackheads with a fine needle, which has been sterilized by dipping it in boiling water. Use the following lotion:

Lotion for Enlarged Pores.

Boric acid	1 dram
Distilled witch hazel	4 ounces

Formula for Obstinate Freckles

Could I use your remedy for obstinate freckles every night until they disappear, and at the same time keep my face in good condition? I am 25 years of age, and, of course, would not like to use anything on my face that would make it rough or red.

What kind of curlers would you advise for doing up the hair? L. P.

The formula for obtaining freckles will not harm your skin in any way. You can keep on using it without worrying about your appearance at the office.

Removing Moth Patches

Can you give me any formula for removing moth patches? I am a girl 18 years of age, and I have four on my neck that I would like very much to get rid of. HELEN C.

Moth patches are unusual at your age. Are you sure that is what they are? Here is a formula for their removal:

To Remove Moth Patch.

Cocoa butter	60 drams
Castor oil	60 drams
Citric acid	30 grains
Ammonia water (strongest)	10 drops
Essence of rose	3 drops

Apply to moth patch night and morning.

Remedy for Thick Lips

Kindly give me a remedy for thick lips. Kindly give me also something for relieving my voice caused by pimples. A READER.

To shrink the lips, rub a little glycerine of tannic into them slightly before retiring, and refrain from biting or compressing them.

For the scars, massage lightly with a very little cocoa-butter; steam the face with hot cloths, and then apply the following. Do this every night:

Wash for Delicate Skin.

Borate acid	2 drams
Distilled witch hazel	4 ounces
Rosewater	8 ounces

J. J.—You certainly did not receive the correct ingredient. Take the powder back to the druggist and ask for the ointment. If I were you I would have the druggist make up the prescription for you. You will then be sure of its being absolutely correct, an important point when the formula contains so deadly a poison as mercury.

If the scar is new or sore, use carbolized zinc ointment instead of the salve.

Hints For the Home Dressmaker

The Latest Dean Patterns

Some Timely Suggestions Giving Directions in the Leading Styles and the Best Materials to be Used

A SHIRTWAIST COSTUME IN TARTAN SILK

Gowns of silk or lightweight wool are now considered appropriate for all seasons, and in view of this fact the pretty shirtwaist costume here illustrated, showing one of the latest and smartest of these styles, will perhaps affords welcome suggestion to the home dressmaker. The shirt waist is built on the lines of the popular tucked model, with a deep yoke that adds appreciably to the stylish effect, and the pattern provides for either three-quarter or full-length sleeves. The 7-gored skirt is tuck-pleated to simulate box-pleats, being further ornamented by the addition of groups of small tucks. The dress as shown is modelled in green and blue tartan silk and trimmed with bands of blue velvet. The latter may, however, be omitted, or any preferred trimming may be substituted for them. Any of the new soft woollens would be suitable for modelling this becoming costume. 3 1-4 yds. of 27 inch goods being required for the waist and 9 1-2 of the same width for the skirt, in the medium size.

6973.—AN EXQUISITE NEGLIGEE.

There is something about a dainty negligee that is quite irresistible to the woman who loves pretty things, as every refined woman does. Perhaps it is the pleasant consciousness that she cannot be either than charming in one of the little confections in silk and lace that seem to exhale indolence and comfort. In the dainty dressing sack here sketched elegance and simplicity are seen in rare combination. The novel collar, rolling away from the throat in V-shaped outline, is especially becoming to the woman who can boast a shapely neck, while the arrangement of tucks attractively disposes of the fullness in front, back and sleeve, a perfect fit being assured at the shoulder by the little shoulder yoke. Silk was selected for making the sack, lace and silk braid being used for trimming; but this sack could be made up very prettily in crepon, challis or cashmere. 4 1-4 yards 36 inches wide being needed for the medium size.

4250.—A USEFUL NURSERY GARMENT.

The creeping apron becomes quite indispensible when the baby begins to travel around the floor in his own queer fashion, for it not only protects his little dress from wetness, but also insures the tiny wearer against chilling draughts. The model shown in the sketch is an excellent one for the mother's use in making this little garment. It is very plainly and simply fashioned, and requires absolutely no trimming. It is buttoned down the back, and about the feet is drawn in to the necessary size either with a drawstring or an elastic. Holland, gingham or flannelette are suitable for making, the latter material being the warmest for cool weather wearing. For the one-year size 2 1-4 yds. of 36 inch goods are necessary.

4250.—Sizes, 1-2, 1, 2 years.

The price of this pattern is 10c.

6977.—THE (NEWEST) THING IN WORK APRONS.

Picturesqueness is rather an unusual quality in a garment designed purely utilitarian purposes, but it is the distinguishing feature of the work apron illustrated, the shaping of which is as effective as it is novel. The apron is ingeniously cut in one piece, the front being in princess style, while the back is gathered into a belt. The square cut body portoin with extensions forming epaulettes, gives a very smart appearance to the apron which will prove an acceptable addition to the feminine wardrobe. Striped percale was used for making, 4 1-8 yards 36 inches wide being needed for the medium size. Gingham, lawn or cross-bar muslin are also suitable materials.

4256.—A PRETTY LITTLE YOKE DRESS.

Figured wool batiste was used for modelling this becoming little dress, which illustrates one of the most attractive of recent designs for girls' wear. The simulated yoke, outlined with a bertha of novel shaping, is a pretty feature, and while it is here shown in the high neck development the pattern provides for either round or square neck. The sleeves may be made in either full or shorter length, as desired. The tucked skirt is made in two parts, consisting of a straight upper section lengthened by a straight flounce and is attached to the waist beneath a sash of liberty ribbon, which may be omitted. To make this dress in the 8 year size requires 4 3-8 yards of material 27 inches wide.

4256.—8 sizes, 5 to 12 years.

The price of this pattern is 10c.

4167.—A SMALL DRESS OF PERSIAN LAWN.

We find the bolero in little folk's dresses as well as in those of grown-ups and a pretty gown in which this is very pleasing is shown. Here it serves the purpose of a yoke and from it depends the full skirt portion. The dress is intended for development in washing stuffs, but a supple cloth might be used with success. The sleeves may be long or in short puff style, the latter being appropriate for party frocks. Bands of insertion adorn the dress shown as well as all-over embroidery which forms the yoke and collar and a ruffle to match finishing the bottom. If greater simplicity is desired, the latter may be plain material hemstitched or machine stitched. The pattern calls for 2 3-4 yards of 27 inch goods.

Cromwell's Wife.

While portraits of Oliver Cromwell are sufficiently numerous, only one indisputably genuine portrait of his wife is known to exist. This appeared as the frontispiece of a rare and curious cookery book published in 1664, entitled "The Court and Kitchen of Elizabeth, Commonly Called Joan Cromwell, the Wife of the Late Usurper, Truly Described and Represented."

The Irupi Dance.

The Irupi dance of the Babaka tribe of the Hood peninsula is performed by seven girls, who walk up and down, gracefully swinging a cord about three feet in length, to which a small netted bag is attached.

A GRACEFUL NEGLIGEE GOWN

The negligee gown or tea gown is admittedly a necessity of life to the modern woman, especially the American woman, whose hours of activity are usually so strenuous that freedom and comfort are absolutely essential in her daily hour or so of leisure. This gown illustrated is a charming combination of the wrapper and the house dress, displaying the luxurious ease of the one mingled with the up-to-date elegance of the other. It is shaped to the figure by means of graduated tucks at the waist line, a most becoming arrangement for the slender type of woman. The three-quarter sleeves are similarly tucked, and a novel feature is the tucked colonial collar which finishes the V-shaped neck. The gown is here made of fine French challis, but foulard, crepe de Japon, nun's veiling or any supple fabric would develop prettily by this model. 9 3-8 yards 27 inches wide are needed for the medium size.

A Chapeau From Paris.

This smart hat is a tilted mushroom of champagne braid and ornamented with ruffled lace and a splendid plumet of cream color with a cream aigret springing from it and seed grass coiling from it over the front and side. A jet ornament joins the plumet to the aigret. This artistic drawing is reproduced from Dress, the smart fashion paper. Quite as smart is a mushroom shape of coarse glazed straw, bronze green in color. The crown is wound with brown and reddish brown chiffon, and at the side of crown and brim are large loops of soft taffeta, shading from red to brown.

IN CHAMPAGNE STRAW.

6091, 6087.—AN ATTRACTIVE SHIRT WAIST COSTUME.

This stylish costume here sketched is especially well adapted for wearing with one of the smart separate coats that are to be in vogue during the fall and winter. It includes a tucked shirtwaist, 6091, of most becoming design, made of natural colored embroidered pongee, and a four-piece skirt, 6087, modelled in cinnamon brown voile. The waist is tuck-pleated to the bust in front and to the belt in the back, and offers a choice of two styles of sleeve. The skirt has tucked front and side panels, prettily enclosed by perpendicular tuck-pleats, the whole presenting an entirely novel and distinctly smart effect. The model is adapted for making up in any of the new pliable woollens, while the waist may be made of material to match, or of lace or lingerie, as desired. To develop the medium size 8 yards of 27 inch goods will be needed for the waist, and 7 7-8 yards of the same width for the skirt.

Two Patterns, 6091.—6 sizes, 32 to 42 inches bust measure. 6087. — 7 sizes, 20 to 32 inches waist measure.

4212.—A PLEASING MODEL FOR A SMALL GOWN.

Mothers find that the house dresses are most practical and appropriate for small folks' wear and few little maids are without this most becoming style. The dress shown is built on French lines with its long waist and short full skirt. The broad sailor collar is most attractivdr in shape and closes in front, being left free at one side. The combination of sailor collar and French dress is quite novel and decidedly pleasing, as broad collars are sure to prove becoming and provide sufficient adornment for any dress. The style is one easily made up and suitable to any of the tub fabrics or worsteds. For the medium size 2 3-4 yards of 36 inch material are needed.

4212.—7 sizes, 3 to 9 years.

The price of this pattern is 10c.

4202.—A PRETTY STYLE FOR A PARTY DRESS.

The wide embroidered flouncings are still very popular for the fashioning and adornment of young girls' dressy frocks and a very pretty model is here sketched. It consistes of waist and skirt, which may either be attached at the waist line or left separate. The waist displays a deeply pointed effect at the neck, and a guimpe may be composed of tucked mull inset with lace, while a graceful bertha arrangement, cut from the wide flouncing, adorns the waist. Small puffs of lace may be added if desired, as shown in the smaller sketch. The skirt is a five-gored one, gathered twice at the top and completed by a straight flounce of the embroidered flouncing, beneath which the skirt may be cut away if desired. Any of the pretty evening fabrics would develop charmingly by this model, 6 yards of 27 inch material being needed for the dress, 12 yards of flouncing for the bertha and skirt founce, and 2 1-8 yards of 236 inch material for the guimpe.

4202.—Sizes 14, 15, 16, 17 years.

The price of this pattern is 10c.

Eighteen months in the Central Prison for Thomas Harding for carrying explosives and weapons and three months in Welland county jail for Robert Pasquel for carrying weapons were the sentences imposed by Judge Wells yesterday.

THE NEWEST OVERBLOUSE FROCK.

A unique departure in jumper frocks is shown in this sketch, the bolero overblouse being of an entirely new and original design. The Mikado sleeves are attached to the overblouse, and the latter is attached to the pretty box-pleated skirt in back and front by the strap extensions. The guimpe is included in the pattern, but is made separately. As shown the dress is made of shepherd's plaid, and the guimpe of lawn trimmed with lace insertion and edging; but for cold weather wear the guimpe might be made of silk or of fine French flannel. For the medium size the guimpe requires 1 1-4 yards of 36 inch material, and the dress 3 5-8 yards 27 inches wide.

4245.—Eight sizes, 5 to 12 years.

The price of this pattern is ten cents.

The Prisoner of Zenda

By... ANTHONY HOPE

Copyrighted, 1894, 1898, by Henry Holt & Company

"Then," said I, with a wave of my hand, "to our next meeting, gentlemen. May it make us better acquainted."

"We will pray your majesty for an early opportunity," quoth Rupert airily. And he strode past Sapt with such jeering scorn on his face that I saw the old fellow clinch his fist and scowl black as night.

For my part, if a man must needs be a knave I would have him a debonair knave, and I liked Rupert Hentzau better than his long faced, close eyed companions. It makes your sin no worse, as I conceive, to do it in a mode and stylishly.

Now, it was a curious thing that on this first night, instead of eating the excellent dinner my cooks had prepared for me, I must needs leave my gentlemen to eat it alone, under Sapt's presiding care, and ride myself with Fritz to the town of Zenda and a certain little inn that I knew of. There was little danger in the excursion. The evenings were long and light, and the road this side of Zenda well frequented. So off we rode, with a groom behind us. I muffled myself up in a big cloak.

"Fritz," said I as we entered the town, "there's an uncommonly pretty girl at this inn."

"How do you know?" he asked.

"Because I've been there," said I.

"Since"— he began.

"No. Before," said I.

"But they'll recognise you!"

"Well, of course they will. But don't argue, my good fellow, but listen to me. We're two gentlemen of the king's household, and one of us has a toothache. The other will order a private room and dinner and, further, a bottle of the best wine for the sufferer. And if he be as clever a fellow as I take him for, the pretty girls and not a other will wait on us."

"What if she won't?" objected Fritz.

"My dear Fritz," said I, "if she won't for you, she will for me."

We were at the inn. Nothing of me but my eyes was visible as I walked in. The landlady received us. Two minutes later my little friend (ever, I fear, on the lookout for such guests as might prove amusing) made her appearance. Dinner and the wine were ordered. I sat down in the private room. A minute later Fritz came in.

"She's coming," he said.

"If she were not, I should have to doubt the Countess Helga's taste."

She came in. I gave her time to set the wine down. I didn't want it dropped. Fritz poured out a glass and gave it to me.

"Is the gentleman in great pain?" the girl asked sympathetically.

"The gentleman is no worse than when he saw you last," said I, throwing away my cloak.

She started with a little shriek. Then she cried:

"It was the king, then! I told mother so the minute I saw his picture. Oh, sir, forgive me!"

"Faith, you gave me nothing that hurt much," said I.

"But the things we said!"

"I forgive them for the thing you did."

"I must go and tell mother."

"Stop," said I, assuming a graver air. "We are not here for sport tonight. Go and bring dinner, and not a word of the king being here."

She came back in a few minutes, looking grave, yet very curious.

"Well, how is Johann?" I asked, beginning my dinner.

"Oh, that fellow, sir—my lord king, I mean!"

"Sir will do, please. How is he?"

"We hardly see him now, sir!"

"And why not?"

"I told him he came too often, sir," said she, tossing her head.

"So he sulks and stays away?"

"Yes, sir."

"But you could bring him back?" I suggested, with a smile.

"Perhaps I could," said she.

"I know your powers, you see," said I, and she blushed with pleasure.

"It's not only that, sir, that keeps him away. He's very busy at the castle now."

"But there's no shooting on now."

"No, sir; but he's in charge of the house."

"Johann turned housemaid?"

The little girl was brimming over with gossip.

"Well, there are no others," said she. "There's not a woman there—not as a servant, I mean. They do say—but perhaps it's false, sir."

"Let's have it for what it's worth," said I.

"Indeed, I'm ashamed to tell you, sir."

"Oh, see, I'm looking at the ceiling."

"They do say there is a lady there, sir, but except for her there's not a woman in the place. And Johann has to wait on the gentlemen."

"Poor Johann! He must be overworked. Yet I'm sure he could find half an hour to come and see you."

"It would depend on the time, sir, perhaps."

"Do you love him?" I asked.

"Not I, sir."

"And you wish to serve the king?"

"Yes, sir."

"Then tell him to meet you at the second milestone out of Zenda tomorrow evening at 10 o'clock. Say you'll be there and will walk home with him."

"Do you mean him harm, sir?"

"Not if he will do as I bid him. But I think I've told you enough, my pretty maid. See that you do as I bid you. And, mind, no one is to know that the king has been here."

I spoke a little sternly, for there is seldom harm in infusing a little fear into a woman's liking for you, and I hastened the effect by giving her a handsome present. Then we dined, and, wrapping my cloak about my face, with Fritz leading the way, we went downstairs to our horses again.

It was but half past 8 and hardly yet dark. The streets were full for such a quiet little place, and I could see that gossip was all agog. With the king on one side and the duke on the other, Zenda felt itself the center of all Ruritania. We jogged gently through the town, but set our horses to a sharper pace when we reached the open country.

"You want to catch this fellow Johann?" asked Fritz.

"Aye, and I fancy I've baited the hook right. Our little Delilah will bring our Samson. It is not enough, Fritz, to have no women in a house, though brother Michael shows some wisdom there. If you want safety, you must have none within fifty miles."

"None nearer than Strelsau, for instance," said poor Fritz, with a lovelorn sigh.

We reached the avenue of the chateau and were soon at the house. As the hoofs of our horses sounded on the gravel Sapt rushed out to meet us.

"Thank God, you're safe!" he cried. "Have you seen anything of them?"

"Of whom?" I asked, dismounting.

He drew us aside that the grooms might not hear.

"Lad," he said to me, "you must not ride about here unless with half a dozen of us. You know among our men a tall young fellow, Bernenstein by name?"

I knew him. He was a fine, strapping young man, almost of my height, and of light complexion.

"He lies in his room upstairs with a bullet through his arm."

"The deuce he does!"

"After dinner he strolled out alone and went a mile or so into the wood, and as he walked he thought he saw three men among the trees, and one leveled a gun at him. He had no weapon, and he started at a run back toward the house, but one of them fired, and he was hit and had much ado to reach here before he fainted. By good luck they feared to pursue him nearer the house."

He paused and added:

"Lad, the bullet was meant for you."

"It is very likely," said I, "and it's first blood to brother Michael."

"I wonder which three it was," said Fritz.

"Well, Sapt," I said, "I went out tonight for no idle purpose, as you shall hear. But there's one thing in my mind."

"What's that?" he asked.

"Why, this," I answered—"that I shall ill requite the very great honors Ruritania has done me if I depart from it leaving one of those Six alive."

And Sapt shook my hand on that.

CHAPTER XIII.

IN the morning of the day after that on which I swore my oath against the Six I gave certain orders and then rested in greater contentment than I had known for some time. I was at work, and work, though it cannot cure love, is yet a narcotic to it. So that Sapt, who grew feverish, marveled to see me sprawling in an armchair in the sunshine, listening to one of my friends who sang me amorous songs in a mellow voice and induced in me a pleasing melancholy. Thus was I engaged when young Rupert Hentzau, who feared neither man nor devil, and rode through the demesne, where every tree might hide a marksman for all he knew, as though it had been the park at Strelsau, cantered up to where I lay, bowing with burlesque deference and craving private speech with me in order to deliver a message from the Duke of Strelsau. I made all withdraw, and then he said, seating himself by me:

"The king is in love, it seems."

"Not with life, my lord," said I, smiling.

"It is well," he rejoined. "Come, we are alone. Rassendyll"—

I rose to a sitting posture.

"What's the matter?" he asked.

"I was about to call one of my gentlemen to bring your horse, my lord. If you do not know how to address the king, my brother must find another messenger."

"Why keep up the farce?" he asked, negligently dusting his boot with his glove.

"Because it is not finished yet, and meanwhile I'll choose my own name."

"Oh, so be it! Yet I spoke in love for you, for indeed you are a man after my own heart."

"Saving my poor honesty," said I, "maybe I am. But that I keep faith with men and honor with women, maybe I am, my lord."

He darted a glance at me, a glance of anger.

"Is your mother dead?" said I.

"Aye, she's dead."

"She may thank God," said I, and I heard him curse me softly. "Well, what's the message?" I continued.

I had touched him in the raw, for all the world knew he had broken his mother's heart, and his airy manner was gone for the moment.

"The duke offers you more than I would," he growled. "A halter for you, sire, was my suggestion. But he offers you safe conduct across the frontier and a million crowns."

"I prefer your offer, my lord, if I am bound to one."

"You refuse?"

"Of course."

"I told Michael you would." And the villain, his temper restored, gave me the sunniest of smiles. "The fact is, between ourselves," he continued, "Michael doesn't understand a gentleman."

I began to laugh.

"And you?" I asked.

"I do," he said. "Well, well, the halter be it."

"I'm sorry you won't live to see it," I observed.

"Has his majesty done me the honor to fasten a particular quarrel on me?"

"I would you were a few years older, though."

"Oh, God gives years, but the devil gives increase," laughed he. "I can hold my own."

"How is your prisoner?" I asked.

"The k"—

"Your prisoner."

"I forgot your wishes, sire. Well, he is alive."

He rose to his feet. I imitated him.

Then came the most audacious thing I have known in my life. My friends were some thirty yards away. Rupert called to a groom to bring him his horse and dismissed the fellow with a crown. The horse stood near. I stood still, suspecting nothing. Rupert made as though to mount. Then he suddenly turned to me, his left hand resting on his belt, his right outstretched.

"Shake hands," he said.

I bowed, and did as he had foreseen—I put my hands behind me. Quicker than thought his left hand darted out at me and a small dagger flashed in the air. He struck me in the left shoulder. Had I not swerved it had been my heart. With a cry I staggered back. Without touching the stirrup he leaped upon his horse and was off like an arrow, pursued by cries and revolver shots—the last as useless as the first—and I sank into my chair, bleeding profusely, as I watched the devil's brat disappear down the long avenue. My friends surrounded me, and then I fainted.

I suppose that I was put to bed and there lay unconscious or half conscious for many hours, for it was night when I awoke to my full mind and found Fritz beside me. I was weak and weary, but he bade me be of good cheer, saying that my wound would soon heal and that meanwhile all had gone well, for Johann, the keeper, had fallen into the snare we had laid for him and was even now in the house.

"And the queer thing is," pursued Fritz, "that I fancy he's not altogether sorry to find himself here. He seems to think that when Black Michael has brought off his coup, witnesses of how it was effected—saving, of course, the Six themselves—will not be at a premium."

This idea argued a shrewdness in our captive which led me to build hopes on his assistance. I ordered him to be brought in at once. Sapt conducted him and set him in a chair by my bedside. He was sullen and afraid, but, to say truth, after young Rupert's exploit we also had our fears, and if he got as far as possible from Sapt's formidable six shooter Sapt kept him as far as he could from me. Moreover, when he came in his hands were bound, but that I would not suffer.

I need not stay to recount the safeguards and rewards we promised the fellow—all of which were honorably observed and paid, so that he lives now in prosperity (though where I may not mention)—and we were the more free inasmuch as we soon learned that he was rather a weak man than a wicked and had acted throughout this matter more from fear of the duke and of his own brother Max than for any love of what was done. But he had persuaded all of his loyalty and, though not in their secret counsels, was yet, by his knowledge of their dispositions within the castle, able to lay bare before us the very heart of their devices. And here, in brief, is his story:

Below the level of the ground in the castle, approached by a flight of stone steps which abutted on the end of the drawbridge, were situate two small rooms, cut out of the rock itself. The outer of the two had no windows, but was always lighted with candles; the inner had one square window, which gave upon the moat. In this inner room there lay always, day and night, three of the Six, and the instructions of Duke Michael were that on any attack being made on the outer room the three were to defend the door of it so long as they could without risk to themselves. But so soon as the door should be in danger of being forced then Rupert Hentzau or Detchard (for one of these two was always there) should leave the others to hold it as long as they could and himself pass into the inner room and without more ado kill the king, who lay there, well treated, indeed, but without weapons and with his arms confined in fine steel chains, which did not allow him to move his elbow more than three inches from his shoulder. Thus before the outer door were stormed the king would be dead. And his body? For his body would be evidence as damning as himself.

"Nay, sir," said Johann, "his highness has thought of that. While the two hold the outer room the one who has killed the king unlocks the bars in the square window (they turn on a hinge). The window now gives no light, for its mouth is choked by a great pipe of earthenware, and this pipe, which is large enough to let pass through it the body of a man, passes into the moat, coming to an end immediately above the surface of the water, so that there is no perceptible interval between water and pipe. The king being dead, his murderer swiftly ties a weight to the body and, dragging it to the window, raises it by a pulley (for lest the weight should prove too great Detchard has provided one) till it is level with the mouth of the pipe. He inserts the feet in the pipe and pushes the body down. Silently, without splash or sound, it falls into the water and thence to the bottom of the moat, which is twenty feet deep thereabouts. This done, the murderer cries loudly, 'All's well!' and himself slides down the pipe; and the others, if they can and the attack is not too hot, run to the inner room and, seeking a moment's delay, bar the door and in their turn slide down. And though the king rises not from the bottom, they rise and swim round to the other side, where the orders are for men to wait them with ropes, to haul them out, and horses. And here, if things go ill, the duke will join them and seek safety by riding; but if all goes well they will return to the castle and have their enemies in a trap. That, sir, is the plan of his highness for the disposal of the king in case of need. But it is not to be used till the last, for, as we all know, he is not minded to kill the king unless he can, before or soon after, kill you also, sir. Now, sir, I have spoken the truth, as God is my witness, and I pray you to shield me from the vengeance of Duke Michael; for if, after he knows what I have done, I fall into his hands I shall pray for one thing out of all the world—a speedy death, and that I shall not obtain from him!"

The fellow's story was rudely told, but our questions supplemented his narrative. What he had told us applied to an armed attack, but if suspicions were aroused and there came overwhelming force—such, for instance, as I, the king, could bring—the idea of resistance would be abandoned. The king would be quietly murdered and slid down the pipe. And—here comes an ingenious touch—one of the Six would take his place in the cell and on the entrance of the searchers loudly demand release and redress, and Michael, being summoned, would confess to hasty action, but he would say the man had angered him by seeking the favor of a lady in the castle (this was Antoinette de Maubani, and he had confined him there, as he conceived he as Lord of Zenda had right to do. But he was now on receiving his apology content to let him go and so end the gossip which, to his highness' annoyance, had arisen concerning a prisoner in Zenda and had given his visitors the trouble of this inquiry. The visitors, baffled, would retire, and Michael could at his leisure dispose of the body of the king.

Sapt, Fritz and I in my bed looked round on one another in horror and bewilderment at the cruelty and cunning of the plan. Whether I went in peace or in war, openly at the head of a corps or secretly by a stealthy assault, the king would be dead before I could come near him. If Michael were stronger and overcame my party there would be an end, but if I were stronger I should have no way to punish him, no means of proving any guilt in him without proving my own guilt also. On the other hand, I should be left as king (ah, for a moment my pulse quickened), and it would be for the future to witness the final struggle between him and me. He seemed to have made triumph possible and ruin impossible. At the worst he would stand where he had stood before I crossed his path—with but one man between him and the throne, and that man an impostor. At best there would be none left to stand against him. I had begun to think that Black Michael was overfond of leaving the fighting to his friends, but now I acknowledged that the brains, if not the arms, of the conspiracy were his.

"Does the king know this?" I asked.

Michigan Central Was Fined; Judge Riddell's Firm Stand

Justice Riddell Imposes Substantial Penalty on M.C.R.

Criminal Neglect Caused Explosion at Essex—Judge Recognized Damages Already Paid — Affair Will Cost Company Over $90,000—Would Indict Directors If In Jurisdiction—Biggest Fine Yet Inflicted.

Toronto, Oct. 26.—A fine of $25,000 is imposed upon the Michigan Central Railway Co. by a judgment pronounced by Mr. Justice Riddell yesterday morning. The amount of the penalty, however, is conditional on the company paying in the amount within thirty days. The company was indicted originally under sections 221, 247 and 279 of the Criminal Code, for the explosion that occurred last August in Essex, by which two men were killed and forty others more or less injured. The crown, however, withdrew the count under section 279, which made anyone found guilty of causing bodily harm to any persons through explosives liable to imprisonment for life.

The case was tried at Sandwich, and in his judgment Mr. Justice Riddell merely finds the company guilty on the second count, but if they do not pay the penalty imposed he announces that he will deliver judgment on the first count later.

Referring to the amount of the penalty his lordship says that he has made it very low in consideration of the amount of damages the defendants have already paid, the damages they have suffered and the claims they still have to meet. They have so far paid $11,000, and it will cost them $4,700 to effect repairs.

The claims they have still to meet will probably exceed $50,000. The amount of loss indicted upon the company is more than one hundred times one year's earnings on that class of freight.

His lordship further said that if the general manager and board of directors had been within the jurisdiction of the court, he would have recommended their personal indictment. It was proper that minor offences should be punished, but those who were responsible for maintaining bad systems should be equally liable to rigorous prosecution under the Criminal Code. In many cases a fine had little effect, but the possibility of being placed in the dock on a criminal charge would always, and with all persons, have a salutary and deterrent effect against the toleration of slipshod methods.

"To prevent a recurrence of similar accidents, the law should make it more costly to violate than to observe the law," said his lordship.

A defect in our system, remarked upon by Mr. Justice Riddell, was the absence of an officer specially appointed to watch for offences, and to cause the offenders to be prosecuted. Of substantive law and legislation the country has enough and to spare, but there was a failure to provide sure methods for bringing offenders to justice.

More Whiskey Drank This Year

Consumption of Tobacco Also Has Increased in Canada

The Ottawa despatch says:

The report of the Department of Inland Revenue for the last fiscal year—nine months to March 31—was issued today. The revenue was $12,096,930, as compared with $14,435,842 for the preceding 12 months. The quantity of spirits produced was $5,061,389 proof gallon. All Canadian whiskey has to be kept in warehouse for two years before it can be sold. At the beginning of this year 17,034,429 proof gallons were in warehouse under the supervision of excise officer. In the nine months 303,594 gallons were exported as against 277,905 gallons in the preceding 12 months. The foreign demand for Canadian distillery products is steadily increasing.

The average quantity of tobacco taken for consumption during the past four years was 13,899,639; for the last nine months, the total was 12,101,678 pounds, a substantial increase. The number of cigars taken for consumption was 154,253,260, as against 182,178,436 in the preceding year. The annual consumption per head of spirits, was .947 spirits, as against .871; beer, 5,585 gallons, as against 5.255; wine, .092 gallons—no increase—and tobacco, 2.953 pounds, as against 2,777 pounds.

During the fiscal period 29,154 gas meters were presented for verification, 5,913 were correct, 9,781 were running too fast and 13,319 too slow. Of electric light meters, 19,461 were presented, 9,731 were correct, 5,426 fast, and 4,321 slow.

MONEY IN DEAD LETTER OFFICE

The carelessness of some people in financial matters is evidenced by the annual report of the Post Office Department. During the last nine months 3,900 letters containing $15,692; 11,796 cheques for $123,319; 3,399 money and express orders for $51,694, found their way to the Dead Letter Office.

The gross revenue for the fiscal period was $6,535,093, and the expenditure $5,452,791, leaving a surplus of $1,082,301.

The number of post offices in operation on April 1 was 11,377. The gross postal revenue of Toronto was $998,951, the highest of any city in Canada. Other cities are:

TRENT BRIDGE PEOPLE WRATHY

Because Dominion Government Has Not Appointed New Postmaster

Special to the Review.

Havelock, Oct. 25.—The residents of Trent Bridge and the surrounding country are up in arms, and things are looking very lively in that vicinity. Whenever you see a congregation of men, and their whole talk is about the Dominion Government not having appointed a postmaster at Trent Bridge. The former postmaster Mr. T. C. McFadden left for Abernethy, Sask., this week, and as no successor has yet been appointed by the department, there is no post office at Trent Bridge. This causes a great deal of confusion and trouble among the residents of that burg, and they are swearing vengeance on the department for not being more prompt in appointing a postmaster.

W.C.T.U. is to be Organized Here

Two Prominent Members Expected to Assist in Organization

The Review has been handed the following for publication.:

An effort is being made to reorganize a branch of the W.C.T.U. here. All who are familiar with the good work done by these Christian women banded together "for God and home and every land," will unite in wishing the effort God speed.

The annual convention is to be held in Cornwall from Nov. 5th to 8th, and it is expected that two of the prominent speakers will stop over in Peterborough on their return trip, and superintend the work of organization.

The prayerful co-operation of the Christian women of all denominations is earnestly solicited, that the organization may be a power for righteousness, and a force against the monster evil of intemperance.

BANKS CLOSE BUT SOLVENT.

Conditions in New York Are Greatly Improved.

New York, Oct. 26.—Yesterday was another nerve-racking day, but the financial institutions of New York have shown extraordinary power of resistance to the pressure put upon them.

The institutions which closed their doors yesterday, with the sums due depositors, are:

The United States Exchange Bank, Harlem, $600,000; International Trust Co., about $100,000; the Borough Bank of Brooklyn, $4,000,000; the Brooklyn Bank, $2,300,000; Williamsburg Trust Co., Brooklyn, $7,500,000, and the First National Bank of Brooklyn, $3,500,000.

The First National Bank of Brooklyn, the Williamsburg Trust Co., and the International Trust Co. were allied institutions. None of these companies had any important business connections with the larger banks, which are representatives of the city's financial affairs.

On the other hand a number of favorable features marked the day. The Trust Company of America and the Lincoln Trust Co., the two organizations, which have suffered most from runs, have been slowly paying out to their depositors and closed yesterday with all demands having been met. In the case of the Trust Company of America the run has well night spent its force, as the great bulk of depositors have been paid off.

At the close of business there were a good many in line at the Lincoln Trust Co., but there also was a marked reduction in the number of anxious depositors.

The most favorable incident of the day was that the Stock Exchange was provided with funds ample to meet its immediate necessities by a money pool headed by J. P. Morgan, which sent about $15,000,000 to the Exchange during the afternoon.

BRADSHAW COUNTED OUT.

Turgeon Now Has Majority In Prince Albert Bye-Election.

Prince Albert, Sask., Oct. 26.—Returning Officer McGuire commenced his count of the ballots in the Prince Albert provincial bye-election at 10 o'clock yesterday morning and declared the result in the afternoon. A few minutes before they started representatives of both sides put in a batch of appeals against the decisions of the Court of Revision, the Liberals appealing 104 votes and the Provincial Rights 27.

As a result 86 of the supposed Bradshaw votes, 17 of which marked for Turgeon, were withdrawn from the count until they can be taken before a judge. Among the appeals, ten by Bradshaw and eighteen by Turgeon were, in respect of votes, disallowed by the Revision Courts.

This further tie-up placed Bradshaw at a disadvantage for the present of sixty-nine votes, and, although it is possible for him to eventually win the seat as a result of the appeals, the returning officer omitted from his count all appealed ballots, and declared the candidate elected who had the majority of unappealed votes, which was Turgeon by 69. Both sides claim they would have won if no appeals had been entered, but it is now conceded that Attorney-General Turgeon was elected.

Ten Houses Burned.

Toronto, Oct. 26.—Fire at 1 o'clock this morning broke out in the Leader planing mill and lumber yard, Bartlett avenue, above the C.P.R. tracks, in Dovercourt Village, and in a few minutes the entire yard, which covers a block, and surrounding buildings were in the grip of the flames.

The firemen speedily responded to an alarm, but owing to poor water supply little could be done.

The houses in the neighborhood are of light construction, many of them "home made," and were easy prey for the flames before the occupants, awakened from their slumbers, could remove much of their belongings.

Ten houses have been burned and the school is threatened. The loss to the lumber yards is placed at $20,000.

Played Wild West.

London, Oct. 26.—Two little boys named Harvey and Craig did a "wild west" act yesterday morning. With an air rifle they went down Dufferin street until they met the six-year-old son of Brakeman Cake of the C. P. R. The boys shouted "Hands up," and young Cake at once complied. The rifle in Craig's hands was discharged, and the shot entered Cake's left eye through the under eyelid. Craig did not know the weapon was loaded, but young Cake will probably lose the sight of the wounded eye.

Two Fishermen Drowned.

Halifax, Oct. 26.—On Wednesday morning Harry Foener and Fred. Foener, both 19 years of age, cousins, left Gull Islands for a day's off-shore fishing. Shortly after nothing could be seen of their boat and diligent search failed to locate them. Thursday night Thomas Croft picked up on the western head beach three oars and a box compass from the boat. Evidently the craft swamped and the young men went down with it.

Dr. Gillette Denied Bail.

New York, Oct. 26.—Dr. Walter R. Gillette, formerly vice-president of the Mutual Life Insurance Co., who on Thursday was convicted of perjury and remained in the Tombs, was denied bail by Justice Dowling in the Supreme Court yesterday.

A Belleville Scandal.

Belleville, Oct. 26.—John Gordanier, a well known citizen, was yesterday committed for trial, charged with attempted criminal assault on Mrs. Julianne Shadrick, a soubrette with the "I'm Married Now" company, which appeared here Thursday night.

White Shot Hindoo.

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 26.—The Coroner's inquest on a Hindu shot by a white man two nights ago resulted in a verdict that the deceased came to his death through a shot fired by E. P. Bowen, who is held on a murder charge.

Pictou, N. S. Conservatives have nominated Sir Hibbert Tupper for the Commons.

Dye to any Color At Home!

"Maypole" is a cake of soap that washes and dyes at one operation. Not an old fashioned dirty, messy powder dye. It gives brilliant, fast colors—dyes anything—dyes to any color or shade. Good-bye to that trip to the dye house—dye at home with Maypole.

CROWN NOT A CORPORATION.

And Can Do No Wrong—Gillies Limit Case Ended.

Toronto, Oct. 26.—When the arguments of the plaintiffs and the defendant in the case of Gillies Bros., who are suing the T. & N. O. Railway Commission for $90,000 damages to their property, were finished in the non-jury assizes yesterday afternoon. Justice McMahon reserved judgment and asked that all the evidence taken be prepared for his observation. In the meantime the action for damages for fires in 1906 will go on in a couple of weeks.

Several more witnesses were examined yesterday.

In opening his argument, D. E. Thomson, counsel for the commission, argued that the Gillies Bros. were not in legal possession of the limits at the time of the fires, and also that the licenses had lapsed.

"The act for the preservation of forests does not apply to us," continued Mr. Thomson. "It's elementary law, I take it, that no statute applies to the crown unless the crown is expressly named.

"That raises the question, Are we the crown? I claim we are within the rule, the King can do no wrong. We, holding this property for the public and no other purpose, does that put us in the position of a corporation? I submit not."

Hunting Season Tragedies.

Ogdensburg, N. Y., Oct. 26.—William Durgan, aged 27 years, of Lake Placid, was shot and instantly killed by George Martin of Averyville, who mistook him for a deer. Both were members of a large hunting party.

Orin Porter, aged 17, of Tunbridge, while hunting deer, was shot and almost instantly killed by a companion about the same age, named Tupper. Tupper's gun was accidentally discharged, the ball entering Porter's head.

Fifteen Years for Murder.

Stroudsburg, Pa., Oct. 26.—The jury in the case of Benjamin Courtright, charged with having shot and killed Harvey Kron at Milford, has rendered a verdict finding the former guilty of murder in the second degree and acquitting his mother.

Courtright, who is not yet 22 years old, was immediately sentenced to 15 years in the penitentiary. Mrs. Courtright, who is 72 years old, was discharged.

Released on Bail.

Ottawa, Oct. 26.—John B. Legault, the Gatineau Point man who was arrested some time ago, brought to Hull and committed to stand trial on a charge of attempted murder, has been released on furnishing bonds of $2,000, to appear when his case is called. Legault, while intoxicated, attempted to shoot his wife at his residence in Hull.

Gingerbread Men In Trouble.

St. Catharines, Oct. 26.—Two of the members of the male chorus of "The Gingerbread Man" got a horse at a local livery to take a drive, but drove the animal to death. The liveryman charged them before the magistrate with ill-treating a horse, but withdrew the complaint when the pair pleaded with him. They paid the costs of the case.

Forger Gets Six Months.

St. Catharines, Oct. 26.—William Northrope, convicted of forging the name of Crown Attorney McKay of Orangeville to a check for $40, was sentenced to six months' imprisonment by Judge Carman yesterday.

Seven Years For Bigamist.

Owen Sound, Oct. 25.—Thomas A. Richardson, convicted bigamist and thief, was sentenced yesterday morning to seven years in Kingston Penitentiary.

Concrete Houses.

It is possible to build a house today, and such houses have already been constructed, which shall be entirely of re-enforced concrete except for such minor items as doors and window frames. This, says the Cement Age, makes a house which is entirely unburnable from within and practically unburnable from without.

Clannish Scots.

The London Standard says the Scottish race is the most clannish, the most ubiquitous, the most pertinacious and the most instinctively coherent in the world.

Wonderful Memories.

Seneca, the tutor of Nero, could repeat 2,000 words exactly as he heard them. Pope could turn at once to any passage which had struck him when reading, and Leyden, the Scottish poet, was also remarkable for his memory. Leyden is credited with having been able to repeat an act of parliament or a long legal document after having heard it once.

Guatemala.

The republic of Guatemala has over 16,000 saloons and taverns. In the country districts there is one to every eighty-two inhabitants; in the towns, one to every fifty-two.

A Freak Salmon.

At the New York aquarium last year out of a lot of 10,000 salmon eggs one was born with two heads and two forward bodies projecting at an angle from a single body. The two heads appeared to act independently in feeding. It lived for only a few months.

Adriatic Sharks.

Sharks were almost unknown in the Adriatic until the Suez canal was opened. Now the harbors of Fiume and Pola are so infested with them that residents dare not bathe in the open sea.

Mixed Metaphor.

From an address given to a scientific society near Manchester: "I am glad that the bread which I cast on the waters nine or ten years ago has turned up trumps and is now yielding fruit."

Prince Arthur Not Coming.

London, Oct. 25.—Capt. Wyndham, equerry to Prince Arthur, informs the Canadian Associated Press there is no truth in the rumor that the prince will be present at the Quebec tercentenary.

Land Lines For Marconi.

London, Oct. 25.—Marconi's London officials announce that he is going to erect his own land lines in Canada to avoid the delay now existing.

Peterborough, Ontario.

Dear Sir,—I have much pleasure in acknowledging this receipt of the cheque for $1,344 being the amount paid me on the maturity of my endowment policy, 35890, in your Company which matured on the 1st inst.

I find I have received almost 4 per cent. compound interest on every dollar paid in to the Company and in addition have had free insurance for the past fifteen years.

Such a result speaks volumes for the management of your company and far exceeds my expectations and I would be ungrateful indeed were I not to acknowledge it.

I was also offered a paid-up policy of $3,078, or an annuity for life of $111.55, both of which I consider excellent.

I thank you very much indeed and wish your company the continued success and confidence it so richly deserves.

Yours very truly,

(Signed) REV. H. C. GARBUTT

Gold Importations in New York City

Saves Financial Situation—Trust Companies in Other Cities Suspend

Special to J. R. Heintz & Co.

New York, Oct. 28.—Further engagements of gold abroad, and the success of New York bankers in securing all the South African metal offered in London today brings the total importations arranged for now up to $10,750,000. In London it is believed that $5,000,000 more will be taken for New York account during the week. As far as the financial situation generally is concerned it seems to be better in this city, but out through the country the effect of the upheaval here is being more and more noticeable.

A trust company in Maine and another in Kansas City suspended and a run is reported upon a very prominent savings institution in Chicago, while the situation in Baltimore and Pittsburg is not liked. In Oklahoma a week holiday has been proclaimed by the governor, and with these developments it is hard to see how the market can maintain any permanent improvement.

The dissolution of the call money pool has brought the brokerage house sto the point where they must practically finance themselves so that continued liquidation may be looked for.

In our opinion the only safe attitude to take would be the long side of the very best railroad stocks when they are under pressure, and we would not hold for too great profits. London bought to the extent of about 30,000 shares, and there will likely be a further demand from abroad for our securities. The market closed very irregular.

Will Stop Sunday Moving Pictures

Montreal, Oct. 26.—By a new edict of Chief of Police Campeau the Sunday observance wave has struck the French section of Montreal in a manner which has not been experienced for years. The city has always in the past been under a sort of dual system, by which Sunday ideas have obtained in the west end, while in the more purely French section things have been much more wide open. For a long time past in the east end, where the population is almost purely French, the moving picture shows and other mechanical vaudeville affairs have made a specialty of Sunday matinees and evening performances, which have been largely patronized. Now this must stop, according to an order issued yesterday.

WHO SHE WAS

SKETCH OF THE LIFE OF LYDIA E. PINKHAM

And a True Story of How the Vegetable Compound Had Its Birth and How the "Panic of '73" Caused it to be Offered for Public Sale in Drug Stores.

This remarkable woman, whose maiden name was Estes, was born in Lynn, Mass., February 9th, 1819, coming from a good old Quaker family. For some years she taught school, and became known as a woman of an alert and investigating mind, an earnest seeker after knowledge, and above all, possessed of a wonderfully sympathetic nature.

In 1843 she married Isaac Pinkham, a builder and real estate operator, and their early married life was marked by prosperity and happiness. They had four children, three sons and a daughter.

In those good old fashioned days it was common for mothers to make their own home medicines from roots and herbs, nature's own remedies—calling in a physician only in specially urgent cases. By tradition and experience many of them gained a wonderful knowledge of the curative properties of the various roots and herbs.

Mrs. Pinkham took a great interest in the study of roots and herbs, their characteristics and power over disease. She maintained that just as nature so bountifully provides in the harvest-fields and orchards vegetable foods of all kinds; so, if we but take the pains to find them, in the roots and herbs of the field there are remedies expressly designed to cure the various ills and weaknesses of the body, and it was her pleasure to search these out, and prepare simple and effective medicines for her own family and friends.

Chief of these was a rare combination of the choicest medicinal roots and herbs found best adapted for the cure of the ills and weaknesses peculiar to the female sex, and Lydia E. Pinkham's friends and neighbors learned that her compound relieved and cured and it became quite popular among them.

All this so far was done freely, without money and without price as a labor of love.

But in 1873 the financial crisis struck Lynn. Its length and severity were too much for the large real estate interests of the Pinkham family, as this class of business suffered most from fearful depression, so when the Centennial year dawned it found their property swept away. Some other source of income had to be found.

At this point Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was made known to the world.

The three sons and the daughter, with their mother, combined forces to restore the family fortune. They argued that the medicine which was so good for their woman friends and neighbors was equally good for the women of the whole world.

The Pinkhams had no money, and little credit. Their first laboratory was the kitchen, where roots and herbs were steeped on the stove, gradually filling a gross of bottles. Then came the question of selling it, for always before they had given it away freely. They hired a job printer to run off some pamphlets setting forth the merits of the medicine, now called Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and these were distributed by the Pinkham sons in Boston, New York, and Brooklyn.

The wonderful curative properties of the medicine were, to a great extent, self-advertising, for whoever used it recommended it to others, and the demand gradually increased.

In 1877, by combined efforts the family had saved enough money to commence newspaper advertising and from that time the growth and success of the enterprise were assured, until to-day Lydia E. Pinkham and her Vegetable Compound have become household words everywhere, and many tons of roots and herbs are used annually in its manufacture.

Lydia E. Pinkham herself did not live to see the great success of this work. She passed to her reward years ago, but not till she had provided means for continuing her work as effectively as she could have done it herself.

During her long and eventful experience she was ever methodical in her work and she was always careful to preserve a record of every case that came to her attention. The case of every sick woman who applied to her for advice—and there were thousands—received careful study and the details, including symptoms, treatment and results were recorded for future reference, and to-day these records, together with hundreds of thousands made since, are available to sick women the world over, and represent a vast collaboration of information regarding the treatment of woman's ills, which for authenticity and accuracy can hardly be equaled in any library in the world.

With Lydia E. Pinkham worked her daughter-in-law, the present Mrs. Pinkham. She was carefully instructed in all her hard-won knowledge, and for years she assisted her in her vast correspondence.

To her hands naturally fell the direction of the work when its originator passed away. For nearly twenty-five years she has continued it, and nothing in the work shows when the first Lydia E. Pinkham dropped her pen, and the present Mrs. Pinkham, now the mother of a large family, took it up. With woman asistants, some as capable as herself, the present Mrs. Pinkham continues this great work, and probably from the office of no other person have so many women been advised how to regain health. Sick women, this advice is "Yours for Health" freely given if you only write to ask for it.

Such is the history of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound: made from simple roots and herbs; the one great medicine for women's ailments, and the fitting monument to the noble woman whose name it bears.

Vesuvius Again in Eruption; The City of Naples Is Aroused

Terrible Explosion Follows Immediately After Earthquake.

Volcano Pours Out Lava and Mud—Towns Damaged—Incline Railway Paralyzed—Rescue Work In Calabria—Dead Now Estimated at Six Hundred—Injured One Thousand—Many Still Unburied.

Naples, Oct. 28.—Great fear has been caused by a terrible explosion of Vesuvius, immediately following the earthquake, which poured forth lava, mud and ashes.

The surrounding towns were damaged to a considerable extent, and the finicular railway was paralyzed.

Ten persons were injured, according to reports received.

New York, Oct. 28.—The Sun has received the following cable despatch from Rome: Exact particulars as to the extent of the earthquake damage, and the correct number of victims are as yet unavailable. The reports are contradictory and there is much confusion in the locality of the disaster. The soldiers are making attempts by means of the field telegraph to connect Ferrazzano with Bracaglione, where headquarters have been established, but the work is proceeding slowly owing to the bad weather.

Seventy soldiers who had been for over eight hours on the march succeeded in reaching the village and strong detachment are now hastening thither, since many persons are still alive and buried in the collapsed buildings.

The soldiers recovered alive several children who were locked in the embraces of their dead mothers, who had shielded their offspring with their own bodies. Help is urgently need at Ferrazzano, where, owing to the insufficiency of the rescue parties, corpses are still unburied and decomposition has begun. The soldiers are hurrying the burials and are using lime to prevent the spread of pestilence.

The injured are still unattended to, and many are unsheltered. Doctors, medicines and surgical instruments are lacking. Neither can the transport of the wounded elsewhere be effected, as all available beast of burden are employed in carrying provisions.

Notwithstanding the efforts of the Government to help the sufferers and the work of the soldiers, the effects of the earthquake are bound to last for many years. Calabrians are ignorant of self-help. They are illiterate and fatalists. Loss of energy and action invariably follows any calamity. Even the able-bodied, instead of helping the troops, serve as an incumberance. Their passiveness increases the confusion and their presence add to the number of persons to be fed.

The latest reports are that there are at least 600 dead and over 1,000 injured.

Whole Family Slain.

Elizabethgrad, Russia, Oct. 28.—A score of armed men on Saturday surrounded the estate of M. Kelepofsky, administrative chief of this district, and slew Kelepofsky, his wife, mother and two children.

GENERAL BOOTH WORN OUT.

Had to Be Almost Carried Into His Hotel at Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Oct. 28.—General William Booth, commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army, is at the Hotel Henry in this city, greatly fatigued following a journey from Columbus, Ohio, yesterday.

While it is stated the general's condition is not grave, it is admitted he is very tired.

No person, even any member of his party, has been allowed to see him since his arrival here.

The party left Columbus, Ohio, shortly before noon and reached this city a few minutes after 6 o'clock last night. It was necessary almost to carry General Booth into the hotel. Immediately a report spread like wildfire about the city that the Salvation Army commander was dying and many persons called at the hotel making enquiries. According to the members of the party, however, the general is merely wearied.

TRAIN STRUCK WAGON.

Two Boys Disappeared Mysteriously After the Smash.

Welland, Oct. 28.—The express at the sir line Saturday night crashed into a team of horses and a wagon. The engineer plainly saw two boys on the wagon, and when the train was stopped the lads could nowhere be found. Both the horses were killed outright and the front part of the wagon was broken to pieces.

The train crew and passengers made an extended search in the vicinity, but could not find the boys. Though thrown 40 feet, they escaped injury, and as soon as they realized what had been done they made off, fearing responsibility for the accident. The boys are Wilford House and A. Morningstar, aged respectively 10 and 12 years. They were returning from taking a load of lumber to Bridgeburg. Each wrapped himself in a blanket and both fell asleep.

AN AEROPLANE ADRIFT.

Lebaudy's Craft Helpless In Mid-Air For an Hour.

Paris, Oct. 28.—While the Lebaudy airship Patrie was engaged in evolutions over Paris with five officers and two ladies on board, her right propeller dropped off and she drifted helplessly in the wind for an hour, finally descending near Issy without sustaining any damage or any injuries being inflicted on her passengers.

Henry Farman, in the presence of cheering enthusiasts, Saturday afternoon, drove his aeroplane 771 metres in 53 seconds, at the height of about three metres, thus breaking all previous records. Earlier in the day he covered 363 metres in 30 seconds, breaking the record of 220 metres, held by Santos Dumont.

Evangelist In Prison.

St. Catharines, Oct. 28.—Walter Northrope, who was sentenced to six months' imprisonment for forgery by Judge Carman, is a unique personality. He drew a check on the Bank of Hamilton, at Orangeville, in favor of the proprietor of the Village Inn at Grimsby, after basking in the smiles of a tall, fair and refined looking lady from Toronto, whom he represented to the hotel management as his wife, for a period of ten days.

The prisoner is a "local preacher," of considerable power and eloquence, and has frequently occupied the pulpit "with great acceptance" at Brantford and other points. While in jail, awaiting trial, his mother, and mother-in-law, died, and his wife was quite ill.

Northrope insisted on entering the box on his own behalf and swore that the woman from Toronto wore "the white flower of a blameless life."

The judge in passing sentence subjected the prisoner to a terrible arraignment, evidently regarding him as a moral degenerate. The prisoner claimed to have done a lot of evangelistic work amongst the inmates of the jail, during his incarceration. The circumstance that during the short interval between the trial and passing sentence the Bank of Commerce here was successfully worked, perhaps contributed to the length of the sentence (six months) imposed.

Killed While Escaping.

Elmira, N. Y., Oct. 28.—After burglarizing the Lackawanna station at Big Flats and two houses in the vicinity during Saturday night, a man, supposed to be one Hassand, Pennsylvania lumberman, broke into a toolhouse, stole a railroad tricycle and started toward Elmira. Yesterday morning his mangled remains were found north of the city beside the Lackawanna tracks. The wreck of the tricycle was also found. The remains were brought to the morgue in this city and later identified. It is not known what train struck him. He secured nothing of value from the places entered.

Trusts a Necessary Evil.

Indianapolis, Oct. 28.—Judge P. S. Grosscup of the United States Circuit Court, said in an address Saturday night at the Columbia Club, a Republican organization, that if the Sherman law was intended to exterminate trusts, or to affect wages or prices, the act had failed.

He declared that in the present age industrial combinations were an effective agency to wield the energies of mankind beyond any other form yet discovered.

Pettibone Trial.

Boise, Idaho, Oct. 28.—Attorneys for the state and defence in the case of George A. Pettibone, charged with complicity in the murder of ex-Governor Steunenburg, yesterday signed a stipulation that the trial, which was set for next Monday, shall be adjourned until Nov. 18.

Railroad Kills First Passenger.

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 28.—A wreck on the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad yesterday killed the first passenger in the history of the company. Two are dead, 25 injured and others may die.

$1,000,000 IN DANGER

Automobile Loaded With Greenbacks Broke Down in Street.

Police and Firemen Hurried to Protect Cash From Mob at the Ferry—Was on Way to Relieve Bank—Crowd Made a Rush For the Car—Too Late to Help Bank So Returned to Wall Street.

New York, Oct. 28.—The breaking down of a big automobile loaded with $1,000,000 drew such a crowd around the entrance to the Grand street ferry yesterday that police reserves had to be called out to keep back the mob and protect the money.

In the automobile were Mr. Rooth, manager of the State Bank of Brooklyn, and a chauffeur. Over the top of the doors of the machine the edges of bales of greenbacks could be seen, and when the front part of the car blew up packages of money were scattered all over the rear seat, a few falling to the ground.

The machine was headed for the Williamsburg Bank. The bank paid off every claim up to the hour of closing, and the funds being hurried that way were not needed.

The sight of the greenbacks started a rush of hundreds to the spot, and when Mr. Rooth announced that the machine carried $1,000,000 the four policemen on duty at the ferry rushed in to protect the treasure. A fireboat was moored nearby, and the firemen aided in the protection.

In a few minutes the chauffeur had the machine so repaired that he could move on. But Manager Rooth, seeing that it would be impossible to reach Williamsburg before the closing hour, turned the car around and took the money back to Wall street.

PRAISE FROM ROOSEVELT.

President Says Cortelyou Handled Financial Crisis Well.

Washington, Oct. 28.—President Roosevelt yesterday congratulated Secretary Cortelyou on his handling of the present financial crisis. The letter of commendation was made public at the White House. It reads:

"I congratulate you upon the admirable way in which you have handled the present crisis. I congratulate also those conservative and substantial business men who, in this crisis, have acted with such wisdom and public spirit. By their action they did invaluable service in checking the panic which, beginning as a matter of speculation, was threatening to destroy the confidence and credit necessary to the conduct of legitimate business. No one who considers calmly can question that the underlying conditions which make up our financial and industrial well-being are essentially sound and honest. Dishonest dealing and speculative enterprise are merely the occasional incidents of our real prosperity. The action taken by you and the business men in question has been of the utmost consequence and has secured opportunity for the calm consideration which must inevitably produce entire confidence in our business conditions."

TRAIN SLID INTO LAKE.

Many Italian Laborers Drowned—Train Crew Escape.

Millinocket, Me., Oct. 28.—A working train of flat cars, on which were 40 or 50 Italian laborers engaged in the construction of an artificial lake for the Great Northern Paper Co. at East Millinocket, tumbled into the lake Saturday through the sinking of the track, and a messenger who said he saw the accident reported that nearly all the workmen had been drowned. The company officials, however, deny that there had been great loss of life. The messenger said that the trainmen escaped to places of safety, but that few of the workmen were rescued.

Defers Hanlan's Sentence.

Orangeville, Oct. 28.—Forger Hanlan, who was to have received his sentence on Saturday, had the matter postponed until next week to enable him to employ counsel. He will press to have the Guelph charges disposed of here.

Crown Attorney McKay is of opinion that similar and contemporaneous crimes should be expiated by one punishment, so that the prisoner may have some incentive to reform and not look forward to be handed over to police officers on his liberation.

Bandits Captured.

Spokane, Wash., Oct. 28.—With $14,000 in National Bank notes concealed on their persons, two rough looking men, believed to be the bandits who held up the Great Northern Oriental Limited train near Bond Siding, Mont., Sept. 12, and secured $40,000 in greenbacks, were arrested in a Great Northern car as it entered this city Saturday night.

The suspects gave their names as G. E. McDonald, 43 years old, and Ed. Smith, 33 years.

Murder at Buffalo.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 28.—The body of a woman supposed to be a Mrs. Miller was found in a rooming-house here Saturday, dead in bed, with a small rope twisted about her neck. The woman, accompanied by a man, applied for a room Friday night and registered as Mr. and Mrs. Miller. When they did not appear at noon the door was forced open. The man has disappeared.

Highwaymen Shoot Farmer.

Montreal, Oct. 28.—Oscar Delorme, a young farmer, while on his way home on Saturday night, was held up on the outskirts of the city, shot and badly wounded.

Settler's Wife Burned to Death.

Vermillion, Alta., Oct. 28.—The wife of a settler named Edward Farrell was burned to death in a prairie fire at Campbell Lake last Friday.

Chicago Banks Cautious.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—The Chicago Clearing House Association Saturday night announced, through a committee, that it had decided to issue clearing house certificates. It was also resolved that Chicago savings banks should require from their depositors the time notices provided for in connection with the withdrawal of such accounts.

No question of the solvency of Chicago banks is involved, according to members of the committee, who say that none of the Chicago banks has asked for or needs assistance.

The Prisoner of Zenda

By ANTHONY HOPE

Copyrighted, 1898, 1898, by Henry Holt & Company

"I and my brother," answered Johann, "put up the pipe under the orders of my Lord of Hentzau. He was on guard that day, and the king asked my lord what it meant. 'Faith,' he answered, with his airy laugh, 'it's a new improvement on the ladder of Jacob, whereby, as you have read, sire, men pass from earth to heaven. We thought it not meet that your majesty should go, in case, sire, you must go, by the common route. So we have made you a pretty private passage, where the vulgar cannot stare at you or incommode your passage. That, sire, is the meaning of that pipe.' And he laughed and bowed and prayed the king's leave to replenish the king's glass, for the king was at supper. And the king, though he is a brave man, as are all of his house, grew red and then white as he looked on the pipe and at the merry devil who mocked him. Ah, sir,"—and the fellow shuddered—"it is not easy to sleep quiet in the castle of Zenda, for all of them would as soon cut a man's throat as play a game at cards, and my Lord Rupert would choose it sooner for a pastime than any other."

The man ceased, and I bade Fritz take him away and have him carefully guarded, and, turning to him, I added:

"If any one asks you if there is a prisoner in Zenda you may answer 'Yes.' But if any asks who the prisoner is, do not answer. For all my promises will not save you if any man here learns from you the truth as to the prisoner in Zenda. I'll kill you like a dog if the thing be so much as breathed within the house!"

Then when he was gone I looked at Sapt.

"It is a hard nut," said I.

"So hard," said he, shaking his grizzled head, "that, as I think, this time next year is like to find you still king of Ruritania!" and he broke out into curses on Michael's cunning.

I lay back on my pillows.

"There seem to me," I observed, "to be two ways by which the king can come out of Zenda alive. One is by treachery in the duke's followers."

"You can leave that out," said Sapt.

"I hope not," I rejoined, "because the other I was about to mention is—by a miracle from heaven!"

CHAPTER XIV.

IT would have surprised the good people of Ruritania to know of the foregoing talk, for, according to the official reports, I had suffered a grievous and dangerous hurt from an accidental spear thrust received in the course of my sport. I caused the bulletins to be of a very serious character and created great public excitement, whereby three things occurred—first, I gravely offended the medical faculty of Strelsau by refusing to summon to my bedside any of them save a young man, a friend of Fritz's, whom we could trust; secondly, I received word from Marshal Strakenz that my orders seemed to have no more weight than his and that the Princess Flavia was leaving for Tarlenheim under his unwilling escort (news whereat I strove not be glad and proud), and, thirdly, my brother, the Duke of Strelsau, although too well informed to believe the account of the origin of my sickness, was yet persuaded by the reports and by my seeming inactivity that I was in truth incapable of action and that my life was in some danger. This I learned from the man Johann, whom I was compelled to trust and send back to Zenda, where, by the way, Rupert Hentzau had him soundly flogged for daring to smirch the morals of Zenda by staying out all night. This, from Rupert, Johann deeply resented, and the duke's approval of it did more to bind the keeper to my side than all my promises.

On Flavia's arrival I cannot dwell. Her joy at finding me up and well instead of on my back and fighting with death makes a picture that even now dances before my eyes till they grow too dim to see it, and her reproaches that I had not trusted even her must excuse the means I took to quiet them. In truth, to have her with me once more was like a taste of heaven to a damned soul, the sweeter for the inevitable doom that was to follow, and I rejoiced in being able to waste two whole days with her. And when I had wasted two days the Duke of Strelsau arranged a hunting party.

The stroke was near now, for Sapt and I after anxious consultations had resolved that we must risk a blow, our resolution being clinched by Johann's news that the king grew peaked, pale and ill and that his health was breaking down under his rigorous confinement. Now, a man, be he king or no king, may as well die swiftly and as becomes a gentleman, from bullet or thrust, as rot his life out in a cellar. That thought made prompt action advisable in the interests of the king. From my own point of view it grew more and more necessary, for Strakenz urged on me the need of a speedy marriage, and my own inclinations seconded him with such terrible insistence that I feared for my resolution. I do not believe that I should have done the deed I dreamed of, but I might have come to flight, and my flight would have ruined the cause.

It is perhaps as strange a thing as has ever been in the history of a country that the king's brother and the king's personator in a time of profound outward peace near a placid, undisturbed country town, under semblance of amity, should wage a desperate war for the person and life of the king. Yet such was the struggle that began now between Zenda and Tarlenheim. When I look back on the time I seem to myself to have been half mad. Sapt has told me that I suffered no interference and listened to no remonstrances, and if ever a king of Ruritania ruled like a despot I was in those days the man. Look where I would, I saw nothing that made life sweet to me, and I took my life in my hand and carried it carelessly, as a man dangles an old glove. At first they strove to guard me, to keep me safe, to persuade me not to expose myself, but when they saw how I was set there grew up among them, whether they knew the truth or not, a feeling that fate ruled the issue and that I must be left to play my game with Michael my own way.

Late next night I rose from table, where Flavia had sat by me, and conducted her to the door of her apartments. There I kissed her hand and bade her sleep sound and wake to happy days. Then I changed my clothes and went out. Sapt and Fritz were waiting for me with three men and the horses. Over his saddle Sapt carried a long coil of rope, and both were heavily armed. I had with me a short stout cudgel and a long knife. Making a circuit, we avoided the town and in an hour found ourselves slowly mounting the hill that led to the castle of Zenda. The night was dark and very stormy, gusts of wind and spits of rain caught us as we breasted the incline, and the great trees moaned and sighed. When we came to a thick clump about a quarter of a mile from the castle we bade our three friends hide there with the horses. Sapt had a whistle, and they could rejoin us in a few moments if danger came, but up till now we had met no one. I hoped that Michael was still off his guard, believing me to be safe in bed. However that might be, we gained the top of the hill without accident and found ourselves on the edge of the moat where it sweeps under the road, separating the old castle from it. A tree stood on the edge of the bank, and Sapt silently and diligently set to make fast the rope. I stripped off my boots, took a pull at a flask of brandy, loosened the knife in its sheath and took the cudgel between my teeth. Then I shook hands with my friends, not heeding a last look of entreaty from Fritz, and laid hold of the rope. I was going to have a look at Jacob's ladder.

BORDEN IN TRAIN WRECK.

Engine Left Rails and Distinguished Men Were Shaken Up.

Winnipeg, Oct. 28.—R. L. Borden and party, returning from Carman at an early hour Saturday morning, were wrecked a few miles from this city.

In the party were Premier Roblin, R. L. Borden, Dr. Reid, M.P., and J. G. H. Bergeron.

The train left Carman for Winnipeg at midnight, but several miles from the city the engine left the rails, the shock sending the passengers out of their seats across the car floor. The party were stranded until another engine was sent out.

Utica, N. Y., Oct. 28.—The Montreal express on the Adirondack division of the New York Central Railroad, which left Utica at 1.25 o'clock yesterday morning, was wrecked five hours later, near Nehasane, while running at a speed of about 40 miles an hour. The train carried many New York, Boston and Philadelphia people bound for the woods. The train was made up of an engine, mail car, baggage car, two day coaches and four Pullman sleepers. The second day coach left the rails, followed by the two rear Pullmans, which turned over on their sides and were dragged nearly 300 feet. All the passengers were thrown from their berths and tossed about the cars. The most seriously injured was Mrs. L. F. Requa of No. 2 East 63rd street, New York, who had one rib broken and otherwise injured.

THOUSANDS LAID OFF.

Railway Company Dispense With Services of Nearly 3,000 Men.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 28.—The New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Co., it is announced, will lay off more than two thousand employes of the steam system, besides several hundred more in the Rhode Island trolley service.

Work upon a very large number of the improvements will either be stopped or largely curtailed.

The curtailment is a precautionary measure, due to the money stringency.

Woman Burned to Death.

Little Falls, N. Y., Oct. 28.—Mrs. Oscar Wock was burned to death here yesterday, and Bert Rapp was terribly injured as a result of attempting to save her life. Rapp was passing the Wock home when he saw Mrs. Wock, her clothing ablaze, rushing through the house. He went to her assistance, but before the blazing clothing could be extinguished the woman was dead. Rapp is in a serious condition.

Arrested for Arson.

Hamilton, Oct. 28.—Fred Anderson, manager of the local agency of White & Co., Toronto, wholesale fruit merchants, was arrested last night on the charge of arson. The firemen were called to the store about 7 o'clock last night to attend to a fire among some packing in the cellar. Anderson was there, apparently under the influence of liquor, and he was arrested.

Sawed Off Wrong End.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 28.—Sitting on a piece of timber on a 30-foot trestle Saturday, John Hughes, a carpenter for the American Bridge Co., sawed the board through and fell with the piece he had sawed off. He had been sitting on the wrong end of the board. His right thigh was broken and he sustained severe scalp wounds.

Smothered in Barley.

Utica, N. Y., Oct. 28.—John Thomas Burke, 9-year-old son of Thomas Burke, a farmer residing near Little Falls, while playing in a barn, fell into a grain chute and was smothered under 45 feet of barley.

6973.—AN EXQUISITE NEGLIGEE.

There is something about a dainty negligee that is quite irresistible to the woman who loves pretty things, as every refined woman does. Perhaps it is the pleasant consciousness that she cannot be other than charming in one of the little confections in silk and lace that seem to exhale indolence and comfort. In the dainty dressing sack here sketched elegance and simplicity are seen in rare combination. The square collar, rolling away from the throat in V-shaped outline, is especially becoming to the woman who can boast a shapely neck, while the arrangement of tucks attractively disposes of the fullness in front, back and sleeve, a perfect fit being assured at the shoulder by the little shoulder yoke. Silk was selected for making this sack, lace and silk braid being used for trimming; but the sack could be made up very prettily in crepon, challis or cashmere. 4 1-4 yards 36 inches wide being needed for the medium size.

6973.—7 sizes, 32 to 44 inches bust measure.

CAMPAIGN IN GLENGARRY

Inaugurated by the Roman Catholic Bishop of Alexandria.

Rev. Father McRae delivered a stirring sermon on temperance in a Roman Catholic church at Alexandria on a recent Sunday morning. Speaking of the evils of intemperance he said intemperance appeared to be on the increase in the county of Glengarry, and was largely due to the indifferent spirit of the people towards this vice, and while the spirit of indifference, and inertia towards the liquor traffic continued, drunkenness was bound to be prevalent in their midst.

Not only were people indifferent to the evil and its ravages, but many were to be found willing to lend a helping hand to increase the traffic, by asking that more licenses be granted, and by their abuse of the clergy and others who try to curtail the evil and punish the offenders, as well as the silly arguments they use that it makes no difference how many places are licensed, the amount of drinking will be the same.

These impressions were indelibly stamped on the minds of the youth who in turn were found ready to sign petitions whenever they were presented to them, and who were ready to join in criticising and abusing those who would dare to attempt to stop the ravages of the drink vice. It was a lamentable state of affairs in a Christian community, to find men who would look on day after day and see their weaker brethren, who were helpless, going to ruin with drink and make no effort whatever to save them.

He remarked that his Lordship, the Bishop, had announced his intention of starting a temperance campaign throughout the diocese, and had appealed to them to co-operate with their chief pastor, and give him all the assistance they could, to promote the virtue of temperance. Such a worthy cause should appeal to all Christians to do their duty and join the clergy and stamp out this curse which is dragging so many down to inevitable ruin.

THE LAMB WAS NOT DELIVERED

And Purchaser Can Get His Money at the Police Station

One Peterborough man who intended having a feast of lamb for his Sunday dinner, was sadly disappointed. Saturday morning he purchased a quarter of lamb from a farmer on the market, and paid for it too, but when the farmer went to deliver it, he could not find the address given him, so he came to the police station and left the money there. The man who bought the lamb can get his coin back by calling on the Chief of Police.

EDITOR HARDEN CHEERED.

Man Sued for Libel Receives Great Ovation in Berlin.

Berlin, Oct. 28.—The case was closed Saturday in the libel action brought by Gen. Count Kuno von Moltke against Maximilien Harden, editor of Die Zukunft, and the judge announced that the findings of the court would not be made public until to-morrow.

The day was devoted to the pleas of counsel and Herr Harden himself made a speech in his own defence, which was greeted with much applause, although there was some hissing. Herr Harden received a great ovation from the huge crowds on the streets, as he emerged from the court house. Public sympathy seems to be running strong against Gen. Von Moltke, and as he left the court house, under police protection, he was greeted with groans and cat-calls.

Von Moltke also made a short speech before the case closed, in his own behalf. He asserted his complete innocence of the charges hinted at in Harden's articles. His speech made a strong impression on his auditors.

The trial has created a tremendous sensation in Berlin society.

KING EDWARD IN DANGER?

Man Suspected of Having Designs on His Majesty's Life.

Newmarket, Eng., Oct. 28.—The police here Saturday arrested a man suspected of having designs on the life of King Edward or the Prince of Wales. The prisoner, who was a member of the Bechauana and (South Africa) police, named J. H. Pearse, was found wandering in Chippenham Park, where the King had been shooting last week, and in which the prince is going to shoot to-day. Pearse, when taken into custody, said he intended to "shoot the boss who was shooting here." After a preliminary examination in the Police Court he was remanded for further enquiries regarding his past life.

Pearse participated in the Jameson raid in the Transvaal, and is laboring under the impression that he has a grievance against King Edward, who left Newmarket and has now returned to London.

THREE PEOPLE KILLED.

Rear-End Collision on Underground in London, Eng.

London, Eng., Oct. 28.—Three persons were killed and a dozen others were injured on Saturday in a rear-end collision at the West Hampstead station of the Metropolitan Underground Railroad. The rear train, it appears, ran by the signals in a fog and crashed into a train which was standing at the station.

This is the first accident of the kind since the London lines were electrified, when a system of electric signaling was installed, which the company claimed would absolutely preclude the possibility of such an accident.

The Metropolitan has had a remarkable record of immunity from fatalities. This is said to be the first accident resulting in the death of a passenger, although 300 billion persons have been carried since the opening of the road.

CRUISER LAURINE WRECKED.

Tried to Make Goderich Harbor But Met With Disaster.

Goderich, Oct. 28.—The Canadian Government fishing cruiser Laurine in making the shelter of this harbor Saturday night, about 7 o'clock, ran hard and fast on the submerged breakwater, which is in course of construction at the mouth of the harbor here.

Local tugs tried to get her off Saturday night, but without success. The Reid Wrecking Co.'s tugs were wired for, but were unable to reach here in time to be of any assistance. The furnishings were taken off and the boat abandoned.

The boat, which was recently purchased from Hiram Walker of Walkerville and fitted up for a fishing cruiser, was on the way to Georgian Bay ports. Her captain did not know of the breakwater.

Washington, Oct. 28.—"No such relations exist between America and Japan as would make it improper to send the American battleship fleet into the Pacific. If there were, then the relations between America and Great Britain and the relations between America and France, which are the same, would forbid the maintenance of battleship fleets in the Atlantic Ocean."

The statement was made at the conclusion of a long conference between Secretary Root and Ambassador Aokio of Japan at the State Department on Saturday.

Reply to the Pope.

Rome, Oct. 28.—The Modernists, replying to the Pope's encyclical, recently issued, argued that the church always has and should now adapt itself to the exigencies of the age. They insist upon retaining the right to discuss the Bible and other sacred writings, which they hold to be human productions.

Drowned in Drydock.

Kingston, Oct. 28.—Saturday night about 9.30 o'clock George Randall, one of the crew of the steamer Assiniboia, missed his way in the darkness, while going from the boat into the city, and fell into the drydock and was drowned. He was an English youth and 20 years of age.

Japs Are Pleased.

London, Oct. 28.—A Times' Tokio despatch says the Japanese nation seems profoundly pleased by the attitude of the Canadian authorities in the presence of the anti-Japanese outrages, but public opinion is evidently opposed to the conclusion of any convention restricting the movements of Japanese laborers. It fully recognizes the right of every sovereign power to enact convenient limits to the influx of aliens, but such legislation, it is contended, must be general.

W. H. HILL, Esq.,
Manager Central Ontario,
Peterborough, Ontario.

Dear Sir,—I have much pleasure in acknowledging the receipt of the cheque for $1,244, being the amount paid me on the maturity of my endowment policy, 35390, in your Company which matured on the 1st inst.

I find I have received almost 4 per cent. compound interest on every dollar paid in to the Company and in addition have had free insurance for the past fifteen years.

Such a result speaks volumes for the management of your company, and far exceeds my expectations and I would be ungrateful indeed were I not to acknowledge it.

I was also offered a paid-up policy of $2,078, or an annuity for life of $111.56, both of which I consider excellent.

I thank you very much indeed and wish your company the continued success and confidence it so richly deserves.

Yours very truly,

(Signed) REV. H. C. GARBUTT

No. of Appeals Has Broken All Records

324 Protests are Entered Against the Assessment for 1908—Court Will Have Busy Time

Saturday closed the time in which ratepayers had the privilege of appealing against the assessment for 1908, and the total number entered is 324. This constitutes a record in the history of the city, and will without doubt establish a mark that will not be equaled for many years to come.

Last year the number of appeals entered was 26, and the record for former years was about 60. Last year the number of appeals was among the lowest on record since Peterborough became a centre of importance.

The Court of Revision will hold its first sitting on Wednesday, Nov. 6th, and it is likely that several sessions will have to be held before the 324 appeals are satisfactorily dealt with. The majority of the protests are from Wards 1 and 2. The ratepayers in that section of the city are not at all satisfied with the assessment, believing that it is not equitable with the rest of the city.

The Decline in Homesteading

Ottawa, Oct. 26.—Mr. J. Obed Smith Commissioner of Immigration at Winnipeg, said there was a decrease of 11,002 in homestead entries this year as compared with last, the numbers being 20,058 in 1907, and 31,660 for the corresponding period in 1906. He said this was explained in part by the fact that the newcomers were buying land outright instead of homesteading.

Mr. Smith anticipated no falling off in the price of real estate in the West in consequence of the money stringency or the crop shortage. The tendency, he believed, would be rather for land values to continue upwards.

Disastrous Fire at Hamilton's Grocery Store Yesterday

Started on Second Floor and Continued to Roof—Loss Estimated in Neighborhood of $3000—Good Work of Fire Brigade.

Between five and six o'clock Sunday morning, Mr. W. Stroud, who has apartments over his place of business, George street, detected a strong odor of smoke, and discovered that some of it was in his room. Not knowing what the source of it was, he sprang from his bed and, hurriedly dressing, rushed down stairs to see from what part of the building the smoke was coming. At the corner of George and Simcoe streets, a few yards south of the George street entrance to his store, he noticed smoke coming out through the upper windows of W. H. Hamilton's grocery store, 138 Simcoe street. He immediately sounded an alarm and went down to Mr. Hamilton's residence, telling him of the danger to his premises.

The fire brigade promptly responded to the call and fought hard for two hours before they gained mastery over the flames, finding it necessary to cut a hole in the roof while doing so.

It is thought the fire broke out on the second floor, but the cause of the conflagration is not known. The flames licked their way up along a partition, burning through the second floor and damaging the roof. On the second floor six hundred dozen of canned goods were damaged by the flames about half them being totally destroyed. In the third storey the electric motor supplying power for the process of fruit cleaning, coffee roasting, etc., was burned, and is a total wreck, and the shafting and belting of the machinery, in connection with it, were also badly damaged. The ceiling of the ground floor is injured to such an extent, by the water dripping through, that it will have to be replaced by an entirely new one, and much of the ceiling of the second storey is also damaged. The heat was so intense in the second storey that all the rear windows were cracked.

Although much debris has accumulated in the premises, as the result of the fire, business at the store is being carried on today, and will be continued without interruption.

Mr. Hamilton estimates his total loss at about $3,000 and says it is fully covered by insurance. He speaks highly of the prompt and efficient manner in which the brigade did its work.

"It was only on account of the promptness of the firemen," said Mr Hamilton, "that the building was not totally destroyed."

This morning the blaze broke out again, but was extinguished by the brigade in a short time.

Mr. Wm. McIlroy Has Returned Home From the Canadian Ticket Sellers Association Annual Meeting at Winnipeg—Notes Great Progress in the West

Mr. Wm. McIlroy, local C.P.R. ticket agent, returned home from the West on Saturday night after attending the annual meeting of the Canadian Ticket Sellers Association in Winnipeg. The convention was held on October 13th, 14th, 15th and 16th and was attended by about 120 members from all over the Dominion. Mr. McIlroy was president of the Association last year and was again honored at the recent meeting by being elected to the executive committee along with Mr. Wm. Bunton of this city.

MR. WM. McILROY

The ticket sellers and those who accompanied them, Mr. McIlroy states, had a royal time in Winnipeg. They could not have been more hospitably received and entertained and during their stay in the Manitoba capital nothing was too good for them. They were banquetted, given theatre parties, an automobile ride around the city and various other forms of entertainment. Practically all the ticket sellers made their headquarters at the Royal Alexandra hotel, the new C.P.R. hostelry in connection with the depot at Winnipeg. Mr. McIlroy states that is a palatial establishment, in fact one of the best the has ever seen. On the return trip he saw the leading hotels in Minneapolis, Chicago and Detroit, but none of them could compare with Royal Alexandra. The rotunda is one of the best in America.

PEOPLE ARE SATISFIED.

Regarding the crops in the West, Mr. McIlroy states that the people are well satisfied with the harvest that has just been garnered. The yield is not quite so heavy as in some former years, but the farmers will receive more money than formerly as the price is around $1.00 per bushel, considerably higher than in past years.

A GREAT CITY.

Mr. McIlroy had not visited Winnipeg for eight years and says there has been a wonderful change in the city during that comparatively short time. Especially marked are the improvements in the residential sections where some of the most handsome residences in Canada have been erected during the past few years. Many changes are also noted in the business streets. Winnipeg, Mr. McIlroy states, is becoming one of the finest cities in America.

Mr. McIlroy was accompanied by Mrs. McIlroy and returned home by way of Minneapolis, Chicago and Detroit, stopping a day or so at each of these cities. After the convention was over at Winnipeg, part of the party returned directly to the East, another party went through to Vancouver, another to Edmonton and district, and another returned to the East by way of Minneapolis, Chicago, Detroit, etc. Mr. and Mrs. McIlroy came with the latter and had a most enjoyable trip.

Fred Dickson, a 16 Year Old Boy, Runs Away From Home

Left the Family Residence 10 Bolivar Street Last Thursday—Was Seen Passing Through Springville—Should be Easily Identified.

On Tuesday last, at noon, Fred Dickson, the 16 year old son of Mr. Albert Dickson, a local blacksmith, who resides at 10 Bolivar street, slipped away from his father's residence, while the latter, and Mr. F. C. Brigley, commercial specialist at the Collegiate Institute, were having a discussion, concerning a two weeks' truancy of which the boy was guilty. Young Dickson was in the second year of the commercial course at the Collegiate Institute, and provided he is successful would graduate next June. He had been scheming to skip school for a couple of weeks previous to Mr Brigley's visit to his father's house, and apparently decided to run away, rather than face any consequences that might result from his misdemeanors.

It should not be a difficult matter to trace up the boy, as he is crippled his left leg being amputated about four or five inches below the knee. When he left home, he was dressed in a dark suit, wore a grey peak cap, carried a crutch and had a skating boot on his right foot. He is fair in complexion, with large blue eyes, and about five feet, three inches in height.

His mother telephoned Dr. Marsh of Springville, requesting him to ask the members of his congregation if they noticed a boy answering the description of her son in the vicinity of Springville, and he telephoned her, after enquiries on his part, that the lad had been seen passing through the western hamlet by way of the C.P.R. track.

"Is the boy in the habit of playing truant," his mother was asked by the Review this morning.

"No," she replied, "With the exception of the two weeks he schemed school before leaving home, he never to my knowledge has done so before, except on one day, shortly before last Christmas."

"Where do you think his destination probably is?"

"In my opinion he is heading for Toronto, and will look for work there," she replied.

She said she was going to telephone to Fraserville and Omtreville and if necessary other towns along the C.P.R., with a view of locating the boy if possible.

Although he is a cripple, he is capable of getting over the ground at a rapid rate. On one occasion he walked from Fraserville to Peterborough in a short time, after going to the first mentioned place on a train.

Found Dead in Bed This Morning

The family of the late Mr. David Reid, 181 1-2 London street, received a severe shock this morning, when after retiring in his usual health, last evening, he was found dead in his bed. The deceased had been ailing about four years, but his condition was not considered serious. He was in fairly good health yesterday and gave no evidence at night of any change for the worse. It is supposed that his death was due to heart failure.

The late Mr. Reid was born in Caledon, Ont., 70 years ago. His marriage was celebrated about 38 years ago, and the family had resided in this city since 1898. His wife still survives him, with the following family; Mrs. L. Bowles, of Regina; Wm. Reid, of Bensfort; Daniel Reid, at home, and Mrs. H. Godfrey, Harvey street.

The deceased was a member of the Methodist church, and a Liberal in politics.

The funeral will be held from the family residence on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock to the Little Lake Cemetery.

Are Preparing to Build Dam

The contractors, McCoy and Wilford, for the new dam, have been overlooking the premises, and mapping out preparations. Last week several samples of sand were obtained, and now they are arranging for material to fill in the long stretch of breastwork on the river. The contract has to be completed by this time next year.—Bobcaygeon Independent.

A SERVICEABLE "COVER-ALL" WORK APRON
There is one thing that is above all others indispensable to the busy housewife, and that is a supply of really practical aprons for use on housecleaning days. The apron illustrated is one of the most satisfactory designs for this purpose, being unique in its shaping, and as attractive to look at as it is practical to wear. The long sleeves are especially useful as protectors of the dress sleeves, which always seem to catch so much soilure when housework is in progress, greatly to the detriment of the gown. Gingham is by far the most serviceable material for making the apron. 4 1-2 yards 36 inches wide being required for this medium size.

The price of this pattern is ten cents.

Slashing Attack on Laurier Made by an Old Time Liberal

Mr. W. C. Conant, of Ottawa, Reviews Record of Extravagance, Corruption and Graft of the Present Administration Which Will Rise Up in Judgment at the Next Federal Election.

In the last issue of the Weekly Sun, Mr. W. C. Conant of Ottawa, an old-time Liberal, makes a scathing attack on the Laurier Administration, which will be read with much interest. Mr. Conant says, "It is now apparent that Sir Wilfrid Laurier made a mistake from a party point of view, in not going to the country in the spring. So long as things were booming, he could have declared, after the manner of Canadian Premiers, that he had so arranged matters in heaven and earth as to insure us the utmost prosperity; but such an Appeal to the gullible will no longer avail. He will have to face the next general election, handicapped, like Mackenzie in 1878, by commercial depression. But whereas Mackenzie was able to say that he had always been true to the Liberal platform, Sir Wilfrid must confess that since 1896, platforms and principles have not given him much concern.

A HEAVY HANDICAP.

As we all know, the tariff and Senate, his pet aversions in Opposition, are still unreformed, while in place of retrenchment he has encouraged an amazing extravagance which we Liberals of the old school are bound to denounce. His plea that the outgo had to be increased in order to facilitate the development of the country is true enough, up to a certain point, but the plain fact is that, being a notorious grabber of public money for Nova Scotia, Mr. Fielding has been unable to resist the improper demands of other Ministers and members, with the result that we are entering upon a cycle of hard time, burdened by a load of debt, fixed charges, general expenditure and onerous Customs duties, such as no community of our size ever before undertook to carry.

The refusal of the Government, in spite of its pledges to lower the tariff to something like a revenue basis, couple with its lavish generosity in the matter of bounties to industries, already empowered by law to exact artificially high prices for their products, is alone sufficient to condemn it in the eyes of us old Liberals. And what of its promise to cleanse public life? When was public life so degraded as now? The peccadilloes of Emmerson and Hyman may be overlooked but what shall be said of those other ministers and functionaries, who, as everyone is aware, have grown rich by plundering the Crown domain in the Northwest, and still haunt the departments in the execution of fresh raids, and this without a word of remonstrance from Sir Wilfrid, who if he cannot lodge them in jail, might at least, order the rascals off the premises? His own hands are clean, for which let us be duly thankful, but under his regime the old Liberal maxim that public office is a public trust has been transformed by far too many colleagues and supporters into the converse doctrine, that public office is a "private snap."

AN ENGLISH PARALLEL.

Long ago England was shocked, though the standard of morals was low, by the appearance in politics of men, nicknamed nabobs, who had returned from India with great fortunes. They bought their way into Parliament, and, with their wives and concubines and brothers-in-law, displayed all the insolent vulgarity of the high-flying Canadian boodler. Now, however, it is a criminal offence for a member of the Indian civil service to make money out of his office. He is held to be a trustee and may not abuse his trust by taking advantage of it to his own gain. It is time a similar law was passed for the regulation of Ministers and deputies having to do with the public estate in Canada. Sir Wilfrid takes the position that it is not his duty to order an investigation of any department till specific charges are preferred in the House. Yet in England as a recent case shows, the bare suspicion that the head of a department has grown wealthy during his term of office, is deemed a sufficient reason for compelling him to disclose where he got it; and, a fortiori, it should be so there. The great apostasy of the Liberal party, its abandonment of every good tradition and betrayal of every sound principle has done much to impair the character of the Canadian people; and for this Sir Wilfrid more than any other man, is responsible.

ROTTENNESS IN THE MILITIA DEPARTMENT.

Of the $7,000 000 a year now voted for militia, how much, one wonders, is spent on the soldiers and how much on the worthless staff? How much, too, is stolen through such devices as the emergency ration and sub-target? Fancy a War Office presided over by a warrior of the stamp of Sir Frederick, and conducted by subordinates like the fellow who confessed last session that he had accepted a block of stock in a company doing business with the department, yet could not for the life of him see there was any harm in that. When Ta Phairson swore a feud against the Clan McTavish his force consisted of two and twenty men and five and forty pipers. The Canadian army is not quite so top-heavy in respect to music, but it is safe to say that no other army in the world contains such a host of colonels and majors in proportion to the supply of privates. Sometimes at public dinners these gentlemen make us believe that, but for their formidable presence, our throats would be cut by the Yankees before daylight. Yet, to be just, the Yankees have given shelter to a million of our sons and daughters and have never done us harm except in a remote past when fighting against England, now their warmest friend. I confess as a native Canadian that I have a good deal of respect for the Americans and deem it irrational and sickening of opera bouffe for us to arm our six millions of people against their eighty-five—particularly when, as a further token of good will, they declare by their latest interpretation of the Monroe Doctrine that they will not suffer any European or Asiatic nation to attack us, in provision we should appreciate were England to be assailed by a combination of Old World powers.

EXAMPLE FROM SOUTH AMERICA

Somewhere in Central or South America a colossal figure of Christ has been cut on a mountain-side to bear witness that two Republics, whose boundaries meet there, have established a perpetual peace. Let us do best we can imitate that salutary example, instead of parading our weakness and making the world laugh by our vainglorious swagger. The employment of a small military force for local police purposes is, of course necessary, but why waste money in attempting more, when more serves no good purpose?

The Canadian volunteer deserves respect for his unselfish patriotism, even from those who think he might be better employed. Let us, however, cut down the swollen appropriation for Militia. He will not take it hard if we begin the economy by dismissing a few score popinjays from headquarters at Ottawa, even at the risk of reducing the attendance at Rideau Hall teas.

A FIFTH WHEEL WITH A $1,500 SPOKE ADDED

The Senate, about which Sir Wilfrid used to wax satirical, is the same old fifth wheel, only he has increased the sessional allowance. According to common report each new appointee is expected to contribute handsomely to the party fund; that is, the purchase a life annuity, the purchase money going to debauch the electors. For weeks at a time during the session, the Senate does not sit, there being nothing for it to do; and when with a vacuous air it does convene, men like Cartwright and Jaffray, and Cox, who railed against it in Tory days, must be hard set to keep from smiling at the credulity of the Canadian people. Some of Sir Wilfrid's appointments have been good, some middling, some atrociously bad; but the point is that he has not so much as attempted to reform or abolish the absurd institution. He finds it a convenient asylum for decayed partisans, just as Macdonald, Abbot and Thompson did, and so lets it remain, without a thought for the taxpayer who voted for him on the understanding that it was to be reconstructed and made useful. What would they say in England if the First Minister were to act in this cynical fashion, after pledging himself to remodel the House of Lords?

A CHANGE OF FRONT IN THE SCHOOL QUESTION.

Again, how are old Liberals going to defend the Federal enactment on Separate schools in Alberta and Saskatchewan? Sir Wilfrid defeated the Tories through hoisting the ensign of Provincial Rights and resisting the establishment of Federal authority of Separate schools in Manitoba after the courts had decided that the Manitoba Act of 1870 did not legalize them. Why he should have wheeled round and sanctioned them by Federal authority in the region further west, when he was under no constitutional obligation to do so, is a puzzle his friends are unable to explain, except by saying that he wished to placate his enemies, the hierarcy. It is hard to accept that humiliating theory. Yet here is the Liberal press of Quebec bragging every morning and afternoon that he has quite satisfied the Papal Delegate and bishops in this matter, which, alas, is only another way of telling us that Sir Wilfrid has, in his old age, lapsed into the heresy we old Liberals considered infamous in Macdonald and Cartier, of serving Church to the injur yof State.

As said, these and other sins of omission and commission on the part of the Premier might have been pardoned by the electors if the good times had continued; but under the altered conditions they will rise in judgment against him. The question is, what are non-partisan Canadians to do. There is no issue before us calculated to appeal to the better instincts of the people, politics being still a scuffle of kites and crows. Both the old organizations now stand for Protection, Militarism and Graft, for it is a fair presumption that those leading tories who have recently bee caught grafting in certain private enterprises in the West would not be above grafting in publi centerprises if they had the chance. The right thing for us to do, I suppose, is to punish the Liberals by voting them out, and elect as many independs as we can to keep the Tories in check. This cannot be done, however, without some sort of preconcerted action, which, I make bold to say, The Weekly Sun should arrange for without delay.

"Working Man and Church" Discussed by Rev. J. R. Webb

If the Church is Careless of Men's Material Interest Men Will Not Listen to the Church's Message—Church Should Find in the Bible a Gospel for the Working Classes.

In the Murray street Baptist church last evening before a large congregation, Rev. J. R. Webb, delivered an impressive and thoughtful sermon on "The Church and the Working Man." Mr. Webb spoke from Luke, 15th chapter, and 28th verse. "And He was angry and would not go in."

In opening, Mr. Webb said that this was the sequel to the great Christ-given illustration of the Father-love.

The home had been spoiled by the waywardness of a son. His sin and its wages had found him out; in rage he leaks his father's door, and is royally welcomed. Another son was in the field. He was the working man. When he heard the sounds of festivity, he inquired what these things meant? The servant said, "Thy brother has come, and thy father hath killed the fatted calf, because he hath received him safe and sound." And the working man was angry and would not go in.

I think this is a fair illustration of the ways and workings of some working men with regard to the church. I want to be helpful while I ask and seek to answer two questions.

First—Has the working man any real grievance against the church? Decidedly 'Yes.'

Secondly—Is there any folly in his anger? This must be answered affirmatively.

The working man stands, with hands blistered and faced bronzed from constant toil, and is told that the one, who does no such work has the seat of honor, and is the lion of the hour. There is a touching passage in the Book of Exodus, that says that the children of Israel, hankered not to Moses because of their anguish of spirit and cruel bondage. Men will not listen to the church's message, if the church is careless of their material interests. There are many unchurched men who are angry because of the falsehood that whiskey is responsible for all the poverty. Anarchy is born in the breasts of men so circumstanced that they grow old prematurely because of the severity of the task that gives them bread only. God forbid that I should say any word that would further inflame those who already burn, but I believe every man in this audience has some sympathy with the courteous resolution, recently passed by a labor organization, addressed to civic officials, urging that they refuse the gift of a multi-millionaire, and suggesting that they ask the donor to hand back some of his means to the men who made it for him in the hellish heat of the steel furnace. If the church does not find in the Bible, a Gospel for the working class it can never evangelize the world, for the world in its best condition must always consist principally of working men.

Is there any folly in the anger of the man outside? Plenty of it! The greatest degradation done to this young man was done by himself. No suggestion that something be doled out to him. "Thou never gavest me a kid." The strongest manhood of the world never asks to have a gift. He asks the privilege of appropriating what is his own, and, of all good things within the workingman's reach, the church is the greatest. The workingman says the church ought to champion his cause. This is granted, but this modern weapon ought to be wielded by the man himself.

There is no reason why the workingmen should not dominate rather than supplicate the church.

Strongly did Rev. J. A. MacDonald say on Thursday night that the Christian church—the rational church—must be a democracy. The gates of Hell are stronger than any earthly force, but the gates of Hell shall never prevail against this agency that belongs to the workingman, if he will but use it.

It is folly for the workingman to go outside the church for his opinion of the church. He asked "a servant what these things meant. servant" what these things meant. This servant lied. He said the prodigal had been received safe and sound. He was safe, but he was not sound. He had cares and heartaches that the workingman knew nothing of.

REV. J. R. WEBB

If you are determined to let the presence of the richer section keep you out of the church, do not do it with the false idea that the man who does not work in the fields has an untroubled life. I believe, continued Mr. Webb, that men are often poor because they are oppressed, but I do not believe that much wealth brings rest. I believe that men are often reported to have wealth when it is a positive problem to keep the wheels of their factories revolving in the interest of their employees. The son from the field said, "This, Thy son," but the father said, "This is thy brother." I know that there are some men in the church who ought not to be there. I know there is a policy in some churches that ought not to be there, but because you have furnished one piece of glass among your diamonds, will you throw the whole casket away? If I were a workingman—and I trust that I am—I would seek the church that is a democracy, for that is the New Testament pattern, where all men, independent of their impressions or their poverty, have a voice in the conduct of its affairs. Having found such an institution, I would in it and through it work out the destiny of myself and my world to which I am indebted. I would listen not to the servant, but push my way past all hirelings and man-made creeds into the presence of the Father and receive my inheritance. I would hear Him say, 'All that I have is thine,' and of all good gifts that you receive you will discover that the best are not material. The friendship of Jesus Christ is a real thing, and as well might a man say that there were no words in the French language to communicate thought as to sayt hat there is no reality in the comforts of religion, because you happen not to possess them. There is nothing more real in the world today than the compassion of the ever living Christ It is as true today as in the days of Mary and Joseph that they are dead that seek the young child's life. Whether you seek to slay Him and His influence by the knife of criticism, or the bomb of anarchy, or the poison of unbelief He still lives, and they who seek to live without Him are dead while they lived. As a friend and neighbor apart from my capacity as a minister, I would strongly urge the workingman to give heed to the Father who comes out and entreats him.

SONG SERVICE WAS A FEATURE

Large Congregation at George St. Church Last Night—Special Sermon

Rev. E. A. Pearson preached the third of his series of special sermons to young men at George street church last night and was listened to by a large congregation. His subject was "Going into Business," and after pointing out what business was he imparted some advice for the guidance of the workingman. God put the soil, the forests, the minerals, etc in the world, but man had to develop and make them of value. This man was a co-worker with God, and the dignity of labor lay in its Divinity. Mr. Pearson brought out many strong points and was listened to with deep attention.

A song service was provided by the choir, a solo by Mr. K. H. Shook being a special feature. Mr. Shook sang in excellent voice and has a promising career as a vocalist before him. The anthem was "Sing Unto God," by Bevin, and the other numbers were a quartette, "Praying for You," by the Misses Chasty, and Messrs. Cunningham and Mitchell, and a solo, "Abide With Me," by Miss Reesor. both of which were given in a most effective manner.

TRAINS CROSS BRIDGE AGAIN

Repairs Quickly Made to Grand Trunk Bridge Near Stirling

The Grand Trunk trains are again running right through from Peterborough to Belleville, and Belleville to Peterborough again, sufficient repairs having been made to the bridge near Stirling, which was partially destroyed by fire, to allow the trains to pass over it. The structure had been made safe enough Saturday night, to permit traffic over it, an everything is running smoothly again. It will be some days however, before the rebuilding of the bridge is finished.

Y.M.C.A. WORK

A most interesting light was thrown upon the extent and world-wide character of Y.M.C.A. work in an address delivered by Mr. John R. Mott, international secretary of that organization. It directs attention to that organization as one of the most effective mediums of missionary work, combining as it does, both the physical and moral welfare of its members in every land. During the Russo-Japanese war, an excellent opportunity was seized upon both to do good and to interest the young men of the army in the organization. Such an opportunity is one of the silver linings of the war cloud. During the South African war, the Canadian Y.M.C.A. sent out Mr Thomas Best, and his work among the Canadian soldiers gave every officer and man a warm regard for the institution he represented. In the absence of chaplains he buried the dead and conducted service on Sundays whenever possible, while during the week he visited the hospitals to write letters for the sick and wounded, organized sports to keep up the spirits of the men in camp, and on the field was foremost in aiding the wounded and arranging plans to add to the comfort of the men when off duty. It was remarkable how much he found to do, and what a large part he played in the daily life of camp and trek. If the twenty representatives whom Mr. Mott tells us accompanied the Japanese army, accomplished as much good as Mr. Best, it is not to be wondered that all classes in Japan welcome the spread of the Y.M.C.A. in that country.

IMPERIALISM

Rudyard Kipling, the poetic apostle of the doctrine of Imperialism, was last week the guest of the Canadian Club of Toronto, and the demonstration which occurred and the address given on that occasion have caused a fresh outburst of the spirit which Kipling represents. Neither the poet nor the Imperialists of Great Britain should, however, allow themselves to be deceived by what took place last week. Toronto may be, as the guest of the occasion said, the most loyal city in the British Empire, but this provincial capital is not the province. Some in this city may be willing, out of taxation, which falls mainly on farmers, to send expeditions to Egypt, to India, and to South Africa, to assist in maintaining the far-flung battle line of empire, but the farmers of Ontario, and still less the farmers of French-Canadian Quebec and of the mixed population of the West, are not disposed to burden themselves for any such purpose. The "loyalty" even of Toronto, itself has its limitations. These limitations may not find expression at a carnivial gathering inspired by the magnetism of a gifted writer and pleasing speaker, but they are bluntly enough stated at such conventions as that of the Manufacturers' Association, held in this same city a short time ago. The declaration of this association was, and the declaration voices the opinion of industrial Toronto, as well as of the association, that even the preferential tariff must be high enough to give full protection to Canadian manufacturers. An Empire divided by hostile tariffs, can hardly continue a political and military unity. — The Weekly Sun.

Marked Success of Galt Comedian

Arthur Deagon Playing the Lead in "The Time, the Girl and the Place"

Arthur Deagon, the brilliant comedian, who made such a hit when seen here as "Reginald Hickey" in "Peggy from Paris," appears in the leading role, "Happy Johnny Hicks," in "The Time, the Girl and the Place," the phenomenally successful musical play by Howard, Hough and Adams, which holds the boards at the Princess Toronto, all next week. Mr. Deagon is a native of Galt and a personal friend of Mr. D. Hughes-Charles, manager of the local branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. He is a natural and original exponent of comedy and is irresistibly funny in the interpretation of his roles. He also has a baritone voice that is much more powerful and of considerably better quality than that possessed by the average comic opera star.

Mr. Sawers Likes Western Town

Mr. J. Hague Sawers, writing from Portage la Prairie, Man., where he is on the staff of the Bank of Montreal, says that he is agreeably surprised with the activity of the western town, which he thought would be slow and uninteresting. He says the place, however is a bright and lively one and that most of the stores and places of business are thoroughly modern and conducted in a progressive manner. There is an opera house, roller rink and band at Portage la Prairie and Mr. Sawers says he likes the town and is enjoying his residence there.

RETURN FROM THEIR TOUR AROUND WORLD

Canadian Lacrosse Team Reached Toronto on Saturday Morning

The Toronto Star gives the following interesting account of the round the world tour of the Canadian Lacrosse team, under the management of Mr. John C. Miller, of Orillia.:

The Canadian lacrosse team, which toured Australia, arrived in Toronto this morning—or rather twelve of the fifteen who went away did, the other three— Columbus, of Braidford, Ramore of Fergus and Grace of Arnprior—having preceded them.

Those who returned this morning are;

John C. Miller, Orillia, otherwise "King John," the leader of the band of tourists; Dr. Campbell, Bradford; R. Arens, Orillia; Alex. Rose, Orillia; G. McDonald, Port Arthur; Bob Gilbert, Toronto Junction; Harry Camplin, Toronto Junction; Walter Atton, Toronto Junction; Wm. Hanley, Stratford; Tom Hanley, Midland; Vic Graham, Orillia; J. M. Kearns, Arthur.

NO ROUGHNESS.

"King John" laughs at the tale of Canadian roughness in Australia.

"There was no roughness, and anybody who had as good a trip as we had can afford to laugh at a little irresponsible criticism," says Mr. Miller.

"Why, the funniest thing about all this alleged roughness," remarked Captain W. J. Hanley, "is that only two Australian men were hurt during all the games, and these were Hutchins, of Queensland, and Sleet, of Victoria, two defence players on the All-Australia team, and they got bumped on the head by rushing in when our home men were shooting."

"How did the games compare with the Canadian article?" Hanley was asked.

GAMES NOT ROUGH

"They were good games, only all the dirty work was cut out," was the reply. "They play with a different idea of sport over there. There is no trickery or deceit in their play, and every man plays on his individual merits."

WHAT CAMPLEN DID

"How about Harry Camplen's alleged brutality?"

"Nothing in it," was the reply. "I know it, for I was behind Camplen in the last test game at Adelaide, where his roughness was complained of. Humphrey, the captain of the All-Australia team, was rushing in to shoot, when Camplin stepped out and bodied him. He did not use his harness at all. Humphrey, angered at Camplin for spoiling his shot, struck at Camplin, and Camplin struck back. The referee saw Camplin, and he went off for five minutes. When he came back on, Kells and Nobblett were scrimmaging with Tom Hanley and Kearns for the ball. Camplin rushed in, and, shoving his stick out, was carrying the ball through, when Kells hit him on the hand. Camplin bodied Kells. Kells punched Camplin, and Camplin went at Kells, and Nobblett, who weighs 195, and is six feet in his socks, rushed in to protect Kells, who is himself bigger than Camplin, and Camplin grabbed him by the knees and downed him. There was no police interference at all and it was a very ordinary fight. They have a milder, fairer idea of sport over there than we have here.

DEFENCE COULDN'T BE DRAWN

"They roasted us because our defence wouldn't come out and cover their checks, and we would have been lobsters to have sent our slow defence men out to chase 10-second men around. They called our defence the famous Canadian wedge. They certainly are fast in Australia. Speed is what predominates there. I came back with more respect for speed than I ever had. Why, out there I have taken the ball at cover point and been compelled to go right in and shoot myself, because these fast Australians were sweeping in front of our men and covering everyone to the King's taste. Lacrosse is a gentleman's game in Australia. It takes the place and standing of cricket. These Australians are good stick-handlers and shots, but they don't like body checking. The game is very popular in South Australia," remarked Mr. Miller. "In South Australia they have more clubs in proportion to population than we have in Ontario."

The Canadian team won 15 out of 16 lacrosse matches in Australia, and two hockey matches on artificial ice. The hockey scores were 12—1 and 13—0.

Prairie Fires Raging in West; Gang Turn Out to Fight Them

Great Damage to Cattle Ranges at Swift Currant.

Settlers Suffer Heavy Losses — Stock Feed Destroyed — Big Blaze at Hamilton—Co-operative Warehouse Gutted—Damage Estimated at $15,000—Hotel and Stables Also Destroyed—Losses Partly Covered.

Swift Current, Oct. 28.—A terrible prairie fire has been raging northwest of this town all day and last night the police turned out gangs to go and fight it, it being apparently within five or six miles of the town.

The whole western sky is a lurid glare, which lights up the country for many miles around almost like day. It is thought by many there will be some stacks of hay or buildings on fire, there being many settlers in that direction. A heavy wind all yesterday forenoon apparently brought the fire down from many miles further west.

It will be a big loss. A lot of stock range in that country, and they will be without any feed whatever.

Hamilton, Oct. 28.—The premises of the Canadian Co-operative concern, 32 South MacNab street, were visited by fire early yesterday morning, resulting in a loss of $15,000 on the building and contents. The fire burned fiercely until about 5 o'clock, but it was 7 before the last fireman left. The stables of the G. F. Robinson Co. and the wholesale hardware house of Wilkinson and Kompass caught fire, but without serious results.

Captain Brewster of the John street company was overcome by smoke and had to be taken home. The cause of the fire is unknown. The Co-operative concern had part of its stock out of the building as it was in the middle of moving operations. The loss is covered by insurance.

Half-Way House, Oct. 28.—At a late hour Saturday night fire broke out in the stables of the hotel, with the result that the driving house, stables and all the outbuildings were totally consumed. But for the fact that the wind was in the northeast, blowing the flames from the hotel, this building would have likewise fallen a prey to the flames. A Mr. Champion of Toronto, who had on Friday moved into the premises, which had been for some time vacant, loses a number of articles, among others a buggy. It is said that there was no insurance on either buildings or contents, with an aggregate loss of about $1,000.

Quebec, Oct. 28.—Early Saturday morning a fire broke out in the store and warehouse of F. T. Thomas & Co., china, glassware and earthenware merchants, Dalhousie street, and badly gutted the extensive building. The fire first declared itself in the rear of the building occupied as a packing-room, and had made considerable headway before it was discovered. Notwithstanding the efforts of the firemen, the flames continued to eat their way toward the front of the building and to the wing on Prince of Wales street, which included the warehouse of the firm.

There is a considerable amount of insurance on the building and stock. The building and contents is a total loss. The fire is supposed to have been caused by the furnace.

Waterloo, Oct. 28.—A disastrous fire broke out here Saturday afternoon in the main building of Krentziger's planing mill. The building is entirely of frame and the fire made rapid headway. It is almost a total loss. The office and outbuildings and the lumber in the yards escaped destruction.

THE RECENT SMASH AND WHY

"What is taking place today is what I predicted a good many months ago, viz., that, for nearly two years now, the loaning concerns of New York, and by that I include many of the banks, the loan companies, the mortgage companies, and the trust companies, have had falling into their hands immense amounts of stocks on which they had made advances," remarked a well-known financier today. "The so-called purchasers of these securities were unable to pay further, and as their brokers were unable to protect them they gradually came into the hands of these loaning concerns, so that, day after day, week after week, the accumulation continued; the managers of the loaning concerns hoping day after day that the public would sooner or later come in and take this securities all back again, and so relieve them. In this hope, these loaning concerns held together to keep up prices, and maintained the pool for months.

"But they have at last come to grief, and many of these loaning concerns, and especially the trust companies, have had their depositors suddenly asking for their deposits to be cashed. It will be found that some of these trust companies, as it has already been found, in the case of the Knickerbocker, are only able to pay back a portion of their deposits, that the rest of all the funds, including the shareholders' capital, have gone into stocks, and now that these stocks are away down in price there will be no money for the balance of the depositors, until these stocks can be sold. In the meantime, the concern must close its doors and the shareholders in those trust companies, and loaning companies will lose every dollar of the share capital they paid in.

"Not only will the ten-point margin investors be wiped out, and many of the brokers who endorse their propositions have already been wiped out, but a new class will come to the front, and they will come to the front in large numbers, viz., the people, who, as shareholders in these trust companies, and who thought they were beyond all danger, will find themselves ruined. These people were not in themselves speculators, never were speculators, were looking for safe and simple investments; and if they are wiped out, it is because those who, as managers of the companies in which they placed their money, more or less, lost their heads, and put all the funds of the company in advances on stocks."

Mr. Gerald Dunsford Returns From Touring Grand Circuit

Was Second Trainer for String of Horses Owned by W. C. Kidd of Listowel—Tells of Excellence of Big Tracks—Saw Horse Shot at Columbus O. Meet.

Mr. Gerald Dunsford, formerly in the employ of Dr. Johnston, the local veterinary surgeon, has returned to the city after a six months' trip over the Michigan and Grand Circuit, during which time he was second trainer for the string of horses owned by Mr. W. C. Kidd, of Listowel and which were campaigned by Mr. G. M. McPherson, of Montreal. Mr. Kidds head trainer, who is one of the most prominent of Canadian horsemen. The horses on list were Berthina Bars, 2.09 1-4; Robert Bars 2.16 1-4; King Arthur, 2.20 1-4, and Gold Hal 2.12 1-4.

King Arthur was also included in King Bars was also included in the string at the beginning of the season, but was sold last July to Wagle and Brown, of Windsor. Eagle Pointer, was another one of bunch, and half brother to the celebrated Argus Pointer, 2.0 18-4, the horse who stepped the fastest mile this year outside of Dan Patch, the world's champion harness horse. Angus Pointer is but one of the many harness horses that have been successfully handled by Trainer McPherson.

Mr. Dunsford left Peterborough on the 21st of last April, and went to Toronto, where he met Trainer McPherson. From there he went with him to Listowel, then to Stratford, and from Stratford to the Michigan Circuit. From the Michigan they went to the Grand Circuit, commencing at Columbus, O. and staying with Trainer McPherson and his steppers until the circuit was finished, at Lexington a week ago Saturday.

From Lexington he returned to Peterborough. He says that Mr. Kidd's string had good luck and considerable money was cleaned up on the trip. At the Lexington meet, Berthina Bars made a great showing in one of the events, the 2.10 pace, getting second money to Maude C. In this race Berthina Bars was marked for 2.06 1-4. Mr. Dunsford was fortunate enough to see many of the most famous horses and drivers in America during the time he was away and among the numerous celebrated knights of the sulky he saw the unapproachable Ed. Geers handle the ribbons. He said he had the outing of his life and enjoyed the trip immensely. He will likely campaign a string this winter on the Canadian Ice Circuit, and may go out with McPherson.

THE TRACKS.

Mr. Dunsford is of the opinion that many of the horses in Canada that are in the smaller cities would make a good showing on the big circuit, if handled with the skill and care the aristocratic steppers of the American turf receive. As is well known, the horses there receive the best of treatment and besides this, the tracks they start on are always kept in a condition conducive to the highest speed. Two teams work all night on a track with sprinkling carts, while a meet is being held. In the morning six teams are engaged in the work of harrowing and rolling the track until about 10 a.m., during which time the gates to the grounds are locked, and no horses are allowed on the track. The result is that when the starter drops his flag for a race, the field breaks away on a course of the billiard table variety.

Between heats no horses except those going to start in the next race are allowed on the mile track— all principal tracks are a mile in length. — but may work out on the half-mile course, within the fence, bordering the big track. The methods on which the races are run is perfect in every particular and everything in connection with them works as smoothly and systematically as clock work.

VALUABLE HORSES KILLED

When Mr. Dunsford was at Columbus, O., three valuable race horses were killed, two of them being in the barns that were struck by lightning, and the other Thelma, 2.09 1-4, valued at $10,000 was shot by a policeman after she had broken her leg. She was second in the first heat of the 2.14 trot, won the second, and was about five lengths from the wire in the third and with good chances of winning, when she fell breaking her leg. There were thousands of people in the grand stand at the time, and the accident caused much excitement among crowd. The driver was fortunate enough to escape without injury.

THE LAW OF GREED

Kingston Minister Says That is What Causes Things to go up in Price.

Kingston News:—Rev. Dr. Mackie preached a strong sermon yesterday morning on "Brotherly Love." In the course of his remarks he referred to the decrease in the weight of the loaf, beginning with today, which, of course, is equivalent to an increase in the price. The preacher then referred to the dividend of thirty-two and a half per cent., just declared by the Ogilvie Milling Co., though they were permitted to pay only seven per cent in terms of their charter. To those enormous profits, the price of flour has advanced, that the local bakers have to charge more for bread. This, the preacher held, was a violation of the law of brotherly love, and an illustration of the operation of the law of greed.

Recommends This Home Mixture

Noted Authority Give Simple Remedy for Kidney and Bladder Trouble

accommends this home mixture

This is a message that will bring happiness again into many families and sunshine into the lives of hundreds of disheartened and discouraged men and women here. It requires just a little inconvenience, for it can't be bought already prepared. It is a simple home recipe now being made known in all the larger cities through the newspapers. It is intended to check the many cases of rheumatism kidney and bladder trouble which have made so many cripples and invalids and weaklings of some of our brightest and strongest people.

The druggists here have been notified to supply themselves with the ingredients, and the sufferer will have no trouble to obtain them. The prescription is as follows:—Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce, and Compound Syrup of Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking well in a bottle. The dose is one teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

Recent experiments, even in severe hospital cases, prove this simple mixture for Rheumatism, because of its positive action upon the eliminative tissues of the kidneys. It compels these most vital organs to filter from the blood and system the waste impurities and uric acid which are the cause of rheumatism. It cleanses the kidneys, strengthens them and removes quickly such symptoms as backache, blood disorders, bladder weakness, frequent urination, painful, scalding and discolored urine. It acts as a powerful stimulant to the entire kidney and bladder structure, puts new life into them and invigorates the entire tract. It makes the kidneys clean the blood. The Dandelion will take care of liver trouble and constipation, and is fine for the stomach.

All the ingredients, states a well-known local druggist, are of vegetable extraction, making it a safe and harmless prescription at any time.

Those who suffer and are accustomed to purchase a bottle of patent medicine should not let a little inconvenience interfere with making up this prescription. Wherever this becomes generally known, states a large Eastern publication, it ruins the sale of the patent medicines, and so-called rheumatism and kidney cures, which is its best endorsement of virtue.

David Hartley Will Walk; To Start Wednesday Morning

Will Walk From Whitby to Toronto and Return to Peterborough by Way of Port Hope—Sufficient Money Has Been Subscribed.

David Hartley, the Peterborough pedestrian, will start on his long walk on Wednesday morning, Sufficient money has been subscribed to pay his expenses, and he will set out to beat the mark established by Jimmy Reynolds, the Port Hope barber.

Instead of starting at Bowmanville as was originally intended Hartley will start his long tramp at Whitby going from there to Toronto, returning to Port Hope, and then north to Peterborough. The distance to be covered is 132 miles, practically the same as that traversed by Reynolds. He will drive from Peterborough to Whitby tomorrow and will start on his long tramp early Wednesday morning, and expects to be back in Peterborough about six o'clock on Thanksgiving night. He will be accompanied by a man with a rig, and a trainer, but who they will be, has not yet been decided.

Hartley is confident he can make the trip and his progress will be watched with interest. He is undertaking a harder task than that of Jimmy Reynolds, as the home stretch of Hartley's trip from Port Hope to Peterborough is all up hill. Peterborough is 370 feet higher than Lake Ontario, so that the walker will have to make a stiff grade for the last thirty miles.

About $25 has already been subscribed to pay Hartley's expenses, and the money is coming in at a good rate now.

"Smut" is Getting Ready for Ice

Speedy Toronto Horse Recovered From Long and Serious Illness

Special to the Review.

Toronto, Oct. 28.—Smut, 2.11 1-4, the speedy horse, owned by Montgomery, Toronto, that stepped second to Peter Miller all down the line, at the ice races last winter, and took sick at London, is getting better, and will probably start in the ice events next winter. It was thought for a time that the horse would die, but he has recovered to such an extent that he is taking light workouts regularly, and should be in good form when the cold weather sets in. Smut is one of the speediest ice horses in the business and will be welcomed back to the winter tracks by all racing enthusiasts.

BEER* IS A FOOD

LAGER is a mild appetising product of malt and hops, with less alcohol than sweet cider, which cannot ferment in the stomach. It is specially suited to women as a dinner drink.

ALES as brewed in Ontario are so rich in the food elements of malt that they rank above milk as an item of diet, and are far purer than most milk in when city-dwellers get it.

PORTER differs from ale in that the malt is roasted (like coffee) in the brewing process, and this makes porter so nourishing that it is a real specific for anemic and run-down people.

STOUT is the richest and most strengthening of malt beers; it contains nearly as much nourishment as eggs, and digests easier. Thin people will find it builds healthy flesh.

BEER*, used with meals and before bedtime, increases digestive power, gets you more good out of the food you eat—and is itself a food.

¶ Beer does not contain enough alcohol to react upon the system — just enough to induce the stomach to do its work better.

¶ Beer is not an intoxicant—it is a beverage with definite value for almost every grown person.

¶ Ask your own doctor whether it wouldn't be good for you and the adults of your household.

*BEER is a term which covers lager, ales, porter, and stout; and, in the practice of Ontario brewers, implies beverages made under most hygienic conditions from Ontario barley "the best in the world) malt, hops, and pure water.

IS ART BURN UP AGAINST IT?

Time Recalled When Speedy Runner Made Easy Living in These Parts

A despatch from New Westminster, B.C., states that Art Burn, the Ottawa, Peterborough, Calgary and other towns runner, will perhaps be professionalized on account of the fact that he and his manager, tried to secure money from the officials of the New Westminster Fair. After Burn had won his ten mile race against Chandler in the British Columbia town.

While in Peterborough Burn ran professional a great deal, and many who reposed their sheep-like confidence in the now "pride of Western Canada" were stung good and plenty. The last race he ran was with one Harrison of Hamilton. On one Saturday Harrison was beaten by Burn and on the following Saturday, Harrison trimmed the latter. The race appeared so crooked that many were of the opinion that both Harrison and "the pride of Western Canada" should have been tarred and feathered and ridden out of town on a rail, dipped in a duck pond, dropped in a mud hole, or given some such loving treatment.

One of Burn's trustful backers, who was rung up for $85 remarked to him in the rotunda of a local hotel after the event was over. "Any man that would run east of Penetang such a race as you did this afternoon ought to be shot, and any man who would run one west of Penetang would be shot."

Burn promised another one of his backers that he would make good the $50 that this supporter lost on the race, but up to the present time no greenbacks for the above amount have been handed the individual in question—he simply has the lemon that was handed him at the time.

Although the sports of this city were sore on Burns for his degenerate methods of sportsmanship they didn't sympathize to any extent with the suckers who lost on him, and it was generally expressed that those who went behind while backing him, should allow their shekels to dribble away without raising any squeal.

Is Burn straight? If the people on the prairie ever ask this question an answer from Oriental Peterborough will come as of one accord, "Yea, straight he is and his path is virtuous, he is even like unto the corkscrew."

Think Reynolds is all Right

His Admirers Write Couple of Strong Letters in His Defence

There is a saying that "every knock is a boost," and the knock that Langford registered against Jimmy Reynolds seems to bear out the truth of the above expression as is shown by the following letters from Saturday's Toronto Star:

A SUPPORTER OF REYNOLDS.

Referring to the statement in The Star made by Langford, I simply wish to say that I think he is sore because Reynolds beat his record so badly. Other people don't seem to think that Reynolds gained his record by any unfair means. Consider the physical condition of each man upon arrival at Port Hope, and again the age. We wish to bestow due credit upon the old man, as he is certainly a martyr to undertake such a task. Langford's record is now rubbed off the slate and and a new one now takes its place. If Reynolds and Langford started on a walking match together we would see Reynolds walk away from Langford. I think Dr. Osler made a mistake when he said men of sixty were no longer of use, as we still have one of 57 in the field.

AMERICAN.

LANGFORD'S KICK.

In Thursday's issue of The Star I note Langford's letter in reference to Jimmy Reynolds' walk. I should just like as an outsider to answer it a little. I am an Englishman myself, also a bit of a walker, and have followed the movements of both Langford and Reynolds with very much interest of late. Now, friend Langford, I cannot congratulate you in the least on the stand you take in your letter about Jim's walk not being a "square one." I cannot see in your letter one single line of argument worth anything at all. Jimmy Reynolds' feat is a marvel for a man his years, and his pluck will live in the minds of hundreds for a long time. Your own feat was brilliant (I saw your finish), but it was well trimmed by Reynolds. Now, see here, ignore all this business about bets, go into Jimmy's shop at Port Hope, shake hands and congratulate him; do some real training for a while and make Jimmy guess again. I think such a move will help to keep up sport as it should be.

SPORTING COMMENT

Ex-president Ballard was roasted to a crisp and turned over by Secretary J. R. Hay at the recent meeting of the O.R.F.U. executive. It is quite natural that he should feel hot over it.

What a great drawing card a race between Shrubb, Longboat and Burn would be.

There is no truth in the rumor that secretary of the O.R.F.U., Joe Hay, will spend his next summer's vacation on the bay at Hamilton.

A New York wrestling man says he has discovered a catch-as-catch-can hold that has all the hammerlocks, Nelson's and bars looking cheaper than a shoddy suit at a race meet. Ten to one it can't beat the the double cross.

The talking—pardon, walking—contest that is being arranged in Toronto for feminine athletes will certainly be a unique and interesting event should it ever materialize.

HERALD ROAD RACE

There will be more starters in the Hamilton Herald road race on Thanksgiving Day than there ever has been before in the history of the event.

Jack Caffery, the old war horse who won the Boston Marathon twice, will be one of the many to toe the scratch. Caffery in his day has been a wonder, but his chances to win now don't seem very bright. His supporters, however, judging from reports, seem to think he should be in the money. Several of the most brilliant Canadian runners and Bob Fowler and Jimmy Lee, two American cracks, will number among the starters. Several of the athletes are working out over the course.

RUNNING

Bill Davis, the veteran trainer, who brought out Longboat, has unearthed another Indian wonder who, it is said, ran 10 miles in 54 minutes in a recent trial. Davis refuses to divulge the name of this latest find, but will probably start the redman in the Hamilton Herald road race on Thanksgiving Day.

Next Wednesday Longboat will run from Hamilton to Toronto. He will do the course unpaced and for a cup valued at $200 donated by P. J. Mulqueen. He leaves Hamilton at 1 o'clock. The road is pretty rough and the distance 45 miles.

THE RING

The officials for the city tournament to be held at Toronto on Oct. 31st and November 1st and 2nd are:

Referee—W. A. Hewitt.
Judges—J. P. Fitzgerald, C. Tyner
Timers—G. C. Briggs, D. F. McGuire

SIMPSON IS INJURED.

Hamilton, Oct. 27.—The Hamilton Tigers will be seriously handicapped in the remaining games of the Inter-Provincial League schedule by the loss of "Ben" Simpson, the left half back, who has been performing with all of his former brilliancy this season.

In the game at Montreal Saturday Simpson was hurt toward the end of the last quarter and compelled to retire from the field. The injury is a fractured collarbone, which will preclude the possibility of his playing again this season. It is probable that the intermediates will be drawn upon for a man to take his place on the Tiger line-up.

Deer Hunters Leave To-morrow

At Knox church tomorrow night, Mr. J. W. Bennet will give a talk on Italy, illustrated with lantern slides. The event is under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society, and should prove very interesting. A large attendance is expected.

Vics Trimmed Peterborough In Hard Fought Contest

Score Was 26-20—Game Was a Strenuous One--Saw Off Tie in Lindsay on Thanksgiving Day.

The Vics trimmed the locals in Toronto by a score of 26-20 in a contest that was strenuously contested. In the first half the Toronto bunch led by 21—13, but the locals braced up before the finish of the game, and made the score a close one. Hutchins, the referee, was kept very busy, looking after the game.

This makes Peterborough and Victorias a tie for the district. The saw-off will be played off in Lindon Thanksgiving day. Secretary McDonough is in Lindsay this afternoon, making arrangements for the grounds. Hayes and Robbins of Hamilton, will referee and umpire respectively. A big crowd is expected to accompany the team from here, owing to the special railway rates that will be given on a holiday.

A Toronto despatch says the following concerning the game,—

"VICS" BEAT PETERBOROUGH.

Peterborough and the Victorias put up a good battle in the O.R.F.U. series at Jesse Ketchum park, Saturday, the "Vics" winning by 26 to 20.

The game was rough at times, but when the players were playing the game there was a good deal of good football seen. There are fast, husky men on both sides and the teams are well drilled. Trick plays were brought into use by the teams and there was some spectacular gains made by this means. The tackling did not keep pace with the work of the teams on offence, and as a result the teams, and the result was some long runs. Marsh carried the ball for two tries in the first quarter, but neither was converted. Hurtubise went over for the Peters not long afterward, and the try was converted, making the score 10 to 6. The visitors kicked to the dead line, made a try, which was converted and the half time score was 21 to 13.

Peterborough got close to the Vics in the first quarter by scoring a try, which made the tally read 21 to 18. Vics made Peterborough rouge twice toward the end of the third quarter. The visitors kicked to the dead-line and assailed the Victoria line so fiercely that the Vics were called upon to rouge twice in succession. The Vics then took a brace, kicked to the dead-line once, and forced the easterners to rouge again. The final score was 26 to 20. The teams were;

Victoria.—Baird, back; Nelligan, Sennyar, Ellicott, halves; Marsh quarter; Thorogood, R. Brown, Jaffray scrimmage; Ryan, Brown, Pope, Pratt, Hewitson, McWhirter, wings.

Peterborough—Evans, back; Canniff, Coldedge, Quinlan, halves; Lundy, quarter; Dennard, Clark, O'Brien, scrimmage; Dickson, Hurtubise, Macdonald, O'Connor, Crough, Crowley, wings.

Referee, Hutchins; umpire, Bert Brown.

Peterborough May Send Team

To Compete in Harrier Club Cross-Country Run at Montreal

The Independent Harriers League of Montreal, is holding a team race event, on Saturday, November 9th, and a proposition is on foot to send a team from the Peterborough Y.M.C.A. Teams of five will run and it is expected to make it the most important and interesting event in the history of that territory. The Montreal Star has offered a fine trophy and individual prizes, and are assisting the affair in every way. The race will be held under the C.A.A.U. sanction, and teams from Toronto, Hamilton, and other Ontario cities will take part. The distance will be fifteen miles.

Peterborough has a bunch of runners from which five men can be selected that would make them all go some. The following are some of the men available: Best, Wilson, Simpson, Staunton, Howard, Sanderson, Darling, and several others. The proposition is now being considered.

Big Entry List in Both Events

There are nineteen entries in the senior division of the Examiner road race and 13 in the junior. Both events will commence at 10 o'clock on the morning of Thanksgiving Day, the former starting from the ten-mile post at Lakefield, and the latter from the six-mile post on the Lakefield road.

Jim Reynolds is Port Hope's Hero

Escorted Through the Town by Cheering Procession

Port Hope, Oct. 26.—The closing chapter of Jimmy Reynolds' great walk was witnessed last evening, when the hero of the day was driven about the streets in an open hack, headed by the Ideal Concert Band, and a large torchlight procession. Crowds of people thronged the streets and, as Jimmy passed, looking quite natty in a castor hat, he was loudly cheered. At the Queen's Hotel the procession halted and Jimmy gave a brief account of his journey, and thanked the citizens and, in fact, all the people along the line, for their kindness to him. The band struck up "He's a Jolly Good Fellow," and James was escorted to the hotel by the cheering crowd.

Labor Was Well Employed In City During September

Ald. Johnston's Report to the Labor Gazette—Many Contracts for Buildings Were Let—Condition of the Different Trades.

The following report of labor conditions in Peterborough, during September, appears in the Labor Gazette for October, of which Ald. W. J. Johnston, is the local correspondent,—

GENERAL CONDITION OF THE LABOR MARKET.

Labor during September, was well employed, especially towards the latter part of the month. Outside work is being rapidly completed, before cold weather sets in. Some work has been laid over until next spring, on account of the lateness of the season. A $12,000 surgical ward was being added to St. Joseph's hospital. A large bakery was under way and the staff of bakers will be increased to meet increasing trade. A large force of men was employed repairing the Auburn dam. The Sandstone and Lime Brick Company was very busy. It received an order for 1,000,000 brick to be used in the construction of the new armouries. A contract for the large power house and dam at Campbellford, Ont., to cost about $60,000 was secured by a Peterborough firm. Extensive repairs were being made to the spur line bridge on the Canadian Pacific Railway line, and a large number of men were employed. The Machine Telephone Company was installing its plant in Lindsay; 16 carloads of poles had arrived, and a large staff of men were employed. Large shipments of merchandise for the fall trade were made. Wholesale and retail trade was good. The labor market was free from unrest. The harvesting of wild rice by Indians at Rice Lake was under way. A good crop was reported. A contract for section five, of the canal, at Campbellford has been awarded and the work started. The amount of the contract was $600,000 for a three mile section, and with two years in which to complete it. The nine oldest street railway employes have received an increase of one cent per hour. After having served three years for the company, their wages will in future be 17 cents per hour. A horseshoe, called the Diamond calk horseshoe, has been patented by Mr. G. H. P. Kennedy of Peterborough. A company has been formed with a capital of $100,000 to manufacture the shoe and place it on the market.

Steamboats were busy towing 100 tons of stone from Stoney Lake, to be used in the construction of the new Catholic church, also freighting 700 cords of wood from the north country. Six miles of new gas mains have been laid this year. The gas company has sold 250 new stoves. Postal delivery started in Peterborough on September 28. This will give employment to seven men, the city having been divided into seven districts. Parker's large laundry works were badly damaged by fire; loss $5,000. The work of reconstruction had begun.

CONDITION OF LOCAL INDUSTRIES.

Agriculture.—The farmers were very busy, harvesting, threshing and preparing for fall ploughing. The Lindsay cheese board sold 1,203 boxes at 12 1-16 cents per pound, and earlier in the month sold 1,396 boxes at 11 1-2 cents per pound. New hay was selling at $16 to $17 per ton. The Peterborough cheese board sold 4,612 boxes at 12 3-16 cents per pound.

Lumbering.—Lumbering operations have begun in the camps and large numbers of men were employed. The Peterborough Lumber Company received 4,000,000 feet of logs. This made 8,000,000 feet altogether that this company brought to its mills this season. The saw mills were very busy.

Manufacturing.—The Quaker Oats Co., was very busy, having added new equipment to handle its growing trade. The G. W. Green foundry works have been very busy, as have also the J. J. Turner Co., the different canoe factories, the carpet works, the cordage factory, the cereal factory, the flour mills and other industries.

Railroad construction.—The Grand Trunk Railway Company, has completed a siding 2,400 feet in length, between Peterborough and Omemee, to facilitate work on the heavy grades at that place. Section labor and other repair work were being carried on on the different railway lines in the district.

CONDITION OF PARTICULAR TRADES.

Building.—Bricklayers, masons, lathers, plasterers, gas and steamfitters and builders' laborers were active. The remaining branches were busy.

Metal.—Activity prevailed.

Woodworking and furnishing.—Carbuilders and pattern makers were active; the other branches were busy.

Printing.—The different crafts were well employed.

Clothing.—Tailors and garment workers were active. Hat makers, boot and shoe workers were busy.

Food and tobacco preparation.—Cigar makers were active; butchers, confectioners, etc., were busy.

Leather.—Leather workers and collar makers were very busy.

Miscellaneous.—Furriers were active. Hotel, restaurant and theatre and laundry workers, were very busy. The other branches were busy.

Transport.—All trades were very busy, passenger and freight traffic being heavy.

Unskilled labor.—Active conditions prevailed.

Busy Career of the New Pastor

Sketch of Rev. Robert Pogue Who is Coming to St. Paul's

In view of the fact that the congregation of St. Paul's have chosen Rev Robt. Pogue, associate pastor of Bethany Tabernacle, to take the pastorate of St. Paul's, it would doubtless interest many readers of the Review to know something of the history of the reverend gentleman who, in a short time is to become a resident of this city.

Mr. Pogue was born in County Monaghan, Ireland, thirty-seven years ago. He came to Canada when he was 17 years of age, and entered upon a theological course, in Knox College, Toronto. During the pursuit of his studies for the ministry, he had charge of the mission on Avenue Road for some time, and was also elder in Cook's church, Toronto, before he was ordained. It will be thus seen that Mr. Pogue was identified with the work of the church when he was quite young and was apparently imbued in his youth, with that enthusiasm and earnestness which he seems to possess now, and which are essential properties of a successful minister of the Gospel.

Rev. Mr. Pogue's first charge was at Stayner, Ont. About 15 months before his ordination he preached his first sermon, delivered, in the Stayner Presbyterian church. At that time the pulpit of the church was unoccupied. The congregation were so favorably impressed with his ability as a preacher that they waited until he was ordained, and then chose him as their pastor.

His next church was at Hespeler, Ontario, and he remained there until about three years ago.

While he was attending a Sunday School Convention in Philadelphia, the merchant king, John Wanamaker, heard him instructing a Bible Class, and was so favorably impressed with his ability, that he was instrumental to a great extent, in having him appointed associate pastor of Bethany Tabernacle, of which Rev. Dr. Patterson is pastor. Mr. Wanamaker is one of the most influential members of the congregation of Bethany Tabernacle, and takes a deep interest in the work of the church. He is the organizer of the famous Bible Class in that church, and Mr. Pogue was given charge of the class.

The circumstances in connection with Mr. Pogue's being asked to preach for a call at St. Paul's were incidental, rather than pre-arranged. Dr Talling who has had St. Paul's pulpit for some time past, was in Toronto, some time ago, talking with Rev. Mr. Eesler, pastor of Cook's church, concerning the vacancy at St. Paul's and of the prospects of securing a suitable pastor for the church. Mr. Eesler informed him that Mr. Pogue was to preach there, and the committee appointed by the session of St. Paul's, consisting of Messrs Hall, Shook and Madill, accompanied by J. H. Counsil, William Pringle and Wm. Scott, went to Toronto to hear him preach at Cook's church. The result was that they invited him to come to St. Paul's and preach for a call. He did so the following Sunday and made such an impression on the congregation that he was unanimously selected by them, at their meeting last night, to be their next pastor.

The Prize Winners in the Review's Limerick Competition

First Prize Goes to a Peterborough Man Now Residing in Toronto--Many Lines Were in—Interesting Information About the Contest.

1. Mr. M. W. Matchett, 212 Strachan Avenue, Toronto.
2. Master Lionel Wilson, Peterborough.
3. Miss Estelle Ackerman, Peterborough.

The above are the winners in the Review's Limerick competition for last week, in which great interest was taken. Over forty different lines were sent in, but the majority of the contestants seemed to get away from the point that a question was asked in the first part of the verse, and that the last line should be in harmony with this. A large number simply made a statement in the last line suggested, and in many cases it was not consonant with the preceding lines of the Limerick.

Several replies were received from outside places, including nearly a half dozen in Toronto, which goes to show that former Peterborough people no matter where they are, are still interested in the welfare of their native city. To one of the Toronto contestants goes the first prize of $2.00. The line suggested by the first prize winner, Mr. M. W. Matchet, was as follows:—"Don't skidoo and let wise people try, making the completed Limerick read as follows:

The assessment, they say, is too high,
And the people all want to know why
The men they selected,
With their ballots elected,
Don't skidoo and let wise people try.

The winner of the second prize is Master Lionel Wilson, of this city, and his line is as follows;—"Are now giving them the go-by," making the complete Limerick as is follows;—

The assessment, they say, is too high,
And the people all want to know why
The men they selected,
With their ballots elected,
Are now giving them the go-by.

The line sent in by Miss Estelle Ackerman, winner of the third prize, is as follows:—"Determined to make people sigh," making the complete Limerick read as follows:—

The assessment, they say, is too high,
And the people all want to know why
The men they selected,
With their ballots elected,
Are determined to make people sigh."

HONOR ROLL

Many other good lines were suggested, among them being, "Are winking at this on the sly," by Master Howard Armstrong; "Can't look them straight in the eye," by Mrs. W. J. Allison, Bethune street; and "The taxes to increase should try," by Mr. Alfred Davies, McDonnel street.

The winners of the prizes can secure same by calling at the Review office.

Another Limerick will be announced in a few days.

TOO TIRED TO STIR!

ARE YOU ONE OF THE WEAK WOMEN
To Become Bright, Happy and Healthy?—Use Ferrozone.

Modern life makes demands on every woman's strength that seem impossible to meet. Only the robust and strong can stand the strain. The weak, with their delicately balanced organisms, must fail. Blood gets thin, it's innutritious. Nerves go to smash, vitality declines, and then follows misery and suffering caused by interference with certain functions upon which the very existence of every female depends.

Don't let your condition grow worse. Check the decline of vital force before it is too late! The one sure remedy is Ferrozone—not a temporary stimulant—but an uplifting nutritive tonic that contains the kind of building material a weak body requires.

FERROZONE revitalizes the system by putting new life into the blood. Not only does it nourish the ordinary blood supply—it does more, it makes new blood, the rich, red kind that denotes health.

Energy is reinforced, strength is steadily and surely rebuilt. Keen appetite, strong nerves, more restful sleep, buoyant feelings, all tell of the enormous good Ferrozone invariably accomplishes. For restoring the weak, the pale, the despondent, there is no treatment so instant and permanent in effect as Ferrozone. A trial proves this. Won't you use Ferrozone yourself? It will surely make you well—its effect is instant.

BUILT UP HER STRENGTH

Mrs. M. E. Etherington, a well known merchant's wife, of Troy, writes: "I am quite willing to give a public testimonial for Ferrozone, believing it to be a tonic of superior excellence, and one that will rapidly build up strength and supply new energy to anyone not feeling well. Last Spring I was in a very poor condition of health. I was nervous, felt tired and completely worn out. No doubt it is quite a common complaint with ladies of my age, but I placed great reliance in Ferrozone, and took it for several weeks. It made me quite strong, and, in fact, I have been in better health ever since. I can heartily recommend Ferrozone."

Ferrozone Assures Good Health!

WARNING! Beware of the substituter who urges you to accept something "just as good." Only FERROZONE can cure satisfactorily—see you get it, and nothing else. Price 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50 at all reliable dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., or Kingston, Ontario.

An Official Was Shot Dead; Tragic Death at St. Petersburg

Russian General Assassinated by Young Woman.

Director of Prisons Incurred Hostility of "Reds"—Paid Penalty of Stern Regime—Murderess Arrested—Fired Seven Shots—Carried Thirteen Pounds of Explosive in Her Bosom—Planned Further Outrage.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 29.—Gen. Maximoffsky, director of the department of prisons of the Minister of the Interior, was shot and killed yesterday.

The general was the highest responsible official connected with the Russian prisons.

The murderer was a young woman, Mlle Ragozinikova, the daughter of a teacher in the Imperial School of Music. She avowed herself to be an emissary of the northern flying section of the Social Revolutionists, who had been entrusted with the task of punishing Maximoffsky for the stern regime which he had lately introduced in the treatment of important political prisoners, whom he ordered to be treated like ordinary criminals.

The young woman presented herself at the weekly reception of Gen. Maximoffsky and remained quietly in the crowded anteroom until it was her turn to enter the general's private office. When she was in his presence she drew a revolver and fired seven shots point blank at the general. Six of them took effect. The wounded man was hastily taken to the hospital of the Grand Duchess Catherine Pavelovna, but his condition was immediately recognized as hopeless.

The assassination apparently was designed to be only a prelude to a greater act of terrorism—the destruction of the headquarters of the secret police, which has been the object of at least three terrorist plots of recent months.

When the assassin was taken to the police station her agitated attempts to free her bound hands and search her breast led to an investigation, and it was found that she carried inside her corset a case containing thirteen pounds of high explosive, a charge powerful enough to blow the entire building and its occupants to pieces. Her portrait is in that part of the police gallery marked "dangerous suspects." Nevertheless, she remained three hours in the general's reception room before being recognized. She pretended that her mission was to obtain better diet for her brother, who is sick in prison. It is understood that she will be court-martialed this week.

Chinese Pay $391,000.

Ottawa, Oct. 29.—Though the total Chinese immigration to Canada since 1896 has been 25,441, only 8 and 22 Chinese came to Candas in 1904-05 and 1905-06 respectively, the first two years in which the poll tax of $500 was exacted.

However, for the first nine months of 1907, 732 Chinese have entered Canada, contributing $391,000 to the Dominion Treasury. It is said that many of the Chinese are being brought over by contract.

Assassinated on Street.

Rochester, Oct. 29.—Alex. Caruso, a Sicilian, 23 years old, was struck down by an unknown assassin at Davis and Finey streets Sunday night and died in a few minutes.

Caruso's head was almost severed from the body.

MENELIK IS UP-TO-DATE.

Abyssinia To Have Constitutional Form of Government.

Adis Abd., Abyssinia, Oct. 29.—King Menelik has taken an important step in the direction of giving Abyssinia constitutional form of government, in issuing a decree providing for the formation of a Cabinet on European lines.

Simultaneously with the publication of the decree his majesty announced the appointments of five Ministers, who will preside respectively over the Departments of Foreign Affairs, Justice, Finance, Commerce and War.

Girl Bitten by a Dog.

St. Catharines, Oct. 29.—The five-year-old daughter of Mrs. George Sager of Toronto, who is here visiting her sister, Mrs. James Merriman, is suffering from the bite of a dog, and the result of the child's injuries is not yet known.

The little girl was playing with a bull terrier, when the brute became angered at something and sprang at her, fastening his teeth in her upper lip and tearing it from beneath the nostrils to the end. A doctor cauterized the wound, and in sewing it up had to put in nine stitches. The child's face will be disfigured for life in any case.

Fast Day For Thanksgiving.

Ottawa, Oct. 29.—The Calendare, a publication issued in the interest of the parishioners of St. Patrick parish, attacks the Government for allowing Thanksgiving Day to be fixed on a day of "fasting and abstinence."

"Thanksgiving," the article says, "is a national event, and the appointment, even as a joke, of a day of fasting and abstinence for the celebration thereof is in the worst possible taste. At least that will be the Catholic view of it all over the country."

DAUGHTER OF A PRINCESS.

Disappears Mysteriously In London Theatre Crowd.

London, Oct. 29.—Barbara Paponkhin, daughter of Alex. Paponkhin, ex-governor of Reval, and whose mother is a Russian princess, has mysteriously disappeared.

Miss Barbara, who is 18 years old, was visiting London with her younger sister, in charge of an English governess. The trio went to the Aldwych Theatre Oct. 24, and on coming out Barbara became separated in the crowd from her companions and has not been seen since.

The governess recently received a note, in a handwriting which she recognized at Barbara's, saying that she had been kidnapped and was suffering from a wound. She hinted at suicide.

WON'T HAVE TUNNEL.

But British Government Approves of Channel Ferry.

London, Oct. 29.—David Lloyd-George, President of the Board of Trade, has stamped with his approval the project to establish a Channel ferry between Dover and Calais for the transportation of trains. Both parties in England, he said, were opposed to the tunneling of the Channel, one objection being that such a passage would be open to an invading army.

Arrested Steamer Norwark.

Welland, Oct. 29.—Sheriff Smith, acting under a warrant issued at the instance of the Montreal Transportation Co. on Saturday night, arrested the steamer Norwark, bound from Quebec to Detroit, laden with pulpwood.

On Oct. 23 the Norwark collided with the steamer Jet of the Montreal Transportation Co., laden with flax seed, in St. Louis Bay, and the Jet went down. The Montreal Transportation Co. claims this was the fault of the Norwalk, and asks damages to the amount of $26,500.

Open Verdict at Stratford.

Stratford, Oct. 29.—Last night an open verdict was returned by the jury investigating the death of the late George Rits, who was killed near the Stratford Hotel on Oct. 14. The following is the verdict:

"That George Rits came to his death by electric shock, but from the evidence given we cannot say whether from negligence of the Electric Light Co. or the city fire department."

SUICIDE CAUSES CLOSE

Bank Cashier's Accounts Are Being Investigated.

Akron Dollar Savings Bank May Be Taken Over by Other Institutions—Crisis Is Over In New York—Runs Have Ceased and Good Securities Advance—Prices Rise—No Further Suspensions.

Akron, Ohio, Oct. 29.—The Dollar Savings Bank has been closed by order of the directors until the funeral of Fred A. Boran, its cashier, who committed suicide Saturday afternoon. In the meantime a further investigation of the accounts is going on, and a movement is also on foot to have the other banks of the city take this institution over. The Clearing House Association held a meeting yesterday, and will announce a policy in reference to the savings accounts of the city.

The 60-day time limit has been ordered enforced on all savings accounts in the banks of the city.

New York, Oct. 29.—The principal events in the financial district yesterday indicated that the worst of the crisis was over, and that matters were settling down to comparatively normal conditions. There were no further bank suspensions and conditions were reported as favorable for the resumption of most of the banks which closed temporarily last week.

News of the engagement of $18,750,000 in gold from Europe for importation to New York was followed by the sensational announcement of sales of American copper abroad, which will further increase the tide of foreign money to this country to an aggregate of over $25,000,000. This, with the rapid rise of good securities on the Stock Exchange, in some cases as much as four and five per cent., which was naturally followed by a slight reaction at the close, and the policy of the trust company not to pay out currency for hoarding, contributed to strengthen the feeling in banking quarters and among the public.

So well was the situation in hand that there was no scurrying about of leading financiers and hasty conferences as took place the last of last week. J. Pierpont Morgan was in touch with the situation in his library on 36th street, but did not find it necessary to come down town.

Runs on banks practically ceased, partly because of recognition that they were unnecessary and unjustifiable, and partly because of the policy adopted of paying large checks only in certified checks on depository banks. That system of payment worked no apparent hardship and was the cause of very little protest.

One of the sensational features was the remarkable development in the copper trade. The United States Metals Selling Co. reports a sharp advance in prices.

At the close of business yesterday the Trust Company of America, upon which the run continued, found as the result of the day's business, that they had deposits in excess of withdrawals of $296,000. They also had been able to collect $223,000 of outstanding loans, so that the net outcome of the day's work was an increase in cash of $519,000.

FREE FIGHT IN CHURCH.

Eleven Dead as Result of Conflict In Budapest.

Budapest, Hungary, Oct. 29.—During a church festival in the village of Czarnova Sunday a conflict arose between factions in the congregation, which led to the intervention of the gendarmes. A free fight ensued between the peasants and the gendarmes in which eleven persons were killed and a score of others wounded.

Bounty on Rats.

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 29.—When the City Council approves of a recommendation of the Board of Health yesterday rats will be quoted on the local market at fifty cents a dozen, dead or alive. The bounty is the first step in the precautions against the entrance of the bubonic plague.

Other B. C. ports are likely to adopt a similar measure. Dominion Health Superintendent Montizambert is expected here to-day. Reports that there have been five deaths from outbreak in Seattle are misleading; only one death is known so far to be due to the plague.

Norwegian Cabinet.

Christiania, Oct. 29.—M. Michelson, the Premier, resigned yesterday on account of ill-health, which led to the resignation of the Ministers of Public Works and Justice. King Haakon later made the following appointments: J. G. Loveland, Premier and Minister of Foreign Affairs; M. Bredal, Minister of Justice; Capt. Dawes, Minister of Defence; Magnus Halverson, Minister of Finance; M. Berge, Minister of Public Worship. Premier Loveland was Minister of Foreign Affairs in the last Cabinet.

German-Australian Trade.

London, Oct. 29.—The semi-official Norddeutsche Allgmeine Zeitung says: "It was declared during the preference debate in the Australian Parliament that Germany discriminated against Australian goods and excluded the Australian products as far as possible. The statement is incorrect as all imports from Australia are treated in accordance with notification sent in 1905 on the most favored nation basis."

Manufacturer Injured.

Listowel, Oct. 28.—Yesterday morning B. F. Brook, woollen manufacturer, was picking apples near his house when a limb of the tree broke and he fell, breaking one arm and several ribs.

WOMAN RESCUED.

Ottawa, Ont.—Slavery is not dead. Daily, the traffic in human souls goes on. Only a short time ago, a number of Chinese were arrested as they attempted to smuggle young girls from Canada into the United States. In Eastern countries, the slave trader plies his vocation in the market place. Some go into another kind of slavery—unknowingly—yet make a valiant effort to escape. Ottawa is all agog over the wonderful escape of one of her charming matrons from that physical slavery, Rheumatism. Mrs. R. C. Small says, "I was a constant sufferer from rheumatism for over seven years. I used many treatments—consulted doctors—tried hot baths—used almost every known mineral water—but nothing did me any real good. The pains were in my joints and back, and I had frequent headaches and bad indigestion. About a year ago, I saw 'Fruit-a-tives' advertised and decided to try them. After I had taken two boxes, I was much better. Altogether I took seven boxes. I have had no rheumatism for over six months now and feel that I am quite cured. I have gained over ten pounds in weight."

"Fruit-a-tives" cure because the intensified fruit juices and tonics strengthen the kidneys—regulate the bowels—and invigorate the skin. This means pure blood, free of uric acid.

Cure yourself. Take "Fruit-a-tives" now and be free of Rheumatism all winter. 50c a box; 6 for $2.50. At druggists, or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

WHAT CAMERA DISCLOSED.

Snapshots Lead Thirsty Residents of Thamesville to Court.

Chatham, Oct. 29.—Photographs taken on the scene of action will play an important part in the action which the Grand Trunk Railway will shortly take against men accused of stealing whiskey from the wrecked car near Thamesville.

It appears that a village camera fiend made use of the opportunity to get some good snaps of the wreck and incidentally of the men who were stealing the whiskey from the wrecked car. All of the pictures turned out particularly good, and the photographer for a few days could not make them fast enough for the demand.

One of them depicted a canny old Scotch local optionist holding a pail under one of the leaks in the car with a broad smile.

These pictures were sent broadcast through the country on souvenir postal cards and otherwise till eventually some of the railway detectives who were sent to investigate the whiskey stealing got into possession of a number of them. They also found the boy who was hired by the celebrants to hand the whiskey bottles from the car, and between his evidence and the pictures they secured a pretty good story.

The result is that 18 informations have been laid against prominent Thamesville people, charging them with stealing liquor from the railway premises.

MR. POLSON DEAD.

Prominent Toronto Shipbuilder Passes Away After Brief Illness.

Toronto, Oct. 29.—Franklin Bates Polson, president and general manager of the Polson Iron Works, was found dead in bed at his residence, 6 Beaumont road, Rosedale, at two o'clock yesterday afternoon. He had complained of feeling unwell on Saturday, but was at business as usual yesterday morning. He was ill, however, and had to return home.

Mr. Polson was one of Toronto's leading citizens and manufacturers. He was born at Port Hope on Feb. 10, 1856, the son of the late Mr. Polson, founder of the iron works, and descendant of the Polsons, a well-known and highly respected family in the north of Scotland. His primary education was at the Collegiate Institute, Cobourg, and afterwards became a mechanical engineer, becoming a fully qualified marine engineer (holding the highest diplomas) of 30 years' standing. He was interested in technical education and for some time was chairman of the old technical school board, while as a representative manufacturer, and chairman of the Employers' Association, he was called upon on several occasions to take part in the negotiations between employers and the labor men.

WANTED A MILLION ACRES.

Ontario Government Gets Another Offer For Land.

Toronto, Oct. 29.—The Ontario Government has turned away another million dollars.

A few days ago Mr. Pritchard of Winnipeg called on Premier Whitney. He said he represented Canadian and British capitalists, and wanted to buy a million acres of agricultural land in northern Ontario at one dollar an acre. Mr. Whitney remarked that a similar offer had been refused a short time ago, but referred him to Hon. Frank Cochrane, Minister of Lands. Mr. Cochrane, of course, did not entertain the offer.

It is thought Mr. Pritchard read a garbled report of the previous rejected offer, and made his offer under the impression that the Government was disposing of large blocks of land.

But they're not.

King Alfonso In Paris.

Paris, Oct. 29.—King Alfonso, Queen Victoria, their son, the Prince of the Asturias, and their suites passed a few hours in Paris yesterday while on their way to England. Although traveling incognito as the Duke and Duchess of Covadonga, they were received with royal honors. During the afternoon President Fallieres and King Alfonso exchanged official visits, and His Majesty last evening dined with the President at the Elysee Palace, after which there was an entertainment. The royal party left Paris at midnight for Cherbourg, where they embarked on the British battleship Renown for England.

Thanksgiving Day next Thursday.

The Prisoner of Zenda

By... ANTHONY HOPE

Copyrighted, 1894, 1898, by Henry Holt & Company

Gently I lowered myself into the water. Though the night were wild, the day had been warm and bright and the water was not cold. I struck out and began to swim round the great walls which frowned above me. I could see only three yards ahead. I had then good hopes of not being seen as I crept along close under the damp, moss grown masonry. There were lights from the new part of the castle on the other side, and now and again I heard laughter and merry shouts. I fancied I recognized young Rupert Hentzau's ringing tones and pictured him flushed with wine.

Recalling my thoughts to the business in hand, I rested a moment. If Johann's description were right, I must be near the window now. Very slowly I moved, and out of the darkness ahead loomed a shape. It was the pipe, curving from the window to the water. About two feet of its surface was displayed. It was as big round as two men. I was about to approach it when I saw something else, and my heart stood still. The nose of a boat protruded beyond the pipe on the other side, and, listening intently, I heard a slight shuffle, as of a man shifting his position. Who was the man who guarded Michael's invention? Was he awake or was he asleep? I felt if my knife were ready and trod water. As I did so I found bottom under my feet. The foundations of the castle extended some fifteen inches, making a ledge, and I stood on it, ont of water from my armpits upward. Then I crouched and peered through the darkness under the pipe, where, curving, it left a space.

There was a man in the boat. A rifle lay by him. I saw the gleam of the barrel. Here was the sentinel! He sat very still. I listened. He breathed heavily, regularly, monotonously. By heaven, he slept! Kneeling on the shelf, I drew forward under the pipe till my face was within two feet of his. He was a big man, I saw. It was Max Holf, the brother of Johann. My hand stole to my belt, and I drew out my knife. Of all the deeds of my life I love the least to think of this, and whether it was the act of a man or a traitor I will not ask. I said to myself, "It is war, and the king's life is at stake." And I raised myself from beneath the pipe and stood up by the boat, which lay moored by the ledge. Holding my breath, I marked the spot and raised my arm. The great fellow stirred. He opened his eyes—wide, wider. He gasped in terror at my face and clutched at his rifle. I struck home. And I heard the chorus of a love song from the opposite bank.

Leaving him where he lay, a huddled mass, I turned to "Jacob's Ladder." My time was short. This fellow's turn of watching might be over directly, and relief would come. Leaning over the pipe, I examined it from the point it left the water to the topmost extremity, where it passed, or seemed to pass, through the masonry of the wall. There was no break in it, no chink. Dropping on my knees, I tested the under side. And my breath went quick and fast, for on this lower side, where the pipe should have clung close to the masonry, there was a gleam of light. That light must come from the cell of the king! I set my shoulder against the pipe and exerted my strength. The chink widened a very, very little, and hastily I desisted. I had done enough to show that the pipe was not fixed in the masonry at the lower side.

Then I heard a voice—a harsh, grating voice:

"Well, sire, if you have had enough of my society I will leave you to repose, but I must fasten the little ornaments first."

It was Detchard. I caught the English accent in a moment.

"Have you anything to ask, sire, before we part?"

The king's voice followed. It was his, though it was faint and hollow, different from the merry tones I had heard in the glades of the forest.

"Pray my brother," said the king, "to kill me. I am dying by inches here."

"The duke does not desire your death, sire—yet," sneered Detchard. "When he does, behold your path to heaven!"

The king answered:

"So be it. And now, if your orders allow it, pray leave me."

"May you dream of paradise," said the ruffian.

The light disappeared. I heard the bolts of the door run home. And then I heard the sobs of the king. He was alone, as he thought. Who dares mock at him?

I did not venture to speak to him. The risk of some exclamation escaping him in surprise was too great. I dared do nothing that night, and my task now was to get myself away in safety and to carry off the carcass of the dead man. To leave him there would tell too much. Casting loose the boat, I got in. The wind was blowing a gale now, and there was little danger of oars being heard. I rowed swiftly round to where my friends waited. I had just reached the spot when a loud whistle sounded over the moat behind me.

"Hello, Max!" I heard shouted.

I hailed Sapt in a low tone. The rope came down. I tied it round the corpse and then went up it myself.

"Whistle you, too," I whispered, "for our men and haul in the line. No talk now."

They hauled up the body. Just as it reached the road three men on horseback swept round from the front of the castle. We saw them; but, being on foot, we escaped their notice. But we heard our men coming up with a shout.

"The devil, but it's dark!" cried a ringing voice.

It was young Rupert. A moment later shots rang out. Our people had met them. I started forward at a run, Sapt and Fritz following me.

"Thrust, thrust!" cried Rupert again, and a loud groan following told that he himself was not behindhand.

"I'm done, Rupert!" cried a voice. "They're three to one. Save yourself!"

I ran on, holding my cudgel in my hand. Suddenly a horse came toward me. A man was on it, leaning over the shoulder.

"Are you cooked, too, Krafstein?" he cried.

There was no answer.

I sprang to the horse's head. It was Rupert Hentzau.

"At last!" I cried.

For we seemed to have him. He had only his sword in his hand. My men were hot upon him. Sapt and Fritz were running up. I had outstripped them, but if they got close enough to fire he must die or surrender.

"At last!" I cried.

"It's the play actor!" cried he, slashing at my cudgel. He cut it clean in two, and, judging discretion better than death, I ducked my head and (I blush to tell) scampered for my life. The devil was in Rupert Hentzau, for he put spurs to his horse, and I, turning to look, saw him ride full gallop to the edge of the moat and leap in, while the shots of our party fell thick round him like hail. With one gleam of moonlight we should have riddled him with balls, but in the darkness he won to the corner of the castle and vanished from our sight.

"The dence take him!" grinned Sapt.

"It's a pity," said I, "that he's a villain. Whom have we got?"

We had Lauengram and Krafstein. They lay stiff and dead, and, concealment being no longer possible, we flung them, with Max, into the moat and, drawing together in a compact body, rode off down the hill. And in our midst went the bodies of four gallant gentlemen. Thus we traveled home, heavy at heart for the death of our friends, sore uneasy concerning the king and cut to the quick that young Rupert had played yet another winning hand with us.

"It's the play actor!" cried he.

For my own part I was vexed and angry that I had killed no man in open fight, but only stabbed a knave in his sleep. And I did not love to hear Rupert call me a play actor.

STREET CAR RIOTS IN YONKERS.

Strikers Want Five Cents an Hour Increase—Mob Takes Hand.

Yonkers, N. Y., Oct. 29.—Yesterday was expected to see the end of the rioting which has been in progress here as a result of the street railway strike. With two companies of the Tenth regiment held in Mount Vernon and White Plains prepared for prompt response to a call for strike duty, and a conference scheduled between a representative of the strikers and officials of the Street Railway Co., it was hoped that peace might be proclaimed. If not Sheriff Lane was prepared to summon the troops and put on end to the rioting of mobs.

Big crowds of strike sympathizers were gathered about the car barns early yesterday, and declared that no cars would be allowed to go out until the demands of the strikers for a wage increase of five cents an hour had been conceded.

Yonkers, N. Y., Oct. 29.—The Yonkers street car strike is over, and the conductors and motormen returned to work this morning.

The company agrees to recognize the union and to appoint an assistant superintendent from the ranks of the men. The question of wages is to go to an arbitration committee. The men demanded 25 cents an hour, an increase of 2 1-2 cents.

DEATH BEFORE DISGRACE.

Charged With Serious Offence Old Man Suicides.

Toronto, Oct. 29.—Fearing to stand trial upon a charge of assaulting a small girl at Todmorden, Thomas Healey, 73 years of age, and well connected, ended his life in a lodging-house on Jarvis street yesterday. He swallowed two ounces of carbolic acid and died in St. Michael's Hospital soon after.

Healey was to have appeared before Magistrate Ellis last Thursday, but failed to show up. He was out on $600 bail. Yesterday morning he applied for a room at the Commercial Hotel and was referred to 331-2 Jarvis street, where he spent his last quarter for a room. He left word to be called at 2 o'clock, but in a few minutes the proprietor heard sounds of distress, and breaking in the door found Healey on the bed, dying.

Healey had of late years peddled small wares around the city. He had bought the poison some months ago.

DR GILLETTE GETS SIX MONTHS.

Suffering From Heart Trouble May Not Live Out Sentence.

New York, Oct. 29.—A sentence of six months' imprisonment in the penitentiary was yesterday imposed by Justice Dowling upon Dr. Walter H. Gillette, former vice-president of the Mutual Life Insurance Co., who was convicted of perjury.

Dr. Gillette first denied and then admitted to a grand jury that he had deposited $5,000 in a bank to be used in influencing legislation affecting insurance companies.

A physician testified yesterday that Dr. Gillette was suffering with heart trouble and that imprisonment might result in his death.

BEER MAKES BLOOD

MALT has certain food-elements which the body can transform into healthy blood quickly and with the least digestive effort.

HOPS contain a medical principle which tones the nerves without reaction, and so supplies nervous energy and saves it as well.

BEER* as brewed in Ontario is made from choicest Ontario barley malt, selected hops, and the purest of water, dealt with under conditions which insure purity and quality.

THE better the blood the sounder the health, and the surer the body to combat disease effectively. Beer, by some counted an intoxicant, is not so—it is a blood-maker, with barely enough alcohol in it to help the stomach do its work far better.

Beer with meals is good for 997 people out of every thousand—and is specially good for women. Ask your own doctor about it—beer is probably good for you.

*BEER is a term which covers lager, ales, porter, and stout; and in the practice of Ontario brewers, implies beverages made under most hygienic conditions from Ontario barley (the best in the world) malt, hops, and pure water. 3.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Oct. 28.—(Special.)—At the Montreal Stock Yards' West End Market the receipts of live stock for the week ending Oct. 26 were 4251 cattle, 3505 sheep and lambs, 6097 hogs and 980 calves, while the offerings this morning for local consumption were 1650 cattle, 1500 sheep and lambs, 2000 hogs and 600 calves. A much easier feeling prevailed in the market for cattle, and prices show a decline of 10c to 25c per 100 lbs., as compared with last Monday's.

This was due to supplies being 450 head larger than a week ago, and also to the very unfavorable weather which prevailed, as the attendance of buyers was not as large as usual, and in consequence the demand was somewhat limited and trade slowed up. Cable advices from Liverpool on Saturday reported trade in cattle very slow and noted a decline in prices of ½c to 1c per lb., with Canadian steers quoted at 10c to 11c, and ranchers at 9¾c to 10c per lb.; choice beeves here sold at 4¾c; good at 4¼c to 4½c; fair at 3½c to 4c; common at 2½c to 3c; canners at 1¼c to 1½c per lb. The market for export sheep was stronger and prices advanced ¼c per lb. The offerings were fair, but the demand was quiet, owing to the fact that shippers had no ocean freight for sheep this week; however, sales were made at $4.40 to $4.50 per 100 lbs. Butchers' sheep were fairly plentiful, for which the demand was slow at 3½c to 3¾c per lb. A fair trade was done in lambs, and prices ruled steady at 6c to 6¼c per lb. There continues to be a good demand for calves, of which supplies are coming forward fairly well and sales of choice stock were made at $12 to $15; good at $8 to $10; fair at $5 to $7, and common at $4 each.

4,000 SPANISH SLAVES

Thrilling Story of Fugitive Creates Sensation in Madrid.

Survivors of Wrecked Spanish Cruiser—Captured by Tagalos in Manila—Treated as Beasts of Burden—Half-Starved and Whipped—Many in Trying to Escape Were Drowned—Scanty Rations of Green Corn.

Madrid, Oct. 29.—A thrilling story, related by a Spaniard who recently arrived from Manila, is attracting a good deal of attention in the Madrid papers. This man, who gives his name as Bulguera, declares he was on board the Spanish cruiser Reina Marie Gristina when she was wrecked. He says that when the warship foundered and her crew of 627 men were thrown into the water, though more than 300 were drowned, many were saved.

The survivors, he declares, were captured by Tagalos and taken to the Island of San Juan del Monte, in Bulacan Province. According to Bulguera's story, there are more than 4,000 Spanish prisoners on that island. They are forced, he says, by the natives to drag their plows and are whipped and treated like beasts of burden, and the only reward they get are scanty rations of green corn.

Bulguera has related his story to a correspondent of El Pueblo, and he says that in June last ninety Spanish prisoners tried to escape by swimming. Practically all were drowned, he says, but he succeeded in landing on the opposite bank, and was subsequently able to reach Manila. Then he went to the American authorities, who provided him with passage on board the steamer Baltimore, bound for Cadiz. He reached that port in September, but was only able to proceed to his native town a few days since, where he had long been given up for dead.

One of Bulguera's companions has also just reached his home at Valencia, where he found that not only had he been presumed to be dead, but his wife had married again. This story of 4,000 Spaniards being still alive and in the hands of Tagalos has caused a great sensation, and is made the subject of comments by the press of Madrid.

WOMAN PEEPED AT HENNESSEY.

But Deserted Wife Found Him to Be Wrong Man.

St. Catharines, Oct. 29.—A peculiar incident occurred at the Maple Leaf Rubber Factory, Port Dalhousie, on Saturday. Some time ago William J. Hennessey came to the village and secured work in the cutting-room. About the same time a William Hennessey left his wife in Chicago, and the description given of the deserter tallied exactly with the man at the factory. Some one sent word to the lonely wife. She appeared at the factory on Saturday, got a look at Hennessey, but found him to be remarkably like her husband, but another man.

AFRAID TO BLOW SAFE.

Burglars Visit Hudson Bay Store and Bind Clerk.

Fort William, Oct. 29.—The Hudson Bay store was robbed Sunday morning, and the burglars after gagging and binding a young clerk named Wrenn, who sleeps on the premises, prepared to blow the safe. They drilled three holes in the door, but for some unknown reason, probably fear of attracting attention, did not use the explosive, consequently did not obtain the money in the vault. Wrenn managed to get loose from his fastenings and called the police. So far no arrests have been made.

Mimico Station Robbed.

Mimico, Oct. 29.—When Superintendent Skelton arrived at his work yesterday morning a most unpleasant surprise awaited him, he finding that during the night the G. T. R. station had been broken into and about eight dollars in money taken, besides a large quantity of valuable papers of great value to the station-master, but of no value to the thieves. Information was at once given to the G. T. R. police at the Union Station and to County Constable Simpson, though there is no clue at present to the thieves.

Access was gained to the premises by breaking out a pane of glass, then the rest of the work was comparatively easy. The thieves made no effort to cover up their tracks, broken glass lay about in every direction, while the whole place was left in disorder.

Montreal Mystery.

Montreal, Oct. 29.—The fatal shooting of Oscar Lemay, near the Shamrock lacrosse grounds, Saturday night, is almost identical with that of the Toronto boy, Horace Greigg, who just a little over a year ago, was shot by a highwayman, in Montreal West, another suburb of Montreal.

Lemay had $10 on him, too, his father, who was driving on ahead with his wife, having the proceeds of the day's sales at the city markets, and young Lemay, like Greigg, gave up his life rather than give up $10 to a highwayman.

Lurline Breaks Up.

Goderich, Oct. 29.—The Canadian Government fishery cruiser Lurline, which ran on the submerged breakwater in course of construction at the mouth of the harbor here on Saturday night, broke up during Sunday night, nothing being left of her on the breakwater except some of the machinery.

Men Back at Springhill.

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 29.—The strike at the Springhill coal mines, which has been on for thirteen weeks, was declared off by the men yesterday for a second time. The award of the board of conciliation on this dispute had been much discussed and considered in different ways.

Wreck on the I. C. R.

St. John, N. B., Oct. 29.—A serious wreck occurred on the I. C. R. at Westchester, N. S., early yesterday morning. Welling's coal special ran off the track about 100 yards west of Westchester. Fifteen cars were derailed.

Captured Escaped Lunatic.

Orangeville, Oct. 29.—A wild-eyed, black-whiskered man arrived here on Saturday and was shortly afterwards apprehended on the nominal charge of vagrancy, and committed to jail for safe-keeping. Yesterday morning Governor Bowles proceeded to learn the man's identity. He is William Langford, who escaped from Mimico ten days ago. The authorities will send for Langford. It is surprising he was not arrested before, as he is obviously out of his mind.

Action Dismissed.

Toronto, Oct. 29—The action brought by B. E. Taplin against the Riordon Paper Mills for $5,000 damages for wrongful dismissal, which was begun some days ago, was dismissed without costs by Justice Anglin in the non-jury assizes yesterday afternoon.

The plaintiff, in the opinion of the justice, was entitled only to the amount of money already paid into court.

Dear Sir,—I have much pleasure in acknowledging the receipt of the cheque for $1,244, being the amount paid me on the maturity of my endowment policy, 35390, in your Company which matured on the 1st inst.

I find I have received almost 4 per cent. compound interest on every dollar paid in to the Company and in addition have had free insurance for the past fifteen years.

Such a result speaks volumes for the management of your company and far exceeds my expectations and I would be ungrateful indeed were I not to acknowledge it.

I was also offered a paid-up policy of $2,078. or an annuity for life of $111.55, both of which I consider excellent.

I thank you very much indeed and wish your company the continued success and confidence it so richly deserves.

Yours very truly,

Thanksgiving Will be a Fast Day

Ottawa, Oct. 28.—The Calendare, a publication issued in the interest of the parishioners of St. Patrick parish, attacks the Government for allowing Thanksgiving Day to be fixed on a day of "fasting and abstinence."

"Thanksgiving," the article says, "is a national event, and the appointment, even as a joke, of a day of fasting and abstinence for the celebration thereof is in the worst possible taste. At least that will be the Catholic view of it all over the country."

The latest old time prospector to die in the Provincial Home, Kamloops, B.C., was C. A. Dietz, German, aged 86.

Brilliant Opening of the Conservatory Music Hall

Talented Artists Delighted Large and Appreciative Audience—Another Step Taken in the Musical Education and Facilities of Peterborough—Mr. Gliddon Cordially Felicitated on His Enterprise.

The spacious and admirably appointed new music hall in connection with the Peterborough Conservatory of Music was formally opened last evening. The occasion was marked by a splendid concert, a large and cultured audience, intense enthusiasm and thorough enjoyment.

The initial exercises, which inaugurate another step in the musical culture and advancement of the city, could not have been more auspicious and, at the close, not only were the visiting artists warmly congratulated on the brilliant character of their work, but Mr. Gliddon, the enterprising director of the Peterborough Conservatory of Music, and Mrs. Gliddon, were the recipients of many kind words tendered in a spirit that voiced sincerity and appreciation.

Mr. Gliddon has placed at the disposal of Peterborough citizens an admirable structure, possessed of of ever y facility and excellent acoustic properties, including a large elevated stage for concerts, oratorios and recitals.

Previous to the close of the programme Rev. Canon Davidson, in a few happy remarks, on behalf of the audience, conveyed to Mr. Gliddon their hearty thanks on the forward step taken by him and on the success of his enterprise. When Mr. Gliddon had established the Peterborough Conservatory of Music a few years ago, Canon Davidson said there had been some misgiving. It was stated that such an institution might flourish in the large cities, but that Peterborough was too small. Subsequent developments had proved that Peterborough was not too small, and, so rapid had been the advancement, that the erection of this splendid new music hall had been rendred necessary in order to meet the needs of the work. One and all warmly congratulated our fellow citizens, Mr. and Mrs. Gliddon, and expressed the ardent hope for even greater success in the work carried on by them. Canon Davidson's remarks were loudly applauded.

The stage last evening was prettily decorated with ferns, palms and greenery, and presented a bright appearance. Th audience was keenly appreciative, and each of the four contributors received a welcome which was spontaneous and well merited.

The artists were Mme. Bessie Bonsall, contralto; Miss Jessie Alexander-Roberts, reader; Miss Lois Winlow, 'cellist, and Mr. Henry J. Lautz, tenor, who is on the staff of the Peterborough Conservatory of Music.

The plan oused for the occasion was a magnificent Gerhard Heintzman, of superb tone and action.

Mme. Bonsall's reception was cordial in the extreme. Her selections were admirably contributed and left no room for criticism. This talented lady possesses a voice of rare sweetness, charm and power; her phrasing is excellent and her enunciation exceptionally distinct. She has a pleasing personality, and her work may well be styled an artistic triumph. Her first number was Massenet's "Elegie," with 'cello ouligato by Miss Winlow. She generously responded to an encore. Other bright and attractive numbers were "Thou art so like a flower," a delightful composition of Mr. Lautz, the tenor of the evening, and Hayne's "The Auld Plad Shawl." Later Mme. Bonsall favored with Donizetti's "Brindisi," and "Mavourneen," by Mrs. Laing. Flowers were showered upon her for her brilliant work—which embraced articulation, expression and interpretative ability of the highest quality.

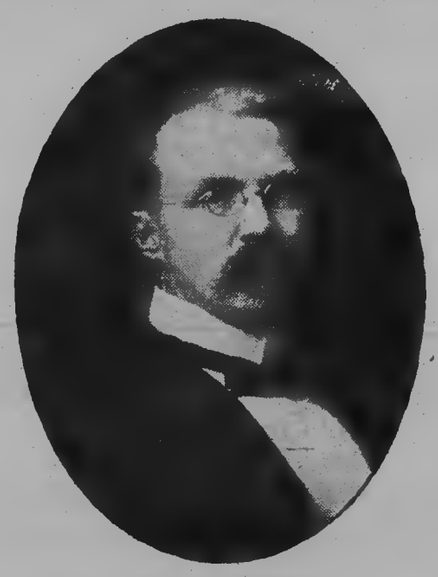
Miss Jessie Alexander-Roberts is no stranger to a Peterborough audience. Her readings last night demonstrated that each succeeding year adds only to the charm and naivete of her work. She thrilled her hearers at times, and then convulsed them with laughter. Her clear voice, ease and grace of manner and rare mimetic power were all admirably brought out. Her opening numbers were two scenes from Shakespeare's "Henry V"—one urging his soldiers on to action, and the other a love proposal to Princess Catharine. Both were cleverly presented, and as encore the artist gave a little tot's experiences in the kindergarten. Miss Jessie Alexander-Roberts' delineation of a good old Scotch preacher delivering a sermon, in which the gestures and pounding of the desk formed no unimportant part of the discourse was splendid, and was followed by one of Dr. W. H. Drummond's touching childhood poems, "My Little Dominique." The closing selections were intensely amusing, "Hooley's Wan Chick," and "De Higha Cultuah." In the former some pathetic passages were vividly personated. Miss Alexander-Roberts' closing number was Rudyard Kipling's "L'Envoi," a fitting termination of her excellent and praiseworthy work.

Miss Louis Winlow, 'cellist, is an artist of high repute, and her contributions last evening justified the many flattering notices that had heralded her coming. She is a complete master of the 'cello, hen remarkable execution, rare interpretative ability and brilliant expression eliciting unstinted applause. Her numbers last evening were Shubert's 'Du bist die Ruh,' and Popper's "Spanish Dance' As an encore she rendered Rubenstein's "Melody in F Major," and aroused her enraptured hearers to a high pitch of enthusiasm. Miss Winlow will always b cheard in Peterborough with infinite pleasure.

Mr. Henry J. Lautz has a pleasing and attractive tenor voice. He sings with rare feeling and expression. He is not only a vocalist of superior attainments, but he is a composer of note. Last night he contributed two of his own compositions, "Im Wunderschoenen Monat Mai," "My Love is Like a red, red rose," and as an encore he favored with "Thy Beaming Eyes," by McDowell. His finished and thoroughly satisfying work was a feature of the evening. Mr. Lautz also played the different accompaniments and demonstared his talent and aptitude as a pianist of the front rank. His services would not well be improved upon and he won many admirers by his wonderful instrumental and vocal gifts.

In a word, it may be stated that the array of talent presented at the opening concert in the Conservatory Music Hall ha snever been surpassed, and seldom, if ever, equalled in Peterborough.

Verily the inaugural night was a most creditable one to all concerned, and the citizens trust it is only a forerunner to many more equally artistic and brilliant evenings.



MR. R. GLIDDON

Director of the Peterborough Conservatory of Music to Whose Energy and Public Spirit the City is Indebted for the Splendid New Concert Hall Which Was Formally Opened Last Evening.

Church is Now Clear of Debt

Successful Anniversary Services Held at Havelock

Special to the Review.

Havelock, Oct. 29.—Most successful anniversary services were held in the Havelock Methodist church on Sunday. Rev. G. W. McCall, of Wellington, Prince Edward County, a former pastor, preached forcible sermons to large congregations.

Last evening a most enjoyable tea meeting was held. Rev. David Balfour, the pastor, preached ,amd addresses were delivered by Rev. G. W. McCall, Rev. W. G. Clarke, of Stirling, and Rev. C. H. Coon, of Mark street Methodist church, Peterborough, who is a former pastor.

A good musical programme was rendered. The collections on Sunday and the receipts of the anniversary tea, amounted to about $100. This sum, together with subscriptions, totalled $540, which is sufficient to clear the church of all indebtedness. There is consequently great rejoicing among the members.

Capt. Bernier to Lecture in Peterborough

Famous Artic Explorer Likely to be in This City at an Early Date

There is every probability that Peterborough people will have an opportunity to hear Captain Bernier, the Arctic explorer, in the near future. The captain is a personal friend of Rev. Dr. Marsh of Springville, and is coming to visit the doctor at an early date. When he is here it is expected that he will be prevailed upon to give a lecture in Peterborough, as there is many who would like to hear him. Captain Bernier has made a name for himself as an Arctic explorer, and there are many who think that he will yet reach the north pole, which for years has been the goal for the explorers, in the land of snow and ice.

Should Captain Bernier lecture in Peterborough, he will be listened to by a large audience, and no doubt would have an interesting story to tell of his experiences in the northern oclimes.

A DIFFERENCE AS TO WEIGHT

North Monaghan Farmer and the Market Clerk do not Agree

Mr. James Arnott of North Monaghan, writes a letter to the Review, complaining and objecting to the weight of a load of hogs, which he had weighed, first on another scale, waggon and all, and afterwards on the market scale in the city. Mr. Arnott claims a difference of 40 pounds on the gross weight of nine hogs.

The statement is made by the market clerk at Peterborough that Mr. Arnott came to him with the hogs, and had them removed from the waggon, and weighed on their feet on the scale, taking the weight as shown. The waggon was then weighed separately. Mr. Arnott delivered the hogs, and afterwards weighed the wagogn by itself on the first scale, and found that the weight of the waggon as given by both scales agreed exactly. Deducting the weight of the waggon from the gross amount, he reached the conclusion that he was forty pounds short on the hogs, as weighed at the market.

The market clerk, at Peterborough says the scale is all right and, that his weight is accurate, that he has no object to do other than give each customer a fair show. No benefit comes to him from either short or over weight, and his statement can be relied on in these respects. Still, taking Mr. Arnott's statement, there is a difference and such matters should be cleared up, as the local scale should not be suffered to lie under the imputation of being inaccurate, especially if such is not the case. The committee having such matters in charge should have the scale thoroughly overhauled, the barriers at the side widened, and the whole thing made right beyond question, this, assuming, that any difference in the working of the scale from day to day would show a difference in weight.

THE PLAIN TRUTH.

"Truth," said a local philosopher, "still continues to be stranger than fiction. Observe the case of the train which was flagged in time to prevent its destruction. By all the rules of the melodramatic game, the flagging should have been done by a girl, who should have removed her red skirt to do it. Instead of that it was done by a boy with a coat. The incident was unromantic enough to positively shake one's faith in the fitness of things."—Belleville Intelligencer.

WALLACE POINT BRIDGE REPAIRED

Report of County Councillors Brown and Fife Regarding the Matter

At the recent session of the county council, the following report of the special committee appointed to deal with the Wallace Point bridge was read by Councillor Brown;

I beg to report that, in company with Mr. Fife, reeve of Otonabee and representative of Durham and Northumberland, we inspected Wallace Point Bridge. One of the piers had sunk to the extent of six inches and we agreed it was advisable to engage a contractor to raise up the bridge and place six inches of oak underneath. I may say we found the contract let by Mr. Fife to Mr. Kelly of Durham County, of reflooring the above bridge to have been done in a satisfactory manner and of good material.

Signed,
JOHN BROWN

The report was adopted and Councillors Brown and Fife were authorized to make any further repairs they may think necessary.

John Gordineer Was Sent Up for Trial

Charged With Indecent Assault on Member of a Theatrical Company

The Belleville Intelligencer says;

John Gordineer was this morning arrested on a rather serious charge, namely, that of alleged indecent assault upon Mrs. James Shadrick, the latter being connected with the theatrical company which gave a performance here last evening.

In the absence of the magistrate, Mayor Sulman was on the bench.

Gordineer pleaded not guilty to the charge preferred against him, alleging that it was a case of mistaken identity.

The plaintiff in her evidence, swore positively that the accused, at an early hour in the morning, came into her bed room in the Victoria Hotel, and indecently assaulted her. She alarmed her husband, who was asleep and he also swore that Gordineer was the party he saw making his exit from the room. The time was about two o'clock in morning. The outcome was that the accused was committed for trial. Mr. Anderson represented the Crown and Gordineer had no lawyer.

Hartley Starts in the Morning

David Hartley left by the Grand Trunk train at noon today for Whitby, from which point he commences his long walk to Toronto and return to Peterborough tomorrow morning at six o'clock. He will be accompanied on the trip by Geo. Stevens and his son, Charlie Stevens, who left this morning with a team and express waggon for Whitby, in order to be on hand to start with Hartley tomorrow morning. The distance to be covered by Hartley is between 130 and 132 miles, and he is to make it in 36 hours. He hopes to be able to finish at the Munro House, Hunter street, at 6 o'clock Thanksgiving evening.

WALKING

ANOTHER WILL TRY.

Thomas Sleeman, driver for Mr. Thomas Garnett, is of the opinion that he can walk to Toronto and return in 36 hours without much trouble. On Thursday morning at six o'clock, he will start out to accomplish this task which he will find to be about the largest he has ever undertaken. It might be appropriate at this season of the year to give thanks, that we have as yet escape the "walking fever."—Port Hope Guide.

LANGFORD HONORED.

A despatch from Renfrew on Thursday, says,—D. Langford, the acclaimed walker, was expected here last night, and preparations were afoot to give him an ovation, but he telephoned to Mr. Jakes from Oshawa that he would not be able to come. He has given up his position in A. Fraser's shoe store, and leaves immediately for London, England, and goes from thence to South Africa where a position awaits him. However, his not coming via Renfrew did not deter our young men from giving expression to their admiration of their late townsman, and in a short while, about $100 was collected, which was telegraphed to Mr. Langford yesterday.

4212.—A PLEASING MODEL FOR A SMALL GOWN.

Mothers find that the house dresses are most practical and appropriate for small folks' wear and few little maids are without this most becoming style. The dress shown is built on French lines with its long waist and short full skirt. The broad sailor collar is most attractive in shape and closes in front, being left free at one side. The combination of sailor collar and French dress is quite novel and decidedly pleasing, as broad collars are sure to prove becoming and provide sufficient adornment for any dress. The style is one easily made up and suitable to any of the tub fabrics or worsteds. For the medium size 2 3-4 yards of 36 inch material are needed.

4212.—7 sizes, 3 to 9 years.

The price of this pattern is 10c.

Encouraging Reports Were Read Before Y.M.C.A. Ladies' Auxiliary

Members Have Reason to Feel Gratified at Result of Their Work—Officers Were Re-elected—What Was Accomplished During the Year.

The members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y.M.C.A. have reason to feel gratified at the result of the annual meeting of the organization held in the Y.M.C.A. parlors yesterday afternoon.

The meeting opened with singing, Bible reading by Mrs. E. F. Mason, president, and prayer led by Mrs. Wm Davidson.

After the regular monthly meeting had been disposed of, the annual reports of the secretary and treasurer were presented and adopted. They showed the work of the Auxiliary was in a very satisfactory condition.

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

The report of the secretary, Miss Ackerman, was as follows:

In reviewing the work of the year ending October 28th, your secretary is pleased to report a satisfactory year's work. Although so much effort was not required on the part of the members as in former years, they have accomplished equally good results and it is pleasing to state that financially a small balance remains on hand with which to begin another year's work.

During the year ten regular meetings and three special meetings were held, having an average attendance of twelve members, the same average attendance as that of the previous years. While the Auxiliary suffered the loss of one active member, in the person of Mrs. Jeffries, whose removal from our midst was keenly felt, we are glad to be able to record the names of several new members whose assistance is greatly appreciated. At the last annual meeting it was decided to change the time of meeting from the last Thursday afternoon of the month to the last Monday evening, hoping that the change would insure a large attendance at the meetings, but the desired result has not been attained.

The first meeting of a social nature was held on the afternoon of November 6th, when an enjoyable tea was given in the association parlors by the members of the Auxiliary, to which all ladies at all interested in the work, were invited, through the medium of the press. There was a good attendance and a number of those present signified their willingness to assist in the work by having their names added to the list of members and paying the membership fee of fifty cents.

On the evening of March 19th an entertainment in the form of a "Birthday Party," was held in the Y. M.C.A. building, when an enjoyable musical programme was rendered and refreshments served. Candy was also sold and the undertaking was proved very successful, both socially and financially. This was the only entertainment given to augment the funds during the whole year and no subscriptions have been solicited by the auxiliary.

On Wednesday afternoon, June 12th, the members met to sew, when the dormitory comforters were recovered and a light tea was served.

The auxiliary also arranged for the provision and serving of the closing banquet of the recent campaign made by the members of the Y. M.C.A. previous to the departure of our late general secretary, Mr. Williamson, for his new field of labor in Fort William.

A number of new furnishings in the way of curtains, rugs, comforters, etc., have been purchased during the year and the cleaning of the building was supervised in the spring. A small donation of money, subscribed by the members, was sent to Kentville, N.S., to aid in the furnishing of a new Y.M.C.A. building in that place.

The President, Mrs. E. F. Mason, and the treasurer, Miss Davidson attended the Y.M.C.A. convention held in Toronto in February last.

The above report is respectfully submitted by

ESTELLE ACKERMAN,
Sec. L.A. of Y.M.C.A.

Bye-Election Returns Will be Bulletined at the Review Office

Three bye-elections for the Federal House are being held to-day—in East Northumberland, North Wellington and London. Two of these were rendered vacant by the death of the sitting members, while in London Hon. C. S. Hyman resigned.

The results of to-day's contests will be bulletined at the Review office this evening.

In East Northumberland Mr. O. L. Owen is the Conservative candidate and Mr. A. A. Mulholland the Liberal. The riding was represented for years by the late Ed. Cochrane, Conservative.

In North Wellington Mr. Alex. Hamilton is the Conservative candidate and Mr. Alex. Martin the Liberal. The late Thomas Martin, Liberal represented the riding.

In London the candidates are Major Beattie, Conservative, and J. D. Jacobs, Labor candidate. C. H. Hyman was the late representative.

The complexion of the ridings in the present parliament has been:

East Northumberland—Conservative.
London—Liberal.
North Wellington—Liberal.

Important Changes Made By the Educational Dept.

They Affect Continuation Classes, High Schools and Normal Schools—A Summary of the New Regulations.

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir.—I have been requested by Mr. Fessenden, principal of the Collegiate Institute to furnish you with the following information concerning the latest changes, made by the Educational Department of Ontario, in the rules and regulations.

So far as these affect the High Schools and Continuation Classes, they are intended to reduce the pressure of the Departmental examinations on the Lower and Middle Schools of the High Schools and Continuation Classes, and, as a result of such reduction, to give the teacher greater freedom in his work, and to enable him to give more and better attention to subjects of practical and vital importance, which have suffered under the system hitherto in operation.

These changes will come into effect at the examinations of 1908.

I shall first deal with what has hitherto been called the Junior Leaving Examination. It will henceforth be called the Normal School Entrance Examination.

The new requirements for entrance into the Normal Schools, are as follows;

1. The obligatory subjects of examination for entrance into the Normal Schools shall be the following subjects of the Middle School course of the High Schools, as follows: English Composition, English Literature, History, Ancient, British and Canadian; Algebra, Geometry, Physics, and Chemistry.

2. The courses in Physics and Chemistry for this examination shall include those now prescribed for the Lower School, as well as those prescribed for the Middle School.

3. Candidates for entrance into the Normal Schools, who take also the papers in the Middle School course in Latin (who pass matriculation course at the July Departmental Examinations of the same year, and who mark at least 34 per cent. on each of such Latin papers, and 50 per cent. of the aggregate of marks assigned to both papers, shall have the marks so obtained, counted as part of the 60 per cent. required on the aggregate of the obligatory subjects.

Now, it may be asked, what are the changes? Will the examination be heavier or lighter? It will be considerably lighter. At the July examinations in 1908 there will be no papers on Geography, English Grammar, or Arithmetic, for Normal School Entrance Examination.

Again, it may be asked, are the changes in the right direction? The answer to this is a matter of opinion. If I may be allowed to venture a humble opinion, I should say, no, and I would write the word "no" in Italics, underline, it, and use red ink in doing so.

It will not be denied that the examination has been, of recent years too exacting. There has been an inordinate amount of Physics and Geometry. Science has been having a sweet revenge for her comparative neglect in the past. Instead of lessoning the amount in these two subjects, three very important subjects, viz., English Grammar, Geography, and Arithmetic, will not be subjects for examination. Public school teachers will not be required to teach the former, to any great extent, in the Public schools, while it is absolutely necessary that they should be able to teach well the latter three.

If the latter subjects are not to be examined upon, they will in many schools, to a greater or lesser extent be neglected, as teachers are like other people, both good and bad, intensely human, and will pay more attention to the examination subjects and thereby give greater satisfaction to exacting school boards, to fond parents, and to students of tender years who are not striving after truth for truth's sake alone.

The Board of Examiners for the Normal School Entrance Examination will, in the future, be chosen from the staffs of the Normal Schools.

This is a very desirable change. College professors who, as a class, have no knowledge of secondary schools and their programme of studies, will no longer be permitted to act as examiners.

I desire to emphasize the fact that no change has been made by the University authorities as regards the Junior Matriculation Examination, and that Arithmetic and English Grammar will, as in the past, be subjects of examination for 1908.

In a subsequent article, with your permission, I will deal with the reorganized scheme of professional training.

Yours truly,
H. R. H. KENNER

ACCIDENT TO A TORONTO BUILDER

John Felstead, a builder, of 312 Wilton Avenue, Toronto, was working on a temporary scaffold, one plank broke and he fell through. He received several severe cuts on the leg, a bruised knee and a thorough shaking. Zam-Buk, the herbal balm, was applied to the cuts and gave him great relief. He says:

"Zam-Buk was so effective that although my leg was badly cut, I was able to go on without a day's break from work. Zam-Buk takes the soreness out of a wound at once and then it commences to heal. It is without doubt a wonderful balm for skin injuries, and I am glad to make this virtue known."

WEDDING BELLS

WHITE—McCABE

At St. Peter's Cathedral at eight o'clock this morning, the wedding of Mr. Augustus White, proprietor of the White House, and Miss Nellie McCabe, daughter of Mr. Jas. McCabe, East City, was quietly solemnized. Rev. Father McColl officiating. Miss Maude Cahill was bridesmaid, and Mr. Joseph Lawrence, Toronto, acted as groomsman. The cathedral choir was in attendance for the ceremony and Mr. and Mrs. Ball sang, in good voice a duett, in keeping with the spirit of the occasion. The wedding march was played in fine tone and delicate sympathy, by the bride's sister, Miss Maggie McCabe.

The bride was handsomely attired in a travelling suit of brown cloth, with brown picture hat to match, trimmed with velvet and champagne plumes. The bridesmaid was prettily gowned in a dress of mauve and black silk, and wore a black velvet hat.

After the ceremony a delightful wedding breakfast was partaken of at the residence of the bride's father, East City.

The wedding presents were numerous and in good taste and bespoke the popularity of the bride, as well as testified to the high regard cherished toward her by her many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. White left on the 11.45 G.T.R. this morning for a honeymoon trip to New York, Buffalo and other points. Upon their return they will reside at the White House.

FAWCETT—HILTON

The following from a journal published in Ladner, B. C., will be read with interest, the bride being Miss Marjorie Hilton, neice of Miss M. Hilton of this city, and granddaughter of the late Rev. John Hilton, at one time resident of Peterborough. Her father, Rev. Canon Hilton, has frequently visited Peterborough. The report of the interesting event, is as follows,—

A particularly pretty wedding was solemnized in All Saint's church, Ladner, B. C., on Wednesday morning last, Sept. 11th, when Mr. Arthur Thompson Fawcett and Miss Marjorie Hilton, daughter, of the Rev. Canon Hilton, were united in holy matrimony, the bride's father tying the nuptial knot. The church was very tastefully decorated for the occasion. Punctually at the time, appointed, the vested choir proceeded to the chancel singing Saint Alphege's wedding hymn.

The bride, who looked charming in a dress of white Lousine silk and lace, with veil and orange blossoms, and carrying a bouquet of white roses, entered the church, leaning on the arm of Mr. H. Holdsworth, Nash, of Vancouver.

The bridesmaids, Miss Chrissie Smith, and Miss Alice Ladner, were white mulle and lace dresses with picture hats of white felt, and carried flower bouquets of pink carnations, while preceding the bridal procession was the most bewitching little flower girl, Kathleen McBride.

Mr. Fred Butler of the Royal Bank of Canada, staff, supported the groom Mr. L. J. Thomas, acting as usher.

The church was crowded to the doors by friends and well wishers of the happy couple.

After the ceremony, the bridal party and guests were driven to the home of Canon and Mrs. Hilton, where the wedding breakfast was partaken of, and the customary toasts and responses made.

The numerous presents received bore testimony to the popularity of the newly married couple.

The groom's present to the bride was a costly pearl necklace and pendant, and to the bridesmaids, pearl brooches, the pretty little flower girl being the recipient of a gold bracelet.

Mr. and Mrs. Fawcett left by the afternoon boat, via Vancouver, and Victoria for Portland and other points. They will be absent about two weeks, and on their return will reside in Ladner.

LETTER FROM CAPT. BERNIER

Rev. Dr. Marsh Hears From the Famous Explorer

Rev. Dr. Marsh, Springville, has received a letter from Captain Bernier the intrepid Arctic explorer, who has just returned from a long stay in the polar regions. Dr. Marsh sent the captain a telegram at Quebec, congratulating him on his safe return from the north. Captain Bernier's letter to Dr. Marsh, was written from the steamship "Arctic" and was dated Quebec, October 24th. The captain thanks Dr. Marsh for his telegram of congratulation and states that it is impossible for him to write much, as his time is not yet his own. At the time of writing he expected to dock his ship, the Arctic, on Tuesday, today.

MR. GRAHAM'S ATTITUDE

Toronto News (Ind.), comes out as follows:—Mr. Graham has been speaking for the party candidate in East Northumberland. It is understood that the Minister of Railways will be the party organizer within the Cabinet and will direct the general organization of the constituencies of Ontario. He has great natural fitness for the work, for he is an excellent campaign speaker, while he can get close to the workers, and command as well the confidence of the platform fillers who supply the funds and represent the weight and intellect of the party on great occasions. Mr. Graham is thoroughly schooled in the history of Liberalism, and has been a noteworthy figure in many a fiard contest. He will recall the anger and despair of Liberals over the commercial campaigns of the Tuppers in Nova Scotia in the old days of Conservative ascendency. He will remember Mr. Blake's "God help poor Canada." He has not forgotten the rage of the Liberal press and the Liberal leaders over the appeal to "Vote for Guillet and the Railway" in West Northumberland. He can recollect at least some of the various works and subsidies provided as Conservative campaign material in North Victoria. He can remember Sir Charles Tupper's famous speech in Winnipeg at the opening of the campaign of 1896, in which he covered the whole West with political railways and other Federal improvements, and the subsequent telegram from Port Arthur promising the one additional subsidy which someone had demanded, and which in the vast accumulation of material he had overlooked. Mr. Graham remembers all this, and no doubt denounced all this however, he is supporting a Liberal candidate, or at least a supporter of the Government of which Mr. Graham is a member, whose whole platform rests on bribery and whose whole contest has been an appeal to mercenary considerations. Even Mr. Graham himself exploited the Trent Valley Canal for the purpose of recommending Mr. Mulholland the Government to the electors. About the whole precious parcel of promises Mr. Mulholland wraps the old flag and Imperial ardor oozes from every pore of his body. With the old flag, the tariff, the Senate, the system of buying constituencies with public works and public money, all seized by the Liberal politicians, the Conservative workers of the eighties and early nineties must indeed feel that they are left desolate. But surely there are many young Canadians in East Northumberland whose politics cannot be commercialized, and many an old Liberal who has not bowed the knee to Baal who will cast their votes against Mr. Mulholland and his discreditable campaign, and strike a blow for fair discussion and decent politics.

Will Form the Bank of Canada

A New Monetary Institution for the West

Winnipeg, Oct. 27.—After an animated meeting, which lasted from 3 p.m., until nearly midnight on Saturday, the shareholders of the new Canadian bank, which is designed to bring old country capital for the development of the west, named their proposed institution, the Bank of Canada, with head office in Winnipeg, and also elected provisional directors. Following are the ten directors, the first seven being of Manitoba, and the last three of the western provinces,—ifugh John Macdonald, Senator Kirchhoffer, Edward Brown, Senator Watson, T. W. Taylor, M. P. P., H F Forest, Alex. McMicken; G. T. Marsh, Regina, W. G. Rudd, Calgary, and J. J. Sadler, Gainsborough. As the banking act allows but ten provisional directors, there were twenty additional shareholders elected as committeemen to act with the directors, and with power to add to their numbers. The meeting was characterized by bitter passages between the hostile camps into which it was divided, and a general tone of distrust seemed to pervade it. Some plainly stated their doubts as to the proposition being a bona fide business one. However, Mr. Malcolm, the promoter, succeeded in giving acceptable explanations to all questions of investigation and the organization was eventually effected.

Shareholders of Ontario Bank

Will Hold an Important Meeting on December 12th

Toronto, Oct. 29.—A meeting of the shareholders of the Ontario Bank will be held on Dec. 12. "to receive a statement of the position of the affairs of the bank, and the report of the directors thereon; to elect directors; to change, if deemed advisable, the date of the annual meeting; to take such action with reference to the affairs of the bank, as far as in the power of the shareholders, as they may consider advisable, and for such other business arising out of the foregoing as may properly be brought before the meeting."

The statement from Curator Starr will not be a final one, but more in the way of an interim statement as to the progress made in the liquidation, of the bank, and a general report of the business of the year, which has been considerable. The curator will be kept busy for a couple of years yet.

New Method of Teaching the Deaf

Dr. Coughlin Looking into the Vocal System of Articulation

Dr. Coughlin, principal of the Provincial Institute for the Deaf and Dumb at Belleville, and Mr. Colquhoun, deputy Minister of Education, have, says the Toronto World, gone to Detroit to inspect the school for the deaf, and particularly in regard to training in the vocal system of articulation, which is used with a very great degree of success in that institution, as the Minister of Education is contemplating the introduction of this system into the Belleville Institute.

Mr. Mathison, the late principal, in his report to the department, strongly favored its adoption, and Dr. Coughlin, who while in Peterborough, gave especial attention in his medical practice, to the treatment of children with defective faculties, is very favorably impressed with its advantages. They will probably return tomorrow.

This method of teaching the deaf to articulate, has, however, not met with the same success in England that is reported to have been obtained in the United States.

No Cannibalism Away up North

Mr. Osborne Repudiates Interview Regarding Keewatin Indians

Ottawa, Oct. 27.—Col. Fred White, Comptroller of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, is in receipt of a communication from Mr Osborne, editor of the Fort Frances Times, denying the report credited to him in New York papers to the effect that cannibalism and other atrocities were prevalent among the Indians of the Keewatin district. Colonel White wrote to Mr. Osborne a few days ago, asking for an explanation of the published interview with him. In his reply Mr. Osborne states that he never gave any such interview, and that the detailed stories as to cannibalism, etc., are merely a repetition of several incidents which occurred some years ago. In one case, some six years ago, during a hard winter, there were cases in which Indians in the far north, crazed by hunger, killed and ate eight other Indians, and whole families starved to death. But of recent years there are no authentic reports of any such atrocities, although it is known that some tribal customs, such as killing the aged or infirm members of a family, are still kept up in the parts of Keewatin and Ungava where there is no Mounted Police patrol. Next year it is expected that the Mounted Police will extend their patrol up along the hitherto untouched east and west coasts of Hudson's Bay.

"Go West Old Man;" Gusty Will Depart

Harry Doyle and Robert Cameron are Given Short Notice to Leave City

Augustas Dundas, whose first name is more generally expressed by the somewhat terse and less elaborate "Gusty" was in the prisoner's box at the police station this morning, to the charge of vagrancy.

Chief Roszel explained to His Worship Magistrate Dumble, that arrangements were being made for the transportation of Gusty to the broad and smiling prairies of Western Canada, the latter having decided to take Horace Greeley's advice at the wrong end of his career. His wife and son are out there, and he has finally decided to join them, after, it appears, considerable persuasion on their part.

"The whiskey is frozen out there," remarked His Worship amid the laughter of the spectators.

The prisoner was remanded until tomorrow, and in the meantime a travelling slip will probably be handed Gusty by the County Council. He has been a resident in these parts for a long time, and has been a conspicuous figure with his old black steed, his one arm, and his ever present jag.

TOLD TO DEPART.

When Harry Doyle stood up to answer to a similar charge to the one preferred against Gusty, his face seemed to bear out the truth of his statement that he had a disease that was eating away his face and affecting the roof of his mouth. His nasal base seemed to have been completely destroyed, and his nose, except the fleshy part was practically all gone. Doyle said he lived near St. John, N. B., and had been out west. He got as far as North Bay, en route for his maritime home, made some money there and then came to Peterborough.

"How much have you now?" asked the court.

"About a dollar," was his reply.

"Well that's enough to get you outside the city limits," said His Worship.

Robert Cameron was in the same boat as Doyle, both being arrested yesterday. P. C. Adams was instructed to see that he and Doyle both left the town on the next train.

MEETINGS OF COMMITTEES

The Finance Committee of the City Council meets tonight at eight o'clock. The Board of Works will meet tomorrow evening at 9.30 o'clock, and the Fire, Water and Light Committee at eight. A meeting of the Council will be held next Monday night.

Rev. Robert Pogue Will be New Pastor of St. Paul's

Was Given Unanimous Call at Congregational Meeting Last Night—Rev. Dr. Marsh, Moderator, Presided—Mr. Pogue Expected to Commence Duties Early in December.

Rev. Robert Pogue, associate pastor of Bethany Tabernacle, Philadelphia, Pa., was given a unanimous call to the pastorate of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, at the congregational meeting held at the church last night. The salary he is to receive is $2,500 a year. He received 155 votes out of 163 cast.

There was a largely attended meeting of the congregation of St. Paul's Presbyterian church last night when one of the most important questions that ever confronts a congregation, was dealt with—that of selecting a pastor.

Rev. Dr. Marsh, moderator, presided, and Mr. R. E. Wood was chosen as secretary of the meeting.

Dr. Marsh, in making the introductory remarks, told of his appointment to the position of moderator in March, when the resignation of Rev. Dr. Torrance was received, and he was asked by the Presbytery to declare the pastorate vacant. A committee was appointed by the managers and the session to select a committee for the purpose of deciding upon suitable ministers to preach for a call and finding out all the information possible concerning their careers. Dr. Marsh said the committee chosen was the most diligent one with which he had ever been associated during his long career in the service of the church and spoke of their tact, industry and wide knowledge of affairs. The one great problem the committee had to deal with, was to secure a man suitable to meet the requirements of pastor of St. Paul's. Dr. Talling had been invited to preach while the pulpit was unoccupied and the speaker was sure he had done his work well. There were a great many applicants who desired to preach for a call, but many did not have the necessary qualifications, in the opinion of the committee, to make it advisable to acquiesce with their requests. The report of the committee had been adopted by the Board of Management and Dr. Marsh asked those present to vote as to whether it should be presented at the meeting of the congregation called then. The members in attendance voted in favor of its being read, and Sheriff Hall, complying with the pleasure of the meeting, read the report. He also stated that thirty different ministers had been considered by the committee as to their acceptability, from a standpoint of personal, clerical and literary qualifications.

It was moved by Mr. J. C. Shook and seconded by Sheriff Hall, that the congregation vote on the matter of the call of the pastor, and by the vote of the gathering, it was decided that the minority should go with the majority in making the call a unanimous one.

It was moved by Mr. J. H. Connal and seconded by Sheriff Hall, that the salary of the pastor be $2,500 per annum, with a vacation of one month. —Carried.

Dr. Malcolm McCulloch and Messrs. Crane, Connal and McLean were appointed scrutineers, and distributed and collected the ballots.

The result of the voting was that 155 ballots were cast for Rev. Mr. Pogue and 8 against.

Sheriff Hall told of Mr. Pogue's history from his College days until the present time, and referred to his faithful and efficient services to the church.

The call to Rev. Mr. Pogue was read over by Rev. Dr. Marsh and signed by the elders, the managers, and members of the congregation in attendance. It will also be signed by the other members and supporting members of the church, before it is forwarded to Mr. Pogue.

Those who have had the pleasure of hearing the new pastor of St. Paul's preach, were much impressed by his scholarly attainments and grace of diction, and he has also impressed his listeners as being an eloquent and convincing speaker.

Although it has not been definitely decided upon, it is expected that Rev. Mr. Pogue will assume his duties in connection with the pastorate, about the beginning of December.

Copper Spear Head Ploughed Up by Farmer at Indian River

Mr. Chas. McClelland, the Water street jeweller, is the possessor of an unique specimen of the art of bygone ages. It is a perfect, hardened copper spear head, of apparently great antiquity. It was ploughed up by a farmer near Indian River, and brought to Mr. McClelland by a lady friend of the discoverer. The blade proper of the spear head is 7 1-4 inches, from beginning of the shaft receptacle to the point of the weapon. The blade tapers gradually from the shaft to the point its widest width being about one inch broad. The blade is convex on one side and flat on the other. The convex side shows plainly the bottom resistance of the mould, while the flat is easily explained as shown when the top of the molten metal settled. The extreme width from flat to extreme convexity is about 1-2 inch. The receptacle for the shaft, probably made of wood that saw a half century, or possibly a century of years in growth, is partly the work of an old time moulder and partly that of an artisan of the same period. The shaft receptacle is about 2 1-2 inches in length, and has evidently the in-turned sides hammered or pressed into shape. At the extreme end of the shaft is a hole bored through, evidently intended for passing a thong or rivet through the wooden shaft to secure it to the wood.

Havelock Citizens Believe In Future of Their Town

Peterborough's Eastern Neighbor is Rapidly Progressing—Not a Vacant House in the Town and New Buildings Are Being Rushed to Completion.

Special to the Review.

Havelock, Oct. 28.—There are great things in store for this growing and prosperous town of Havelock, in the near future. A few more years will show a large increase in population in Havelock, accompanied by an extension of the village limits. In the past few years great improvements have been made, and it is very likely that this go-ahead feeling of the citizens will continue ever increasing. There are many other things that point to advancement in town, and it is the duty of every citizen of the town to put their shoulder to the wheel and do everything that is in their power to improve the village. Do not stop at the thought of a few cents or even dollars raise in your taxes for every improvement and advancement in the town will make your property worth more, and in the end you are the gainer, through your generosity in paying more taxes.

The wonderful building expansion in town, which has been very great in the past, still continues. Houses are continually being built, but still there is a demand for them. The scarcity of houses makes it necessary, in some instances, for two families to live in one house, and every building which we will call, through courtesy, a house, is pressed into service, and filled to its limit. Rent is very high and there is every indication that it will go still higher this winter. Those who have money to invest will find it most profitable to invest it in property in Havelock, if they want to make good out of it.

Havelock does not limit its advancement to houses but to streets. In the spring of 1906, King street north of Mathison street, was surveyed and opened up and when the lots were placed on the market, there was a rush to purchase them, and houses have sprung up on either side, as if by magic, so that now every lot has been built upon, with the exception of four, and three of those not built upon, have been reserved as a playground for the Public school.

In September of this year, another street was surveyed and opened up north of George street, and east of the Havelock park. This street is a continuation of Mathison street, only they are separated by the Havelock Park. The street, which continues to the east end of the town, will be known as Park street, on Mathison street east. There has been a rush to purchase lots on this street and although they have been offered for sale only a month, over a dozen lots have been sold, and several dwellings are in course of erection.

But building expansion has not been restricted to this part of the town, for in the west end, a large number of houses have been built. On Alexander street, several houses of white brick and of the latest fashionable design have been erected, and a large number of lots on both sides of Donald street, which is one street north of Alexander, have been sold, and dwellings will be erected on them next spring.

Next spring a large brick block will be built on the south side of Ontario street, opposite the ice house by Mr. Thos. Curtis. Mr Wm. Connell has erected a large planing factory of cement this fall, where all kinds of work in planing will be done, and where several men will be employed. Since the spring of 1906, sixty-five houses have been erected in Havelock, and still the demand for dwellings continues, and it is likely that in the coming year, as many more will be built.

When towns reach a certain population and size, they generally stop operations and things become dead. But Havelock, unlike the surrounding towns, is an exception to the rule and continues to grow in population and size, and it is likely that, in the course of a few years, Havelock will become one of the most prosperous, and important towns in Central Ontario.

THE APPEAL WAS HEARD

Conviction in Police Court Against M. Pappas Quashed

The appeal entered by Mr. Pappas George street, against the conviction of Police Magistrate Dumble, whereby Mr. Pappas was fined $25 on the charge of selling tobacco to a minor, was heard yesterday before His Honor Judge Walter. The appeal was allowed, the conviction being quashed.

At the hearing yesterday, Mr. D. O'Connell appeared for Mr. Pappas. Many witnesses were called, both for prosecution and for the defence. Among other witnesses for the prosecution was Chief Roszel and others, whilst for the defence, M. Pappas, Mr. James Dolan, and some eight or ten of Mr. Pappas' employes. The whole concensus of evidence clearly showed that no proof existed that Mr. Pappas sold the tobacco.

However, after all the evidence was taken, the judge allowed the appeal. About the whole tangible evidence for the prosecution, was that of a boy under arrest and afterwards sent to jail for two months.

Generous Gift of Grafton Co.

Present City of Hamilton With a Sanitarium

Messrs. J. B. Grafton & Co., the widely known clothing manufacturers of Dundas, who have large branch establishments in seven leading cities, including Peterborough, have presented to the city of Hamilton, the Grafton Infirmary, the formal opening of which took place on Saturday afternoon.

A despatch from the Ambitious City says:

"The official opening of the Grafton Infirmary was held Saturday afternoon at the grounds of the Mountain Sanitarium. Some months ago, J B. Grafton and Col. Grafton, of Dundas, announced their desire to do something to help the Hamilton Health Association in its efforts to stamp out the white plague in the county of Wentworth and the city of Hamilton, and, after conferring they agreed to erect an infirmary on the sanitarium grounds and hand it over to the trustees. On behalf of the board, J. J. Evel accepted the gift and thanked the Messrs. Grafton for their liberality. The building is built on the latest plans for such institutions, and will be a great blessing to those who are being treated for tuberculosis. The Daughters of the Empire, and the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Health Association furnished the infirmary. Speeches were made by Mayor Stewart, Rev. T. J. Mansell, S. F. Lanier and Mrs. P. D. Crerar. After an inspection of the premises, the ladies' served tea to their guests.

Anniversary At Centreville

Fowl Supper and Entertainment Was One of the Features

The second anniversary of the induction of Rev. D. A. McKenzie, as pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Centreville, took place on Sunday, and Monday, Oct. 20 and 21.

The Rev. T. C. Brown, M.A., of New. St. Andrew's Church, Toronto, preached on Sunday to large congregations. His inspiring and helpful sermons were an eloquent appeal to live the highest and best life.

On Monday evening, there was a fowl supper and entertainment. Fully six hundred people partook of a sumptuous repast.

An excellent programme was given in the church, which was crowded to its utmost capacity.

Mrs. F. Waterman of Bailieboro, and Mrs. Miller of Peterborough, rendered several solos in fine style. They were well received.

Members of the choir contributed choice selections.

The recitations given by Miss Maggie Berry, were much appreciated, and elicited hearty applause.

Addresses were given by Rev. W. J. Wetherell of Fraserville, and Rev. Dr. Marsh of Springville.

It was the most successful anniversary ever held at Centreville.

SPORTING NEWS

"Big Four" Given Cold Shoulder

Winners of Interprovincial Will Not Meet Collegians

All four senior Inter-Provincial Rugby Union teams having been suspended from the amateur ranks, the champions of the new league will not be given an opportunity to play off for Dominion honors, and the game will be played off between the O.R.F.U. and the intercollegiate champions, on the grounds of the intercollegiate winners, as called for by O. R. F. U. rules

Dr. Macdonald, of Varsity, the representative of the Canadian Intercollegiate Football Union, stated that there was no possibility of Varsity playing against the Argonauts for the city championship or for anything else, and the same position would be taken by all the collegiate clubs.

Ottawa College has already publicly taken this position, and will not play the winners of the Inter-Provincial, and it is certain that the O. R. U. winners will have nothing to do with the disqualified teams.

It so happens, however, that the Canadian Union this year is controlled by Inter-Provincial Interests, and it is almost an assured fact, that President Shillington, and Secretary McKeand, an old Tiger player, will award the championship to the Inter-Provincial winners by default, in the event of a refusal of the other leagues to play.

RUGBY

THE AASSAULT ON CROWLEY.

The following letter appears in last night's Toronto News,—

Sporting Editor of The News:

Sir,—Knowing your evident desire to be fair-minded, and a friend of clean, manly sport, I take the liberty of drawing your attention to the ungentlemanly conduct of a Victoria player in Saturday's game between the Victorias and Peterborough at Jesse Ketchum park. The game, as in most rugby contests, was rough at times, and the players responsible were penalized, and I noticed that the player in question was one of those most frequently sent to the fence. Whether he deserved all he got, I, as a spectator, did and could not exactly see, but it matters little. Crowley, on whom the assault was committed, is at times a rough player, but as long as I have known him (about twelve years) I have never known him to commit an unprovoked assault on anyone, let alone walk up behind a man, and hit a blow from behind. This was what happened to him, and all who saw it were of the opinion that it was uncalled for and most cowardly.

We often read of this kind of assault being sifted by the right authorities, the police, at Ottawa and Montreal; and one time in Toronto; but when there are police officials on the ground, to protect one and all, and they stand aside and look on, and allow things of this kind to go on, it makes one's nerves shake, and causes one to wonder what kind of men they have on the force. When asked if that was the kind of thing allowable, the policeman referred to answered, "They're having it their own way." I trust you will find space in your valuable paper for this, and thanking you for same in advance, I am

"A LOVER OF MANLY SPORT."

A GREAT GAME

The Toronto World says;

The Vics will meet Peterborough at Lindsay on Thanksgiving Day to determine the championship of the western senior district of the O.R.F.U. The Vics will go up in a special car, accompanied by a corps of rooters, and a special train will be run from Peterborough. Hays and Robbins of Hamilton, will probably have charge of the game.

The winners of the game at Lindsay will play off for the championship of the O.R.F.U. with the winners of the Kingston Limestone-Westmount game scheduled for Saturday.

MEETING TONIGHT.

There will be a meeting of the committee of the rugby club at Mac's Cigar Store at eight o'clock tonight

Secretary McDonough was in Lindsay yesterday afternoon, as representative of the O.R.F.U. and made arrangements for the Agricultural Grounds in that place for the game on Thanksgiving Day with the Vics.

The team practices tonight at 7.30 at Riverside Park. A full turnout is requested.

Victoria health officers are busy devising ways and means of preventing the bubonic plague, now in Seattle, from spreading over the Canadian border.

Ray Best for Montreal; Simpson for Hamilton

The Peterborough Y.M.C.A. will have representatives in the two big road races on Thanksgiving Day. Ray P. Best will run in the Montreal Herald race around the mountain and Fred Simpson, the Indian from Hiawatha is entered in the Hamilton Herald race.

Ray P. Best leaves tonight for Montreal, where he will run in the Herald race, Thanksgiving morning. Although the event is not being held under C. A. A. U. sanction, Mr. Best obtained permission last night from the officials of the C. A. A. U., at Toronto, to be a competitor, without jeopardizing his amateur standing. There are over 150 entries for the race. Best is in good shape, having trained hard for the past month, and is running fast and strong.

Fred Simpson, accompanied by his trainer, "Dick" Baker, and by Mr. W. B. Wasson, left on the 4.48 C.P.R. this afternoon for Hamilton. The Indian is in great shape and his trainer expects to see him finish near the front. He has all kinds of endurance, and should find twenty miles, a comparatively easy distance.

Peterborough's two representatives will have the best wishes of everybody in the city in their races on the holiday and the results of the two events will be awaited with great interest.

HOCKEY

There is no truth in the rumor that Bill Crowley will play with Whitecroft's Edmonton seven next winter. "Some day when dreams come true," the premature sporting reporters will obtain the recognition they deserve.

"GUSTY" DUNDAS HAS LEFT CITY

Took the Train This Morning for the Northwest

"Gusty" Dundas, so well known in this city and so frequently seen on these streets, will not be seen again. This morning he left on the eight o'clock C.P.R. train for the Northwest where he will join his wife and son. At least that is where he left for, but it is doubtful if he ever will reach there. The county council bought him a ticket and he was enabled to leave Peterborough, where he has so long resided.

TRAVEL TALK AT KNOX CHURCH

Interesting Description of Recent Trip Given by Mr. J. W. Bennet

At Knox church last evening, Mr. J. W. Bennet gave a most interesting account of his European trip, illustrating his tour through Italy by a number of excellent slides.

The chair was taken at eight o'clock by Mr. Richard Hall, and during the evening a number of musical selections were rendered. Miss Choate, of the Conservatory, gave her hearers great pleasure in her violin solo, L'Allegro, from Tan Have. Miss Sisson, also of the Conservatory, gave a pleasing piano solo from Rigaudon. Miss Dawson's solo, "The Little Irish Girl," was warmly received, as was also her encore, "The Slumber Boat." Mr. D. Campbell sang, very effectively, "The Queen of the Earth."

Mr. Bennet commenced his lecture by tracing on an illustrated map, the line of their town through Holland, Switzerland, Italy and France. He pointed out the striking features of the Milan Cathedral, which will hold 40,000 people. On its marble exterior are over 2,000 statues. Passing to Venice, the towers of St. Mark's were shown and attention drawn to its peculiar shape, which is that of a Greek Cross. Its wonderful Mosaics were pointed out. The Ducal palace was also illustrated. At Genoa is the famous Campo Santo, or cemetery, surrounded with a marble arcade, containing the tombs of well to do people. The Arcade is profusely decorated with statuary, each piece costing many thousands of dollars. In the open space are the graves of the poorer people.

Passing through Pisa to Rome, Mr Bennet gave an interesting description of many of its famous buildings, among them being St. Peter's, the Pantheon, the Coliseum, and also the Catacombs. Very fine pictures of the Pantheon, St. Paul's, St. Peter's and the tomb of St. Peter, were thrown on the screen.

Mr. Richard Hall expressed the appreciation by the audience of Mr. Bennet's lecture, and expressed the wish that he might give another section of his tour in the near future.

Special to Have Only 4 Coaches

Tickets are Now on Sale at G.T.R. Uptown Ticket Office

A special is being run by the G.T.R. to Lindsay tomorrow afternoon on account of the fact that it will be impossible to accommodate, on the regular morning train, all those who will attend the game between the Vics and Peterborough. Owing to the exceedingly heavy holiday traffic, the G.T.R. could only spare four coaches for the special, and these will provide accommodation for 200 people. Those desirous of taking in the trip would be well advised in purchasing their tickets at the up-town G.T.R. ticket office as soon as possible, as it is quite likely that there are many more who wish to go to Lindsay, than can be accommodated by the railway company. Tickets are on sale this afternoon and tonight. Lindsay may also be reached by the 11.45 a.m. G.T.R. train, which goes by way of Millbrook and reaches Lindsay at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Hallowe'en Party Held at Y.W.C.A.

Quaint Costumes and Innocent Pranks Characterized the Proceedings

An enjoyable Hallowe'en party was held in the Y.W.C.A. gymnasium last night under the direction of the gymnasium classes.

There was a large attendance and everything passed off most pleasantly.

Nearly all those present were attired in quaint costumes. Among the characters represented were Red Riding Hood, Spanish Girl, Gypsy, Princess, Indians, Chinese lady and many others, as the auction bills say, "too numerous to mention." First there was a promenade, followed by a grand march; then came a peanut race, diving for apples, and other Hallowe'en pastimes, after which refreshments were served. Next there was a flashlight view of the motley assembly taken by Mr. R. M. Roy followed by a basketball match and other amusements. The Girls' Auxiliary had a splendid time. Miss Coventry, the physical directress, made the evening a decidedly lively and jolly one for all concerned, and the occasion will long be remembered. Miss Mayneord, the general secretary, materially assisted in the success of the gathering.

The Bye-Election Results; Conservative Gain of One

London and East Northumberland Return Conservatives.

Labor Polled Big Vote In Forest City But Majoe Beattie Won — North Wellington Elected Martin, (Lib.)—Contests Quiet and Not Much Interest Shown — How Votes Were Polled.

London, Oct. 30.—Major Thomas Beattie was elected yesterday over J. D. Jacobs, trade unionist, by a majority of 1,036, securing a majority in every ward.

The figures were: Beattie, 3,209; Jacobs, 2,173.

The result was a surprise to all but those on the inside of the major's campaign, and, in consequence, the result to the crowd in front of the newspaper offices was a complete surprise. Victory was expected by Mr. Jacobs' friends, but to citizens in general the major's election was expected, but not with such a great majority.

The total vote shows the little interest taken in the contest.

Campbellford, Oct. 30.—The election in East Northumberland, to fill the seat left vacant by the death of the late Conservative member, Mr. Edward Cochrane, was held yesterday, and resulted in the election by the majority of 256 of the Conservative candidate, Mr. C. L. Owens.

The Liberal candidate was Major Mulholland. Both candidates are residents of Campbellford. The Town of Campbellford and the adjoining Township of Seymour furnished the bulk of Mr. Owens' majority, Campbellford giving a majority of 84 and Seymour a majority of 93 for the Conservative candidate.

At Campbellford, when the result became known, a large procession was formed, and, headed by the band, marched through the principal streets. On the corner of Front and Bridge streets the member-elect addressed the large crowd for a few minutes, when he thanked the citizens of Campbellford for their generous support, also his friends throughout the constituency for their noble support. He would represent them to the best of his ability, and would stand only for an honest Government, and would support any good measure that he considered to be for the benefit of the people. After the address the procession returned to his home, where he was carried by his many warm friends and supporters to his house.

Colborne Village gave the Liberal candidate a majority of 23. This village has always gone Conservative heretofore, but, owing to the fact that the Government is building a new dock, the people here took this way of showing their appreciation of the same.

Some of the figures from East Northumberland follow: Brighton Town gave Owens majority of 40; Brighton Township, Owens, 19; Campbellford, Owens, 85; Hastings, Mulholland, 40; Cranake, Mulholland, 7; Seymour, Owens, 81.

Arthur, Oct. 30.—The bye-election in North Wellington to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late member, Thomas Martin, was contested by A. M. Martin, a brother of the deceased member, for the Liberal party, and by Alex. Hamilton for the Conservative party, and resulted in the election of A. M. Martin by a majority of 387. The vote by divisions was as follows:

	Martin. (Lib.) Maj.	Hamilton (Cons.) Maj.
Arthur Township	93	..
West Arthur Township ..	..	2
West Carafraxan	..	52
Minto	180	..
Peel	100	..

Is Not Guilty of Libel; Charges Were Justified

Sensational Case Against Editor Harden Ends in Acquittal.

Court Finds Attacks on Gen. Von Moltke Were Justified — Plaintiff Condemned to Costs—Decision Received With Applause — Socialist Press Lashing Exotic Conditions In German Court.

Berlin, Oct. 30.—Maximilien Harden, editor of Die Zukunft, was acquitted yesterday in the suit brought against him for defamation of character by Gen. Count Kuno von Moltke, formerly military governor of Berlin. In addition, Gen. von Moltke was condemned to bear the costs of the trial, which began Oct. 23, and attracted the greatest interest throughout Germany. Counsel for Herr Harden charged that the court clique, of which Von Moltke was a member, was guilty of infamous practices, and also had sought to exercise undue influence over Emperor William. The name of Prince Philip zu Eulenburg, ex-German ambassador to Vienna, and Lieut.-Gen. William von Hohena, one of the Emperor's adjutants, were mentioned by Herr Harden as being members of the clique, referred to as to the "Round Table," and an army officer who had served in the guard corps at Potsdam testified to having taken part in orgies at the house of Major Count Lynar, which had resulted in the dismissal from the service in disgrace of the count and Lieut.-Gen. von Hohena. Von Moltke denied that such a clique as the "Round Table" could exist, and also denied the other charges brought against him. Herr Harden declined to withdraw anything he had written on the subject, but said he did not accuse Von Moltke of crime.

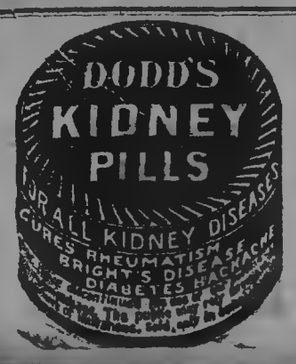
Justice Kern, the presiding judge, made the verdict as easy for Von Moltke as was consistent with the conclusions arrived at. He said Herr Harden was justified in what he had written, but that there was no evidence that Von Moltke had at any time acted upon abnormal inclinations, or that he knew what took place at Major Count Lynar's villa, or of Lieut.-Gen. Hohena's behavior.

Herr Harden, when the verdict was announced, was cheered by the spectators present in court, and by the large crowd of people waiting in the rain outside. Von Moltke heard the verdict with impassiveness.

The trial is already having considerable political influence.

One hundred and forty Socialist daily newspapers are attacking the monarchy with studied fury, mocking, sneering savagely and assailing the exotic conditions which have been declared as "flourishing in the hot-house atmosphere of the court," where the sovereign is surrounded, the Socialists claim, with companions and councillors, the corruption of whose private lives taints their judgment.

The newspapers, regardless of party affiliations, printed full accounts of the proceedings, and some of the influential Liberal papers, like The Frankfurter Zeitung, affirm that it is evident that in the Moroccan controversy with France, Germany followed two policies, that of the Foreign Office and that of the sovereign, the latter being attributed to Prince zu Eulenburg's influence, working independently of his majesty's constitutional advisers.



Indian's Tragic Death.

Maple Creek, Sask., Oct. 30.—An Indian named Sugar, charged with the murder of another Indian, called Shortlegs, has been committed for trial at the next sitting of the Supreme Court at Maple Creek.

The circumstances were: On Sept. 26 there were races in Maple Creek and a lot of Indians and half-breeds were in attendance. The day wound up with a dance in the Indian encampment, in which considerable whiskey was drunk.

The deceased Indian was educated at the Qu'Appelle Industrial School and aspired to being a leader among his people, which was resented by some of them.

During a fight in the camp Shortlegs was struck by someone and his skull fractured, as the result of which he died some days later.

ENGINE DRIVER KILLED

Accident to Passenger Train Near Newbury.

Fireman Severely Injured—None of Passengers Hurt—Railway Commissioners Were on Board In Private Car—Locomotive Blown Completely From Tracks—Putting Water in Dry Boiler the Cause.

London, Oct. 30.—By the explosion of Grand Trunk engine 446, near Newbury, last night, Engineer R. Rutherford and Fireman J. Robertson were instantly killed.

This was an accommodation train, bound from Chatham to London (No. 26).

Of the 13 passengers, several are believed to have sustained serious injuries.

The Railway Commission's special car was attached to the train, but none of the commissioners were injured. A special train with six physicians was sent out from London.

The train was running at a fair speed at the time of the explosion. It is believed that the water in the boiler had run low, and that the injection of cold water caused the accident.

The Railway Commissioners arrived at London early this morning, via Glencoe.

Chairman Killam took charge of the work of rescue at the wreck.

TWO KILLED; FOUR CRUSHED.

Building Collapsed at Port Arthur Burying Workmen in Debris.

Port Arthur, Oct. 30.—Two foreigners were killed and four men injured by the collapse of a building owned by Mayor Clavet last evening. The building was being completed by Contractor Hamer. At 5 o'clock a large gang of men had left work, and when the accident took place, half an hour later, only six men were in it. Messrs. Haggit and Helberg, tinsmiths, were engaged in putting on cornices. They saw the roof of the block cave in; then there was a trembling of the structure and they were thrown out for some feet. Fortunately they were hurled far enough to escape being buried by tons of brick and debris that was piled up on the street, and escaped with but slight injury.

At the time of the accident there were working in the building several foreigners, engaged in piling flour. Two men named Waltz and Young were electricians. When the accident occurred, Waltz was on the first floor and Young in the basement. Waltz was knocked down and pinned there by heavy timbers. Young was also knocked down, but before the main structure piled on him he was able to crawl to the boiler, and, by squeezing up close to this, was enabled to escape further injury. The foreigners received such injuries that they died. One of the men in attempting to gain freedom was pinned under the heavy material. Every attempt was made to get him out alive, but the heavy stuff settled about him and he was soon dead. On investigation it was found that there were others under the piles of debris.

VICTIM OF THE BLACK HAND.

Stabbed to Death Because He Failed to Avenge Society.

New York, Oct. 30.—Because he failed to carry out an errand of vengeance, Vito Greinaldi, a member of the Black Hand Society, was stabbed to death by members of his own band early yesterday in Knoll street, Brooklyn. A dynamite bomb was found secreted beneath Greinaldi's coat, which, the police say, would have blown up an entire block had its exploded. A loaded revolver was found in his pocket.

Postmaster Badly Hurt.

Orangeville, Oct. 30.—John Davis, civil engineer and postmaster at Alton, has received terrible and possibly fatal injuries. He was driving from Melville across to Alton in a livery rig driven by Bert McLellan, when the horse became frightened at the headlight of an approaching C. P. R. train for Teeswater. Davis jumped, but fell, his feet not clearing the track. The left leg was cut off below the knee, and the sole of the right foot crushed off. The scene of the accident is known as Kelly's Crossing, and is very dangerous.

Hazers Heavily Fined.

Keown, Ill., Oct. 30.—For hazing Charles Stoner, a student at a Bradford school, five young men of Bradford must pay $14,000, according to a verdict brought in Monday night by a jury. The defendants are William Real, Earl Lappin, Arley Harwood, Earl Howe and Francis Lonig. They are said to have tied Stoner to a tombstone in a cemetery. Stoner was so severely frightened that in his attempts to get free he pulled the tombstone over on himself, breaking a bone in his leg. He was confined in a hospital for several weeks.

Tied Up Steamer Pollux.

St. Catharines, Oct. 30.—Sheriff Dawson, acting on a writ issued by McKay Bros., Hamilton, has tied up the steamer Pollux at Port Dalhousie. The steamer is a Norwegian boat, manned entirely by Norwegians. She came out some time ago and was chartered by the McKays to take a cargo of wheat to Norway. When loading was begun it was discovered that the vessel's hold was covered with coal oil and the officers refused to clean it. The McKays canceled the charter and are suing the owners of the boat for $4,000 damages.

Brakeman Killed.

Whitby, Oct. 30.—At 8.45 yesterday morning W. Lehay, a brakeman on the Midland division of the G. T. R. was instantly killed near the Junction station by being struck by the engine of section two.

The unfortunate man was about 35 years of age, lately out from Ireland, and lived in Lindsay.

CANADIAN WOMEN FIND RELIEF

The Case of Ellen Walby Is One of Thousands of Cures Made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many women realize that it is not the plan of nature that women should suffer so severely?

Thousands of Canadian Women, however, have found relief from all monthly suffering by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it is the most thorough female regulator known to medical science. It cures the condition which causes so much discomfort and robs these periods of their terrors.

Ellen Walby, of Wellington Hotel, Ottawa, Ont. writes:

"Your Vegetable Compound was recommended to me to take for the intense suffering which I endured every month and with which I had been a sufferer for many years getting no relief from the many prescriptions which were prescribed, until, finally becoming discouraged with doctors and their medicines I determined to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am glad that I did, for within a short time I began to mend and in an incredible short time the flow was regular, natural and without pain. This seems too good to be true and I am indeed a grateful and happy woman."

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, bloating, (or flatulence), displacement of organs, inflammation or ulceration, that "bearing-down" feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, nervous prostration or the blues, should take immediate action to ward off serious consequences, and be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for further free advice. She is daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been advising women free of charge. Thousands have been cured by so doing.

SIR FRED WON'T RESIGN.

Minister of Militia Declines to Follow Mr. Emmerson's Precedent.

Ottawa, Oct. 30.—It was stated here last night in usually well informed circles that Sir Wilfrid Laurier has called for the resignation of Sir Frederick Borden, and that the Minister of Militia has refused to resign. By Canadian law, the Premier, of himself, cannot enforce his demand.

This action on the part of the Premier is the outcome of the libel action instituted by Sir Frederick against The Nineteenth Century Magazine of London, which, in an article by Hamilton Fyfe, repeated the story told by The Calgary Eye-Opener, that a Canadian Cabinet Minister had been implicated in an unsavory incident.

No name was mentioned, but Sir Frederick Borden, considering the scandal leveled against himself, is pursuing the magazine. Previous experience shows the Premier's attitude in matters of this kind.

The refusal of Sir Frederick Borden to adopt a similar course to Mr. Emmerson is inexplicable, though it is stated that the Minister of Militia will change his mind within a very short while.

Pope Disciplines Jesuit.

Rome, Oct. 30.—The Vatican organ yesterday announced that Rev. Father Tyrrell, the noted English Jesuit, whose books on religious subjects were condemned by the holy office, and who severely criticized the Pope's encyclical on modernism, has been deprived of the right to administer the sacraments, pending the final action of the Pontiff in the matter.

Another Negro Lynched.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 30.—A despatch from Belin, Miss., says: The body of Charles German, a negro, who, it is charged, criminally assaulted the young daughter of a white farmer, was found hanging to a tree about five miles from here early yesterday, his body riddled with bullets.

Sophs In Trees All Night.

Rolla, Mo., Oct. 30.—As a result of class rivalry 20 sophomores of the State School of Mines were routed out of bed Monday night, and, half clad, were tied to trees on the campus, where they remained until daylight, shivering in the nipping atmosphere. After they had been released by other sophomores the entire sophomore class captured 25 freshmen, bound their arms with ropes and chains and marched them around town, accompanied by the school band.

School Director Young was forced to declare a holiday yesterday, as the class rooms were vacant. The trouble arose over the refusal of the freshmen to obey the order of the sophomores to wear green caps with yellow buttons.

Mutiny at Vladivostock.

Vladivostock, Oct. 30.—A mutiny yesterday among a number of the recently arrived army sappers was quickly suppressed by use of machine guns. A battalion of sappers, armed with rifles, tried to capture one of the barracks here, but two companies of a rifle regiment, which were quartered there, brought machine guns into action and routed the attackers. A dozen of the latter were badly wounded.

Unionists Choose Lawyer.

London, Oct. 30.—(C.A.P.)—A. S. G. Hammersley, lately a lawyer in Vancouver, has been selected by the Unionists as their candidate in South Molten.

The present member for the constituency is George L. Lember, a Liberal, who was unopposed at the last elections.

CHAPTER XV.

RURITANIA is not in England or the quarrel between Duke Michael and myself could not have gone on, with the remarkable incidents which marked it, without more public notice being directed to it. Duels were frequent among all the upper classes, and private quarrels between great men kept the old habit of spreading to their friends and dependents. Nevertheless, after the affray which I have just related such reports began to circulate that I felt it necessary to be on my guard.

The death of the gentlemen involved could not be hidden from their relatives. I issued a stern order declaring that dueling had attained unprecedented license (the chancellor drew up the document for me, and very well he did it), and forbidding it save in the gravest cases. I sent a public and stately apology to Michael, and he returned a deferential and courteous reply to me, for our one point of union was—and it underlay all our differences and induced an unwilling harmony between our actions—that we could neither of us afford to throw our cards on the table. He, as well as I, was a "play actor," and, hating one another, we combined to dupe public opinion. Unfortunately, however, the necessity for concealment involved the necessity of delay. The king might die in his prison or even be spirited off somewhere else. It could not be helped. For a little while I was compelled to observe a truce, and my only consolation was that Flavia most warmly approved of my edict against dueling, and when I expressed delight at having won her favor prayed me, if her favor were any motive to me, to prohibit the practice altogether.

"Wait till we are married," said I, smiling.

Not the least peculiar result of the truce and of the secrecy which dictated it was that the town of Zenda became in the daytime—I would not have trusted far to its protection by night—a sort of neutral zone, where both parties could safely go, and I, riding down one day with Flavia and Sapt, had an encounter with an acquaintance which presented a ludicrous side, but was at the same time embarrassing. As I rode along I met a dignified looking person driving in a two horsed carriage. He stopped his horses, got out and approached me, bowing low. I recognized the head of the Strelsau police.

"Your majesty's ordinance as to dueling is receiving our best attention," he assured me.

If the best attention involved his presence in Zenda, I resolved at once to dispense with it.

"Is that what brings you to Zenda, prefect?" I asked.

"Why, no, sire. I am here because I desired to oblige the British ambassador."

"What's the British ambassador doing dans cette galere?" said I carelessly.

"A young countryman of his, sire—a man of some position—is missing. His friends have not heard from him for two months, and there is reason to believe that he was last seen in Zenda."

Flavia was paying little attention. I dared not look at Sapt.

"What reason?"

"A friend of his in Paris, a certain M. Featherly, has given us information which makes it possible that he came here, and the officials of the railway recollect his name on some luggage."

"What was his name?"

"Rassendyll, sire," he answered, and I saw that the name meant nothing to him. But, glancing at Flavia, he lowered his voice as he went on: "It is thought that he may have followed a lady here. Has your majesty heard of a certain Mme. de Maubant?"

"Why, yes," said I, my eye involuntarily traveling toward the castle. "She arrived in Ruritania about the same time as this Rassendyll."

I caught the prefect's glance. He was regarding me with inquiry writ large on his face.

"Sapt," said I, "I must speak a word to the prefect. Will you ride on a few paces with the princess?" And I added to the prefect, "Come, sir, what do you mean?"

He drew close to me, and I bent in the saddle.

"If he were in love with the lady?" he whispered. "Nothing has been heard of him for two months." And this time it was the eye of the prefect which traveled toward the castle.

"Yes, the lady is there," I said quietly. "But I don't suppose Mr. Rassendyll—is that the name?—is."

"The duke," he whispered, "does not like rivals, sire."

"You're right there," said I, with all sincerity. "But surely you hint at a very grave charge."

He spread his hands out in apology. I whispered in his ear:

"This is a grave matter. Go back to Strelsau"—

"But, sire, if I have a clew here?"

"Go back to Strelsau," I repeated. "Tell the ambassador that you have a clew, but that you must be left alone for a week or two. Meanwhile I'll charge myself with looking into the matter."

"The ambassador is very pressing, sire."

"You must quiet him. Come, sir; you see that if your suspicions are correct it is an affair in which we must move with caution. We can have no scandal. Mind you return tonight."

He promised to obey me, and I rode on to rejoin my companions, a little easier in my mind. Inquiries after me must be stopped at all hazards for a week or two, and this clever official had come surprisingly near the truth. His impression might be useful some day, but if he acted on it now it might mean the worst to the king. Heartily did I curse George Featherly for not holding his tongue.

"Well," asked Flavia, "have you finished your business?"

"Most satisfactorily," said I. "Come, shall we turn round? We are almost trenching on my brother's territory."

We were, in fact, at the extreme end of the town, just where the hill begins to mount toward the castle. We cast our eyes up, admiring the massive beauty of the old walls, and we saw a cortege winding slowly down the hill. On it came.

"Let us go back," said Sapt.

"I should like to stay," said Flavia, and I reined my horse beside hers.

COMEDIAN IN TROUBLE.

Raymond Hitchcock Under Arrest Charged With Serious Offences.

New York, Oct. 30.—Raymond Hitchcock, playing in "A Yankee Tourist" at the Astor Theatre, was on complaint of Agent Vincent Pissara of the Children's Society, charged with causing the ruin of Helen Van Hagen, 15-year-old girl, residing with respectable parents at 200 East 57th street. The arrest was made in the district attorney's office by Agents Moore and Pissara of the Children's Society, who have been engaged for several months past in obtaining evidence against the actor. Hitchcock had been summoned to the district attorney's office by Assistant District Attorney Frank Garvan, and was accompanied by his counsel, Herman Fromme, and "Barney" Connelly, a retired policeman.

Hitchcock was taken to the Tombs Police Court and there arraigned before Magistrate Walsh. In arguing the question of bail, Mr. Garvan told the court that there were several girl complainants against Hitchcock in addition to Helen Van Hagen, and that all of them would be sent before the grand jury to testify. Three of his alleged victims, ranging in age from 12 to 15 years, were in the building at the time in the custody of the Children's Society agents.

Hitchcock, pale and nervous, was given a seat within the railed enclosure of the courtroom after the arraignment until the matter of bail was arranged. Magistrate Walsh fixed bail at $3,000.

ADRIFT IN SMALL LAUNCH.

Students Have Thrilling Experience on Lake Ontario.

Kingston, Oct. 30.—Two men of Syracuse, one named H. E. Foster—the name of the other not known at present—both medical students of Syracuse University, arrived here yesterday afternoon in a gasoline launch in tow of a steam launch from Amherst Island.

The pair had a thrilling experience on Lake Ontario since Saturday afternoon. They then left Cape Vincent in a gasoline launch for Oswego, intending to take the canal to Syracuse. When about twelve miles east of Oswego night set in, and they anchored and prepared to rest for the night. Soon a storm came and the launch began to drift northward. They awoke and found that their engine would not work, and they were thus helpless in the presence of the storm. On they came before the wind, and by morning were out in the lake, drifting and rolling towards the Canadian shore. On Monday afternoon they came near Amherst Island and finally drifted ashore, cold and hungry, having had nothing to eat for 48 hours. They were taken in charge of farmers, fed and given shelter for the night. Yesterday morning a power launch was secured, and by this aid they reached the city.

Asquith's Income Tax Policy Has Proved Profitable.

London, Oct. 30.—In his budget speech of April 18, Mr. Asquith, Chancellor of the Exchequer, announced that in future the Government would require every employer to return a full statement, under the income tax schedule, of the salaries paid to all his employes.

The Chancellor's statement was deemed unimportant at the time and did not attract much attention, but the enforcement of the regulation has, up to the present time, increased the yield of income tax, from sources previously untouched, by approximately $50,000,000 a year.

Directors Exonerated.

Yarmouth, N. S., Oct. 30.—Judge Townsend yesterday filed his decision in the case of the directors of the defunct Bank of Yarmouth, which was tried here last June at the Supreme Court, giving his decision in favor of the directors.

The action was brought by W. E. Stavert as liquidator, and the bankers as joint plaintiffs against the directors as defendants to recover damages for negligence on their part as directors.

The case was looked upon in legal and banking circles as an important one, as it involved the whole question as to the responsibilities and duties of bank directors.

Winnipeg, Oct. 30.—Cecil B. Smith, consulting engineer of the city's municipal power scheme, has recommended in favor of the city's accepting the bulk tender of the Anglo-Canadian Engineering Co. of London, Eng. They have made an offer to accept the city's debentures for payment at 93

Mayor Ashdown wants the whole project postponed until next year on account of financial stringency. This stand has aroused considerable opposition, and may result in a candidate to oppose him. Controller Garson is spoken of as a probable candidate.

Massey-Harris Agent Acquitted.

Cannington, Oct. 30.—Thomas Beatty, the Massey-Harris agent, arrested in Toronto, by the Massey-Harris Co. last week, came up before Justices of the Peace here yesterday on the charge of theft, and he was discharged by the magistrates after a very long hearing. Col. Farewell, crown attorney, prosecuted, and A. J. Reid, barrister, Cannington, defended.

Mistaken For a Deer.

Utica, N. Y., Oct. 30.—John A. Morgan, a member of the firm of Williams & Morgan, leading furniture dealers of this city, was shot and instantly killed at Kego Camp, Sheriffs Lake, in the Adirondacks, Monday night. Mr. Morgan was mistaken for a deer.

Malt Beverages Have Real Food Value

Though mistaken zeal sometimes classes beer* with the intoxicants, common sense and medical knowledge will teach you its real worth as an item of daily diet.

For beer is four times as rich in food elements as potatoes, nearly as rich as fresh wheat bread, and its proteids (body-builders) reach the stomach in the form easiest digested.

The very small proportion of alcohol in Ontario beers helps the other food to digest quickly and easily.

Quit thinking of beer as an intoxicant—learn how valuable it is for people with weak stomachs or slack digestions.

*BEER is a term which covers lager, ales, porter, and stout; and, in the practice of Ontario brewers, implies beverages made under most hygienic conditions from Ontario barley (the best in the world) malt, hops, and pure water. 201

MANY GOING UP TO LINDSAY

The fans are eagerly looking forward to the game between Peterborough and Victorias in Lindsay tomorrow. Judging from what is being heard around the streets a large crowd will go up with the boys as everybody expects the contest to be a close and hard fought one.

The fact that Hayes and Robbins have been secured to look after the game, means that there will be no work of an unduly rough character, if it is in the power of the officials to prevent it.

DRANK THE DRIPPINGS.

Sequel to Wreck of Liquor Car Near Local Option Town.

Chatham, Oct. 30.—Sixteen of the most prominent citizens of the local option town of Thamesville were brought before Justice of the Peace Ingalls of that place yesterday afternoon, charged with trespass and theft by the Grand Trunk Railway.

The case was the outcome of a wreck on the G. T. R. last week, when the thirsty citizens of Thamesville took advantage of the opportunity and filled up with the drippings from a bonded liquor car which was smashed up in the wreck. They were also charged with carrying off a quantity of the bottled goods inside the car. The case was tried behind closed doors, and it was with considerable difficulty that a Chatham reporter gained admission.

From all accounts it appears that the wrecked car in which the liquor was stored had been used to carry cattle previously, and had not been cleaned out before the liquor was stored in it. Added to this disgusting feature was the fact that the drippings consisted of a mixture of part alcohol, part whiskey and part gin. The greatest wonder is that the celebrants survived the spree.

William Cutler, a wealthy retired farmer, who was accused of being the ringleader of the gang, was fined $5 and costs, $15.85 in all. The following were fined $1 and costs on charges of trespass: Alex. Osborne, Pat Miller, Mike Miller, Robert Buchanan, Orval Kelly, Albert O'Neil, Robert Albertson, Frank Coll, James Quelch, Clifford Payne, William Meagher, Thomas Bodkin, Archie McBrane, James Pearkon and William Cosgrave. All pleaded guilty to the charges read against them. Photographs taken on the scene of the wreck were produced in court. These depicted the celebrators in the midst of their jollification.

KING AND QUEEN OF SPAIN.

Arrive In London After Narrow Escape at Cherbourg.

London, Oct. 30.—The King and Queen of Spain arrived in London last night. It was raining hard, but in spite of the depressing weather Their Majesties were met at the railway station by members of the English royal family and the Spanish ambassador to Great Britain, Senor Villa y Urrutio. The visitors drove at once to Kensington Palace, where they will reside until next Monday. They will then visit King Edward and Queen Alexandra at Sandringham.

The London populace displayed the greatest interest last night in the infant son of the Spanish King and Queen.

Cherbourg, France, Oct. 30.—The King and Queen of Spain had another close escape from injury or death early yesterday.

The journey from Paris was made in safety until just as the train was entering Cherbourg, when it ran off the rails. The royal party escaped injury.

NEW RUSSIAN PARLIAMENT.

Will Be Conservative In Nature and Suit the Czar.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 30.—The first return of the final elections of members of the third Russian Parliament from St. Petersburg has been completed.

The results of the later elections are conceded to be much more favorable to the Constitutional Democrats and other opposition parties, but not enough to alter fundamentally the conservative nature of the third Parliament.

Impressed With Canada.

London, Oct. 30.—(C. A. P.)—The Bishop of London, speaking at Fulham on the subject of "The Church and the Empire," said that what impressed him most on his recent tour was the wonderful loyalty of Canada, the granary of the world. "Think," he said, "of the possibilities of this great new nation, which is bound to us by ties of blood and religion, which nothing ought to be able to break. There is room for a hundred millions in Canada. If we do not take the trouble we will lose our chance, and Canada will be filled by somebody else. We ought to be sending out from this over-crowded land more and more loyal Englishmen. Emigration is largely the cure for our ills, if not the God-given cure, and both the clergy and laity might give their brains to see it properly carried out."

Escaped Murder Charge.

Barrie, Ont., Oct. 30.—John Jeffries of Midland, who shot Rose Latanville, with whom he was infatuated, in a hotel in that town, on Sept. 3, has been sentenced to two years and a half in Kingston Penitentiary. Sentence was deferred until the present, awaiting results of the wounds, as it was feared that the girl might die. She has, however, recovered, and Jeffries was convicted of manslaughter instead of murder.

Dear Sir,—I have much pleasure in acknowledging the receipt of the cheque for $1,244, being the amount paid me on the maturity of my endowment policy, 35390, in your Company which matured on the 1st inst.

I find I have received almost 4 per cent. compound interest on every dollar paid in to the Company and in addition have had free insurance for the past fifteen years.

Such a result speaks volumes for the management of your company and far exceeds my expectations and I would be ungrateful indeed were I not to acknowledge it.

I was also offered a paid-up policy of $2,078, or an annuity for life of $111.55, both of which I consider excellent.

I thank you very much indeed and wish your company the continued success and confidence it so richly deserves.

Yours very truly,

Prof. Crocker at Skating Rink

Equine Aggregation Shows Almost Human Intelligence

The Quebec Standard says: "Professor Crocker and his remarkable company of trained horses, ponies, donkeys and mules, opened a five night's engagement at the skating rink last evening. There are about 20 or 25 equines in the aggregation, and everyone of them show almost human intelligence. They go through various acts in a manner that is surprising. Prof. Crocker displays his great mastery over the animals in the way in which he puts them through the various acts, and they obey his every command in an intelligent way, and with alacrity. Especially fine acts, are those of the military drill "The Night Scene in Camp," with two horses on guard, and a grand finale, "The Battle," in which the horses fire the guns. This turn was very realistic.

Preparing for Council Meeting

Finance Committee Held Meeting Last Night—Bill for Services of Nurse

A meeting of the Finance committee of the City Council was held last night at which considerable routine business was transacted. Accounts were passed and several other matters dealt with in preparation for the Council meeting next week. Ald. Tovey, chairman, Mayor McWilliams, Ald. Bradburn, Phalen and Morrow and the city clerk were those present.

A bill for $125 from the nurse who looked after the scarlet fever patient, was ordered to be paid, provided the chairman of the Board of Health had made a bargain to this effect. If no agreement was made by the Board of Health the committee recommended that $90 be paid the nurse for her services.

Hartley Registered at the King Edward at 12.26, Noon

Started on His Long Walk at Six O'clock This Morning at a Point One Mile West of Oshawa—Made the Trip to Toronto in 6 Hours and 26 Minutes.

David Hartley is making good. The Peterborough pedestrian arrived at the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, at 12.26 o'clock noon, and left on the return trip, after a short rest during which he took a small quantity of food. The following telegram was received at the Munro House from Toronto,—

"Hartley registered at the King Edward hotel at 12.26."

Hartley left on a long walk at six o'clock this morning at a point one mile west of Oshawa, thirty-two miles west of Port Hope. He made the distance to Toronto, about 33 miles in 6 hours and 26 minutes of about a mile every 12 minutes. This is excellent time, and if Hartley can keep it up he will make the 130 miles in 36 hours. He is due to arrive at the Munro House, Hunter street tomorrow night at six o'clock.

The starting point for Hartley's long walk was one mile west of Oshawa and about thirty-two miles west of Port Hope. He started on the long tramp at six o'clock this morning, an Oshawa newspaperman being the starter. Hartley made the first nine miles in one hour and 57 minutes, arriving at Pickering in this time. At Dunbarton he was twelve miles on his journey and had covered the distance in two hours and 27 minutes, or at a rate of a mile in 12 1-4 minues. At 9.17 he was at Agincourt, about 15 miles from the King Edward Hotel, Toronto. The distance from Agincourt to Toronto, was made in three hours and nine minutes.

The reports received stated that Hartley was being cheered along the road by farmers and the people of the towns and villages through which he passed.

Hartley is accompanied by George and Charlie Stevens and at Oshawa tonight Jimmie Reynolds will join the party and walk with Hartley from Oshawa to Port Hope.

It might be stated that Hartley wants to cover the same distance as Jimmie Reynolds, and as Peterborough is 32 miles from Port Hope, he started 32 miles nearer Toronto than Reynolds did.

In a letter received at the Munro House, Mr. Stevens gives great praise to Mr. L. Bennett, proprietor of the Queen's Hotel, Port Hope. Mr. Bennett would accept nothing for meals furnished Mr. Stevens and his son at Port Hope yesterday, and has made preparations to furnish Hartley with a bath, etc., when he reaches Port Hope on the return trip.

Retiring Principal Honored By Pupils of Collegiate

Mr. Alex Mowat, Who is Leaving Brockville to Become School Inspector of Peterborough, Presented With Appreciative Address and Purse of Gold.

Special to the Review.

Brockville, Oct. 30.—During the regular session of the Collegiate Institute yesterday a break was made in the studies to honor the retiring and beloved principal, Alex. Mowat, who severs his connection with the Institute today, to take the position of inspector of Peterborough's public school. Mr. Mowat has been six years on the staff, and the pupils who have passed through his hands as well as those connected with him on the staff, from time to time, have nothing but kindly recollections of their associations. Mr. Mowat struggled hard for the success of his pupils, always bringing to bear a firm but sympathetic manner in his administration. The pupils loved Mr. Mowat and it was not surprising that this morning they set forth his good qualities, couple with their regrets at his leaving, in a neatly worded address, accompanied by a purse of gold. He was so overcome with emotion as to be unable to reply and reserved his good bye remarks until tomorrow. Mr. Husband, who succeeds him as principal, offered a few remarks, noting the loss the school was sustaining by Mr. Mowat's departure, and the warm place he occupied in the hearts of the people of Brockvillle.

REHEARSAL WAS HELD LAST EVENING

A splendid practice of the choruses was gone through, after which dainty refreshments were served. The members of the choir appreciate very much the hospitality of Miss McFarlane.

The local hotelmen met yesterday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock in the Bank of Montreal Chambers, when many matters of interest were discussed. A committee was appointed to inquire into some important business and will give their report at the next meeting.

MR. JOSEPH MORENCY MET WITH ACCIDENT

Yesterday afternoon Jos. Morency, a hod carrier, working on a building being constructed by McDonald & Theobold on Maitland Avenue, fell from a scaffold and was badly shaken up. It was thought yesterday his injuries were of a serious character, but it was reported today that he is not as badly hurt as was at first thought.

SUPPLY OF TURKEYS EXCEEDS THE DEMAND

There were enough turkeys on the market this morning to supply all the families in Peterborough, but the scarcity was in the number of buyers. The supply greatly exceeded the demand, and the result was a great many of the farmers had to carry their fowl home again. Citizens must have got their Thanksgiving turkey on Saturday, or else they must be denying themselves of such a luxury.

Turkeys brought from 80 cents to $1.25, while geese sold at 75 cents to $1.10; chickens, 60 and 75 cents, and ducks 80 cents to $1.00.

Butter was plentiful at 28 and 29 cents per pound.

HAD HAND SEVERLY CUT COUPLING CARS

MORE CHARGES AGAINST MURRAY

Heard at Police Court To-day—Committed for Trial

Jas. Murray, who was arrested at the C.P.R. depot at midnight on Tuesday, October 22nd, and was remanded a week ago, appeared again this morning. Last Wednesday he pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy, and also to that of carrying a concealed weapon, namely a revolver.

This morning, two additional charges were read out to him. One was for resisting arrest and the other for attempting to discharge a loaded revolver.

Crown Attorney R. E. Wood conducted the prosecution. Murray pleaded not guilty and elected to be tried by Mry. After hearing the evidence, His Worship committed him for trial. He will have to await until the spring sittings of the court before he can have his trial.

P. C. NEWHALL.

P. C. Newhall went into the box and gave his evidance in the case. He stated that he was on duty on the morning of the 23rd of October. It was about 25 minutes past twelve P. C. Adams was at the east end of the station, Witness was at the west end. The prisoner with two other men came towards the witness. Murray said, "Say Jack do you want to buy a good ring?" He handed the officer who was in plain clothes the piece of jewelry. Newhall tried it on. "It is a pretty good ring. I'll let you have it for $1.50, as I want to get away on this train," said the prisoner. Witness had seen the prisoner twice before. Murray first said that he came from the east, but afterwards said that he came from Toronto. The officer then informed the three who he was and said that he was going to arrest them for peddling. He grabbed two by the coat collars, but they put up a stubborn resistance. They kicked and hit him several blows. Prisoner remarked that he would soon settle him and drew a revolver. A blow with the policeman's baton knocked the revolver to the floor. "I read all about you last summer and I wish I had known who you were before, I would have filled you full of lead," said the prisoner.

At the police station, he called P. C. Newhall by name,' remarking, "You can't find out anything about me, I was only arrested once in Toronto.

JAS. HAWTHORNE.

Jas. Hawthorne, nightwatchman at the Oriental, was called. He was at the depot on the night in question. He said that as he was walking around the west end of the station, he saw P. C. Newhall, talking to two men. He also saw him trying on a ring. He then saw the three in a scuffle. One of them got away and witness chased him but soon lost sight of him. When witness returned, P. C. Newhall was taking the other man to the police station.

The prisoner asked for bail, which His Worship place at $1,000, but the Crown Attorney took objection, stating that after a committment had been made, no bail could be given.

On the first two charges, that of vagrancy and of carrying a revolver, he was remanded for sentence until after his trial.

WEDDING BELLS

CAVANAGH—CADIGAN

On Tuesday a wedding took place in St. Martin's church, Ennismore, when Miss Lillie Cadigan, daughter of the late Michael Cadigan and Mrs. Cadigan, of Ennismore, was married to Mr. Daniel Cavanagh, son of Mr. Michael Cavanagh, of the same township. Rev. Father Fitzpatrick performed the ceremony. The ceremony took place at 9 o'clock, and the church contained a large number of the friends of the bride and groom. The bride, who was becomingly attired was attended by Miss Maggie Young, of Peterborough, while Mr. Frank Fitzpatrick, of Emily, acted as groomsman. Following the ceremony the bridal party and guests drove to the residence of the bride's mother, where the usual dejeuner was served, and congratulations extended the happy couple.

TAYLOR—HARPER

A quiet wedding was celebrated this afternoon at the residence of Mr. Wm. Taylor, 176 London street, the contracting parties being Mr. Ernest J. Taylor, of the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Co., and Miss Hattie E. Harper, third daughter of the late Robert Harper.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Tadling, of St. Paul's.

The couple leave town this evening by G.T.R. for Niagara Falls and will later on, visit New York City, where they will meet friends.

Many fine presents were received by the bride, the groom's gift being a Persian lamb coat, trimmed with mink.

Mr. Taylor is an old employee of the Lock Co. and his fellow workmen wish him long life and prosperity.

McCANNAN—BULLEN

A quiet marriage was solemnized this morning at eleven o'clock at the rectory of All Saints' church, when Miss Lydia May Bullen, daughter of Mr. William Bullen, of Bethune-st., was united in marriage to Mr. Herbert Jesson McCannon, son of the late Mr. Benjamin McCannon, of this city.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Major, and the bride was given away by her father. Only the contracting parties and witnesses were present.

The bride was very becomingly dressed in a travelling suit of navy blue cloth, with hat to match. The wedding is one of unusual interest as both Mr. and Mrs. McCannon have a large circle of friends in Peterborough.

For many years Mrs. McCannon has been an active wroker in All Saints' church and for eleven years she has, in a most efficient way, presided at the organ. Her resignation from this post is most keenly felt by all the officers and members of the church.

Mr. McCannon has been engaged for the past few years in contracting work and during the last two years erected a number of very fine residences on Reid street.

The esteem in which the young couple are held has been marked by many beautiful presents to the bride that have come from near and far.

Mr. and Mrs. McCannon left on the 11.45 C.P.R. for Toronto and several southern cities. On their return, they will take up their residence at 200 Reid street.

NEW HOSE WAGGON NOW AT FIRE HALL

The new chemical and hose waggon has been placed in the fire hall, and is a decided addition to the fire fighting equipment already installed. It is a little longer than the old one and was made by Mr. Geo. W. Fitzgerald, the local waggon maker. The waggon is painted an attractive red and lettered in gold, the letters showing up well against the bright background. It will be brought into requisition as soon as the chemical apparatus arrives, and it is expected here shortly.

NO CHEAP MEALS WILL BE PROVIDED

Brockville, Oct. 29th.—On and after November 1st, no meals will be served in any of the local hotels for less than forty cents, whether it be breakfast, dinner or supper, and the rates per day will not be less than $1.50.

Following the announcement yesterday of the increase of twenty-five cents per dozen in the price of beer in bottles, the raise in the price of meals, which had been under consideration for some time by the hotel men who have been serving them for twenty-five cents was announced.

The hotel men who have signed the agreement are the proprietors of the Central, Hall, Antoine's, Imperial, Albion, and Windsor.

The reason for the raise in the rates, which take effect the first of next month, is the increased cost of almost everything required to set on a table.

THANKSGIVING DINNER

At St. Andrew's Hall To-morrow Evening. Hot Dinner from 5 to 8 o'clock. Concert from 8 to 10. Come and bring your friends.

MAMMOTH EAGLE BROUGHT TO EARTH

A Brockville despatch referring to an eagle shot on the St. Lawrence near Brockville says,—

A brown eagle measuring six feet seven inches from tip to tip of the wings was shot on Smith's Island yesterday.

Sam Lennox and a companion were on their way up the river, when they saw the stranger flying towards the island and land on one of the trees. A quiet landing did not disturb the big feathered creature and a well-directed aim brought the bird to the ground dead.

It was brought to town, measured and today was an object of curiosity to several who had been made aware of what had happened. It will be mounted.

Since the first of September reports have been heard of eagles flying about the river, but this is the first shot. In past years they have been a scarcity, but the opinion is that a nest was made somewhere among the islands.

suits is here illustrated. Its color is gray, with the collar and cravat of red and green plaid silk. The skirt is full, with wide plaits, and the blouse is plaited in the same way. A sash is made of the pongee with woven fringed ends.

Woman and Reserve.

A woman, especially to be attractive, must preserve a sense of reserve; she must, so to speak, keep up a certain amount of mystery about herself.

There is a folklore tale of a woman who, finding her married life unhappy, went to a white witch for a charm against the trouble. She received a flask filled with a colorless liquid, which she was directed to take and hold in her mouth whenever she was disposed to quarrel with her husband. She obeyed directions and, delighted with the effect of the charm, went back to the witch for a fresh supply when that was exhausted. "The liquid was merely water," said the wise woman. "The virtue of the remedy consists simply in holding your tongue, in keeping back angry answers."

To adopt the rule once given to a gushing girl by a friend who knew the world, "Never speak of yourself, and never say anything which is uncalled for," would at first seem likely to make Trappists of all the world, yet it is to be questioned whether, after all, the advice was not wise. There always are people who like to talk whose favor is to be won by interested listening, and good listeners are rare.

When You Get a New Gown.

Don't copy your friend's gown. If you do you may have the gown, but you will no longer have the friend.

Be sure that the linings are of the best and firm of weave, that the best braid is used on the hem and that the workmanship is of the kind to hold the seam tight and firm.

Freedom, comfort and ease are what every gown that is made right should give to its wearer. Unless one is comfortable one cannot be at ease.

White gowns are most lovely of all, but unless one is willing to hand over a large part of her bank account to the laundryman they should be shunned. Soiled white gowns are simply impossible.

The prettiest woman will be made to look dreadful if she wears soiled toggery of any kind. After the gown is purchased be sure to keep it well brushed, hang it up the moment you take it off, and when a stitch slips pick it up. This constant mending is the only way to preserve one's clothing.

324 GEORGE STREET

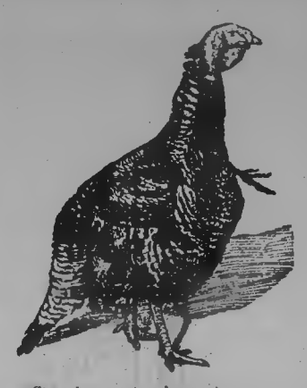
To-morrow is the Day Canada Gives Thanks

For smiling fields of golden grain,
For gifts of mine and plain and wood,
For blessings . at the nation shares—
We render thanks for all that's good.

We're thankful for the harvest wealth,
The bountious hand of God doth send,
For grace that brings the soul content—
Let prayers to Him who gives ascend.

AS A NATION

As a nation Canada can give thanks to-morrow for a year of continued prosperity, for peace and contentment within the land and for the growth of a stronger and better national spirit. No country under the run is so happily situated as Canada at the present day. Internal strife is practically unknown and there is plenty of work at wages that are as high as are paid anywhere in proportion to the cost of living. Truly Canada as a nation has many things to be thankful for.



Some hae meat and canna' eat.
And some wad eat wha want it;
But we hae meat and we can eat,
So let the Lord be thankit.

THE INDIVIDUAL

What have you to be thankful for to-morrow? Perhaps the path of life may not seem as rosy to you as you would desire, perhaps fortune may not have smiled upon you during the year that is gone. But count your blessings one by one and you will see that there are many things to be thankful for. Providence has been good to the people of Peterborough, one of the prettiest and the busiest city of its size in Canada. It would seem that each of us has been showered with so many blessings that they cannot be enumerated.

Odd Fellows at Norwood

Local Triple Linked Brethren Visited Eastern Village

A number of the members of Otonabee and Peterborough Lodges of Oddfellows went to Norwood last night and assisted Norwood lodge in putting on the initiatory degree. Six candidates were "put through." There were several visitors present from Hastings, and after the work of the evening, refreshments were served and a very pleasant time spent. Bro. R. J. YMatchett, D.D, G.M., and Bro. Jas. A Tully were in charge of the Peterborough delegation.

FOR HALLOWE'EN NIGHT

An attractive centrepiece for the dining table would be a large pumpkin filled with yellow chrysanthemums.

Candlesticks may be improvised from small pumpkins by cutting holes in them to fit the candles. Place one of these at each corner of the table.

The round summer squashs may be employed in a similar manner for holding candles.

Outline a lace centrepiece and the accompanying doilies with pumpkin seeds.

For favors use large rosy apples with Jack o' lantern faces cut on each one.

Menu cards may have pictures of owls, black cats, witches, brownies, etc., painted on them.

Garlands and festoons of colored pop-corn are effective when suspended over the table, and extended to the four corners of the dining room.

Have yellow and red apples strung on wires of different lengths and suspended over the centre of the table by fastening the wires to the chandelier.

Small fancy cakes may be decorated with jack-o' lantern faces, by using an icing placed in a small table made of stiff writing paper.

MUST DRESS WARMLY

Advice of Noted Authority, Also Simple Home Prescription.

Now is the time when the doctor gets busy, and the patent medicine manufacturers reap the harvest, unless great care is taken to dress warmly and keep the feet dry. This is the advice of an old, eminent authority, who says that Rheumatism and Kidney Trouble weather is here and also tells what to do in case of an attack.

Get from any good prescription pharmacy, one-half ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion, one ounce Compound Kargon, three ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla. Mix by shaking in a bottle, and take a teaspoonful after meals and at bed-time.

Just try this simple, home-made mixture at the first signs of Rheumatism, or if your back aches, or you feel that the kidneys are not acting just right. This is said to be a splendid kidney regulator, and almost certain remedy for all forms of Rheumatism, which is caused by uric acid in the blood, which the Kidneys fail to filter out. Any one can prepare this at home, and at small cost.

PETERBOROUGH'S THANKSGIVING

Some Reasons for Gratitude—Hallowe'en To-morrow Night

Tomorrow is Thanksgiving day—a day set apart by the Dominion Government for public thanksgiving for the national and other blessings of the season. It is well to cultivate a thankful and appreciative spirit. If there be one person more than another, whose society is uncongenial, it is the dissatisfied, ungrateful, complaining mortal. The people of Canada, and the people of Peterborough in particular, have much to be thankful for, and it is well that he claims of a kind Providence should receive recognition, both in public and private manner.

It has sometimes been said that the present day Thanksgiving is permeated too much by a wrong spirit, that football and various athletic sports and amusements have too large a place in the minds of many people. While these things have their place it is well to remember that Thanksgiving Day is primarily a day for giving thanks to Providence for the blessings bestowed. This should not be forgotten.

Thanksgiving Day, next to Christmas, is the greatest day in the year for family re-unions, the home-coming of absent sons and daughters, and the visiting of relatives and friends. The railways have assisted in promoting this spirit by giving reduced rates, so that it is a comparatively easy matter, financially to travel on this holiday, and for a day or so before and after. Scores of Peterborough "old boys" and "old girls" are coming home for Thanksgiving, while many local people will eat the Thanksgiving turkey with friends and relatives elsewhere.

HALLOWE'EN, 100.

By a somewhat strange coincidence Hallowe'en this year, falls upon the evening of Thanksgiving Day, or rather Thanksgiving Day falls upon Hallowe'en, as the latter is always upon the same date, whereas Thanksgiving Day is fixed by an Act of Parliament. Hallowe'en is always on the eve of All Saints' day—a feast day kept in honor of all the saints.

When the custom of "playing tricks" on Hallowe'en originated is not known, but at any rate it seems to have gained a firm foothold and the man, or woman for that matter, who attempts to deny the privilege of the small boy in this respect is apt to have the wrath of the younger population vented upon him or her as the case may be. There are many interesting traditions connected with Hallowe'en and different customs are observed in different parts of the world.

A THANKSGIVING HYMN

By DAVID MOORE

COME let us now uniting
Our thankfulness to prove,
Unto the Lord, our Father,
Sing a glad song of love—
Lift on the wings of music
Our hearts in rapt'rous praise,
And thank Him for His goodness
In these glad harvest days.

Oh, surely we should praise Him;
Who His great love have known;
In joyous adoration,
Bowing before His throne.
Beseeching still His blessing,
Who from His boundless store
Hath blessed our loved Dominion
From farthest shore to shore.

Each fertile hill and valley
Hath heard the Master's voice,
And yielded forth its increase
That we may all rejoice—
The orchard and the vineyard
Have given their fruits again,
And harvest fields far-reaching
Poured forth their golden grain.

Then on this day of gladness
When doth His love proclaim,
May we with hearts united
Honor and praise His name—
Striving by all His blessings
His gift in us to prove,
Join in a cheerful service
And give Him love for love.

THANKSGIVING DAY

Tomorrow will be Thanksgiving Day.

To some people it means a great deal, to others it is a mere passing event, and to many more it is regarded only as a holiday. Thus divers conceptions are entertained of it, and there will be different observances.

How short-sighted we grow in times of prosperity and our every day thoughts and actions proclaims that we believe gratitude or thanks is a lively sense of favors to come rather than a return for what has come. This spirit should be changed; we should seek strength and courage and faith for the future, remembering how we have been provided for in the past.

Some will exclaim that they have little to be thankful for. They have done the best that they could ,but in a material sense they are worse off today than ever. Surely we are not going to count our blessings by lands, mortgages, houses or such venal considerations. Yet the vast majority it would seem do so. How short is human ken; how sordid mortal vision. Is the tendency of the age always to lean to the materialistic? What about your health? Its preservation and enjoyment is worth more to you than all the stocks or bonds in Wall street. What about your good name, your character? You can recover or regain wealth, but to get back a good name is one of the most stupendous struggles man ever undertook. Be open in your actions, honest in your endeavors and conscientious in the discharge of duty. Peace of mind, happiness, contentment, the love of those around—all these things are to be prized beyond measure .You have not been placed on this terrestrial sphere simply to lead a selfish existence. To be animated only by selfish concern, to gather together so many dollars to leave to others, and then depart. Man is more than this. He has, or should have, a communal nature: he is an inter-dependent body, a fellow being, and he can never get the most out of life by always gathering and never scattering.

Be thankful then for what you are rather than for what you have. Remember that your lot, while it may be most unattractive, while its duties may be very irksome, and its environs undesirable, is, in every way, superior to that of many others who bear the burden and heat of the day without murmur ,who smile even in the midst of adversity, and with patience and discipline meet the worries, cares and besetments of life in a calm, thankful spirit.

There is no one who on the morrow has not something to be thankful for. Let not the proper spirit of the day be lost: let its true significance be realized, and do no forget that every good and perfect gift cometh from above.

As a nation and a people we have reason to express deep gratitude for the abundant blessings of the past year. As a city, and a thriving, God-fearing community we should return thanks to Him who exclaimed: "I am the way ,the truth and the life."

Drive out the sense of ingratitude How clearly the words of Shakespeare in "Twelfth Night" come to mind:

"I hate ingratitude more in a man
Than lying vainness, babbling drunkenness,
Or any taint of vice".

Tomorrow let the people of Canada remember that God has crowned the year with His goodness. With true appreciation of the words of Charles Wesley they should sing:

"Fountains of mercy, God of Love,
How rich thy bounties are!
The rolling seasons as they move
Proclaim Thy constant care."

A state dinner will be held at Government House on Nov. 9, in honor of the King's Birthday.

The Origin of Thanksgiving

By "Chic"

Thanksgiving Day, which is to us, next to Christmas, a day of making merry, a day of celebration, at once sportive, festal and religious, has its origin shrouded in antiquity. Away back in Biblical days we read of "The Feast of Tabernacles," but in classic lore are references to such feast days which are practically thanksgiving days. In England such celebrations were common at the time of the Reformation and amongst Protestants afterwards. At different periods afterwards we read of such days set apart by royal proclamation, when it seemed to the Sovereign that there was some great cause for thankfulness. As an instance, we may mention the Thanksgiving Day of 1872, appointed by the Government to celebrate the recovery of the Prince of Wales, now King Edward VII., from typhoid fever. It is still only a special occasion in Great Britain, and not an annual affair.

The earliest record of a Thanksgiving Day in North America, is that observed by the expedition under Forbisher in 1578 to give thanks for their safe arrival on the shores of Newfoundland.

In what is now the United States the first Thanksgiving Day was celebrated by the Popham Colony at Sagadahoc, in Maine, in August, 1607. The old chronicle tells how the religious services were conducted—"giving God thanks for happy meeting and safe arrival in the country."

In 1621, Governor Bradford, after a bountiful harvest, following a period of great depression, proclaimed a day of thanksgiving, fixing the date for December 13 of that year.

That was the real beginning of the great holiday in North America. History tells us how Elder Brewster, Captain Miles Standish and other Puritan worthies, took part in the celebration. The religious services of praise and prayer were followed by a "mighty feaste." They were joined by the Indian Chief, Massasouit, with ninety of his dusky braves, and the affair lengthened out to a three days' feast. In 1684 this became an annual affair. The other New England States fell into line at intervals, although it was not until 1795 that Governor John Jay, of New York, proclaimed it as an annual affair in New York State. In 1777 General Washington proclaimed eight days through the year to be set aside for thanksgiving and prayer.

But it was not until 1863 that the present institution of Thanksgiving Day came into existence. Mrs. Sarah J. Hale, of Boston, had agitated the subject for several years, corresponding with Governors of the different States, and at last, mainly through her influence, President Lincoln issued the first National Thanksgiving Day proclamation, naming Thursday, August 6th, 1863, as the date, and enjoining all the citizens of the United States to observe the day in a befitting manner. Since then the date has been altered in the United States, to the last Thursday in November.

Canada soon afterwards followed the example of the Republic and, while there is no fixed date with us, the feast usually falls on or about the last Thursday in Nov.—Nov. 28th—and this year, when it falls on the last Thursday in October. There is now an agitation on foot in Canada to have the Governor-General proclaim the 3rd or 4th Monday in October as the National Thanksgiving Day, as it would be a better day for the commercial and business men.

WHAT IS BILLED FOR TO-MORROW

A List of Thanksgiving Day Happenings Given

"What are you going to do on Thanksgiving Day?"

That is the stock question that your friends have probably been asking you for the past few days. If you have not decided what to do, a list of Thanksgiving Day events are given below, and if you cannot find anything in the city that appeals to you strongly enough, there is the rugby match in Lindsay, between the locals and the Victorias for the championship of the eastern division of the senior O.R.F.U. series.

In the morning the Knights of Columbus will go to Belleville to attend an important initiation meeting of the Order in that city.

Commencing at 10 o'clock the senior and junior Examiner road race events will be held. The roller rink will be open afternoon and evening and will doubtless be a source of great attraction to those who like to glide around on the pleasure giving wheels.

The annual meeting of the Young Conservative Club will be held at their rooms at three o'clock in the afternoon.

In the evening there will be suppers at two of the city churches, George-st. and St. Andrew's.

The attraction at the Grand Opera House is "The Real Widow Brown." There will be no matinee performance of the production, as the troupe presenting it, arrives here too late to permit of one being put on.

Cheap rates of single fare will be given on both the C.P.R. and G.T.R. railways.

Thanksgiving at Gospel Hall

At the Gospel Hall, corner of George and Brock streets, there will be a special Thanksgiving service at eight o'clock. Mr. W. J. Mapesden of Buffalo, will speak, his subject being, "A Murderer's Thanksgiving Hymn," or "The Triumph of Grace."

Mr. Geo. W. Mulligan, so well-known to the citizens of Peterborough, will sing.

A hearty invitation is extended to all.

SINGLE FARE ON RAILWAYS

Large Number of People Left the City This Morning

The holiday rush has set in and single fare prevails today and to-morrow on all the railways, good to return until Monday.

A large number left the city today for Toronto, Hamilton and intermediate points. It is expected that all the outgoing trains tomorrow will be crowded.

A number of students and former citizens residing in other places are returning to Peterborough to spend a few days here.

Machine for Measuring Wire

Mr. F. R. J. MacPherson, George street, has installed a useful machine for measuring wire, whether insulated or not. The wire is taken by hand ; the end shoved into an aperture in the machine. The wire is pulled through, and when the required length, say 25 feet or possibly 200 yards are drawn through, the machine suspends operations. Before beginning operations an index on the dial is set to measure the length wanted and when such amount is drawn through the machine, whether getting tired or recognizing what is wanted, stops the flow of the passing wire, which is then cut off at the actual length required.

Insurance Men Met in Lindsay

Meeting and Banquet Was Greatly Enjoyed

A regular meeting of the Central Ontario Life Underwriters' Association was held in Lindsay last evening.

There was a good attendance, Lindsay being particularly well represented. The business session was followed by a most enjoyable banquet. Among those present from Peterborough were; Mr. H. P. Lindsay, president of the Association; Mr. W. F. Nelson, secretary; Mr. S. E. Sills and Mr. D. H. Moore.

It was decided by the Association some time ago, to meet at different points, and the Lindsay gathering was a most gratifying success. Interesting addresses were delivered by Mr. S. J. Fox, M.P.P., Mr. Milne, secretary of the Dominion Life Underwriters' Association, Toronto, and others.

The Peterborough representatives returned home this morning, well pleased with the result of the monthly meeting.

Many Members Join the T.A.S.

St. Peter's T.A.S. Society held a well attended meeting on Sunday afternoon. About forty new candidates were received. The society is now in a flourishing condition and the prospects for an active aggressive winter's work are very bright.

The Daily Review

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 30, 1907.

THE BYE-ELECTIONS

It is said that bye-elections generally go with the Government, but the results of yesterday's contests in Ontario demonstrate that such is not the case. The outcome is particularly gratifying to the Conservatives, as the people have demonstrated that they do not view favorably the reckless, extravagant and corrupt Laurier Administration. In no unmistakeable tones they have given it notice to quit.

In North Wellington, which has been Liberal since 1892 without exception, it was expected that the Liberal would retain the seat. In 1900 the riding went Conservative by 31 majority, but this is the only instance in a quarter of a century, when it has not returned a Liberal. In the bye-election yesterday the sympathy plea was worked for all it was worth by the friends of the government. It was pointed out that death had called home the late member, Mr. Thomas Martin, and that his brother, Mr. Alex. Martin, should be allowed to complete his term. The cry had its effect. Mr. Hamilton, the Conservative standard bearer, waged an aggressive fight and conducted a manly, straightforward campaign.

In London, where Hyman and corruption reigned so long, a brighter morning has dawned. The day of wholesale purchase of support at $10 a vote has passed. The Liberals did not care to face the record of bribery and corruption against them. They had not the courage to place a man in the field, but lent their entire support in favor of Mr. Jacobs, the Labor candidate, secretly hoping that he would vanquish Major Beattie, the Conservative standard bearer. But their expectations and secret alliance with labor has met with a stinging reverse, and the Conservatives carried the day by an overhelming majority. This is a decided and significant gain for the Conservatives. London electors have risen in their might, have stood for manhood, honesty and independence, and the good name of the city has been redeemed. Well done, London! Your victory is a noble and worthy one.

The chief interest in the trio of contests, however, centred in Northumberland, the seat held by the late Ed. Cochrane. Here every dodge that the Laurierites could resort to was used in order to induce the electors to change their political allegiance. Harbor improvements, electric railways, electric light, cheap power, everything possible and impossible—was promised by Major Mulholland and his cohorts. He conducted a campaign based on prejudice, selfishness and sectionalism. He proclaimed this, that and the other thing, and was so intensely loyal that his attitude savored of Chauvanism. Mr. Owen, the Conservative candidate, presented a clean, open, progressive policy, he carried on an honest and decent campaign. He did not seek to wheedle or beguile the electors by rash pledges or tempting baits. His independent, frank ingenuous course won for him many new friends, and he carried the Conservative flag to victory. Mr. Owen has many friends in Peterborough, who will warmly congratulate him on this triumph. East Northumberland is not to be bought, coaxed, dragooned, frightened or stampeded. The people have stood up for freedom and their just rights, and have endorsed the wise, progressive, national policy laid down by Mr. R. L. Borden at Halifax.

If the Liberals can extract any grain of comfort from the result of yesterday's bye-election they are welcome to it. The Conservatives are feeling quite well and are eager for the more general engagement, come when it may. They feel confident that Ontario and all the other provinces will line up on the side of honest and progressive administration, decent economical government, and end the reign of graft, plunder and malfeasance of office which has characterized the Laurier regime.

PEN POINTS

Will the bye-elections make interesting reading?

Three cheers for East Northumberland and Mr. Owen.

London has been redeemed. Wonder how Hon. Chas. Hyman feels?

Tomorrow being Thanksgiving Day there will be no issue of the Review.

The handwriting is on the wall. The Laurier Government felt the shock yesterday.

Remember the annual meeting of the Young Conservative Club tomorrow afternoon.

Mr. Owen, M.P., for East Northumberland, put up a great campaign and won by a handsome majority.

The annual meeting of the Young Conservative Club will be held tomorrow afternoon. Be sure and attend.

Mr. Mulholland now wishes that he had conducted a more manly and honorable campaign in East Northumberland.

Yesterday's bye-election results are only an index of what will befall the Liberal party in the Province of Ontario in the next Federal battle.

Remember tomorrow is not a holiday, but a day set apart for returning thanks to a kind Providence for the many blessings of the past year.

The sturdy independent electors of East Northumberland cannot be bribed or bought by promises of docks, electric railways or harbor improvements.

The Liberals rallied around the Labor candidate in London in the hope of defeating Mayor Beattie, the gallant Conservative candidate, but the major won the day, and so easily too.

Hon. Dr. Borden is suing an English magazine for libel. The head and front of the said magazine's offending is that it copied an Eye-Opener article. Some people will wonder why the Hon. Doc. didn't sue the Eye-Opener.

The Kingston News says it knows of one place of business in that city, where fifteen married men are employed, and the wives of ten of these men have laid in a stock of flour and will bake their own bread because the Kingston bakers have reduced the size of the loaf. Pretty soon they'll get, besides good cake, the bread like mother used to make. The Kingston bakers may have overreached themselves.

The late Robert Louis Stevenson, uttered these words and they might well be followed during the coming year: To be honest; to be kind; to earn a little and to spend a little less; to make upon the whole (a family happier for his presence; to resounce when that should be necessary and not to be embittered; to keep a few friends, but these without capitulation; above all, on the same grim condition, to keep friends with himself; here is a task for all that man has of fortitude and delicacy.

The "Sailor Boy" brand of canned goods are the best that are put up. They never fail to please. Try a few cans.

Unique Entertainment Held at Charlotte St. Church Last Evening

An entertainment, unique in its character and pleasant and satisfactory in its results, was that given last night, under the auspices of the Epworth League of Charlotte Street Methodist Church. Entertainment was combined happily with instruction in the evening's programme, which was entitled "A Trip from Halifax to Vancouver." Booths representing the different provinces of the Dominion, were in charge of the young ladies, who had posted themselves with respect to the natural characteristics of the particular portion of Canada, which they represented, and considerable interesting information was disseminated. Decorations, appropriate to the different provinces adorned each booth, at each of which souvenir postal cards were on sale, and for the benefit of those who wished to send them last night a post office was established, and mail distributed during the evening.

There was an attendance of about two hundred and a thoroughly enjoyable evening was spent. A short, but pleasing programme was given, including a piano solo, by Miss Reid, vocal solos, by Miss Bellegham and Mr. Jas. Browne, and selections by a male quartette. The chair was occupied by the pastor.

The following young ladies were in charge of the booths, representing the different provinces,—Nova Scotia, Miss Sanderson; New Brunswick, Miss Bushnell; Prince Edward Island, Miss Lyle; Quebec, Miss Williams; Ontario, Miss Kate Manning; Manitoba, Miss Hagina; Saskatchewan, Mrs. George; Alberta, Miss Elliott; British Columbia, Miss Collins. Mr. Chas. Harmer performed the onerous duties of postmaster.

A number of young people from the other churches attended the entertainment.

Are You Going to Lindsay? Good Chance to See Great Game

Peterborough and Victorias Play Off in Scugog Town for Eastern Senior O. R. F. U. Championship—Game Should be One of Most Keenly Contested Matches Ever Seen in Ontario—Special Train Leaves G.T.R. Station at 1.40.

The sporting blood of the rugby enthusiasts of Peterborough, is at fever heat, on account of the situation existing in this district of the senior O.R.F.U. It was a big surprise to the locals when they were beaten in Toronto last Saturday and pretty nearly everybody thought they would win from the Vics on the latter's own gridiron, if even by a close score, on account of the severe drubbing they administered the Toronto kickers down here.

The Victorias had improved considerably when they and the locals met at Toronto, and are practicing regularly and systematically, with a view to being in the finest fettle possible for the battle in Lindsay. The Peterborough line-up will be strengthened for the match and the team is in condition for the hardest kind of a contest. The feeling existing between the Peterboroughs and Victorias is one of keenest rivalry as everybody knows who has read the reports of their matches.

Sizing up matters from the present outlook, it is impossible to give any opinion as to which team has the better chance of winning. It is true that the locals overwhelmed the Vics down here, but that victory does not count for anything in view of the victory of the Queen City bunch last Saturday.

The game will be played on the Lindsay Agricultural grounds, and as they are positively new to both teams, there will be no advantage to either fourteen when the ball is kicked off for the commencement of the game. Up in Hughesville the coming contest is the talk of the whole place, and as the Lindsay horsemen will not hold the race matinee they intended to pull off tomorrow, there will no doubt be a big attendance of spectators, from the burg, at the game.

Owing to the immense crowd from this city expected to take advantage of the opportunity to see the contest the G.T.R. is putting on a special, as there would not be sufficient accomodation on the regular train to enable all those who wished to go to Lindsay for the match, to do so. The special leaves at 1.40 o'clock sharp, and the return fare is 70 cents.

Hugh Hayes and Frank Robbins, will act as referee and umpire, respectively, and a more competent and fair minded pair of officials would be hard to find.

The winning team will play off for the senior championship of the O.R.F.U. with the winners of the match to be played between the Limestones of Kingston and Westmount.

Lindsay on Edge Over the Match

Big Crowds From the Town Will be on Hand to Witness the Game

Special to the Review.

Lindsay, Oct. 30. — Everybody in this town is on edge in anticipation of the game between the Victorias of Toronto and Peterborough, to be played at the Agricultural Grounds tomorrow. Lindsay never sees a rugby match, and considerable interest was being taken in the proposed game to be played here tomorrow, between two junior teams, the Crescents and the Karnots, but, when it was made known that the Vics and Peterboroughs would clash for the senior O.R.F.U. championship of the eastern district, the coming game immediately became the sole topic of discussion among the sporting enthusiasts. Although there is, no rugby team here, the movements of the teams in the O.R.F.U. are followed by a large number of people in this town, and as the Vics and Peterboroughs are so evenly matched a battle of the most strenuous character is looked for.

Hon. Mr. Aylesworth, who is suffering from deafness, is reported to be much encouraged by his late visit to a New York specialist.

Mr. Leo. Dineen Goes to Lindsay

Where He Will Act as Floor Manager of the Lindsay Roller Rink

Mr. George Dineen, who has been connected with the local roller rink for some time, left this morning for Lindsay, where he will act as floor manager of the Lindsay roller rink, and will make Lindsay his home in the future. Mr. Dineen, who is a member of the executive committee of the Strathcona Hockey Club, is popular in the city, and will be much missed by his numerous friends in Peterborough.

AMUSEMENTS

Ben Greet, who is famous throughout England and America, for his artistic presentations of Shakespeare is coming to Peterborough next Tuesday evening. Without doubt every student of Shakespeare, and every lover of good drama will be present to see this noted actor and his company of players.

"Macbeth" is the play to be given. This wonderful tragedy has not been before the public in recent years so the opportunity of seeing it will be most welcome.

The company comes direct from the big dramatic festival at Massey Hall, where the press has been unanimous in its praise for both Mr. Greet and his entire company.

Mr. Greet argues that Shakespeare, as Shakespeare, wrote it, the play, the whole play and nothing but the play. No 'juggling' of scenes to obtain a "big curtain" for the star, no cutting and slashing to fit the requirements of the actor's limitations, no wealth of "production" to divert the spectators' attention from the matter at hand. And Mr. Greet has the courage of his convictions, since for several years, his company has been presenting during the winter season the plays of Shakespeare in the Elizabethan manner. The stage is simply set, the stage representing the theatre or hall, where the play was originally performed, as this one scene, remaining, of course, throughout the entire action of the play. Attention is thus concentrated on the actor, with whose movements boldly defined against a simple background, nothing interferes. The stage is built out in the auditorium, which brings the action into more intimate relation with the audience, and gives a special kind of realism which the vast distance and manifold artifices of our modern theaters render unattainable. It is this realism of the actual event, of which the audience assists, not the realism of the scene to which the audience is transported by the painter's skill, and in which the actor plays a somewhat subordinate part.

6991, 6987.—AN ATTRACTIVE SHIRT WAIST COSTUME.

The modish costume here sketched is especially well adapted for wearing with one of the smart separate coats that are to be in vogue during the fall and winter. It includes a tucked shirtwaist, 6991, of most becoming design, made of natural colored embroidered pongee, and a four-piece skirt, 6987, modified in cinnamon brown voile. The waist is tucked-plaited to the bust in front and to the belt in the back, and offers a choice of two styles of sleeve. The skirt has tucked front and side panels, prettily enclosed by perpendicular tuck-plaits, the whole presenting an entirely novel and distinctly smart effect. The model is adapted for making up in any of the new pliable woollens, while the waist may be made of material to match, or of lace or lingerie, as desired. To develop the medium size 9 yards of 27 inch goods will be needed for the waist, and 7 7-8 yards of the same width for the skirt.

Two Patterns, 6991.—6 sizes, 32 to 42 inches bust measure. 6987. — 7 sizes, 20 to 32 inches waist measure.

Dark Horse Won the Cowley Race

At the Grove School—Lakefield Man Receives Post Card From Balloon

Lakefield, Oct. 30.

Miss Greenbank, of Norwood, who has been visiting Miss Spence, returned home on Saturday last.

Mr. Levi Payne and his cousin, Mr. Geo. Guillet, of Cobourg, went up to Stony Lake on Monday last on their annual duck shoot.

Rev. Mr. Farney, the Anglican clergyman at Buckhorn, exchanged pulpits with Rev. W. J. Creighton on Sunday last.

A GREAT CONTEST.

The Cowley race, possibly the chief annual event in the sporting life of the Grove, took place on Saturday last over the usual course.

The winner this year was John Sydney Smith, who was something of a dark horse, but who came loping in first a couple of paces in advance of all other competitors, like a second edition of Longboat. The time prize was won by Riley Bradshaw, who would have done considerably better if he had not had the misfortune to lose one shoe in a swamp. Young Harry Atwood ran like a regular veteran and came in far ahead of others of his own age.

FAREWELL RECEPTION.

Mr. and Mrs. Grieve returned on Tuesday from Toronto and Niagara Falls. On Monday a farewell reception will be held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Marling to bid farewell to the bride and bridegroom, who leave on Friday next for their home in the west.

MESSAGE FROM THE AIR.

Mr. LeFevre who has lately returned from England, received a post card from France on Saturday last which was posted under peculiar conditions. The Daily Graphic, one of the well known English publications, gave a prize this year for a balloon race and in order still further to advertise itself, distributed thousands of post cards for people to have dropped from the balloons. Batches of these were placed in hermetically sealed bottles and dropped by the different aeronauts over various places in their journey through the air. The particular card which Mr. LeFevre received was posted at a place called Tosse, in France, and had been written by himself to his family, announcing his departure from England.

OTHER NOTES.

Miss Josephine Strickland, who has been visiting Ven Archdeacon and Mrs. Warren in Toronto, returned to Lakefield on Tuesday.

Mr. Bromfield and his family, who intended leaving for the West on Monday last, have deferred their departure for the present.

Miss Florence Atwood, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Kingwood, in Simcoe, Ont., returned home on Friday last.

Miss Dorothy Hilliard left on Tuesday last on a visit to friends in Port Hope and Oshawa.

Miss Tully, who was in Lakefield for the marriage of her neice, Miss LeFevre left on Friday last for Washington, D.C.

Miss Nevin, who has been a welcome visitor in Lakefield for some weeks past, left on Friday for her home in London, Ont.

IS IMPROVING.

We are glad to report that Mr. Rob Watson, who sustained such serious injuries last week whilst driving a lorry for the Cavendish Lumber Co., is getting on well towards recovery.

Mr. Jas. Campbell, jr., of Brampton, is in the village this week visiting his father, Mr. Jas. Campbell.

Mrs. R. B. Nicholls, of Peterborough, is in the village on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. S. Steel.

THE LIMERICK FEVER.

As the Review has been stricken with the Limerick fever, probably the following clipped from an English publication will be of interest to its readers. In its birth columns this effusion lately appeared:

FOLLWELL

A story to you I will tell
Of Mr. and Mrs. Follwell.
On Saturday morn.
A baby was born—
Young Teddy—as sound as a bell.

The boys at a certain school not a hundred miles from Lakefield have shown themselves lately quite up to the times in the matter of shielding themselves from punishment. A few days ago a whole bevy of small boys was summoned before the headmaster on a charge of uproarious conduct in a dormitory. After a severe reprimand they were left off. In leaving the room they asked for permission to go up to their rooms. Such a thing could not be allowed, the master replied, as it was time for school. After some hesitation one of the youngsters spoke up for the rest and said "But please sir, we've all got two pairs of trousers on!"

Mrs. Northcott and her daughter, Miss Trude Waldon, leave on Wednesday next for Toronto on a visit to relatives and friends.

Rev. H. J. Keith, of Peterborough, took the services on Sunday last in the Presbyterian church, Rev. A. S. Burns taking his services in Peterborough.

Miss Launderville of Peterborough, has accepted a position with Messrs. H. Graham & Son.

INTERRED AT YOUNG'S POINT

The remains of the late William Lasby, the young brakeman who was killed at Whitby yesterday morning, passed through the city this morning to Young's Point, where the funeral takes place tomorrow morning. The deceased was born at Young's Point, and until he took to railroading he resided there.

Canada Life Has Splendid Offices

Some Interesting Information About This Great Company With Special References to Local Conditions—A Sketch of the New Peterborough Agent, Mr. S. E. Salls.

Perhaps not a great many in the city are aware of the extensive improvements that have been made in connection with the Peterborough office of the Canada Life Assurance Co. and the progressive methods adopted by that well known institution, to look after its business in this city and the Midland district. A change that has been made during the past few months is the removal from Toronto to Peterborough of the district manager, Mr. S. E. Salls, who has taken up his residence in this city, and is agent for Peterborough, as well as manager of the Midland district.

The new offices of the Canada Life are located at 435 George street, just at the head of the stairs that lead up from the street, being on the same floor as the T.A.S. rooms. The apartments were formerly occupied by the Crown timber agent, and in days long since past by the Midland Railway Company.

One would scarcely recognize the rooms, however, so numerous have been the improvements made. There is now a general business office, the manager's private office, the city agent's office, and an office for the cashier. All are connected, of course, and have been furnished in a manner that leaves nothing to be desired. The cut which appears in connection with this article, gives a good idea of the extent of the offices, but does not convey any information about the complete and handsome furnishings. Only a visit to the quarters can give that.

The Canada Life Assurance Company, it might be mentioned, is the largest and oldest Canadian life insurance company. Other companies may claim this distinction, but their claims are not based on facts. It was established in 1847 and the head office is at Toronto. At the present day the Canada Life has over $112,000,000 insurance in force, the major portion of it being Canadian business. Recently the company has opened agencies in a few of the northern American States, and in Great Britain. The Canada Life, however, has never gone strong after foreign business, as it is not felt advisable to take risks in countries where the conditions are not similar to those in Canada, and where the rate has to be adjusted to meet such conditions. By confining itself almost entirely to Canada, the Canada Life has been built upon a firm base, and today claims the distinction of being among the most reliable insurance companies in the world.

OF LOCAL INTEREST

Peterborough people are particularly interested in the Canada Life, as local men have been and are, prominently identified with its growth and firm upbuilding. The president, at the present time, is Hon. Senator Cox and the vice-president and general manager is Mr. E. W. Cox, both gentlemen being known to everyone in this city. The secretary of the company, Mr. R. Hills, has held that position for forty years, and the superintendent, Mr. W. T. Ramsay, has been connected with the company many years. It is interesting to note that Hon. Senator Cox was among the first agents of the company, and the story of his connection with the company until he became its chief officer is well known. Senator Cox has been president since 1900. Mr. E. W. Cox has also been connected with the Canada Life for many years. He was associated with Hon. Senator Cox in the management of the Eastern Ontario branch of the company, first at Peterborough and then at Toronto.

The business of the Canada Life is rapidly growing and, at the end of present year, there will be a much larger amount of insurance in force than ever before.

Mr. Salls, the local agent and district manager, is looking for a city manager for Peterborough. He wants a good one—one with experience in the insurance business, and who has executive ability.

Mr. S. G. Salls, a son of the district manager, has been appointed cashier in the local office, and is now filling that position.

MR. S. E. SALLS.

Agent at Peterborough and Manager of the Midland District of the Canada Life Assurance Co.

Mr. S. E. Salls, Peterborough agent, and manager of the Midland district of the Canada Life Assurance Company, was born at Sutton, in the Province of Quebec, and is of U. E. Loyalist descent. He has been connected with the Canada Life since 1891. He first entered the service of the company as City Agent in Toronto, and the following year was appointed special agent for the Ontario County district, and afterwards general agent with considerably increased territory. Later he was appointed manager of the Midland district, comprising his former territory with the addition of Victoria, Haliburton, Peterborough and Durham counties. He has held this position for the past nine years and a few months ago was appointed agent for Peterborough, still retaining the managership of the Midland district.

Mr. Salls' headquarters are now in this city, and he has removed from Toronto, with his family. Having taken the house at 21 Scott street, recently occupied by Mr. D. Hughes-Charles. The place has been remodelled to a considerable extent and numerous improvements made.

Mr. Salls will have completed his nineteenth year in the insurance business during the coming month. He is a wide awake insurance man and under his supervision, the Canada Life should continue to increase its volume of business in Peterborough and the Midland district.

TOO HANDY WITH THE FRYING PAN

John and Arthur Brigau of Seeley's Bay, charged before a justice of peace, with assaulting Constable Thomson, of Gananoque, by striking him in the face with a frying-pan while he was attempting to arrest them for disorderly conduct on the streets a week ago, were fined $20 each, and also paid the constable $3.00 damages, in settlement of his claims.

WATCH CONTEST TO BE HELD AT "THE CRYSTAL"

Hospital Day and Children's Day —Bill Will be Changed Tri-weekly

Manager Edwards, of "The Crystal," intends to give away six ladies' gold watches to those who are fortunate enough to secure the slips entitling them to the handsome timepieces. Commencing Monday next, the watch contest will be held and a numbered slip given away with every admission ticket purchased for "The Crystal." On Saturday night the slips will be placed in a hat and shaken up, and a little girl from the audience will draw one from the hat. The person who holds the duplicate half of the slip will be given the watch. This manner of awarding the watches should not be in any way be compared with a lottery or anything of that character, but is simply a watch contest, and for the slips given away with the tickets nothing is charged, the regular admission price entitling every ticket purchaser to both a ticket and a slip. Mr. Edwards inaugurated this system at his "Theatorium" in Berlin, where it was well received and met with the approval of the best citizens of the western town, many of whom attended his house of amusement while the contest was being held. He is also endeavoring to make arrangements with the local hospital boards to have a "hospital day" at "The Crystal." By this it is meant that the proceeds of all tickets sold for "The Crystal" for the performance on the afternoon of the day chosen, which will probably be the first Wednesday of each month, will be given to the Nicholls and St. Joseph's Shospitals alternately.

On the afternoon of Thursday, Nov. 7th, all children attending "The Crystal" accompanied by their parents, will be admitted free of charge. These children's days will be held at different intervals. The date of the days selected will be made known in due time.

In order that he may better cater to the wishes of his numerous patrons Mr. Edwards has decided to change the bill at "The Crystal" three times a week instead of two, as he has done heretofore.

Cold Settles in Kidneys Pe-ru-na Restores Health

Catarrh of the Kidneys An Insidious Disease.

Many People Have it in Slight Form and Do Not Know It.

Mr. Isaac Rosenzveig, 9 Dumarais street, Montreal, Can., writes:

"About three years ago, I suffered with a bad cold. It settled in the bladder and kidneys, causing serious trouble.

"I tried several advertised remedies, but it was Peruna which finally cured me, and I had taken only a few bottles.

"I feel that it saved me, and it certainly restored me to such perfect health as I had not known in years.

"I have good reason to give your remedy my highest endorsement. It cleaned out the system, leaving me well and strong and feeling better than I have in years."

CATARRH of the kidneys is a very much neglected disease.

It is not until the disease has a firm hold upon the kidneys that the patient begins to realize that there is some derangement of these organs.

The slight backaches, the feelings of lassitude, and other warning symptoms of kidney disease are overlooked.

They are not serious enough to detain the patient from his regular work.

INTERNAL CATARRH REACHES THE KIDNEYS

Even when he discovers that the kidneys are affected, he does not recognize the difficulty as being caused by catarrh.

Catarrh is sometimes so very gradual in its approach and its earlier symptoms cause such slight discomfort that it is not noticed.

However, when it is once firmly seated in the kidneys it becomes a difficult disease to exterminate.

Indeed, catarrh of the kidneys is more serious than catarrh affecting some of the other organs of the body.

In the kidneys it is liable to terminate in Bright's Disease or diabetes, both of which are recognized as very serious ailments, if not fatal.

The thing to be done, when catarrh of the kidneys is discovered, is to take some internal, systemic catarrh remedy, one that reaches the very source of the catarrh and removes the cause of the difficulty.

Such a remedy has been found in Peruna. It reaches catarrh, no matter where it may be located in the body—whether in the more exposed membranes of the nose and throat, or whether in the remotest part of the kidneys.

PE-RU-NA AN INTERNAL CATARRH REMEDY.

That Peruna is at once the safest and most reliable remedy for catarrh of the kidneys is proven by the many testimonials written by those who have experienced its benefits.

The testimonials given here are only specimens of the many testimonials on our records, pertaining to the relief afforded by Peruna in severe cases of kidney trouble.

Kidney Disease of Long Standing.

Mr. Samuel A. Paxton, 1118 Troost Ave., Kansas City, Mo., member I. O. O. F., and National Annuity Association, writes: "I am a well man today, thanks to Peruna. I was troubled with catarrh and kidney disease of long standing when I first began using Peruna."

LOCAL BARBER FINED HEAVILY

Broke the By-law Regarding Closing of Shops

For a breach of the bylaw regarding the closing of barber shops every evening, with the exception of Saturday and previous to a holiday, David Hall, who keeps a barber shop under the Snowden House, was fined five dollars and costs amounting to $9.10 at the police court this morning. The day on which the offence was committed was Tuesday, October 29. He pleaded not guilty.

John Menzies was the first witness called. He said that he knew the defendant. He was at his barber shop on Tuesday night. He tried the door of Irwin's barber shop, but it was locked. He then went on to Hall's and got a shave. Witness could not say what time it was. It was at or about 8 o'clock.

Mr. Geo. Irwin said that he closed his shop at 198 Charlotte street, at three minutes after eight o'clock. When Mr. Menzies tried witnessed shop door it was ten minutes after eight. Witness and two others saw him go in Hall's shop and get shaved.

His Worship produced the bylaw on which was shown Mr. Hall's signature. No defence was offered and His Worship imposed a fine of $5 and costs.

ON HIS ANNUAL VISIT

Mr. Wm. Staunton is up from Peterborough, on his annual visit to his daughter, Mrs. (Capt.) T. W. Wood. It is fifteen years since Mr. Staunton removed from Orillia, and he notes many changes for the better here, but speaks in most optimistic terms of Peterborough, where many acres of land within the city limits, in pasture about seven or eight years ago, are now thickly built upon.—Orillia News-Letter.

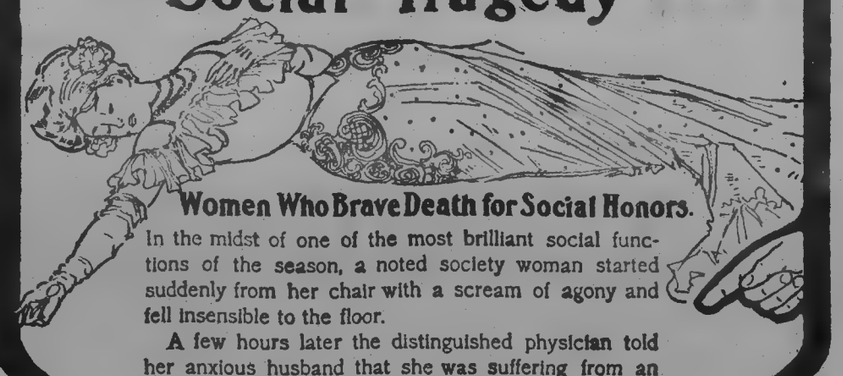
Social Tragedy



Women Who Brave Death for Social Honors.

In the midst of one of the most brilliant social functions of the season, a noted society woman started suddenly from her chair with a scream of agony and fell insensible to the floor.

A few hours later the distinguished physician told her anxious husband that she was suffering from an acute case of nervous prostration brought on by female trouble, and hinted at an operation. Fortunately a friend advised her to try

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The result was that she escaped the surgeon's knife and to-day is a well woman.

The derangement of the delicate female organism sets every nerve in the body quivering with pain. Headaches, backaches, torturing bearing down pains and dragging sensations make women nervous and hysterical.

Mrs. T. E. Gillis, of Windsor, N. S., writes:

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—When I commenced to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was suffering with weakness and female trouble, headaches, backaches, and that worn-out, tired feeling. I have only taken the Vegetable Compound a few short weeks, and it has made me well, strong and robust. I believe that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is without equal for female troubles.

Mrs. Laura Emmons, President Loyal Home Workers, Walkerville, Ont., writes:

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM,—I am enjoying such good health that I feel it a duty to write and thank you for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered for more than five years with functional troubles, causing an unpleasant discharge and weakness which no amount of medicine, diet or exercise seemed to correct. Your Vegetable Compound, however, reached the root of my trouble, cured me and made me strong, healthy and well. I want to say to every suffering woman, don't daily with medicines you know nothing about, but take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Pinkham's advice is free to all. Her address is Lynn, Mass.

Bad Smash on the C. P. R. Four Miles East of Regina

Two Killed and Many Injured in Head-On Crash.

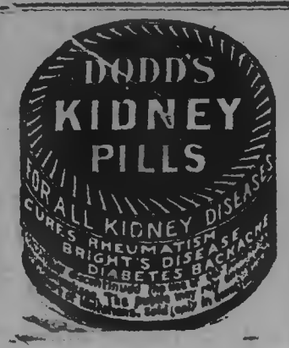
Moose Jaw Local Train Ran Into a Westbound Freight—Engines Driven Through Each Other — Cars Completely Telescoped and Thrown From Rails — Blunder Apparently the Cause—Was Running Late.

Regina, Nov. 1.—As a result of a head-on collision between the eastbound Moose Jaw local and a westbound freight on the Canadian Pacific Railway, N. J. Robinson, express messenger, of Winnipeg, and Fireman Charles Britt were instantly killed and many were seriously injured, with dozens of people badly shaken up. The wreck occurred four miles east of Regina on the main line on Wednesday. The eastbound local, running a few minutes late, crashed into the westbound freight. The two engines were driven through each other to the piston heads, and the tenders were lifted clear off the rails. Baggage and express cars were badly smashed up, the former being thrown from the rails and the latter completely telescooping the tender of the passenger engine.

The cause of the wreck is not yet apparent, but it is plain that someone has blundered, and Coroner Thomson, who was early on the scene, has made arrangements for holding an inquest over the bodies.

A. E. Emslie of Winnipeg, mail clerk, was seriously hurt. The dead men are Charles Britt, fireman of engine No. 470, pulling the passenger train, and N. J. Robinson of Winnipeg, express messenger. Robinson died before he was removed from the car to be taken to the hospital. He is a married man with two children and well known here and in Winnipeg. Supt. Brownlee, Mr. Price and the railway officials have gone down with the wrecking crew from Moose Jaw. The injured are: A. E. Emslie, mail clerk, of Winnipeg, who may die, and George Hinchey, the engineer, who will recover.

Fireman Britt was a young Englishman and had been employed by the C. P. R. since coming to Canada four years ago. Engineer Hinchey, who was terribly scalded and cut, formerly ran out of Ignace, Ont. He was one of the oldest drivers on the road.



RUSSIAN GIRL HANGED.

Execution Carried Out In Spite of Victim's Express Wish.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 1.—Mlle. Ragozinnikova, who, on Oct. 28, killed Gen. Maximoffsky, director of the Department of Prisons of the Ministry of the Interior, was hanged yesterday morning.

The woman was born in the Province of Perm, and was the daughter of a teacher in the Imperial Conservatory of Music.

She was tried by court-martial Oct. 29 in the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul, was sentenced the same day to death by hanging, and the warrant for her execution was signed on Wednesday by Gen. Hasfkampf, chief of the St. Petersburg military district, in spite of the wishes of Gen. Maximoffsky, who, when he had been taken to the hospital of the Grand Duchess Catherine Pavione, after being shot, expressed a desire that the woman be not executed.

Jury Blames Corporation.

Pottstown, Pa., Nov. 1.—An unusual verdict was rendered by the coroner's jury Wednesday on the accident in which four persons in an automobile were killed at a Reading railway grade crossing here two weeks ago. The verdict in part says:

"That Chief Burgess Hiram Cotter and the 20 councilmen of the borough are morally guilty of negligence, if not culpably, in allowing trains to run at the rate of 50 miles an hour over grade crossings within the borough, day and night, without compelling adequate safeguards for the traveling public."

The jury also expresses the opinion that the automobile was running at too great speed.

Ambassador Bryce Honored.

J., Nov. 1.—Before the faculty and board of trustees, and the under-graduates of Princeton University, Ambassador Bryce of Great Britain at noon yesterday presented to the university a replica of the famous "Turnbull Sundial" at Corpus Christi College, Oxford, England, the gift of Sir William Mather, M. P. Brief addresses were made by Ambassador Bryce and President Wilson. Before the exercises, Ambassador Bryce received the honorary degree of doctor of laws.

Fifteen persons were buried alive at Koratogh, in Russian Turkestan, by a landslide, caused by an earthquake.

NOTED ACTOR IS MISSING.

Charged With Criminal Assault Raymond Hitchcock Has Disappeared.

New York, Nov. 1.—A general police alarm was sent out Wednesday night for the arrest of Raymond Hitchcock, the actor, against whom the grand jury returned six indictments Wednesday night for criminal assault and abduction, after hearing the testimony of three little girls.

The order, which required the officers to watch all outgoing trains and steamers, described the indicted man as about 40 years of age, with light hair and blue eyes.

Hitchcock was recently arrested on a similar charge, and after preliminary examination in the Police Court was released under $3,000 bonds, pending a further hearing.

The girls, Elsie Voecks, Helen Von Hagen and Flora Wishton, aged from 12 to 15 years, who figured in the original case, were taken before the grand jury. It was upon their testimony that the six indictments were returned.

Hitchcock has been playing the leading role at a Broadway theatre, but did not appear at the matinee Wednesday, and it was said that he had been dropped from the cast. The theatre management said that Hitchcock's name would not be on the bills.

Late Wednesday night Hitchcock had not been found. Recently Hitchcock caused the arrest of a brother of the Voecks girl, who, he alleged, had attempted to blackmail him by threatening to cause the publication of matter reflecting upon the actor. Friends of Voecks and others interested in the case then brought the action which resulted in Hitchcock's arrest.

Under this extension Manitoba will have 200,000 square miles added to her area.

MANY HUNDREDS KILLED

Buried Alive in Landslide at Karatagh in Russia.

Town Almost Crushed Out of Sight—Only Few Survivors Left to Tell the Tale—Aftermath of Earthquake Shocks—Huge Rocks Thundered Down With Scarcely a Moment's Warning.

Taskhend, Russian Turkestan, Nov. 1.—The little town of Karatagh, in the Hissar district of Bokhara, has been overwhelmed and completely destroyed by a landslide which followed the earthquake of Oct 21. According to the latest reports of the disaster a majority of the inhabitants of Karatagh lost their lives.

The first reports of the casualties were exaggerated, the death list being placed as high as 15,000. Karatagh has about 2,500 dwellers, and there is reason to believe that about 1,500 were buried alive. Among those who survived the disaster are the Governor of Karatagh and his mother.

Karatagh is remotely situated, and it takes a full week for news to come from there, and according to one courier who arrived, an enormous section of the Karatagh Mountain, which practically hung over the town, broke loose and thundered down upon the village, which it has almost completely buried from sight.

Efforts are being made to communicate with the survivors and learn the actual state of affairs, and send in such relief as may be required.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 1.—Up to a late hour last night no further news of the Karatagh disaster had been received here. It is thought in St. Petersburg that the magnitude of the disaster had been greatly exaggerated and that the number of victims is more likely fifteen hundred than fifteen thousand, as at first reported. Karatagh is a small town in the Hissar district. It is noted for its manufactures of sabres, cutlery and fine silks, and is used as a summer resort by the people of Hissar, a somewhat larger town and capital of the district of Hissar. Karatagh is situated in a mountainous country at an elevation of 2,500 feet above sea level.

HAMILTON ROAD RACE.

Herald's Long Distance Event Captured by Coley of Toronto.

Hamilton, Nov. 1.—Toronto won unusual honors yesterday in The Hamilton Herald's road race, invading the home of long-distance runners and winning first and third. The winner proved to be Thomas Coley, who wore the colors of I. C. A. C., Toronto, his time for the 19 miles, 168 yards being 1.49.07, or just 24 seconds below the record made in 1904 by Sam Mellor, Yonkers, N. Y. The second man was Fred Simpson, an Indian from Peterboro, who looked so much like Tom Longboat that many mistook him for the famous runner; he came second about three minutes behind the winner, and Harry Lawson, Toronto West End Y. M. C. A., was right on Simpson's heels, being only 27 seconds behind the Indian. There were 27 starters.

Guns For Brazil.

London, Nov. 1.—It was rumored here recently that the new British battleship of the Dreadnought type, were to have 13.5-inch instead of 12-inch guns. It was known that such guns were being constructed. It now appears, however, that they are for the two Brazilian battleships, the orders for which have been placed with the Armstrongs.

The gigantic guns mark a notable step in naval construction and armament. They will be mounted in special barbettes and so arranged that they will be able to concentrate their fire on either broadside. It is declared that the piercing power of the shells thrown by those great guns will be greater than that of any others now in use.

Starts 26-Day Walk.

Portland, Me., Nov. 1.—Planning to duplicate his feat of forty years ago, of walking 1,230 miles to Chicago in 23 days, Edward Payson Weston started in a driving rainstorm at 8 o'clock last night from the Portland postoffice amid the cheers and good wishes of a thousand spectators. He is 69 years old.

Weston expects to arrive at the Chicago postoffice on Thursday, Nov. 28, at 2 p. m., averaging 50 miles a day. He will go by way of Boston, Troy, Utica, Syracuse, Buffalo, Toledo and Cleveland.

Scalped by a Fan.

Pittsburg, Nov. 1.—While seeking warmth and shelter in the basement of the Sherwood School Wednesday afternoon, Patrick McGrath, 68 years old, and said to be homeless, was probably fatally injured. His scalp was torn from his head when he was struck by the blades of a ventilating fan. He had been groping his way along the basement corridor when he stumbled against the revolving fan. Schoolboys found him lying unconscious on the floor. He was taken to St. Bernard's Hospital.

Russian Exiles Coming.

Vancouver, Nov. 1.—Russian agents purchased 4,000 acres in Kootenay Valley, on which to settle 2,000 Russians, mostly prisoners of war and exiles. Many will arrive in Vancouver in December.

The Salvation Army is bringing a special shipmen of 250 girls to Vancouver.

Three Indians Murdered.

FIGHT WITH MUTINEERS.

Crew of Torpedo Destroyer Open Fire on Town In Russia.

Vladivostock, Nov. 1.—The crew of a Russian torpedo-boat destroyer mutinied on Wednesday and bombarded the Admiralty offices and other Government buildings. The soldiers in the fort replied to the fire. The mutineers finally were subdued, but not before a number of men had been killed or wounded.

The mutinous boat is the Skory, and gave fight to the gunboat Mandschur, the destroyers Garsovos, Smely and Serditza and the garrison of one of the harbor forts, manned by the Twelfth Regiment of Artillery. The Skory soon was overwhelmed, and she had to be beached to save her from sinking. This was not accomplished, however, before her guns had done considerable damage, and several officers and men of the other ships had been killed or wounded.

The crew of the Skory were incited by agitators, including some Jews who had managed to get on board and take charge of the destroyer. She steamed out into the harbor with the red flag flying, and at once opened fire on the town and forts. A gunboat and three destroyers went out to engage her, and with the aid of the forts soon had her riddled and helpless. She then turned and ran through the surf and was beached.

Those of the crew who had not been killed or wounded by the gunfire were arrested by soldiers as they made their way to land. Among the men killed are Capt. Kurosch, commander of the torpedo boat Ravy, and Lieut. Stoer, commander of the Skory; Lieut. Vassilief, commander of the Serditza, was wounded. Several people in Vladivostock were killed by shells from the Skory. The town has been declared in a state of siege.

DIGS UP GIRL'S BODY.

Neapolitan, Heartbroken Over Bereavement Takes Corpse Home.

Naples, Nov. 1.—A particularly gruesome story has come to light in this city. Elisa Scalisi, a beautiful young woman, was engaged to be married to a young man named Alessandro, but she died a few days before the date set for the ceremony and was buried in a local cemetery.

Alessandro was heartbroken over his bereavement, and one night he dug up the body and carried it to his lodging. He embalmed the corpse of the young woman, dressed it in its bridal clothes and kept it in his rooms for a fortnight.

Neighbors finally grew curious from the fact that the young man never went abroad, and peeping one day through his shuttered window, they say Alessandro seated alongside the dead body of the woman, who was to have been his wife, affectionately holding her hand.

The police were informed and Alessandro was arrested. The body has been buried a second time.

Letter 15 Years on Way.

Pittsburg, Nov. 1.—Mailed on Dec. 2, 1892, from Harsville, Germany, a letter arrived Wednesday at the Greenock postoffice for Jacob Diehl. Fourteen years 10 months and 25 days were taken up in the transmission of the communication which related to the distribution of the $5,000 estate of Mrs. Diehl's father, and the delay caused Mrs. Diehl to receive a smaller portion of the estate.

The letter was addressed to Emblem, which is across the Yonghiogheny River from Greenock, the latter town being six miles from McKeesport. Formerly Emblem had a postoffice, but years ago is was transferred to Greenock.

Diehl lived within a stone's throw the postoffice and visited it daily. Wednesday the building was torn down and the letter found. The writing could be easily read, although the paper was yellow with age.

Shocking Elevator Accident.

Poughkeepsie, Nov. 1.—Employes of the wood-working department of the factory of Adrian C. Platt & Co., manufacturers of harvesting machinery, were horrified yesterday to see one of their number decapitated by an elevator. The beheaded man was Christian Eckardt, aged 61 years. He started over two folding trap doors as the elevator came up and was caught between the elevator platform and the wall.

While his body lay prostrate on the floor his head was carried up on the elevator. Several workmen who witnessed the accident fainted.

$30,000 Fire at Hamilton.

The Prisoner of Zenda

By ANTHONY HOPE

Copyrighted, 1894, 1898, by Henry Holt & Company

We could distinguish the approaching party now. There came first two mounted servants in black uniforms, relieved only by a silver badge. These were followed by a car drawn by four horses. On it, under a heavy pall, lay a coffin. Behind it rode a man in plain black clothes, carrying his hat in his hand. Sapt uncovered, and we stood waiting, Flavia keeping by me and laying her hand on my arm.

"It is one of the gentlemen killed in the quarrel, I expect," she said.

I beckoned to a groom.

"Ride and ask whom they escort," I ordered.

He rode up to the servants, and I saw him pass on to the gentleman who rode behind.

"It's Rupert of Hentzau," whispered Sapt.

Rupert it was, and directly afterward, waving to the procession to stand still, Rupert trotted up to me. He was in a frock coat, tightly buttoned, and trousers. He wore an aspect of sadness, and he bowed with profound respect. Yet suddenly he smiled, and I smiled, too, for old Sapt's hand lay in his left breast pocket, and Rupert and I both guessed what lay in the hand inside the pocket.

"Your majesty asks whom we escort," said Rupert. "It is my dear friend Albert of Lauengram."

"Sir," said I, "no one regrets the unfortunate affair more than I. My ordinance, which I mean to have obeyed, is witness to it."

"Poor fellow!" said Flavia softly, and I saw Rupert's eyes flash at her, whereat I grew red, for if I had my way Rupert Hentzau should not have defiled her by so much as a glance. Yet he did it and dared to let admiration be seen in his look.

"Your majesty's words are gracious," he said. "I grieve for my friend, yet, sire, others must soon lie as he lies now."

"It is a thing we all do well to remember, my lord," I rejoined.

"Even kings, sire," said Rupert in a moralizing tone, and old Sapt swore softly by my side.

"It is true," said I. "How fares my brother, my lord?"

"He is better, sire."

"I am rejoiced."

"He hopes soon to leave for Strelsau, when his health is secured."

"He is only convalescent, then?"

"There remain one or two small troubles," answered the insolent fellow in the mildest tone in the world.

"Express my earnest hope," said Flavia, "that they may soon cease to trouble him."

"Your royal highness' wish is humbly my own," said Rupert, with a bold glance that brought a blush to Flavia's cheek.

I bowed, and Rupert, bowing lower, backed his horse and signed to his party to proceed. With a sudden impulse I rode after him. He turned swiftly, fearing that even in the presence of the dead and before a lady's eyes I meant mischief.

"You fought as a brave man the other night," I said. "Come, you are young, sir. If you will deliver your prisoner alive to me you shall come to no hurt."

He looked at me with a mocking smile, but suddenly he rode nearer to me.

"I'm unarmed," he said, "and our old Sapt there could pick me off in a minute."

"I'm not afraid," said I.

"No, curse you!" he answered. "Look here, I made you a proposal from the duke once."

"I'll hear nothing from Black Michael," said I.

"Then hear one from me." He lowered his voice to a whisper. "Attack the castle boldly. Let Sapt and Tarlenheim lead."

"Go on," said I.

"Arrange the time with me."

"I have such confidence in you, my lord!"

"Tut! I'm talking business now. Sapt there and Fritz will fall; Black Michael will fall"—

"What!"

"Black Michael will fall, like the dog he is; the prisoner, as you call him, will go by Jacob's ladder—ah, you know that? Two men will be left—I, Rupert Hentzau, and you, the king of Ruritania."

He paused, and then in a voice that quivered with eagerness added:

"Isn't that a hand to play?—a throne and yon princess! And for me, say a competence and your majesty's gratitude."

"Get out of my reach!" said I, and yet in a moment I began to laugh for the very audacity of it.

"Would you turn against your master?" I asked.

He swore at Michael and said to me in an almost confidential and apparently friendly tone:

"He gets in my way, you know. He's a jealous brute! Faith, I negrly stuck a knife into him last night. He came most cursedly mal apropos."

My temper was well under control now. I was learning something.

"A lady?" I asked negligently.

"Aye, and a beauty," he nodded. "But you've seen her."

"Ah! Was it at a tea party, when some of your friends got on the wrong side of the table?"

"What can you expect of fools like Detchard and De Gautet? I wish I'd been there."

"And the duke interferes?"

"Well," said Rupert meditatively, "that's hardly a fair way of putting it, perhaps. I want to interfere."

"And she prefers the duke?"

"Aye, the silly creature! Ah, well, you think about my plan," and, with a bow, he pricked his horse and trotted after the body of his friend.

I went back to Flavia and Sapt, pondering on the strangeness of the man. Wicked men I have known in plenty, but Rupert Hentzau remains unique in my experience. And if there be another anywhere let him be caught and hanged out of hand. So say I.

"He's very handsome, isn't he?" said Flavia.

Well, of course, she didn't know him as I did, yet I was put out, for I thought his bold glances would have made her angry. But my dear Flavia was a woman, and so—she was not put out. On the contrary, she thought young Rupert was very handsome—as, beyond question, the ruffian was.

"And how sad he looked at his friend's death!" said she.

"He'll have better reason to be sad at his own," observed Sapt, with a grim smile.

As for me, I grew sulky. Unreasonable it was, perhaps, for what better business had I to look at her with love than had even Rupert? And sulky I remained till, as evening fell and we rode up to Tarlenheim, Sapt having fallen behind in case any one should be following us, Flavia, riding close beside me, said softly, with a little half ashamed laugh:

"Unless you smile, Rudolf, I cry. Why are you angry?"

"It was something that fellow said to me," said I, but I was smiling as we reached the doors and dismounted.

There a servant handed me a note. It was unaddressed.

"Is it for me?" I asked.

"Yes, sire; a boy brought it."

I tore it open:

Johann carries this for me. I warned you once. In the name of God and if you are a man, rescue me from this den of murderers! A. DE M.

I handed it to Sapt, but all that the tough old soul said in reply to this piteous appeal was:

"Whose fault brought her there?"

Nevertheless, not being faultless myself, I took leave to pity Antoinette de Mauban.

CHAPTER XVI.

AS I had ridden publicly in Zenda and had talked with Rupert Hentzau, of course all pretense of illness was at an end. I marked the effect on the garrison of Zenda. They ceased to be seen abroad, and any of my men who went near the castle reported that the utmost vigilance prevailed there. Touched as I was by Mme. de Mauban's appeal, I seemed as powerless to befriend her as I had proved to help the king. Michael bade me defiance, and, although he, too, had been seen outside the walls, with more disregard for appearances than he had hitherto shown, he did not take the trouble to send any excuse for his failure to wait on the king.

Time ran on in inactivity when every moment was pressing, for not only was I faced with the new danger which the stir about my own disappearance brought on me, but great murmurs had arisen in Strelsau at my continued absence from the city. They had been greater but for the knowledge that Flavia was with me, and for this reason I suffered her to stay, though I hated to have her where danger was and though every day of our present sweet intercourse strained my endurance almost to breaking. As a final blow nothing would content my advisers, Strakenz and the chancellor, who came out from Strelsau to make an urgent representation to me, save that I should appoint a day for the public solemnization of my betrothal, a ceremony which in Ruritania is well nigh as binding and great a thing as the marriage itself. And this, with Flavia sitting by me, I was forced to do, setting a date a fortnight ahead and appointing the cathedral in Strelsau as the place. And this formal act, being published far and wide, caused great joy throughout the kingdom and was the talk of all tongues, so that I reckoned there were but two men who chafed at it—I mean Black Michael and myself—and but one who did not know of it—that one the man whose name I bore, the king of Ruritania.

HARTLEY'S GREAT WALK.

Completes 132 Miles In Just Over 34 Hours.

Peterboro, Nov. 1.—Amid great excitement David Hartley, Peterboro's long distance walker, wended his way into the Munro House at 4.08 yesterday afternoon, having completed a walk of 132 miles in 34 hours and 8 minutes. He clipped two hours and 13 minutes off the recent performance of Jimmie Reynolds of Port Hope for the same distance of 132 miles.

Hartley finished in good form and is little the worse after his long journey. He started Wednesday morning at 6 o'clock at a point one mile west of Oshawa, reached the King Edward, Toronto, at 12.26 and left on his return trip at 1.20. He reached Bowmanville at 12.22 Wednesday night and landed in Port Hope at 6 o'clock yesterday morning. After resting an hour at the Queen's he set out for Peterboro at 7 o'clock.

Hartley is 54 years old, a painter, and has long been noted as a very fast and strong walker.

Rogers' attorneys announced that they will carry the case to the Court of Appeals.

SAVED PUPILS' LIVES

A Saskatoon School Principal Averts Serious Disaster.

Several Hundred Children In Danger From Runaway Horses — Heavy Team Was Dashing Down Upon Them — Teacher Waved a Large Union Jack and Caused Them to Swerve From Their Course.

Saskatoon, Nov. 1.—A serious accident was narrowly avoided on Wednesday afternoon by the heroic conduct and great presence of mind of Principal Irvine of the King Edward school.

As the children from the school, some three or four hundred in numbers, were about to cross the railway track on 23rd street, on their way to participate in the opening ceremonies at the Alexandra School in Saskatoon West, a team of runaway horses was noticed heading at breakneck speed straight in the direction of the group of school children.

Mr. Irvine at once seized a large Union Jack, which one of the pupils was carrying, and pushing his way towards the horses, vigorously waved it before the animals with such good effect that they swerved around and headed in another direction.

The horses had almost reached the children, and had it not been for the prompt action of the principal there is not the least doubt but that there would have been a dozen or more seriously and perhaps fatally injured, if not killed.

LED DOUBLE LIFE.

Boston Physician Suicides Through Fear of Exposure.

Boston, Nov. 1.—That fear of exposure of the dual life he was leading caused the suicide of Dr. Albert Cushman Day of Brooklyn, N. Y., the young staff physician of the Boston City Hospital, who shot himself in the woods at West Roxbnry, Friday, two days after his clandestine marriage to Miss Estelle Maud Callahan of Edgewood, R. I., a trained nurse, was made certain last night by the discovery that the young doctor already had a wife who was about to bring proceedings against him upon the announcement of his recent marriage.

It was learned that Dr. Day was married on March 16, 1904, at Brockton, by a justice of the peace, to Miss Martina Thompson, aged 16, a daughter of William A. Thompson of West Roxbury, where Dr. Day made his home. The marriage was kept secret, as Dr. Day stated he wished to complete his medical course and hospital work before having his marriage made known to his family.

INFLUX OF JAPS.

Boarding-House Keepers Have Contracts With Railways.

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 1.—W. L. Mackenzie King, Deputy Minister of Labor, who is investigating the claims of Japanese arising out of the recent riots, has secured evidence showing the existence of a system employed by boarding-housekeepers to bring Jap laborers into the country.

Four organizations here, who have contracts with the railway companies and others to supply laborers, deal with similar companies in Japan. The immigrants are taken care of by boarding-housekeepers here who supply them with work, and take about ten per cent. wages as long as they are on the job. The men have also to pay the companies in Japan.

Thaw's Defence Insanity.

New York, Nov. 1.—Announcement was made yesterday that insanity is to be the plea in the defence of Harry Kendall Thaw, whose second trial for the slaying of Stanford White will begin on Dec. 2 next.

Martin W. Littleton, chief counsel for Thaw, it is stated, has decided on this course. He is said to be convinced that Thaw is insane. Ever since he took charge of the case, it is said, Mr. Littleton has given the question of Thaw's mentality careful study. He has traced the Thaw family tree, and, it is said, has decided that the insanity of Thaw may have been an inheritance.

Bank Cashier Swallowed Poison.

Desmoines, Ia., Nov. 1.—Frank Croker, cashier of the First National Savings Bank of Choriton, committed suicide by taking poison early yesterday. The bank is closed, but is believed to be in good shape. An investigation will be made.

Worry over losses from alleged use of Modern Woodmen funds is believed to have been the cause of the suicide. Croker left a note saying: "I can't bear this strain any longer."

Killed Canadian Woman.

Washington, Nov. 1.—The War Department has been notified that the civil authorities at Detroit have decided to drop all proceedings against Pte. Cyrus Gillette, a soldier in the United States army, who accidentally shot and killed a young Canadian woman while firing at a fleeing deserter at Fort Brady several months ago, and that Gillette has been returned to the military authorities.

British Officers Arrested.

Pretoria, Nov. 1.—Two British officers and a civilian have been arrested for desecrating the grave of President Kruger in the cemetery here some days ago. It is alleged that their action was a drunken freak.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—London cables are firmer at 10c to 12¼c per lb., dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted to 10c per lb.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, Oct. 31.—Receipts of live stock at the City Market, since Tuesday, as reported by the railways, were 129 carloads, composed of 1546 cattle, 1725 hogs on the market and 1400 hogs to packers direct, 3605 sheep and lambs, and 179 calves.

Exporters.

Only a few export bulls were on sale, and there were quoted at $3.50 to $3.75 per cwt.

Butchers.

One choice picked load was sold by Crawford & Hunnisett to the Harris Abattoir Company at $5.15 per cwt.; loads of good, $4.25 to $4.40; medium, $3.75 to $4.15; common, $2.50 to $3.50; good to choice cows, $3.40 to $4; common cows, canner bulls, $1 to $2.25.

Feeders and Stockers.

H. & W. Murby report a falling off in the receipts of stockers and feeders this week, with prices about holding their own with last week's quotations.

Messrs. Murby bought about 200 head this week at the following quotations: Best feeders, 1000 to 1100 lbs., at $3.25 to $3.60; best stockers, 800 to 900 lbs., at $2.50 to $2.65; best stockers, 600 to 800 lbs., at $2.25 to $2.60; medium stockers, 600 to 800 lbs., at $2 to $2.25; common stockers, 500 to 700 lbs., at $1.50 to $1.75.

Milkers and Springers.

Trade was good all week for choice milkers and forward springers promising to have good milking qualities. These sold from $40 to $60, and one at $67, the bulk of the best sold around $50 each. Medium cows, $30 to $35, and common to inferior at $15 to $25. These were hard to sell and not wanted.

Veal Calves.

Trade was slow for veal calves. Prices ranged from $2.50 to $6.50 per cwt., the bulk selling at $4.75 to $5.75 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

The general quality of sheep and lambs was not good. Trade slow, with prices easier for the bulk. Export ewes, $4.25 to $4.40; rams and culls, $3 to $3.50; lambs, $4 to $5.25 per cwt.

Hogs.

There have been fairly liberal receipts of hogs during the week, and packers report that prices will go lower. Like every other class of live stock, the farmers are not finishing their hogs. There were some hogs on the market to-day that were standard weights, that, when killed, would not have enough fat in them to fry the meat. This class of hogs the packer does not need, nor wont have; they are, to say the least, discreditable to the farmer that raised them, and certainly do not reflect any credit on the drover that buys them. These hogs are being rigorously culled out by the packers, and drovers are being notified not to handle them. Prices were quoted to-day by Mr. Harris at $5.12½ for properly finished hogs, with a prospect of lower quotations.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, N.Y., Oct. 31.—Cattle—Receipts, 150 head; slow; prime steers, $5.65 to $6.25.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 6000 head; active; sheep steady; lambs, 15c higher; lambs, $5 to $6.75; Canada lambs, $6.25 to $6.65.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Beeves—Receipts, 540; no trading of importance; feeling steady; exports to-day, 4250 quarters of beef to Liverpool.

Calves — Receipts, 235; veals steady; grassers and western calves slow; veals sold at $5 to $9.50 per 100 pounds; western calves, prime to choice lightweights, at $5 to $5.

Dear Sir,—I have much pleasure in acknowledging the receipt of the cheque for $1,244 being the amount paid me on the maturity of my endowment policy, 35390, in your Company which matured on the 1st inst.

I find I have received almost 4 per cent. compound interest on every dollar paid in to the Company and in addition have had free insurance for the past fifteen years.

Such a result speaks volumes for the management of your company and far exceeds my expectations and I would be ungrateful indeed were I not to acknowledge it.

I was also offered a paid-up policy of $2,078, or an annuity for life of $111.55, both of which I consider excellent.

I thank you very much indeed and wish your company the continued success and confidence it so richly deserves.

Yours very truly,

Sixty Men are Carrying on Operations

Outside Construction Work of Machine Telephone Company in Full Swing

Good headway is being made in the outside construction work of the Canadian Machine Telephone Company in Lindsay, and Superintendent Lytle has a gang of sixty men putting in the underground service. There is more underground work being done there in proportion to the size of the town than was performed in connection with the installation of the service in Peterborough. A site for the Lindsay office has been purchased on William street, next door to the Lindsay Post building, and it is expected that building operations will commence on the office by the end of the week. The office, when constructed, will be about the same size as the one in Peterborough, but will have the advantage of being a fire-proof structure. It will have a frontage of twenty-three feet, and a depth of fifty-two and will be two storeys high in front, and one in the rear.

Mr. Lytle in conversation with the Review yesterday, said that labor was pretty scarce in Lindsay, and the about 35 laborers had to be imported from Peterborough. Mr. Al. Jones, of this city, is foreman of trench work, and Mr. W. Trout is laying conduits. Mr. Dan McCabe, a former resident of Peterborough, but who has more recently made Brantford his place of abode, occupies the position of stores keeper.

Shortly after the first of next year the system of communication by Machine telephone will probably be established in Lindsay. Mr. Lytle says the people of that town are taking kindly to the system, and are enthusiastic over its success.

When the underground work is finished the pole work, which is already pretty well under way, will be completed.

Annual Meeting Was Adjourned

Young Conservative Club Will Meet Next Thursday Night

The annual meeting of the Young Conservative Club, which was to have been held yesterday afternoon was, after some discussion postponed until Thursday night next, Nov. 7th, at eight o'clock.

Mr. J. G. M. Wilson presided and considering the counter attractions and the attendant excitement outside, there was a large attendance. The Club has had a very good year Yesterday several substantial Thanksgiving donations were made to the organization by prominent members.

Just as the business was about to proceed, David Hartley, the pedestrian was seen coming up the street. The cheering and general enthusiasm proved to be too much for several members, who desired to get out and see this famous walking painter finish.

It was then decided to adjourn until next Thursday evening, when officers will be elected and other business attended to. A full attendance is requested.

The steamship Collingwood was launched at Collingwood.

The two-year-old daughter of Rev. T. A. Rodger of Orillia, is in a critical condition from drinking poison.

DAVID HARTLEY CLIPS OVER TWO HOURS OFF THE 128 MILE WALKING RECORD

Arrived at Peterborough Last Evening at 4:06, Making the Same Distance as That Covered by Jimmy Reynolds, in 2 Hours, 15 Minutes Less Time—Finished Fresh and Fast and Was Given Great Reception.

The man David Hartley, Peterborough. Aged 54 years.

Distance—128 miles.

Time—34 hours, 6 minutes.

The course—Started at a point one mile west of Oshawa and thirty-two miles west of Port Hope and the same distance east of Toronto. From the starting point Hartley went to the King Edward hotel, Toronto, then back to Port Hope, and from Port Hope to the Munro house, Peterborough.

Start was made at 6 o'clock Wednesday morning, Toronto was reached at 12.28 noon; Port Hope at six o'clock yesterday morning and Peterborough at 4.06 last evening.

Jimmy Reynolds time for the same distance was 36 hours, 21 minutes. Hartley cuts this down by 2 hours and 15 minutes.

David Hartley is a wonder. a champion and a record smasher all in one.

The fifty-four year old Peterborough pedestrian has slashed two hours and 15 minutes off Jimmy Reynolds' walking record for 128 miles and has eta perhaps a mark the few other men in the world can equal.

Wearing one of the blue sweaters of the Peterborough hockey team, with the word "Peterborough" across the breast, David Hartley walked up Hunter street yesterday afternoon with a brass band playing a lively air ahead of him and thousands of people in the streets cheering themselves hoarse. He walked into the Munro house and wrote his name on the register at six minutes after four o'clock according to the watch of the timekeeper for the trip, Mr. Geo. Stevens. Outside, the people glanced at the post office clock where the hands registered eight minutes past four. The official time for the trip however, must be taken as 34 hours 6 minutes, as the start of the walk was recorded according to the timekeepers watch.

WAS NOT EXPECTED.

Some people in Peterborough thought that Hartley would make the distance in the time specified, some thought he would do it in a longer time, but no one had the faintest idea that the would slice over two hours from Reynolds' record. When the Port Hope barber walked 138 miles in 36 hours 21 minutes the feat was recorded as something marvelous. If Rweynolds' record was marvelous what must Hartley's be? All honor to Peterborough's walking painter. He has made the country sit up and take notice.

Hartley finished in a wonderful manner. Leaving Port Hope at 7 o'clock yesterday morning, he was three miles from his destination about three- thirty, after stopping an hour at Bailieboro. At 2.10 a telephone message was received from Springville that Hartley had passed there and when this was bulletined at the newspaper offices people began to move out to the part of the city where Hartley would enter and far out on the Gravel road to meet him as he approached. On foot, on bicycles and in buggies, scores went out the road. A Review representartive walked out about three miles and when he met Hartley the walker was accompanied by six or seven buggies and about fifty person on foot or riding bicycles. Hartley was being paced by Charlie Stevens and Mark Spencley, the latter having walked out four or five miles to meet the walker. George Stevens, who acted as timekeeper, was driving the buggy about ten yards ahead of the walker and shouted words of encouragement. Hartley was walking rapidly with his head erect and showing little signs of fatigue except for his eyes being dull and partly closed at times, from lack of sleep no doubt. "Come on Davie, only three miles more," shouted Mr. Stevens and Hartley commenced to let out. He was taking short, quick steps and his body swayed but little. To look at him a person would think he was moving only slow, but such was not found to be the case when one started to walk beside him. As the city drew nearer the crowd along the road increased and as Hartley came up the people, men and women, boys and girls, swung into line in front, behind, along side the hero of the hour until there were several hundred on the march. And Hartley literally walked them off their feet. Some had to run to keep up while there was none who did not have to let out to stay with the walker. The third mile outside the city Hartley finished in seventeen minutes, the second in twelve minutes, and the last in ten minutes, truly a wonderful pace for a man who had gone over 125 miles.

STREETS WERE FILLED

Around the bend and up Charlotte street the procession swung, the street being filled with buggies, bicycles and people on foot until it became difficult to keep the way clear for the record breaker. Hartley was cheered and cheered by the people along the street and when half way on Charlotte street a brass band in a bus struck up a lively air the enthusiasm broke loose. A steady cheer went up men waved their hats and women their handkerchiefs. Hartley had been walking fast before; now he was travelling at a pace that made everyone run. Around on to George street the band waggon swung with the team on the trot and Hartley close behind. Up George street, filled with a surging crowd of cheering humanity they went, then east on to Hunter street and in front of the Munro house, where Hartley was billed to finish, the biggest crowd of all was gathered. Hundreds there were waiting and Hartley's approach was the signal for a great demonstration. The band waggon stopped in front of the hotel and Hartley walked in and signed his name on the register at exactly six minutes after four o'clock, according to the time-keeper's watch.

AT THE HOTEL.

Hartley was at once taken to a room upstairs where he was given a rub down and some nourishment. Outside the band played and the crowd cheered. J. H. Gardiner, the auctioneer, climbed up on the buggy and made a short speech, referring to Hartley's great performance, and then Mark Spencley got up and said a few words.

"Port Hope gave Jimmy Reynolds a thousand dollars. If Peterborough can't give David Hartley that much it ought to move back to Robcaygeon" said Mark.

MONEY FLOWED IN

A hat was passed around and over fifty dollars was in it in a few minutes. While the money was being collected Hartley appeared at an upstairs window and his appearance was greeted with vociferous cheers. He tried to thank the people for their reception, but his voice could not be heard for the shouts. A little later and the crowd, or the bulk of it was gone, and after waiting a short time, Hartley walked to his home in East City, with his little son, who was at the hotel to welcome his father back.

"My husband will be home for tea at five o'clock tomorrow," said Mrs. Hartley on Wednesday, and sure enough, he was.

THE OFFICIAL TIME.

The official time of Hartley's arrival at different points along the route, the stops made, etc., were as follows;

Left starting point, one mile west of Oshawa, at six o'clock Wednesday morning.

Reached Whitby, three miles from starting point, in 37 minutes, and Pickering, six miles from starting point in 1 hour 14 minutes and Dunbarton, three miles further, in 36 minutes. Highland Creek, fifteen miles from Toronto, was reached at 9.17 and Toronto at 12.26 noon, by the timekeeper's watch, or 12.28, according to the clock at the King Edward hotel.

At the King Edward, Hartley ate a good dinner, had a bath, and rub down and left on the return trip at 1.20. Highland Creek was reached at 4.42, Pickering at 6.45, Whitby at 8.03, and Oshawa at 9.07 p.m.

It was just 14 hours and 47 minutes from the time Hartley left the starting post a mile west of Oshawa until he passed it on the return trip. He had covered 64 miles in this time and was half through his journey. This is the same distance as Jimmy Reynolds had to go in reaching Toronto from Port Hope. The Port Hope barber's time for this distance, on his last trip was 16 hours, 10 mins. over an hour slower, than Hartley's record for the distance. Reynolds' time for the return trip from Toronto to Port Hope was 20 hours, 11 minutes, while Hartley made the second half of his walk, 64 miles, in 19 hours, 59 mins., or half an hour better than Reynolds' walk.

At Oshawa Hartley rested an hour, leaving there at 10.07. Bowmanville was passed through at 12.22 and despite the lateness of the hour, several hundred people were out, including many ladies, and they walked with Hartley from one end of the town to the other. A number of Bowmanville young men accompanied the walker to the village of Newcastle, five or six miles east of Bowmanville. There were no more places of importance reached till Port Hope loomed up shortly before six o'clock. Hartley arrived at the Queen's Hotel at six o'clock, had a rub down, and a good breakfast, and left on the home stretch at 7 o'clock. Over the hills Hartley walked along briskly, and reached Bewdley, 11 miles from Port Hope at 9.53. An hour later, at 10.53, Bailieboro was reached, and there a stop of nearly an hour was made. At this point Hartley changed his shoes and socks and it was noticed that there was a small water blister on the sole of his right foot. The doctor at Bailieboro was called and dressed the foot, after letting the water out of the blister. Hartley put on another pair of shoes, and struck off for Peterborough at a lively clip, the blistered foot giving him no trouble whatever.

SPRINGVILLE AT 2.10.

Springville was reached at 2.10, and the 7 1-2 miles from that village to Peterborough was covered in two hours, or a little less.

It was hard grind from Port Hope to Peterborough, and Hartley's time for the distance, is nothing short of remarkable.

HARTLEY'S GREAT SPEED

Just to show how fast Hartley walked, it might be mentioned that he went from Lesler street, Toronto, to the King Edward hotel, in 31 minutes. Reynolds' time for the same distance was 36 minutes and Langford's 38.

WALKED AFTER SUPPER

After eating his supper last night at his home on Robinson street, East City, Hartley walked to Geo. Stevens residence on Douro street, and was there when a Review representative called about seven o'clock. He said he was feeling somewhat tired, and expressed surprise at the big reception he got in the city. He did not expect anything of the kind. "It was a hard walk, especially from Port Hope to Peterborough," he said, "but I had confidence I could do it."

Naturally Mr. Stevens was jubilant over the result, and says Hartley is the greatest piece of stuff he ever saw. Credit is due Mr. Stevens and his son Charlie, for the way they looked after the man.

Hartley wore ordinary leather boots during the walk. He changed his boots once at Bailieboro, but changed his socks several times during the walk.

Hartley's stomach never troubled him the least during the 34 hours. Hot beef tea was his principal diet. He never touched water during the whole trip. The greater part of the distance he went without a pace maker. Charlie Stevens paced him for seventeen miles on the stretch from Port Hope to Peterborough and at different times Wednesday night.

Mr. Stevens took his own horse from Peterborough, but secured a fresh one at Oshawa. He had his own horse from Oshawa to Peterborough on the homeward trip.

AN UNASSUMING FELLOW

Hartley is one of the most unassuming fellows in the world, and is not given to talking a great deal. He is glad that he made the trip in record time, but does not seem anxious whether he gets any money out of it or not. The start of the walk near Oshawa was witnessed by two citizens of that town appointed by the editor of one of the newspapers there

FOWL SUPPER AT LAKEFIELD

Ladies Aid Society Makes Over $150

A fowl supper under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Church was held at Lakefield last night, and a large number of Peterborough people drove out and enjoyed the festivities. The supper was served in the town hall between five and seven o'clock, after which an adjournment was made to the Methodist church, where a programme was given. The Methodist minister, Rev. Mr. Medford, occupied the chair, and in addition to vocal and instrumental music short addresses were given by the Presbyterian and Anglican clergymen, Rev. Mr. Burns and Rev. Mr. Creighton. The supper and programme were everything that could be desired, and all present spent a most enjoyable time. The choir under the auspices of Mr. Norris rendered several selections during the evening in a most finished manner. The proceeds amounted to over $150, which will go towards the fund to build a new church.

FINE CONCERT AT SPRINGVILLE

"Ye Olde Days" Entertainment Was Well Patronized

Ye olde day's concert held Wednesday evening at Springville was a great success in every way, both in point of attendance and financially. The programme well repaid those who were fortunate enough to be present. It was unique and the old manner of doing things was cleverly presented. The story of life from the cradle to the grave was shown in thirteen tableaux, each one being exceedingly well given, keeping the audience interested throughout. The old way of harvesting, threshing with a flail, spinning, churning and washing were quaintly presented. In addition to these several beautiful tableaux, a musical programme of a high class order was given. The Misses Chasty and Mr. Kenneth Shook delighted those present with well rendered vocal solos, while Miss Bryce and Miss Harrison, of Keene, gave vocal solos, which were well received.

Rev. Dr. Marsh occupied the chair in his usual happy manner.

Celebration of All Saints' Day

To-day is All Saints' Day—a feast day kept in honor of all the saints. Special services were held in the Anglican churches.

CUT THE WIRES.

A couple of Gilmour street residents complain that the electric lights in front of their houses were removed last night, the wires connecting the lamps being cut, and the lamps carried away. Many Patronized Thanksgiving Tea

George St. Ladies Cleared Over $75—A Successful Event

The Thanksgiving tea held at George street church last night under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society, was a most successful event. The supper was served in the basement of the church where numerous tables loaded down with good things of various kinds presented a sight that was pleasing to all, but especially to those who had been taking plenty of out door exercise during the afternoon. There were numerous waitresses and the arrangements were excellent in every respect. The ladies in charge deserve great credit for the way everything was conducted.

After the tea was over, a programme was given in the church and a large number were present. Rev. Mr. Pearson was in the chair and the programme consisted of vocal solos by Miss Reesor, Miss Mowry and Miss Mabel Chasty, and an organ solo by Mr. McCann. Mr. F. H. Dobbin gave a humorous address on "Many Inventions," that proved very enjoyable.

The ladies realized about $75 as a result of thier enterprize.

Foot-rite Toe Freedom Toes

"That's where the shoe pinches." Where? Everywhere in the ordinary shoe, which is merely a foot straitjacket, but principally in the toes.

The toes in nearly all shoes are not made wide enough, nor high enough, nor long enough, neither are they shaped like the toes. They're simply leather splints, straight and stiff on the bottom, soft, collapsable and round on the top, and tapering V-shaped to the front point of the shoe. Into this low, stubby, narrow, tapering, squeezing, pinching, toe-deforming splint, man jams his toes either thoughtlessly or with vanity. What happens to those toes. Corns, bunions, ingrown nails, twisted toes, and a few other choice pain-producers. Foolish shoe toes cause one half of all foot troubles. Ask your doctor.

The Foot-rite Shoe is a radical reform in shoe toe construction. Their toes are built long, wide and high and are formed precisely like the shape of the foot's fore-part. The toes which inhabit them never touch the sides, nor the top nor the end except by voluntary muscular action. They touch only the bottom on which they lie flat, and free to move at will in any direction. And the arched roof over them is not made of paste and cloth as in other shoes, which quickly collapses into a shapeless, ugly mass and presses the toes. It's a canopy of pliable sole leather which sustains its arched form stubbornly, relieving the toes from roof pressure and abrasion and maintaining the shoe's box toe handsomeness. If crushed in a crowded street car — no matter — they'll rebound into shape.

Ask the Foot-rite salesman to show you Foot-rite Toe Freedom Toes. You'll find his welcome as warm, whether you wish to buy or just to see.

Anywhere in America, Canada or Great Britain—$4.00 and $5.00. Every pair Goodyear Welted.

Exciting Finish Between Wilson and Howard With the Victory in Favor of the Farmer—Weather Conditions Were Ideal—Pete Wallace Takes the Junior Race Easily.

SENIORS.

1. Ernest A. Wilson, Peterborough Y.M.C.A.
2. Ben Howard, Hiawatha, unattached.
3. Ernest Moss, Havelock, unattached.

Distance, 10 miles.
Time, 55 minutes, 15 3-5 seconds.

JUNIOR.

1. Peter Wallace, Peterborough Y.M.C.A.
2. Jimmie McMartin, Otonabee.
3. Bertram Cross.

Distance, 5 miles.
Time, 29 minutes, 30 seconds

The above were the results in the Examiner road races yesterday, the senior for ten miles and the junior for five. Hundreds witnessed the finish of the two events on George street, and the fight for first place in the senior race furnished enough excitement to last a year. Running side by side from Nassau, Ernie Wilson and Ben Howard, the Hiawatha Indian, late of the Irish Canadian Athletic Club, came down George street side by side, amid a cheering throng, and as the finishing point was approached the excitement increased. Twenty yards from the Examiner office they were running side by side, and when twelve feet from the tape, Howard, for some reason or other, stopped, and Wilson shot to the tape, a winner by three yeards. It was impossible to keep the crowd back, and just what caused the Indian to stop does not seem to be known. Some say that he was jostled and not given a fair show, but as far as can be learned, he thought he had finished the race when he came in line with the back of a buggy, in which was Hon. Mr. Stratton and the timekeeper, Mr. Alex. Gibson, and which was standing at the west side of the street, about ten feet from the tape. Spectators who were on the spot, give about ten different versions of what made Howard stop, and as no two of them agree, it must be conceded that Wilson won fairly. A snap shot taken of the finish shows Wilson at the tape, with Howard stopped without anything obstructing his way from reaching the finishing line. If, however, any spectator or spectators, intentionally did anything to block Howard near the finish, they are a disgrace to the city, and deserving of every contempt that can be heaped upon them.

Ernest Moss, of Havelock, finished third, coming in four minutes after Wilson and Howard. William Bennett, of the National Hotel, was fourth, Charles Thorpe fifth, and John Sanderson, sixth. Harvey Staunton came in seventh. There were sixteen starters, and the majority of them finished. The start was made at Lakefield at 10.15. Wilson's time was 55 mins, 15 1-5 seconds, 4 mins. and 34 2-3 seconds better than made by Ray Best last year.

THE JUNIOR RACE.

Peter Wallace won the junior race hands down, finishing a quarter of a mile ahead of Jimmie McMartin, who was second. Bertram Cross was third, and Henry Muskrat, a young Indian from Hiawatha, finished fourth. There were fourteen entries and the start was made at ten o'clock at the five mile post at Nassau. Wallace's time, 29 minutes, 30 seconds, was remarkably fast, and is an evidence that the winner of the event has a bundle of speed and endurance.

The weather was perfect and the road was in fine shape.

Wilson wins the Examiner Cup for 1907, and also a gold watch. Howard wins a gold locket and Moss a gold fob.

Wallace, the junior winner, gets a silver medal, McMartin a bronze medal, and Cross a gold pin.

Peterborough Are Champions of Western Section of Senior O.R.F.U.

Put it Over the Victorias in Lindsay by Score of 15—7—7—0 at End of First Quarter—Team Was Accompanied by Many Rooters Who Went on Special—Vics Never Had a Chance.

On a field that had the gentle slope of a toboggan slide, Peterborough trimmed the Victorias yesterday in Lindsay in a manner that leaves no room for doubt as to which is the better team, and as a result won the championship of the eastern section of the senior O.R.F.U. Although the margin the locals won by, was not a large one, the game was plainly their's from start to finish, and their was no time during the match that their supporters had any fears concerning its outcome.

The grounds were too hilly to permit of much really brilliant playing but the contest all the way through was a hard fought and interesting one. The locals made a splendid beginning, scoring seven points in the first quarter, and kept in the lead throughout the game. In the latter portion of the match, however, the Hogtown bunch took a brace and scored the last three points. The battle was a hard fought one and neither team ever let up for an instant. It was not by any means a rough exhibition, however, and the men ruled off were not penalized for offences of a serious nature.

The two teams adopted methods of play of a somewhat similar character, and some clever punting was done by both back divisions. The Peterborough wings, however, put it all over their opponents, who had to succumb to the heavy onslaughts of their checks. The local wing line shone at all times, and in fact did the most effective work they have done this season. Every wing man played in good form, and rendered invaluable assistance to the backs. The back division also did fine work. Mulhern, for the first time this year, figured on the line-up, and more than made good at full back. There is no neater player on the team than Mulhern and he is one of the surest catches in the business. He was always steady and in the right place, and received quickly and with good judgment. On the half line, Colledge and Quinlan both showed up well. The former's punting as usual, was a feature, and he was responsible both directly and indirectly, for many of Peterborough's tallies. Quinlan played a horse of a game at left half. He ran, tackled and punted in fine style and made the best of every opportunity. Canniff also played a hard game, but his work on the back division was not as good as it has been on the wing line, probably owing to the fact that the position is somewhat new to him.

McWhirter and Love, both played steady and consistent games on the Vic's half-line, the former being responsible for the only drop kick made during the day. Ellicott did nice work at full and certainly had a busy time, handling the numerous punts that came in his direction. Stanyon was rendering good service, until, unfortunately, he had his shoulder dislocated. Thomas, who replaced him put up a good game. As before stated, the Vic's wings were outclassed and their work did not compare favorably with that of the teams back division.

Referee Hayes and Umpire Robbins handled the game in a flawless manner. They caught everything in sight, and both teams were highly pleased with the way they officiated.

There were about five hundred people in attendance. In the neighborhood of three hundred from this city going up on the G.T.R. special about twenty rooters accompanied the losers from Toronto, and Lindsay supplied a congregation forming the balance. There was not as much enthusiasm over the contest as there might have been, but this is easily explained. In the first place the Victoria delegation could hardly be expected to cheer themselves to a whisper, in the second place it was almost impossible for those in the grandstand, owing to its distance from the gridiron, to tell whether a rugby match was in progress or if some regiment was trooping the colors, and in the third place the people from Lindsay were not familiar to any extent with the finer points of the game. When the match was over, however, the rooters from Peterborough made their presence known in the Sougog town, and the streets reechoed with their cheers and songs of victory.

The first few minutes of play was pretty close. Peterborough finally breaking the ice, by getting a rouge, 1—0.

A little later Colledge sent one over the dead line, 2—0.

Dillon carried the leather over for the first touch, 7—0. Things began to look bright for the homesters. Crough made a pretty effort to convert the try, but the ball went a trifle wide. Colledge lambasted the leather for a long punt from near the Peterborough goal line and there was a drawn in Vic's territory. Colledge bucked for a short gain. The play lagged somewhat, neither side gaining much ground, but the play was all in the Vic's end. Lundy squeezed through for a good gain and was downed about a yard from the Vic's goal line, but quarter was called before there was a scrimmage. 7—0.

SECOND QUARTRE.

The ball had just started to roll when Hurtubise got too strenuous to suit the referee, and he was fid-tracked for 5 minutes. In a wild scramble for the ball, which went shooting around after a couple of fumbles, Dickson dropped on it. Quinlan getting it on the pass from the scrimmage uncorked a nice zig-zag dash. Colledge caught the ball on a punt, and made a pretty run. Scotty McWhirter got the ball, but was brought down hard by Crowley. An erratic pass was made to Quinlan, who grabbed the leather, however, and dived through the bunch for a fair gain. Hurtubise was again given a rest for five minutes. Stanyon had his shoulder accidentally dislocated in a mix-up, and Thomas took his place. Colledge punted and Scotty McWhirter returned, Quinlan catching the ball. He was tackled and downed before he made any gain. Mulhern was right there when the ball came his way, catching a long punt and relieving nicely. Dillon flopped Ellicott over just as the latter broke away for a run. Mulhern worked in a clever run that won the applause of the grandstand and just as the quarter ended with the score 7—0.

THIRD QUARTER.

"Scotty" McWhirter tore off a run that helped considerably. The ball got by Canniff, but Dickson snapped it up and made a big gain. Bill Crowley became a little too strong and Referee Hayes tapped him on the shoulder. Bill had to quit 3 minutes. Love dropped a pippin over the bar for the Vics' first score, 9—4. Jerry McWhirter took the edge off a fine run by dropping the ball near the Peterborough goal line. Clarke, seizing the opportunity, fell on the pigskin. At this juncture the referee stopped the game and called the policeman to drive the crowd back from the side lines.

Love kicked the ball and it struck a local man, going out of touch. Hurtubise was once more chased among the spectators this time for a 2 minute stay. The ball was booted over the line to Ellicott, and it looked as though he would be forced to rouge. He managed to get into safe territory, however, before he was downed by Quinlan. Ellicott fumbled a punt behind the line, and Dickson collared the ball for a touch, 11—4. Crough didn't convert.

Crough caught the ball on the Vics kick off, and returned nicely. Elliott, Hurtubise, Canniff and Hewitson got a little too rough and were given a short rest. Dickson obtained the leather near the enemy's line, and Colledge kicked it over for a point after the scrimmage. 14—4.

THIRD QUARTER.

Crowley carried the ball quite a distance, but went out of touch. Ellicot broke away for what looked to be a gain, but a combination tackle by Canniff and Dickson brought him down hard. Colledge kicked the ball into Peterborough's scrimmage, the Vics getting their yards on the offside. Ellicott made a short dash and was stopped by Crowley. Mulhern obtained the ball and sprinted for a good gain. The ball worked into Peterborough territory. Love kicked it over the dead line. 15—5. Quinlan handled a long punt well, making his mark. "Tiny" Hewitson carried the ball for a big run, but was finally collared by Colledge. A little later he kicked it over the dead line. 15—6. Quinlan tore off a spectacular dodging run. Hewitson again booted the leather for another point a moment before Referee Hays blew his whistle, announcing that the game was over.

Final score, 15—7.

NOTES

Lou Marsh didn't show up. It is rumored he has quit the game. If this is true it's not necessary to waste space making any further comments.

"Gunner" Boyle had his work cut out for him in marking the grounds. They are pretty bumpy and more or less on the bias.

President Alex. Robertson, of the Vics was there, of course, and interestingly watched the movements of his team from the side lines.

The cast iron chorus, with their celebrated thigh tenor, 6—1 in his sandals, gave some vocal selections that pleased themselves immensely, but didn't win any bouquets from the Lindsay people, with the exception of a few lemon blossoms.

The Victorias, as a team, are good sports and with the exception of one or two individuals, particularly one, play good clean ball. When the game was over they wished Peterborough every success in their fight for the championship.

Secretary McDonough, who has seen every game played by the locals this year, has nothing but praise for both teams, the officials, and the people of Lindsay.

"Bill" Crowley was on hand with dashing game all the time.

His face harnessed up, and played a

Road Races at Lindsay

Two Events Run off Yesterday by the Lindsay Branch of Y. M. C. A.

Two road races were run off in Lindsay yesterday under the auspices of the Lindsay branch of the Y.M.C.A. The road was muddy and greasy and the time in the events was not very fast. There was a good list of starters in both races, which furnished good sport for the crowd.

Mr. J. J. Thompson, the physical director of the Y.M.C.A. at Lindsay, went to that town from the West End Y.M.C.A., Toronto, a short time ago, and is naturally enthusiastic in anything relative to running. It was acting on his idea that this events were pulled off. They will probably be held annually and should be very interesting, as this year they brought out a pretty large field on very short notice.

The course of the Senior race was from the Y.M.C.A. building, Kent street to Little Britain Road, south along the road, and return to Kent street, the finish being made in front of the Y.M.C.A. The junior was run half the distance over the same course.

Below is given the order in which the starters finished, with the time made in the two events, and the list of officials.—

Senior—five miles—35.15 — 1, D. McNizes; 2, G. Preston; 3, J. McCamus; 4, Touchbourne, T. Brown.

Judges—Col. Sam Hughes, Dr. White, A. J. Campbell; Timers, G. Reilly, J. J. Thompson; clerk of course, Nelson Hart; starter, Col. Sam Hughes.

Proposed Electric Railway From Havelock to Apsley

Selkirk Iron Mine Will be Operated—Diamond Drill Will be Installed—Elaborate Plans for the Future.

Havelock, Oct. 31st.—That Havelock will be the centre of an electric line is a proposition that is very likely to come true. The proposed line from Havelock to Apsley.

In the neighborhood of the village of Apsley, is a very rich iron mine, known as the Selkirk Iron Mine, and it owned by Mr. Selkirk of Apsley, and Dr. Munro of Warsaw.

Arrangements have been made by the owners of the property by which the Colonial Iron Mine of Pittsburg will place the mine on a paying basis, and give an equal share of the value of the products to the owners. This arrangement will be made only if the Colonial Iron Mine on examining this property, find it to be valuable enough to pay for operations.

The company will at once begin testing for to see how valuable the mine is. Next week the company will install a diamond drill and if this lode warrants, they will construct a railway into the property to carry the ore away.

This present plan drafted by the director is to build an electric line from Apsley to Havelock. From Havelock, it will be shipped by railway to Cobourg, and thence across Lake Ontario, to the company's smelting works, or if the property is found to be very valuable. The company will build an electric line from Apsley to Cobourg, via Havelock.

The Selkirk mine is estimated to be very valuable. There is one vein that is eight miles in length, and 275 feet in width, running many feet below the level of the lake, in the neighborhood.

Adjoining the Selkirk mine is another claim, owned by Judge Clute of Toronto, and he has been already offered a large sum for it by the Colonial Iron Company.

If the mine is as valuable as it is reported to be, it will be a great thing for Apsley. If the electric line, which is necessary, is built it will open up the north country.

PRESCRIPTION FILLED OFTEN

Many Persons Here Benefitted by Home Prescription and Druggists are Kept Busy

That the readers of this paper appreciate advice, when given in good faith is plainly demonstrated by the fact that one well-known local pharmacy filled the "vegetable prescription" many times within the past two weeks. Most of these folks naturally bought the ingredients only and mixed them at home. The announcement of this simple, harmless mixture has certainly accomplished much in reducing the great many cases of kidney complaint and rheumatism here, relieving pain and misery, especially among the older population, who are always suffering more or less with bladder and urinary troubles, backache and particularly rheumatism.

Another well-known druggist asks us to continue the announcement of the prescription. It is doing so much real good here, he continues, that it would be a crime not to do so. It can not be repeated too often, and further states many cases of remarkable cures wrought.

The following is the prescription, of simple ingredients, making a harmless, inexpensive compound, which any person can prepare by shaking well in a bottle: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Any first-class drug store will sell this small amount of each ingredient, and the dose for adults, is one teaspoonful to be taken after each meal and again at bedtime. There is enough here to last for one week, if taken according to directions. Good results will be apparent from the first few doses.

Church "Bees" on Thanksgiving

"Bees" were held yesterday at All Saints' and the Park street Baptist church. At All Saints't the sheds were fixed up for the winter and some attention given to the grounds.

At Park street church several matters requiring attention in connection with the recent removal of the old edifice across street, were carried out.

AMUSEMENTS

A. Q. Scammon's farce comedy, "The Real Widow Brown," was presented at the Grand Opera House yesterday afternoon and evening. On both occasions the attraction was greeted with large audiences and judging from the applause accorded the production, the people went away well satisfied. The play was a very laughable one and kept the audience in a mirthful state throughout. The singing was of a specially high order and won meritorious applause.

I'M MARRIED NOW.

George F. Hall and company presented "I'm Married Now," at the Grand on Wednesday night, to a house that was altogether too slim, when the merits of the production is considered. William Howdy, "a gay old sport," was played in an original manner by Mr. Hall, who was given splendid support by the balance of the company. Several catchy musical numbers and some clever dancing were interpolated during the interpretation of the piece, the most popular songs being "How they Kiss," sung by Mr. Hall, "Love Me and the World is Mine," a duet that was greeted with rounds of applause, "Good-bye Sweetheart, Good-Bye," "Hunting," rendered by a quartette of comedians, and "Milwaukee," a stein song with a great swing.

"I'm Married Now" is a lively and entertaining show, and one that deserves the support of all who like a good laugh-compelling farce.

The Real Thing.

Two women were discussing some new neighbors who had moved into one of the most sumptuous houses in their city.

"They seem to be very rich," said the first.

"Oh, they are," said the second.

"Shall you call?"

"Decidedly!"

"You are sure, are you, that they are—er—quite correct, quite—er—good form?"

"Oh, my dear, I'm positive," said the second woman. "They have thirty servants, eighteen horses, twelve dogs, eleven automobiles and one child."—Des Moines Register.

"Well, there's one thing about Nurich—he's always ready to confess his faults."

"Nonsense! Why, he's forever bragging about being self made."

"Of course. That's just it."—Philadelphia Press.

A Literary Man.

"May I intwoduce to you my fwiend?" asked a fashionable young man at a recent dance. "He is a litewawy man, you know."

"Indeed!" exclaimed his partner.

"Aw, yes. He sent the Society News a list of the guests at the last pahty, and the editah accepted it."—Tit-Bits.

The Great Trouble.

"Really," said Nurich self complacently, "it's easy enough to make money."

"Yes," replied the counterfeiter absentmindedly, "but the trouble is to get it into circulation. — Philadelphia Press.

The Exception to the Rule.

You're reading of a heroine who saves a rushing train
By crawling o'er a slender bridge in time of wind and rain;
She waves the danger signal—a wisp of burning hay—
The train is stopped—and here it comes, as night doth follow day:
"Then she fainted away!"

You read of some bold holdup, who was quickly put to rout
By a muscular young lady who nearly knocked him out;
You learn how with two uppercuts she won the short affray,
And at the end you will not fail to get this news passe:
"Then she fainted away!"

But take a bargain Monday—a great crush at the store;
Around the ribbon counter the tides of commerce roar;
She plunges in the vortex and fights as best she may,
But when this struggle's over no truthful man can say:
"Then she fainted away!"

4256.—A PRETTY LITTLE YOKE DRESS.

Figured wool batiste was used for modelling this becoming little dress, which illustrates one of the most attractive of recent designs for girls' wear. The simulated yoke, outlined with a bertha of novel shaping, is a pretty feature, and while it is here shown in the high neck development the pattern provides for either round or square neck. The sleeves may be made in either full or shorter length, as desired. The tucked skirt is made in two parts, consisting of a straight upper section lengthened by a straight flounce and is attached to the waist beneath a sash of liberty ribbon, which may be omitted. To make this dress in the 8 year size requires 4 3-8 yards of material 27 inches wide.

4256.—8 sizes, 5 to 12 years.

The price of this pattern is 10c.

Found Suit of Clothes Lying Beside Boathouse

Water Street Resident Made a Find That Aroused Suspicion That Some One Might Have Committed Suicide by Drowning.

Has someone committed suicide or has there been a theft committed, or where did these clothes come from? These were the questions that Mr. Wm. Turner, who resides at 715 Water street, asked himself yesterday afternoon, when he found lying beside his boat-house at the foot of Sherbrooke street, two coats, a pair of trousers, and a pair of boots. Mr. Turner was greatly surprised on making the discovery, and was at a loss to know what they meant. His first thought was that some one had ended his life by throwing himself in to the river, but anyone intent on such an act would not likely have taken time to undress, but would have jumped in clothes and all. Then the thought struck him that probably some scoundrel had stolen a good suit and cast off his clothing.

The police were at once notified and P. C. McGinty went to the scene and brought the clothes to the station. There were a gray tweed and a black coat, a pair of black trousers and a pair of black patent leather boots. All were in fairly good repair.

The pockets of the trousers and the coats were examined, but nothing was found that would give a clue as to the owner of the apparel. The clothes will be kept at the police station until someone claims them.

New Fire Alarm System Is Working Satisfactory

And Bell Telephone Company's Account is Ordered to be Paid—New Team of Horses for the Fire Hall

A meeting of the Fire, Water and Light committee was held Wednesday night at which there were present Ald. Johnston, chairman; Mayor McWilliams and Ald. Morgan and Duncan. Among other business transacted it was decided to purchase a new team of horses for the fire department, one of the teams being used at present to be sold.

On motion of Ald. Duncan, seconded by Ald. Morgan, the request of the property owners on Crescent street that the present arc lamp be changed for four incandescent lamps, distributed to best advantage, was granted.

The Mayor moved, seconded by Ald. Duncan,—That the chairman be instructed to arrange with Mr. Geo. Fitzgerald for the supply of two sets of runners, with boxes and everything complete, for the hook and ladder and chemical rigs, there runners to cost $80.—Carried.

The Mayor moved, seconded by Ald. Duncan,—That the engineer be instructed to have broken stone laid at the approaches to street crossings where needed.—Carried.

Electrical Wire Inspector Pakenham reported that the electric light current used in the city is up to standard requirements—9 1-2 amperes.

The Mayor moved, seconded by Ald. Duncan,—That if Mr. Pakenham reports the new fire alarm system has been installed according to contract and is working perfectly satisfactory in every detail, the Bell Telephone Company's account of $2,694 for such installation be paid.—Carried.

Ald. Morgan moved, seconded by the mayor,—That the chairman be authorized to purchase a new team of horses for the fire department and dispose of one team.—Carried.

Thanksgiving Day, 1907 Will Long be Remembered

Thanksgiving Day, 1907, will long be remembered in Peterborough. Not only were the weather conditions perfect, and the day one of the most beautiful this autumn, but Peterborough athletes, performing in various places and in various lines of sport, showed that the old town is still very much to the fore. The Peterborough rugby team won the district championship by defeating the Victorias at Lindsay, David Hartley smashed Jimmy Reynolds' record for long distance walking, Fred Simpson, a protege of the Y.M.C.A., came second in the great Herald road race at Hamilton, and Ray Best of this city came 24th in a field of 200 starters in the Montreal Herald road race. Surely the above make a fine record for one day.

As stated above, the day was an ideal one, and throughout the day, the streets were filled with people. Scores of "old boys" and "old girls" were home for the holiday, and helped eat the Thanksgiving turkey at their respective homes. The city was filled with visitors and everywhere the glad hand was extended the home comers.

A large crowd went to Lindsay with the rugby team, after having seen the road races, and in the afternoon the arrival of David Hartley was the principal feature. The plucky pedestrian was given a great reception and well deserved it.

The performance at the opera house attracted good crowds, afternoon and night and the production pleased everyone highly.

The teas at George street and St. Andrew's churches were largely attended, and the ladies realized handsomely on their enterprise.

The thanksgiving services at the churches in the morning were largely attended and characterized by much devotion.

REYNOLDS WANTS WALKING RACE WITH HARTLEY

And Port Hope Barber Will be Accommodated at Any Old Time

By some it is claimed that David Hartley covered 130 miles in his walk from Oshawa to Toronto and return to Peterborough. They say that it is sixty-five miles from Port Hope to Toronto and that the distance covered by Hartley was as follows:—

Starting point to Toronto, 33 miles.
Toronto to Port Hope, 65 miles.
Port Hope to Peterborough, 32 miles.
Total 130 miles.

The subscription lists are still open and considerable money is coming in for the plucky walker. The lists can be found at all the hotels.

REYNOLDS WANTS RACE.

A despatch from Port Hope says:—"Jim" Reynolds is by no means disposed to acknowledge that Hartley is his superior on the roads. He is quite willing to accept the challenge which it is said will come from Peterborough for a matched race over the Peterborough-Port Hope-Toronto route. The road from Port Hope to Peterborough is said to be far better for pedestrians than the stretch between Oshawa and Port Hope, which Reynolds walked twice to Hartley's once. Reynolds is also willing to make a match for a race between Cobourg and Toronto and return, a distance of 150 miles. There will be no contest between May of next year, as Reynolds is still suffering from a game leg, occasioned by a fall while on his recent long walk.

Best Did Well at Montreal

Ray Best of Peterborough finished twenty-fourth in the Montreal Herald road race yesterday. There were over 200 entries and 161 runners finished, so that the showing made by the local runner is highly creditable. D A C Wood, who won, distanced all the other competitors, and completed the course in 59 minutes 44 seconds, or nine seconds faster than the time made by Shipman in the first race last year. Cote, of the M.A.A.A. finished second, and McCaig of the M.A.A.A. third. It was easily Wood's race from the start.

New Inspector Arrives in City

Mr. Alexander Mowat, late principal of the Brockville Collegiate Institute, who some time ago was appointed inspector of public schools for Peterborough, arrived in the city yesterday. Mrs. Mowat and children are visiting relatives in Port Hope but will reach here next week.

The new inspector of schools has taken a house at 386 Brock street, and will be settled in a few days. He enters upon his duties on Monday. The teachers of the city will hold a reception on Friday of next week at which Mr. Mowat will be formally welcomed. (Previous to leaving Brockville, where he resided six years, Mr. Mowat was presented with a purse of gold by the Collegiate Institute pupils. The Board of Managers of St. John's Presbyterian church of which body he was a member, gave him a gold ring, while other friends showed their appreciation of his character and worth by gifts which the recipient highly prizes.

FIRST SOCIAL AT HOME Of the T.A.S. on Thursday evening, Nov. 7th, in the T.A.S. Hall. Refreshments. All welcome.

Created Disorder in Passenger Car

Local Boys Appeared in Court To-day on the Charge

The passengers on the Toronto flyer last evening were witnesses of an exciting scuffle while riding from Lindsay to Peterborough. There was considerable disorder in one car, and as a result the conductor's left eye is in mourning today. It appears that the trouble arose from the refusal of three Peterborough boys to pay their fare. Not being able to beat their way, they undertook to beat the conductor. The trio who created the disturbance, and who appeared before His Worship Magistrate Dumble this morning, were Ed. Donoghue, Fremia La Plante, and E. Pilling.

Donoghue was charged with assaulting Walter Mercier, the conductor, and LaPlante was charged with doing him actual bodily harm. The charge against Pilling was for disorderly conduct.

Messrs. F. D. Kerr and G. N. Gordon appeared on behalf of the defendants. They pleaded not guilty. The Railway Company were not ready to go on with the case, and His Worship enlarged it until Monday morning. Bail was fixed at $200 for each. Sureties were soon procured, and the young men were given their freedom.

HURRAH FOR HARTLEY

Let us give three cheers for Hartley
Hip, hip, hurrah!
Who did the walk quite smartly,
And he didn't do it partly;
He did it all the way.

Simpson Showed Phenomenal Form in Herald Road Race

Got Second Place in Big Distance Event at Hamilton Yesterday—Presented With Solid Silver Cup at Savoy Theatre Amid Great Enthusiasm—What Mr. Dick Baker Did for Indian Wonder.

Fred Simpson, the Hiawatha boy, who sprang a big surprise in athletic circles when he got second place in the Hamilton Herald Road Race yesterday, arrived in the city this morning accompanied by his trainer, Mr. Dick Baker. He looked fresh and trim and doesn't feel fatigued to any great extent by his long run.

Simpson ran a magnificent race, and used his head all the time. He was considerably handicapped, however, owing to the fact that he had no pacemaker for the event. The majority of the other starters had one and the pacemakers materially assisted their men. The Hiawatha speed machine thinks if he had been paced, he would have had a much better chance against the fleet-footed Coley, who managed to win out by over a third of a mile. Lawson who finished third, was 37 seconds behind Simpson. The latter says the course was swarmed with automobiles for the first ten miles, when the starters were pretty well bunched, and several of the runners, including Simpson, were crowded off the best part of the road. However, the speedier runners broke away from the rest of the starters after the first ten miles had been covered, and the going on the sandy road was pretty open, the course not being blocked to any great extent. There were twenty seven starters in the race, including some of the fastest men in America and, considering what he was up against, Simpson's showing was a marvellous one.

The race started at 9.05 in the morning, and a mammoth crowd gathered around the tape to see the runners off. A large portion of the immense throng followed after them for some distance, people pushing and jamming to get a good view of the start. The twenty-seven men got away amid greatest excitement and thousands of people were on hand to see them finish. At the finish again, the crowds interfered somewhat with the runners, but they managed to cross the tape without any undue confusion. Simpson realized he had his work cut out from him and reserved considerable of his energy for the finish.

For the first ten miles Adams led but Coley overtook him at this point and increased his lead to the finish.

With sixteen miles of the distance covered and four and a half miles to go, Simpson was fifth, and running strong. He passed Adams, who was in fourth place at this point and the next man he overtook was Lee, the American crack, who was a hot favorite in the betting. Lawson, the West End Y.M.C.A. man who ran second to Longboat in the Ward Marathon was the next man, and they only one runner, Coley, the winner, was ahead of him. Coley kept the first position to the tape and won as before mentioned by over a third of a mile. Lawson finished third and Lee came fourth. There was a wild scene at the conclusion of the race, and when Simpson arrived, he was greeted with an outburst of cheering that fairly shook the heavens.

The Hamilton sports somehow learned that he was a likely one and played him to quite an extent taking the short end of odds offered on him. Billy Sherring, the Greek Marathon winner, saw the finish and was enthusiastic over Simpson's showing.

For the last seven miles of the course, Simpson was accompanied by Trainer Baker, who rode alongside of him on a wheel.

In the evening at the Savoy Opera House, before a crowd that packed the theatre to congestion, Coley Simpson and Lawson, were presented with three beautiful cups, emblematic of the first, second and third prizes respectively. Mayor Stewart made the presentation, and each trophy winner, bowed his acknowledgment of the handsome prize presented him.

On the cups are engraved the name and year of the event, and those of the winners with the position each obtained in the race.

Simpson carried his cup up George street this morning from the C.P.R. 11.16 express, on which he arrived from Hamilton and was congratulated by many of his friends on his brilliant showing.

Trainer Dick Baker, who took a fancy to the Hiawatha man when he saw him run in the Examiner road race last fall, deserves his share of bouquets, along with those being showered at Simpson. When Baker took hold of him, he was not by any means the finished stepper that he is now, and, he lacked both style and condition. Mr. Baker has managed and trained him since the above race, and has given him many invaluable pointers in the art of distance running. He has also rounded him into the pink of condition, and taken perfect care of him in every way.

Simpson was born in Hiawatha 26 years ago, and is a young man of steady habits, and a credit to himself and to his native village.

Today's Globe says the following concerning him: It was one year ago today, that Tom Longboat sprung into fame as a runner from being an unknown and unlikely looking Indian. Today, Simpson, another Indian lad, finished second, and those who followed him around the course believe that he will make a name for himself as a runner. When he took his place in the line, many thought he was Longboat. He is about Longboat's build, and bears a marked facial resemblance to Tom.

Bold Boys Do Some Damage in Observing Hallowe'en Night

Hallowe'en was observed rather quietly last night, save in some of the outlying parts of the city and there the usual pranks, incidental to the carrying out of the old customs of this eve, when the witches are supposed to have played many tricks on the people.

The small boy was much in evidence with the pea shooter and the false face, and in the early parts of the evening, made their rounds of the different houses in their several neighborhoods. Taffy pulls and parties were also held in many of the homes of the city and a pleasant time was spent in playing games in keeping with Hallowe'en. On many doorsteps of the houses and in the windows, were noticed pumpkins, cut to represent faces.

Some mischevious boys did considerable damage in the west end and the residents this morning, found their property badly wrecked. Parts of sidewalks were thrown out on the road, and it was up to some this morning to chase up a telegraph pole after their gate.

Mr. Jas. Edgar, residing at the corner of Weller and Park streets, had a large window 40 by 60 inches, smashed into fragments. Mr. J. A. Storey, whose house is near Mr. Edgar's, had the varnish scraped off his front door. Such acts as these are carrying things too far, and the young culprits, if they could be caught, should be severely dealt with.

A resident of the south end, on coming out this morning, found his board walk and gate missing. He also noticed a verandah rocking chair hanging over a C.P.R. semaphore. A business sign of T. Harris & Co., in the form of a man and which until last night, was hung on a building in the south end of the city, was taken and attached to the G.T.R. bridge, near the locks.

The fence around St. Andrew's church, was smashed in places and some lengths of gas pipe removed, while the posts were split.

The police report that very few complaints of vandalism have reached them.

CONTEST AT THE ROLLER RINK

Mr. Percy Mowry was the winner of the handsome silver medal donated for the men's skating contest at the roller rink last evening. Large crowds attended the rink both morning and evening yesterday. The contest was the chief attraction last night. There were a large number of entries and the judges had a difficult time in picking the winner.

The judges were Messrs. C. Lacheur Art. Graham and Wm. Wareham.

RAILS PLACED ACROSS ROAD

People Driving Home From Lakefield Got Many Bumps

Some Peterborough people who drove out to Lakefield yesterday to attend the Thanksgiving supper, had a somewhat exciting time getting home. At numerous places along the road, fence rails were laid across the roadbed, and those in the buggies got many a bump. The country youth had apparently been up and doing for Hallowe'en as, in addition to the rails on the road, gates were roosting high in trees, farming implements were scattered along the road, and there was abundant evidence of other pranks.

LADY STOPPED RUNAWAY HORSE

"Black Cloud," Mr. Jas. Kelly's fast race horse, gave an exhibition of its speed yesterday afternoon on the city streets. Mr. Kelly left him in charge of Mr. Frank Moore, in front of his house on Hunter-st. for a few minutes. The horse suddenly took a spurt out Hunter-st., turning on to Aylmer st., and went down as far as Charlotte at an awful clip. Mr. Moore was unable to hold him. He ran east on Charlotte to George-st. and down as far as Lake-st., where the fast pacer was brought to a standstill. The animal collided with a post and Mrs. Butler, a lady residing near by rushed out and held "Black Cloud" by the head. A severe gash was cut in the horse's side, which required the attention of a veterinary surgeon.

WEDDING BELLS

FOSTER—SKETCH

A social event of unusual interest took place on Thursday, when one of Port Hope's fairest daughters, in the person of Miss Anna Skitch, daughter of Mr. Henry Skitch, Walton street, Port Hope, who has relatives in Peterborough, became the bride of Mr. Charles Foster, Trenton.

The event took place at the home of the bride's father in the presence of about sixty guests. The ceremony was performed in the parlor, which was artistically decorated in pink and white chrysanthemums and palms, the Rev. Geo. W. Henderson pastor of the Methodist church officiating.

The bride looked exceedingly pretty attired in white Persian lawn with valenciennes trimmings, and carried a bouquet of roses and lily of the valley. The only attendant was little Miss Audrey Rosevear, who acted as ring bearer and was dressed in white silk and point d'esprit.

After the ceremony the guests repaired to the dining room, where a sumptuous wedding breakfast was served, and the young couple received the congratulations of their friends.

A large and costly array of beautiful presents testified to the esteem in which the bride was held by a large circle of acquaintances.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster left on the flyer for a brief tour in western points, after which they will take up their residence in Trenton.

CARRE—LAZIER

Belleville, Nov. 1.—At the hour of 9.30 Thanksgiving morning a quiet wedding occurred at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Lazier, Ann street, when their second daughter, Miss Norah, became the wife of Mr. Henry Carre, jr., of Molson's Bank, Toronto, formerly of Peterborough. The young couple were unattended. Rev. R. S. Laidlaw, pastor of St. Andrew's church, was the officiating minister. The bride was one of Belleville's most popular young ladies, and for some time had been soprano soloist in St. Andrew's church choir. She also took active part in other church work. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Carre, of this city. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and costly gifts. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was partaken of. Mr. and Mrs. Carre left on the noon train for a trip in the east, after which they will take up their residence in the Queen City.

ADULT SOCIAL BIBLE CLASS

Has Been Organized at George St. Methodist Sunday School

A new Adult Movement Bible Class with Rev. E. A. Pearson, as teacher, has been formed in the George Street Methodist Sunday School, and judging from the enthusiasm shown by its members, will undoubtedly be a success. This new method of Bible Study, is a decided departure from the old plan of class instruction by a teacher, who simply tells his pupils what he has to say concerning the topic in hand. The object of the new class is to allow its members to discuss with the teacher and among themselves, the various matters of interest that arise during the study of the subject or subjects under consideration at the class meetings.

The new plan of conducting a Bible class is largely in vogue in the important Bible classes in the United States, and is being adopted in many of the Sunday schools. The class at the George Street Methodist Church has been under process of organization for the past two or three weeks, and has between thirty and forty members, and is growing rapidly. The class has agreed to supply a substitute teacher from its class of students to fill any vacancy that may occur—a different teacher to officiate each Sunday of the quarter. The discussion of the lesson will be unique. The name under which this particular class will be known, is the Adult Social Bible Class. The topics for lesson discussion tomorrow afternoon will be first, "Ideas of Justice," second, "Conditions of Safety," third "Impartial Laws."

All men including strangers are cordially invited to attend.

Manager of Welcome Cheese Factory Accused of ill Treatment

A police court case was billied for this morning, but the defendant having gone deer hunting, it had to be postponed until the 18th of November. The plaintiff is William Sowden, and he charges Norris Fraser, manager of the Welcome Cheese Factory, with cruelly beating a certain horse. The horse in question died recently, and the plaintiff contends that its death was the result of a flogging received at the hands of Fraser.—Port Hope Guide.

Social Evening at St. Luke's A.Y.P.A.

Held Last Night—Good Program and a Taffy Pull

A special evening of St Luke's A. Y. P. A., was held last evening and a large number was in attendance. Mr. Harry Potter, the president, was in the chair and after the opening exercises, the following excellent programme, was rendered,—

Piano Solo.—Miss C. English.
Recitation.—Mr. E. A. Roe.
Vocal Duet.—Mrs. Seward and Miss Ruth Dawson.
Humorous Reading.—Mr. H. Potter.

The programme was followed by an advertising contest, of which Miss Lillian Rogers was the winner.

A "taffy pull" in which all took part, was the concluding part of the programme, and no doubt was by far the most enjoyable part of the evening.

CANTATTA TO BE PRESENTED

A cantata, "Penitence, Pardon and Peace," by Maunder, will be given by the George street Methodist church church choir on the evening of November 22nd. The choir will be assisted by Miss L. Maude Smith, a talented reader of Toronto. The event promises to be most successful as the choir are already at work on the cantata and there is every assurance that it will be splendidly rendered.

General Strike Will be Called; Railway Servants to Take Action

100,000 Men Will Probably Stop Work on British Railways.

All Attempts at Conciliation Have Failed—Railways Refuse to Recognize Union—Will Tie Up Business of the Nation — English Papers Praise Canadian Methods of Dealing With Employes.

London, Nov. 2.—The executive committee of the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants yesterday adopted a resolution to call a general strike.

The British railway employes and the companies have been at loggerheads for some time past on the question whether the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants would strike to secure recognition of the organization, and a new scale of wages and hours, and finally it was decided by the employes to reach a decision by ballot.

Richard Bell, M. P., general secretary of the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants, in a recent address to a large body of railway men at Cardiff, said that a strike would be a terrible calamity, and that the society intended to exhaust every means to reach a peaceful solution of the trouble.

London, Nov. 2.—(C. A. P.)—In reference to the threatened railway strike The Chronicle notes the fact that the men of Canada are always able to meet the company. A Canadian, interviewed, stated that the reason the Canadian Pacific never had a big strike is simply that it always kept on good terms with the men, helped by the popularity of the company's officials. He lays stress on the value of the Canadian Government conciliation board, whereto The Morning Post also editorially refers.

100,000 Men Affected.

London, Nov. 2.—Richard Bell, M. P., general secretary of the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants, discussing the resolution to call a general strike, said yesterday:

"It means all that it says. Not only the members of the society, but every man engaged in the railway service in the United Kingdom, will get notice. We took the opinion of our members, and knowing that, and knowing also that thousands of men outside the society are in sympathy with us, we resolved to call on every one to come out."

It is understood that some 70,000 to 80,000 men voted for a general strike and that at least 100,000 men will stop work.

The railway companies contend that the society by no means represents the entire body of railway employes and say they have had a satisfactory response to the circulars issued by the directors asking for information in regard to the men who can be counted upon to remain loyal to the companies in the event of the declaration of a general strike.

The Red Flag Again Hoisted; Mutiny Among Russian Crew

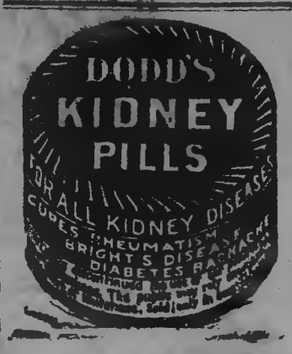
Soldiers and Civilians Killed at Vladivostock.

Three Revolutionists, One a Woman Led Mutiny—Sailors on Three Gunboats Incited by Agitators—Nearly All the Mutineers on the Skory Were Killed by Fire From Forts—Port Was Shelled.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 2.—According to the official report of the recent mutinous outbreak of sailors at Vladivostock, the crews of the torpedo boat destroyers, the Skory, Serdity and Trevotahny mutinied, hoisted the red flag and shelled the port, doing considerable damage to various buildings and killing some soldiers and civilians. The Skory, on which were three revolutionary agitators, including one woman, took the lead in the mutiny, the crew rising at the instance of the agitators, killing the commander of the boat and wounding the officers, who were overpowered and confined below decks. The fire of the rebellious torpedo boat destroyers was answered by the batteries ashore, and from the gunboat Mandjour and the torpedo boat destroyers Grosovoy, Smely and others. They surrounded the Skory and poured a raking fire into her, which battered her to pieces, exploded her two boilers, and caused fire to break out on board. Nearly all the mutineers of the Skory were killed on the vessel. The three or four survivors threw themselves into the sea.

The mutiny on board the Trevotshny was quelled by her own crew, after six of the mutineers had been killed and six wounded.

Gen. Count Unterberger, commanding the military district of the Amur, has arrived at Vladivostock, and assumed charge of the situation.



The United States Embassy here yesterday received a despatch from the consul at Vladivostock saying that the American who was wounded during the bombardment of Vladivostock by the mutinous torpedo boat destroyers is Harry Nietert, an employe of the Pacific Commercial Co., whose building was struck by a shell.

TRAIN LEFT THE RAILS.

Engineer and Fireman Missing—Brakeman Injured.

Eastman, Que., Nov. 2.—The engine and eight cars on a freight train left the rails on the bridge near this place yesterday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock. Engineer Draper and Fireman McKenny are missing, and C. Sturgeon, one of the brakeman, was seriously injured. No cause is as yet assigned for the accident. The bridge is not badly damaged, and it is expected that a few hours will suffice for repairs, with but little interruption of traffic.

To Get Low Rate Power.

London, Ont., Nov. 2.—Addressing a special meeting of the City Council last night, when it was decided to submit a bylaw for spending $235,000 for a distribution plant for Niagara power, Hon. Mr. Beck stated that as a result of the negotiations now in progress, London would get power, originally quoted at $23 per horsepower, at $17.50, and perhaps less.

He said that 18 months after the bylaw was passed, power would be delivered and declared that in those places where electric light companies also desired to purchase Niagara power, they would not be quoted as low a rate as the municipality would get, while profits derived from such companies would go to the municipality.

Thaw Judge Indicted.

New York, Nov. 2.—Ex-Justice Thomas Fitzgerald, who was removed from the bench of the appellate division of the Supreme Court after charges had been made against him by the Brooklyn Bar Association, was indicted for grand larceny yesterday by the grand jury of Richmond County. Margaret Slevin of Yonkers alleges that several years ago she gave Fitzgerald $1,000 to invest for her in bonds and mortgages, and that she had never received a cent of the money back.

Fatal Dynamite Explosion.

Winnipeg, Nov. 2.—Disregarding the necessity of using caution in the handling of dynamite, John Henderson and William White were terribly injured by an explosion at the C.N.R. gravel pit at Bird's Hill Thursday afternoon. The accident will likely prove fatal, although they are not yet dead.

Dedication at St. John's tomorrow.

Gives Laudanum to Babes.

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 2.—Mrs. Henry M. Leonard, 23 years of age, the wife of a mason of this city, attempted to kill herself and two small children yesterday afternoon by taking laudanum, giving some of it to the children and then turning on the gas in her room. The return of her husband from work frustrated the woman's attempt, in part at least.

Box Cars Wrecked.

McDougall's Chutes, New Ontario, Nov 2.—The siding at this place was the scene of what might have been a very serious accident.

At 11 o'clock yesterday as the third gravel train for construction work was passing the siding, the first car having partly passed, the back wheels caught the metals leading to the siding and the train followed. There were on the siding at the time five box cars. One was thrown off, the under-carriage torn away and the body thrown on to a heap of lumber at the side. There were no bumpers, so that the remaining four cars ran off about 20 feet at the end of the track.

Several officials were in the cars at the time, and all received a severe shaking up.

Put Ban on Alcohol.

Helsingfors, Finland, Nov. 2.—The Diet yesterday adopted unanimously, without a roll call, the alcohol bill, prohibiting the manufacture of alcohol in Finland or its importation into Finland. As the measure affects Russia's tariff relations with foreign countries, it is not certain that the Emperor will sanction the measure.

In view of the passage of the bill, temperance celebrations are being held in every part of the country.

Hau's Sentence Commuted.

London, Nov. 2.—The Berlin correspondent of The Standard says that the Grand Duke of Baden, acting on the advice of the Minister of Justice, has decided to commute the sentence of death passed on Karl Hau, formerly professor of Roman law at George Washington University, Washington, D. C., for the murder of Frau Moliter, his mother-in-law, to penal servitude for life.

Carnegie Makes Way.

St. Andrew's, Scotland, Nov. 2.—Andrew Carnegie, having positively refused to contest his election, Lord Avebury yesterday was formally declared to have been elected rector of the University of St. Andrew's. Mr. Carnegie has three times been selected lord rector of the university, the first time in 1901.

Murderer Executed.

Columbus, O., Nov. 2.—Royal Fowler of Dayton, who killed his sweetheart, Mary Hagerty, more than a year ago, was executed by electricity in the Ohio Penitentiary just after midnight. Fowler maintained a stoical indifference to the last.

I. C. R. Sheds Burned.

Campbellton, N. B., Nov. 2.—A fire which it is supposed was started by sparks from an engine completely destroyed the Intercolonial Railway freight shed here Thursday night. Loss about $30,000.

Caid MacLean Escapes.

Madrid, Nov. 2.—Despatches from Tetuan convey a native report to the effect that several days ago Caid MacLean escaped, but was recaptured and put in chains by order of Raisuli.

Government Grant of $25,000.

Winnipeg, Nov. 2.—Mayor Ashdown has received a letter from Sir Wilfrid, stating that it had been decided to appropriate $25,000 to aid Winnipeg in entertaining the British Association for the Advancement of Science, which meets in convention in this city in 1909.

Want the Natal Act.

Vancouver, Nov. 2.—Gordon Grant, secretary of the Asiatic Exclusion League, has asked John Oliver, M. L. D., president of the Provincial Liberal Association, to recommend the passing of the Natal Act to apply to the whole of the Dominion.

Knoxville Dry.

Knoxville, Tenn., Nov. 2.—More than 100 saloons in Knoxville closed Thursday night, as the result of an application of the Pendleton law, by which the cities of Tennessee can re-incorporate without having the saloon.

Growth of Saskatchewan.

Winnipeg, Nov. 2.—The population of Saskatchewan has increased 70,000 during the past year. The homestead entries totaled 20,401. The total population is estimated at 325,000.

STRYCHNINE IN STOMACH.

Inquest Resumed Into Death of Margaret Burns—Husband Charged.

Ottawa, Nov. 2.—The inquest was resumed at South Osgoode yesterday into the death of Margaret Burns. Her husband, Thomas Burns, is in jail in Ottawa on a charge of murdering her. Coroner Baptie of Ottawa presided. The most sensational testimony was that in Dr. W. H. Ellis' letter from the School of Practical Science, Toronto.

He said that traces of strychnine were found in the stomach. This was first disclosed in his letter of Oct. 25, and confirmed in another letter received Thursday.

Catherine and Bessie, sisters of the accused man, swore to washing his clothes after the death and finding no stains out of the ordinary.

Dr. Groves, who gave the burial certificate, testified to Burns coming for it at 4 in the morning. Burns was opposed to having an inquest, giving the reason that he wanted to save the expense.

The enquiry is proceeding. More definite information is expected from the Toronto doctor.

Evidence Indicated Suicide.

Ottawa, Nov. 2.—The Burns' inquest at Leitram yesterday afternoon was adjourned until Nov. 12 in order that full reports concerning the presence of strychnine in the dead woman's stomach may be received from Prof. Ellis of Toronto. This is a case in which Thomas Burns, her husband, is held on the charge of murder. The evidence indicated suicide rather than murder, especially in view of the fact that the man made no attempt to decamp.

RAN IN FRONT OF GUN.

Boy at Barriefield Meets With Serious Accident.

Kingston, Nov. 2.—A shooting accident occurred at Barriefield, when a young lad, the son of Charles Bowman, Lower Gordon street, nearly lost his life.

The boys were out squirrel hunting, and kept following up the men who were also out for a day's sport. Mr. John Donoghue had his 22-calibre Winchester loaded, with the muzzle pointed to the ground, and was looking up in a tree to locate the squirrel. Suddenly both boys spied him, and one, in attempting to get in a position to fire, knocked against Mr. Donoghue, and at the same instant young Bowman ran in front of the gun, which, from the jar went off, and the bullet entered the boy's arm above the elbow and lodged on the inside, not an inch from his heart. His escape from death was marvelous. At Dr. Bell's office the bullet was extracted, and yesterday he was doing nicely.

Injured at Fire.

Hamilton, Nov. 2.—Two firemen were seriously injured and several others narrowly escaped death yesterday in a fire at 168 Hess street north, when a staircase caved in and part of the roof fell, burying them beneath.

The men were quickly dug out. Two of them were unconscious.

They were Foreman Gilbert and Fireman Hottrum of the Central Station. They were removed to their homes in the ambulance.

The fire was caused by a lamp being knocked over in a woodshed. Mrs. Wilson, an elderly woman, who was carrying the lamp, was slightly burned.

A Miss Sheehan, who was near, is probably fatally injured. She is reported to be dying at the hospital.

Fight With Indians.

Washington, Nov. 2.—Capt. Williard reports a slight engagement with Navajo Indians. He captured ten prisoners. "Chief Bylillie and followers opened fire on Indian police and my men and skirmishes continued for ten minutes, during which three Indians were killed and one seriously wounded. One cavalry horse slightly wounded. No other casualties." The trouble is believed to be over.

Drove Wife to Suicide.

New York, Nov. 2.—Joseph Wardell, who was convicted of manslaughter in the first degree, in aiding and abetting his wife to commit suicide, and who, when he was arraigned for sentence Thursday, confessed that he had murdered his wife, was sentenced yesterday to imprisonment for not less than eighteen years and eleven months and not more than nineteen years and eleven months.

Sheriff After Bartles.

Auburn, N. Y., Nov. 2.—Under Sheriff Walker left Thursday night for Welland, Ont., to bring Norman Bartles, the former Syracuse brewer, back here to stand trial for perjury. The charge arises out of his testimony at the time he was convicted of attempted arson. Bartles fled to Canada before he was sentenced.

Two Killed in C. P. R. Wreck.

Montreal, Nov. 2.—The Halifax express, due here last night, was several hours late owing to an accident to a freight train on the C. P. R. near Eastman, in the eastern townships. The freight, while crossing a trestle bridge, broke through, and in the wreck the engineer and brakeman were killed.

Balloon's Long Fly.

Paris, Nov. 2.—A toy balloon, one of many released by the newspaper, The Eclair, has been found in Finland. It traveled a distance of 1,950 kilometers from Paris, thus beating by 25 kilometers the long distance balloon record by Count De La Veulx.

Fire at Magnetawan.

Magnetawan, Nov. 2.—L. F. Purdy's roller flour mill was destroyed by fire Thursday night about 10 o'clock. The total loss was over $7,000, with $4,500 insurance on building and contents. The cause of the fire is unknown.

THE CAMEO.

It Gets Its Name From the Cutting, Not From the Stone.

The true nature of a cameo is very much misunderstood by the public generally. Most people think it is the stone itself, when in reality the method of cutting is what produces the cameo. The real meaning of the word is unknown, its derivation having never been discovered; but, correctly speaking, cameos are small sculptures executed in low relief on some substance precious either for its beauty, rarity or hardness.

There are emerald cameos, turquoise cameos, shell cameos, coral cameos. Indeed, any substance that lends itself to carving in such minute detail can be used for cameo cutting, and nearly all precious stones, except diamonds, have been so used for intaglios, but never for cameos. Emerald is the most common precious stone from which cameos have been made, and there are some very fine emerald portrait cameos in existence, notably those of Queen Elizabeth in the British museum. Shell cameos were first made in the fifteenth century.

Banded onyx is generally used for cameo work because of its hardness and coloring, and it is this fact that has caused the misapprehension, the stone being used so much in making cameos that it has now become better known as "cameo" than by its right name.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

ANIMAL TRAITS.

Reminders in the Foal and the Calf of Their Wild Ancestors.

It is an interesting study to note in domestic animals the traits of their wild ancestors. There are some characteristics, of course, which are readily recognizable as being similar to those of animals still in a wild state, and for this reason they give a fair idea of the life and surroundings of progenitors. The habits of the dog and cat are too familiar to comment on, but take the foal and compare his traits with those of the calf.

The foal when a few days old can gallop as fast as he ever can in after life. He never leaves the dam and takes nourishment in small quantities, avoiding a full meal, which would impede swift escape. In lying down no attempt is made at concealment, and when he stands his head is held high. These habits show that the animal's ancestors spent their lives in the open and not in the forests and that they were great travelers.

The calf, on the contrary, fills himself with milk and is a poor traveler. When danger approaches his first impulse is to conceal himself. He holds his head low in order to look under the branches of the forest. All his characteristics point to the fact that the ancestral home of cattle was in a moist, wooded country, while the primeval horse roamed the plains.—London Chronicle.

A Chinese Solomon.

Two Chinamen, brothers, well advanced in age, quarreled over a piece of land which they had jointly inherited from their father and went to law. The native magistrate heard the testimony on both sides and determined that both were wrong and both right, according to the different points of view. Therefore, instead of rendering a judgment in favor of either, he ordered that both be locked up in a cangue with their heads fastened face to face and kept there until they settled their quarrel. The cangue is a sort of cage in which prisoners are placed with their necks locked into a hole in a board. It resembles somewhat the stocks which were used for the punishment of malefactors in olden times. When the brothers were placed in the cangue, they were both very stubborn and indignant, but toward the end of the second day they began to weaken and on the third day reached a satisfactory settlement and were released.

Costly in Human Lives.

In ancient times the great engineering works were costly in human lives. The making of the Red sea canal is said to have involved the loss of no fewer than 120,000 Egyptians. Buckle's examination made him believe the number to have been somewhat exaggerated, but he gives it as still a guide to the enormous waste of human life in those days. The men who kept 2,000 slaves engaged for three years bringing a single stone from Elephantine to the pyramids did not care a great deal so long as in the twenty years in which one of the pyramids was building there were forthcoming the 360,000 men required for the work.

Steps Being Taken to Provide Accommodation for Old Men

Failing to Make an Agreement With County, City Will Adopt Other Means--Legal Committee Deals With Several Matters.

Failing to secure an agreement with the county with regard to having the indigent old men of the city placed in the House of Refuge at Lakefield, the city council will take steps to provide for them in another manner. At the council meeting on Monday night, the legal committee will recommend in its report that the committee be empowered to make arrangements with some reliable person to house and provide for four or five of the old men who are now in the Protestant Home. With these out of the Home, it will be possible to accommodate there, in comfort, all the old women who are without homes and relatives to look after them.

A meeting of the legal committee was held yesterday afternoon, at which the chairman, Ald. Phelan, Mayor McWilliams and Ald. Stevenson were present. A report was received from the Mayor and Ald. Phelan, who waited on the county council in connection with the matter referred to above. In brief, it was to the effect that it was impossible to come to any agreement with the county and that other means for providing for the old men would have to be looked into. The situation was talked over by those present, and on motion, it was decided to recommend to the city council that the committee be authorized to enter into an agreement, with some reliable person, to provide accommodation for, and look after a number of the old men that are now in the Protestant Home.

TO TAKE NO ACTION

The committee, acting on the advice of the city solicitor, decided to take no action in regard to the bill from the Mourn Lumber Company for wood destroyed during one of the sawdust fires last summer.

On motion it was decided to change the crossing over the creek, on Edinburgh street, from where it now is situated, to its original location, a few feet farther east. The crossing was changed when the creek was diverted to run along the Grand Trunk track, but as this course has now been filled in there is no further use for the crossing there.

Port Hope Praises His Work; SaysDavid Hartley is a "Dandy"

Reynolds Willing to Wager $300 That He Can Smash the Local Painter's Record—Willing to Undertake it for $300 and Will Make the Attempt on November 19.

The Port Hope Guide, under the heading, "Hartley is a Dandy," says:

"All glory to David Hartley, the Peterborough pedestrian, who has established a record for the Peterborough-Port Hope-Toronto route. The distance, which is estimated at 131 miles, was covered by Hartley in 24 hours and 8 minutes, which is a remarkable feat. He reached here at six o'clock yesterday morning, and left again at seven, making the trip from here to Peterborough, 30 miles, in 9 hours and 8 minutes. The other 101 miles was made by Hartley in 25 hours, which is a little better than four miles an hour. Considering Hartley's age, 54 years, he has accomplished a wonderful task and established a record that is likely to remain unbroken.

"Through the Toronto press Hartley has challenged Jimmy Reynolds to walk from Port Hope to Peterborough and return twice, for $1,000. Jimmy will not accept the challenge this fall, but will wager $300 that he can make the same trip as that accomplished by Hartley and smash Hartley's record. We think Jimmy would be better off to accept Hartley's challenge, but he is anxious to break Hartley's record; so if some Peterborough sport has $300 to squander, will he kindly speak up. Reynolds will make the trip on November 19th, weather permitting.

The Knights of Columbus Held Very Large Gathering

Many From Peterborough and Other Points Attended the Thanksgiving Day Convention in Belleville Several New Members Initiated.

Thursday was a gala day for the Knights of Columbus, the Roman Catholic social organization which was instituted in this city, about two years ago, says the Belleville Intelligencer. The Order, we are told, is making great headway in this district. Yesterday between 300 and 400 delegates from Lindsay, Peterborough and other points in this district visited Belleville and Front-st., during the day, was made lively by the presence of well-dressed gentlemen, wearing narrow white ribbons in their button-holes, all, apparently, enjoying themselves heartily in social intercourse.

Yesterday morning the Knights attended Mass at St. Michael's, where an eloquent and impressive sermon was preached to them by Rev Father Twomey.

At the afternoon session the degree work was well put on, and matters of interest to the Knights in this district were talked over.

The different sessions were held at the hall of the local Knights, which is the one formerly occupied by Belleville Lodge, I.O.O.F.

The piece de resistance of the gathering, however, was the initiation of between 50 and 60 new members. Mr. Thomas Hurley, Grand Knight of the local court, was the presiding officer, he being ably assisted by Ald. Butler, District Deputy.

The visiting Knights spent an enjoyable day, and were loud in their praises of the hospitality of Belleville's Knights of Columbus.

Crops Uniformly Good This Fall

Reports of Slim Yields Said to be Without Foundation

A gentleman from the vicinity of Keene says there is no truth in the rumor that there is a shortage of the potato crop this fall, and states there is a good average crop. The farmers, he said, will make more money out of this year's sale of potatoes, than they did last year, in spite of last season's big crop.

There is no shortage of feed for stock either, and apples are plentiful, bringing about a dollar per bag.

He remarked that the despatch from Peterborough, in one of the Toronto papers, intimating that cattle could be obtained for $10 a head is nothing short of ridiculous, and said that he was at a recent sale in the vicinity of Keene, at which cows were sold as high as $40 each.

"On account of a backward spring," he said, "the farmers have been delayed in their work, and were so busy when orders for different farm products were received, that they found it impossible, for a time, to fill them. Hence the unfounded reports of a general crop scarcity."

INDICTED FOR PERJURY

Outcome of a Case at the Non-Jury Sittings Held at Barrie.

Barrie, Nov. 2.—The case of McCullough vs. Hughes, which was heard here on Monday before Mr. Justice Riddell, at the non-jury sittings, developed a criminal charge and, as a result, Thomas Hughes, will have to answer to an indictment for perjury. Hughes is administrator of the estate of the late Mary Hughes, and on June 1st last, sold certain property in his capacity as trustee, to Thomas Charles McCullough. Both parties hail from Lefroy. The purchase price was $1400, but Hughes afterwards got an offer of $1500 from another party named Jacks, and it was to carry out the terms of the first contract that the action of McCullough vs Hughes was brought. Upon examination for discovery, before Mr. McCosh, Hughes swore that on the day on which the price of $1400 was fixed in Stratby & Esten's law office, he was under the influence of liquor and unable to remember the nature of the transaction. This evidence he repeated in court on Monday, but was contradicted point blank by Mr. Esten, Mr. Henry Grose, and the plaintiff, McCullough, who swore emphatically that Hughes was perfectly sober. Mr Justice Riddell immediately instructed the Crown Attorney to prepare an indictment for perjury against the defendant. This was done forthwith, and Hughes was placed under arrest by Detective Beardsley. He appeared on Tuesday before Radenhurst, P.M. and was remanded one week, bail being fixed at $600 in two sureties.

Presentation to Mr. Alex Mowat

St. John's Church Brockville Honors a Retiring Member

On Wednesday evening the Board of Managers of St. John's church met at the residence of W. B. Reynolds, one of their number, and presented Alex. Mowat, prior to his departure for Peterborough, with a handsome gold signet ring, which Mr. Mowat accepted with much emotion. Rev. D. Strachan and W. B. Smellie made the presentation, the former referring to the excellent work done by Mr. Mowat in the congregation, and more especially as secretary of the Board of Trustees. Mr. Mowat made a pleasing reply and said the happiest moments of his church life were spent in St. John's. He fully appreciated the gift and the spirit that prompted the donators.—Brockville Times.

Rainy Weather Spoils Market

Small Attendance of Farmers To-day But Many Buyers

Today's market was a poor one, but those who braved the disagreeable weather and brought their produce to the city, were well repaid for doing so. The prices were exceedingly high and the vendors seemingly only had to ask whatever they pleased, and they got it. Butter and eggs were eagerly sought after, and realized 30 cents per pound, and 30 cents a dozen. Fowl was fairly plentiful. Turkeys sold at $1.00, 90c and 80c, geese at $1.00 and ducks at 80 and 90 cents per pair, while chickens brought 60 cents.

On the outside market there were only a few rigs. Pork sold at 10 and 11 cents, and potatoes at 80 and 90 cents per bag.

"DEAD" MAN IS ALIVE.

Father of Family Returns After Having Been Buried.

Astonishing is the story of a man's double, and with marks so distinctive as to deceive his own wife and family, which has come to light at Bickley, Kent. Arthur Albert Steer has just returned home to discover that, according to the records, he is dead. In a quiet spot in Bromley Cemetery his grave has plants and flowers growing upon it. Steer, who is between fifty and sixty years of age, belongs to Bickley, North Bromley. That place, however, was not large enough to hold his freedom-loving soul for long, so, now and again, he has gone out into the world, and it was while he was on one of these excursions that his family identified someone else's body as his and buried it with lamentation. In April a man's body was recovered from the Thames. He had fallen in the water from Chelsea bridge, and there was nothing to indicate his identity. A description appeared in the press under the heading, "Mystery of a one-eyed man," and Steer's eldest married daughter, Mrs. Seats, who then lived at Penge, felt convinced that it was her father. Nothing had been heard of him for five weeks, and he was depressed when they last saw him. The news was conveyed to Mrs. Steer's large family of grown-up sons and daughters, six of whom went to Horseferry road Mortuary and pronounced the body to be that of their father. The deceased had one eye missing—so had Steer; he had an exceptional ginger-colored moustache—as had Steer; he had a slightly broken nose—so had Steer. Also there was the evidence of a split toe and of spectacles in a coat pocket. The suit, marked "AP 100," was the only difficulty; but the family thought he might have acquired it recently. Mr. John Steer, the eldest son identified the body at the inquest, when the jury agreed that deceased was Arthur Albert Steer, and returned a simple verdict of "Found drowned." The funeral took place in the cemetery of St. Luke's, Bromley common. It was a pathetic little ceremony. The coffin, with Steer's name and the record of his birth and death on a breastplate, was covered with wreaths, carried in a hearse, behind which came two coaches conveying the sorrowing family. He was buried in a family grave, at each end of which a laurel bush was planted. Flowers have been placed upon it regularly ever since, and soon there would have been a tombstone. A fortnight ago some Bickley gasworkers were having a pleasure jaunt at Caterham, and in a public-house they met a man, who, hearing they came from Bickley, casually mentioned that a day or two before he had seen Steer. This provoked an offer of long odds. Wasn't Steer buried at Bromley? Being a man of great virtue, however, the stranger declined to take their money; it was a "cert," he said. Two of Steer's sons, John and Edward, made a cycle search of the district, and to add to the complications of the case they actually discovered another man named Steer, who was no relation, and was also one-eyed! Eventually the elusive Arthur Albert was tracked to Marden; but was not discovered. However, a butcher who knew him offered to tell him, when he saw him next, that a coroner's jury had pronounced him dead, and so it came about that the other night Arthur Albert Steer presented himself once more at the familiar portals of a Bickley public-house—and the apparition nearly gave the company apoplexy. Now he is at the house of his eldest son in Cannon road—a sad and apologetic man. The police were informed at once of this remarkable reappearance of the "dead," and the facts are to be laid before the coroner. Meanwhile, no one has the faintest idea who the man who was buried really is.

Elephants' Terrible Revenge.

The following exciting episode is translated from a native paper "Mambhum" for the "Amrita Bazar Patrika," Calcutta, from which the extract is taken:—"In Agrahayan last, a khera of the village Dalma, Pargana Barahabhum, having gone to his paddy field to inspect it, found a herd of elephants destroying his crop. Naturally he got enraged, and began to shoot arrows at the animals from behind a neighboring tree, which resulted in the death of a young elephant. No sooner did he notice this than the khera ran away, and took shelter in his cottage near by. Maddened at the death of the young elephant, the animals made a furious dash at the cottage, and surrounded and razed it to the ground. The khera, however, somehow or other, escaped with his life, climbed up a peepul tree, and took shelter on its topmost bough. Failing in their attempt, the animals roared in anger, and made another dash with aggravated fury toward the tree and surrounded it. Their strength was increased by a fresh contingent which responded to their roar. The revengeful elephants had the sagacity to fetch water in their trunks from a neighboring pond,

WANTED THE GIBLETS.

An Incident of Revolutionary Days In South Carolina.

There are innumerable stories of Revolutionary days in Charleston. The old ladies used to tell with glee how, when the British were supposed to be out of the way, the young fellows would come home to dance with them. A message would go to the nearest cousins and friends and a supper be cooked. It might be only rice and bacon, but it was good to hungry men, declares Charleston's historian, Mrs. Ravenal. The dance and the feast would continue until the stars grew pale.

Often these merrymakings were disturbed by the enemy, but there was always a negro or two on the watch, and the harsh note of the screetch owl or the cry of the whippoorwill would give the alarm, then "partings in hot haste," a rush for the horses, a sharp scuffle, a hot pursuit and perhaps a prisoner taken.

The young men had odd adventures. One young fellow betrayed himself by his appetite. He was pursued and had taken shelter at Mrs. Motte's place, on South Santee. She rolled him up in a carpet and, pushing it against the wall, told him to keep quiet until the enemy had gone and she could release him.

Unluckily he heard through the open window his hostess giving directions to the cook about the chickens which were to be dressed for the dragoons' dinner. He could not bear to be left out and thrust his head from the carpet chrysalis and cried out, "Keep the giblets for me!"

The soldiers heard, and he was at once caught and carried off to repent at leisure of his indiscretion.

DOUGHERTY ISLAND.

It Is the Most Remote and Desolate Spot on Earth.

Which is the loneliest, most desolate and most inaccessible island on the face of the globe? Many people would doubtless plump for one of the Crozets, in the south Atlantic ocean. And yet Hog island, the westernmost of the group, is by no means an undesirable place of residence, abounding as it does in hares and rabbits, penguins, albatrosses and sea elephants.

Herd island, in the same seas, is far more isolated as well as more barren, but it possesses, as does Hog, a shelter but for castaways, and it is visited by whalers occasionally. So, too, is South Georgia, but it has no shelter but, and as it is right out of the track of shipping any one unlucky enough to be cast away thereon would stand a very poor chance of ever getting off alive.

Bouvet island, in the same seas, is visited even more rarely, and on the last occasion when a ship touched there five corpses were found frozen on the beach, grim mementos of some unrecorded tragedy of the sea. Possession island, in its turn, is still lonelier and more inhospitable than Bouvet.

But probably the palm in this direction must be ascribed to Dougherty island, on which, so far as is known, no landing has ever been effected. It has only been sighted twice in a century and is officially described in the admiralty sailing directions as "the most remote and isolated spot on earth."—Pearson's Weekly.

Coughing in Lieu of Oratory.

A singular fashion which prevailed among the preachers of Cromwell's time was that of coughing or hemming in the middle of a sentence in order to attract the attention of the congregation. The necessity of continually attracting the attention of the listeners could not have argued well for the brilliance of the sermons. Some authorities say that the preachers coughed merely as an ornament to speech. At any rate, when the sermons were printed, as many of them were, the coughs and hems were always indicated on the margin of the page.

A SERVICEABLE "COVER-ALL" WORK APRON

There is one thing that is above all others indispensible to the busy housewife, and that is a supply of really practical aprons for use on house-cleaning days. The apron illustrated is one of the most satisfactory designs for this purpose, being unique in its shaping, and as attractive to look at as it is practical to wear. The long sleeves are especially useful as protectors of the dress sleeves, which always seem to catch so much soilure when housework is in progress, greatly to the detriment of the gown. Gingham is by far the most serviceable material for making the apron, 4 1-2 yards 36 inches wide being required for the medium size.

6944.—7 sizes, 32 to 44 inches bust measure.

A GRACEFUL NEGLIGEE GOWN

The negligee gown or tea gown is admittedly a necessity of life to the modern woman, especially the American woman, whose hours of activity are usually so strenuous that freedom and comfort are absolutely essential in that daily hour or so of leisure. The gown illustrated is a charming combination of the wrapper and the house dress, displaying the luxurious ease of the one mingled with the up-to-date elegance of the other. It is shaped to the figure by means of graduated tucks at the waist line, a most becoming arrangement for the slender type of woman. The three-quarter sleeves are similarly tucked, and a novel feature is the tucked colonial collar which finishes the V-shaped neck. The gown is here made of fine French chalite, but foulard, crepe de Japon, nun's veiling or any supple fabric would develop prettily by this model. 9 3-8 yards 27 inches wide are needed for the medium size.

6979.—6 sizes, 32 to 42 inches bust measure.

The price of this pattern is ten cents.

Leave your order and ten cents at the REVIEW OFFICE and pattern will be sent you by mail.

SECURED MANY DUCKS MONDAY

Messrs. Howard and Crowe Get 30 and 24 Birds Respectively

The duck hunters at Rice Lake this season have had for the most part good luck although several of the devotees of the sport have not been very fortunate in the matter of bagging the birds.

Last Monday was a veritable "black" Monday, for a couple of the numerous sportsmen at the lake, Messrs. Madden Howard and Alfie Crowe bringing down thirty and twenty-four ducks respectively, during the afternoon.

Numerous other hunters have had good luck, and the season, generally speaking has been a particularly good one.

Italians Will Leave for Italy

Number of Those in Peterboro' Start for Native Land on Monday

Four Italians, who have been residents of Peterborough for several years, will leave on Monday for the land of their birth, two of them to remain there permanently, and the others to spend the winter in the land of smiling skies. The Italian in Canada saves his money, and it is a proud day for him, when he is able to cross the sea and visit the folks at home, with considerable coin to jingle in his pockets and "blow" himself while on his native soil.

Lindsay Thinks It Was Held Up

And That Several Bad Men are Now Lodged Behind the Bars on Serious Charge

Mr. W. Lytle, forman of the outside construction work of the Canadian Machine Telephone Co. — now being carried on in Lindsay is in the city today, and will remain here over Sunday. Mr. Lytle says the people in the Sougog burg refer to the offence of the three young men who were disorderly on the train travelling from Lindsay to Peterborough on Thanksgiving day, as a "train hold-up" and it is reported around the town that a large number of desperadoes, participating in the "hold-up" are under lock and key, bail being refused. The Lindsayites are either misinformed, or are working their imaginative powers overtime to supply color to the incident.

An Old Man on Long Journey; Walked From Minden to City

Is on His Way to Montreal and Applied to the Mayor To-day for Assistance After Spending the Night in the Police Station.

After walking over seventy miles from Minden to this city, a man of about seventy winters, called at the police station last night, and asked if he might rest there until morning. He was given the desired lodging.

This morning he interviewed Mayor McWilliams. He stated that he was endeavoring to reach Montreal, and asked if the city council would give something to help him on his way. He was without money, and had a long story of hard luck. He had made the journey so far on foot. He has been some weeks coming from Minden, having stopped at several points along the road working for farmers. By this means he paid for his lodging and meals. The unfortunate pedestrian was a tall and gray whiskered man, comfortably dressed and very respectable in appearance. He carried over his shoulder a canvas bag, containing all his earthly belongings.

The mayor explained to him that the city could not do anything. The council had nothing to do with dealing out charity.

The old gentleman was seen wending his way towards the C.P.R. station, evidently having raised enough funds to take him part of the distance to Montreal.

Advance in Liquor Prices

Local Hotelmen Sign Agreement to Take Effect Nov. 15th.

All the hotelkeepers of the city have signed an agreement to sell bar goods at the following prices on and after, Nov. 15th.

Beer, soft drinks, and native wine, 5 cents straight.

Liquor, draught, 10 cents, or 3 for 25c.

Case goods, 15 cents or 2 for 25c.

These prices are the same as those prevailing in Toronto.

LUMBER PRICES ARE DISCUSSED

Not Much Change Expected in the Market

There has been of late, considerable discussion, throughout the country, with regard to the probable price of lumber for next year, and the press generally appears to predict a decline. This conclusion appears to have been brought about by the report that a certain contractor in Winnipeg, purchased a small lot of lumber at Carman, 57 miles from Winnipeg, at $12 per thousand less than he could in this city. But no information has been given as to the circumstances, which surround the transaction, and in consequence it is impossible to say as to whether the deal had any significance or not. As far as Ontario is concerned, it would appear that there will be quite as much lumber cut in 1908 as there has been this season, and wholesale prices today, are just about where they were this time last year, and with no evidences of weakening. Looking over the situation at present, it is difficult to see why there should be less lumber required for the next few years than in the past, unless the very improbable should happen, in the way of a succession of bad or indifferent crops. In Greater Ontario lumbering operations are quite active and much stronger than several months ago, in fact, several large operators who had announced their intention of remaining inactive, are now putting in their usual number of camps.

THREE SMALL BOYS TALK WALK

Filled with a desire to emulate the deeds of David Hartley, George Stevens, the six-year-old son of Geo. Stevens, sr., east city, and Bert and Harold Cook, two small boys, who live next door to Stevens, walked to Lakefield yesterday, and incidentally caused their parents considerable alarm. The boys did not tell anyone where they were going, and their absence caused much anxiety. In due time the absence of the youths was noticed, and Mrs. Cook with Mrs. Stevens drove to Lakefield, searching for the missing lads. The trio were located at Lakefield, where they had walked to, arriving in that village shortly after eleven o'clock. The boys went to the Cook boys' grandmother's for dinner, and were there corralled and brought back to the city in Mrs. Cook's rig. The boys seemed as proud over their walk to Lakefield, as was Hartley over his splendid record, between Oshawa to Toronto and back to Peterborough.

RICH MINERALS AWAY UP NORTH

A Haliburton correspondent writes: Last week I mentioned the arrival of many deer hunters who were daily dropping in to prepare to meet the innocent little creatures. This week is marked by the departure from our vicinity of those scientists who have for the past number of days been busy hunting for minerals, such as are found in countries of similar formation to our own. Some of them come from Toronto, while others come from the land over which the eagle soars. They all declare this part of the country contains mineral deposits of great value, such as the ores from which are obtained the well-known metals, gold, silver, copper, lead, and zinc, and the lesser known minerals, manganese, nickel, cobalt, aluminum, arsenic, and dear knows how many more.

Jonas Jacobs May Start in Hamilton Event

Talk of Entering Chemong Indian in Next Herald Road Race.

Mr. Dan Whetung, jr., the popular driver of the Chemong stage, says that Simpson's great run at Hamilton on Thanksgiving day is the talk of the whole Chemong reserve. Simpson has several blood relations at Chemong, who are naturally much elated over their kinaman's superb showing. Asked whether any of the Chemong Indians had caught the running fever, Mr. Whetung stated none to his knowledge had been fired with an ambition to attain fame in that respect, and said that while there were several good sprinters at Chemong, there were very few athletes conspicuous for their prowess as distance men. He said, however, that Jonas Jacobs, a Chemong Indian, seemed to have great ability to get over a long course, and he would not be surprised if he was put into shape for next year's event at Hamilton. There is already considerable talk of having him trained and entered.

Had Two Calls Within an Hour

Motor at Fuel and Cartage Saw House Was Destroyed

The fire department had two quick calls today, one at 12 o'clock noon, and another at one o'clock. The first was to a house in Letellier's terrace, Aylmer street, and was a "false alarm." Owing to a defective pipe the smoke escaped and the occupants of the house thought there was a fire somewhere in the building. The motor in the saw house of the Fuel and Cartage Company caught fire about ten o'clock and the brigade was summoned. The hose was turned on the blaze, effectually extinguishing it and preventing further damage. The motor was destroyed.

ONE ON THE PAINTERS.

A lady once having her house painted on paying the workmen for the first day gave them no extra money to get a drink. They all noticed this, and agreed to have either the money or the liquor. Next day one of the men remarked to the old lady that her pictures looked very dirty and if she would bring them a quart of brandy they would wash them carefully. She did this, and the cunning painters drank heartily and washed the pictures with soap and water. On looking at them afterwards the lady exclaimed "Dear me, they look like new and cost nothing, for that is the same brandy my poor old husband washed his feet in before he died."

FRUIT MARKS ACT

The fruit growers of East Northumberland evidently have little confidence in the administrative ability of Hon. Sidney Fisher. At the polls on Tuesday the Fruit Marks Act played an important part in making many marks favorable for the Conservative candidate. The Act may, therefore, be said to have borne good fruit, even if it is a bad act.

Instant Relief from Headache

"Hurry Zutoo Tablets. Everybody wants them. They give almost instant relief from headache. All who use them tell me the same story."

The above message was received from a well known merchant of Grantley, Ont.

Flattering to Zutoo Tablets, is it not? And yet, if you have tried these tablets, you know that the words of that message are true.

If you have not tried them, you have yet to experience how quickly they will cure any kind of headache, and how bright and well they will always leave you feeling.

We will send samples for nothing.

Bessie Butler Given First Trip Today

Went up as far as Nassau—Machinery Worked Satisfactorily

The new Government boat, the 'Bessie Butler,' was given a trial run this afternoon and travelled in a highly satisfactory manner. The boat left her moorings about two o'clock, was taken over the lift lock, and run up as far as Nassau and return. Her machinery worked splendidly and she travelled at a rapid pace. Superintendent McClellan and a number of the canal officials and others, were on board.

The "Bessie Butler" has been built by the Polson Iron Works, of Toronto, and was launched about a month ago. She was built in the canal, just south of the lift lock.

Grant, Superintending Engineer of the Trent canal, Peterborough.

Many Places to Vote on Local Option

Plebiscite to be Taken in Several Neighboring Points

In a short time Brighton township and village, the towns of Campbellford, Colborne and Hastings, and the townships of Seymour, Murray and Percy will vote on local option. All these municipalities voted in favor of the referendum several years ago, and should they carry local option, the county of Northumberland will very nearly go dry. The only places in the county not having it or which are not voting on it are Cobourg and the townships of Hamilton and Alnwick—and there is some talk of a local option campaign in Hamilton township. About 75 municipalities in Ontario will vote on local option in January.

WILL THERE BE A DROP IN THE PRICE OF MEAT?

Dispatches From Large Packing Centres in the States States Are Encouraging---No Promises From Local Butchers.

When hay and other fodder is so dear, one would naturally imagine stock would be cheap. As a matter of fact it is. Any farmer will tell you that at sales he can get practically no price at all for his stock. The farmers don't want more than they can possibly do with as they are so short of feed. How is it then that beef does not come down in price, as it was reported that it had in Toronto. The butchers tell us that while there is no demand for stock they have to pay a big price for fat cattle, as the farmer raises the cry to costly feeding, in which, no doubt, there is a good deal of truth. A few days ago there was a report going the rounds that the price of meat was going to drop in this city, and that two butchers had already come down two or three cents a pound on the price of steak. On making inquiry a representative of the Review learned that the movement was not general with the butchers, and in fact that there was very little grounds for the report, welcome though it sounded.

Reliable despatches have been received from large meat packing centres in the United States. One from Omaha and one from Chicago, which sound interesting and carry with them a ray of hope for the masses who are being held up on almost every necessity of life.

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 2.—Omaha packing houses today reduced the prices of all kinds of meat 10 per cent. and expect a still further reduction.

Edward A. Cudahy, of the Cudahy Packing Company, expressed the belief that the prices of all commodities would be materially reduced and that the present financial flurry would result in a general reduction of values.

AT CHICAGO TOO.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—A prominent packer here today said that the action of the Omaha houses in reducing the prices of meats would surely be followed by similar action on the part of packers here and in all parts of the United States.

"We will have to meet the prices set in Omaha to compete," he said.

He further stated that he agreed with Mr. Cudahy in his belief that a reduction in the prices of all commodities is imminent."

"A dollar as a dollar is worth more than it was a few months ago" he said. "They are scarcer and should purchase more."

Numerous Hunting Parties are Searching for the Nimble Deer

Good Sport Predicted for the Nimrods—Seven Deer Seen Near Apsley in One Herd—Destination of the Different Parties.

The deer hunters, who are going north this week will be pleased to learn of the report brought down by Mr. Robert Howden, a cattle buyer who visited Chandos township last week. He says that the deer will be plentiful this year, from his experience while north, and predicts good sport for the nimrods. About sixteen miles to the north-east of Apsley he saw seven deer in one herd, only about one hundred yards distant. They stood there while Mr. Howden and his drovers went by, and seemed to take more than an ordinary interest in their passing.

The Turtle Lake party left early Wednesday morning for the scene of operations. The party this year is composed as follows; J. C Baisdon, captain; Er. Gibson, sec.-treas.; C. Young, canteen inspector; Geo. Baisdon, W. J. Baptie and N. Moore, and D. Garvey. George Jackman will look after the cuisine. Messrs. G. A. Baptie and W. Sherin, of Lakefield, will join the party later on.

The following party will have their hunting ground around Maple Lake this season, says the Lakefield News. Messrs. R. J. Lennox, Ira Lennox, O. Lennox, H. Lennox, T. Z. Webster, and B. Kidd.

The Tedford party, of Warsaw, will hunt at Crane Lake.

The Pencil Lake party left early Wednesday morning, and is composed of the following hunters; Messrs. A. J. Kidd, Dr. J. R. Fraser, W. H. Casement, R. G. Cobton, G. Ridpath, W. Adams and W. Preston. Mr. W. H. E. Bravender, of Hudson, N. Y., will join the party later on.

The following party, who, in past years, have had good luck, will camp near the old depot in Burleigh township; Paul Payne, captain; Jacob Payne, C. Payne, L. Payne, F Payne, N. Payne, Ed. Hamblin, R. Hamblin, W. Hamblin, D. Little, Dummer, and J. Payne, and Percy Spence, Lakefield.

The Rock Lake party is composed of the following; Messrs. S. Miller, Stuart Miller, Wm. Miller, Thomas Miller, Warsaw, and W. J. Charlton, Lakefield.

A Young's Point party consisting of Messrs. S. Duval, R. Heard, B. Heard, W. Darcy, W. Heard and R. Darcy, will locate at Long Lake.

Among the hunting parties which left on Wednesday for the northern woods, is the Young-Tate party, of Smith. It is composed of Messrs. T. A. Young, W. Tate, Norman Young, Jas. Paul, Lakefield; John Coon, Bridgenorth, and others. The party went back to Gull Lake, their customary haunt, and expect to get the full complement of the fleet-footed antlered monarchs.

Tuesday was a busy day at the office of the fish and game inspector, Mr. F. J. Moore, Lakefield, over fifty licenses to hunt deer being issued.

Considerable misunderstanding has arisen among the hunters as to the effect of the declaration on the back of the license. On Monday Mr. Moore wrote to the department with regard to the meaning of the declaration, and received the following reply, which speaks for itself;

Toronto, Oct. 29, 1907,
F. J. Moore, Esq.,
Lakefield, Ont.

Dear Sir.—I have yours of yesterday re declaration on back of licenses, and in reply, beg to say that section 14, sub-section 3, of the Act provides that when two or more are hunting together an aggregate of not more than two for each member of the party may be killed, and if one person kills, say four, let him so state on the declaration, the act gives him the privilege, and there should be no objection.

Yours truly,
E. TINSLEY,
Superintendent.

Many of the hunters from this section left for the hunting grounds early Wednesday morning in order to prepare camp, and be in readiness to take watch on Friday morning, the first day of the hunt. Several parties left on Thursday morning for the back woods.

Smith Farmer Has Potato Freak

Mr. T. A. Young of the 4th concession of Smith township has a potato freak on his farm against which he challenges competition. When the stalks of the originally planted potato had grown considerably they drooped over and took root eight inches from the hill. At the bottom of this newly formed root, two potatoes the size of hen's eggs, have grown, which in all his career as a farmer, Mr. Young has never seen duplicated.

GAME POACHERS ARE AT WORK

Lindsay Game Warden Captures Several Muskrat Pelts

Fish and Game Warden Archie Bradshaw of Lindsay, is not one of those individuals who may be described under the appellation, all fuss and feathers—he goes about his business in most unobtrusive fashion and generally has something to show when he returns from an expedition after law-breakers, says the Post.

Saturday morning last, acting on a hint received from one of his trustworthy agents "down the line" the warden secured the services of County Constable Foster, and set out for Emily Creek. After tramping along its borders for some miles, they located a trapper's camp in the edge of the woods, close to the water, part of the outfit of which comprised two canoes, a catcher's lantern, and two guns. Close to the camp door lay the carcasses of four mink, from which the pelts had evidently been only recently removed, but the owner of the camp and outfit was not to be seen.

This inhospitable reception did not deter the Warden and his assistant from making themselves very much at home. Finally they enlarged the area of their quest, until at last, in a clump of trees distant about 40 yards from the camp they uncovered a pile of muskrat pelts.

"Eureka!" cried the pleased game warden.

"Good shootin'," ejaculated the 45th Batt. man.

The pelts were packed into a bag, which the visitors had had the forethought to take with them on the trip and for the next hour, they sweated and wrestled with their heavy, unwieldy, and somewhat odoriferous burden. Finally they reached a farm house; there they were able to engage a rig to take them to Ancona Point station, where they boarded the C.P.R. train for Lindsay.

This morning Warden Bradshaw notified the Department at Toronto of his capture, and asked for instructions. He has strong suspicions as to the identity of the trapper who has been doing the illegal work, and the end is not yet. Even if unsuccessful in apprehending the individual, Warden Bradshaw, has done a good work in seizing the skins, and depriving the law-breaker of his illicit spoils.

Special Services at the Barracks

Adjutant and Mrs. White of Toronto Will be Here

Tonight, the Salvation Army band will march to the C.P.R. station to welcome Adjutant and Mrs. White of Toronto, who will give special addresses tonight, and at all the services tomorrow at the local barracks. Both Adjutant and Mrs. White are interesting speakers, and no doubt there will be large gatherings at all meetings tomorrow.

HITCHCOCK IS IN TROUBLE

Famous Comedian's Position Taken by His Understudy at Astor Theatre

The following despatch from New York intimates that Raymond Hitchcock, the celebrated comdian, for some reason not given has fallen into the bad graces of his manager, Henry W. Savage. It is said that he is believed to be fleeing to Canada.

Hitchcock is one of the most brilliant comedians on the American stage and has most recently starred in "The Yankee Tourist," a musical play with libretto and lyrics by Richard Harding Davis and Wallace Irwin.

Hitchcock's rise from a humble clerk to a comedian known throughout the English speaking world has been meteoric. He was seen in Toronto some time ago in "The Yankee Consul," and made a great hit among the theatregoers in that city.

The despatch reads:—

New York, Nov. 1.—Raymond Hitchcock's name has been taken off the part of the Astor Theatre, and Wallace Bury, his understudy, is now the star. Whether he returns or not, he will not be taken back into the company, by Henry W. Savage, his manager.

Festival Services at St. John's Church

To-morrow Will be a Special Occasion

Tomorrow at St. John's Church, special festival services will be held in commemoration of the re-dedication of the church. The present structure was modernized and rebuilt, being re-opened on All Saints' day, 1882. Rev. Dr. Langfeldt will preach tomorrow evening at St. John's, and on Sunday, Nov. 10th, when the services will be continued, Rev. W. B. Heeney of Barrie will be the special preacher.

Tomorrow at 8.30 and 11 a.m., there will be parochial communion.

NOVEMBER WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION

The opening chapters of a new novel, "Through Life Us Do Part," by Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, is the feature of the Woman's Home Companion for November. The announcement of a new story by the author of "A Singular Life" is always agreeable, and this new novel gives promise of being one of Mrs. Ward's best.

Dr. Edward Everett Hale, one of the editors of Woman's Home Companion, contributes a charming talk on "Thanksgiving—Then and Now," and Mrs. Anna Steese Richardson completes her series of three articles on 'The Woman in Business". The other editors, Grace Margaret Gould, Margaret E. Sangster, Dan Beard, and Fannie Merritt Farmer, contribute especially interesting departments. Particular notice should be called to the Cooking Department, which gives a large number of excellent recipes for Thanksgiving season. There is splendid fiction by Juliet Wilbor Tomkins, Mrs. C. N. Williamson, Herbert D. Ward and others.

The Immigration Work of the Army

Headquarters at Ottawa Will Extend as far as Peterboro'

Ottawa, Nov. 2nd.—When Staff-Captain MacGillivray of the Salvation Army's Immigration office, London, Ont., arrives in Ottawa, to open an immigration office here about Nov. 20, he will greatly relieved the local staff which has had charge of looking for positions for immigrants. In the past this work could be done only on a very small scale. Accordingly the local labor market was not supplied with more than 150 immigrants a year, of whom, perhaps, half a dozen might be domestic servants. Those who need labor in future, will simply make an application, stating the nature and amount of help wanted, and send the form to the new office, where it will be filled in regular business manner. This army has sent five officers to England recently to select suitable emigrants. The Army has chartered ten vessels and will bring out 20,000 people next summer. The Army is carefully selecting and is endeavoring to select an element of society which will be of much value to the country.

Ottawa will be the centre of a large district, and the immigrants brought here from Quebec, will be distributed, as far as Port Hope, Peterborough, Kingston, and half way to Montreal, where there is another office. There will probably be about one thousand immigrants brought to Ottawa next spring, which is expected to do much to satisfy the great demand for working people.

CAPT. NEW MARRIED

Capt. New, late of the Yukon, after a term of two years there, was married to Miss Sanderson, of Emily, says the Omemee Mirror. The wedding was a quiet, but very pretty one. Capt. New speaks in loud praise of the liberality of Dawson citizens, and while there is a certain amount of wickedness among foreigners who follow up the mining places, yet is not so bad there as reported. The Salvation Army, however, finds their mission there, is doing a good work. Capt. New says he never heard of the $40,000 nest of nuggets in which the late Geo. Kincaid was reported to have been connected with others, and he reports that the late Mr. George Kincaid occupied a most important, and trustworthy position with the Government. The friends here and at Peterborough, of the late Mr. Kincaid, have received messages stating that he died of heart failure, and former reports are entirely erroneous, and exaggerated.

All Records Have Been Surpassed

Mariposa Farmer Sells Alsike Crop for $1900

A Little Britain correspondent writes;—Mr. Eddie Rich, of Mariposa Station, has beate hall records for alsike in Ontario this season, having sold his crop of 23 acres to Mr. J. A. Steele, of Toronto, for $1,900. Price paid was $10 per bushel—a record price this season. Mr. Steele has bought a good many large lots of alsike in the Mariposa district this season, and has kept this market the highest in Ontario. The farmers in Mariposa appreciate this fact, and no doubt another season he will get a still larger share of the seed. We understand Mr. Steele is considering handling grain another year, feeling satisfied that there is an opening for another dealer here.

South Monaghan Fall Exhibition

The Exhibits Were Good—Weather Was Unfavorable

The South Monaghan fair at Centreville was a big success. President Rutherford says that, notwithstanding the very wet weather there will be sufficient funds to pay all prizes. The exhibits were most excellent more in some lines, the president says than Millbrook, or Peterborough had. He attributes this to their allowing as many entries as a member wishes for the dollar membership fee. The South Monaghan people certainly deserve credit for the way they support their fair, a pride worthy of good agriculturists and ambitious women. Not a little of their success is due to their energetic board, and the president, Mr. William Rutherford; the secretary, Mr. Thos. Nimmo, and the treasuror, Mr. J. Clarke. Though their surplus this year will be small, they will go forward next year to aim for a better show than ever.

An Independent Phone System

During the past week, Havelock, and the surrounding villages, have been visited by Peter H. Fox, Northport, Ont., the Canadian representative of the Swedish-American Telephone Company, of Chicago, Ill. with a view to installing a telephone system independent of the North-American or the Bell people. Mr Fox had one of his company's standard machines with him, and we must say that it is far superior to the style in use there now.—Havelock Standard.

SUFFERING WOMEN

Made Well and Strong by Dr. Williams Pink Pills.

Every dose of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make new blood. Every drop of pure blood brings the ill disheartened woman nearer to health and happiness. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have brought the glow of health to thousands of sufferers who gladly bear testimony to that effect. One of these is Mrs. Elizabeth Dunham, of Welland, Ont., who says: "For more than a year I was greatly run down. I had sickening headaches and my heart would palpitate so violently that at times I feared death was near. I was under the care of a doctor, but instead of improving, I lost strength and my weight decreased from one hundred and forty to ninety pounds. I was discouraged, but finally decided to give up the doctors' treatment and try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I am glad I did so, for after using the Pills a few weeks I could see a marked improvemnt in my condition. The headaches left me; I regained strength; the distressing heart palpitation ceased and at the end of two months I was fully restored to health and felt better than I had for the past twelve years. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are truly a marvellous medicine and I cannot praise them enough."

Heart palpitation, anaemia, headaches, loss of appetite, general weakness, backaches, weariness and a host of other troubles are all the outcome of bad blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make new, rich red blood—the pure blood does the rest. That is why these pills cure all troubles due to watery blood or weak, shaky nerves. There is not a nook or corner in Canada where you will not find some grateful person who has been cured by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. On the word of your neighbor we ask you to try this medicine if you are weak, ailing or run down. The pills are sold at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 at all medicine dealers or from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Retirement of Popular Banker

Mr. H. J. Lytle, Manager of Bank of Montreal at Lindsay, Has Resigned

Lindsay, Nov. 2.—The many friends of Mr. H. J. Lytle will regret to learn of his decision to retire from the position of manager of the branch of the Bank of Montreal, in this town, a position which he has occupied since the closing of the Ontario Bank, about a year since. Mr. H. B. Black, of Almonte, is named as the new manager, and will take charge in a few days.

Mr. Lytle's career as a banker has been a remarkable one. He took hold of the Ontario Bank's branch, of this town, about nine years, since, when it was in a very bad shape, and by careful work and persistent energy, made it one of the most profitable branches the bank had at the time of the suspension. When taken over, the Ontario Bank business followed its old manager.

FORTY POTATOES TO A BAG

"They're Maggie Murphies, the kind we grow around Boweville," said Mr. W. Redmond, to the Ottawa Free Press, in explanation of some immense potatoes that he had in the city the other day.

"It takes only 40 of these potatoes to make a bag," continued the horticultural expert; "that means that the average weight is over 2 pounds." A neighbor lost a young pig a few weeks ago and, after a long search, found him inside one of these tubers. He had eaten the inside out, and then crawled in! Mr. Redmond introduced the variety into this district himself and has 30 acres of them. Nearly every Maggie Murphy weighs at least two pounds. These potatoes at the current By Ward market prices are worth two cents apiece.

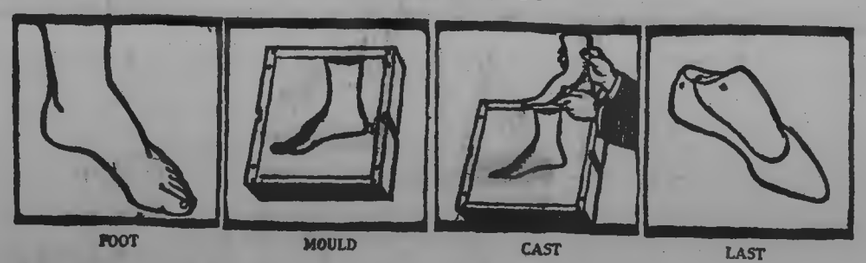
FEMININE FOOT COPIES No. 1

"ONE OF THE 14"



FOOT MOULD CAST LAST

Dolly Varden Lasts are exact copies of Perfect Feminine Feet.

How did we copy them?

We scoured Europe and North America for Perfect Feminine Feet. Where permitted, we took plaster of Paris moulds, from which gutta percha casts were made. The casts were then carved into wood lasts. Thus we procured exact copies.

How did we classify them and decide on a certain number of basic foot types?

With the assistance of notable orthopedic surgeons we studied with infinite pains the lines and shapes of all the thousands of lasts we had made, and found that in groups the lasts were almost alike, so we determined that they could be divided into a number of classes.

Example: We found what we call the New England class, where the lasts were all long, slim, low instep, flat arch; the Western North American class, where the shapes were short, wide and thick, medium instep and arch; the Southern class, where the forms were short, slim, high instep, high arch, high heel and so on.

We then made one composite last from the last of each class. These composites we call the Dolly Varden "Feminine Foot Types."

Our exclusive agent in your city has a complete stock of Dolly Varden types, and will gladly fit you with the type best suited to the shape of your foot. Purchasers or investigators equally welcome. In the States and Canada at same price—$4.00 to $5.00. Every pair Goodyear welted—which means more comfort and better wear.

SATURDAY, NOV. 2, 1907.

THE HUNTING SEASON

The slaughter of men in mistake for deer began in the Canadian woods early in the shooting season, but evidently more care is used by hunters since the law was changed holding everone criminally responsible for such mischance. It is no longer a valid excuse that the deer-stalker who killed a man for a buck 'did not know," and could not discern the difference. He must learn to discriminate to take the consequences of such mistakes.

A terrible instance of the kind has happened over the border, in New York State, where a father and son who chanced to meet in a runway, were shot at twice by a "sport," who who had taken "buck fever" with fatal effects.

At this season the lure of the wild woods is irresistible to the man with a gun. Our forests are most attractive in the gorgeous colorings of the trees, shrubs and wild flowers, the absence of thorny growths, the freedom from poisonous reptiles and flies and the scarcity of bloodthirsty beasts. It is only in the deep recesses that "the wolf's long howl" is heard, and there he is hunted for the bounty on his scalp so relentlessly that he is getting too skittish to be dangerous.

The greatest perils is from "the man with a gun," who thinks himself a "sport," but with eyes unused to the sights and sounds of the forest, intent on making a 'bag," and eager to do all he can in the time at his disposal, bangs away at everything that moves, whether it be a man or some one of the lower animals, sometimes at himself by hauling the weapon muzzle foremost from a canoe or through a fence on hearing the leaves rustle or seeing in fancy some other mark than a barn door.

The result has been in past years a long list of maimings and fatalities at the hunting season. Warnings seemed to be of no avail to this class of sportsman, who went out to shoot but not infrequently came back shot, going out to get a lion's skin, being killed in hunting him.

It is hoped that the new interpretation of the law which makes every slayer of his "fellow men in mistake for a deer" answerable at law to a charge of murder or manslaughter will cause greater care to be exercised in future.

IN EAST NORTHUMBERLAND

Mr. George Graham, the new Minister, is charged by the defeated candidate with a large share of the responsibility for the disaster. Says Mr. Mulholland: "The promises of the people in the north did not hold good, though we had reason to expect that they would. Towards the last the Conservatives whipped their voters into line. The statement of Hon. George Graham, that the Trent Valley Canal would be built no matter which side won was used against us with effect." It seems from this that George undid the work which Mr. Mulholland had been doing.

Mr. Mulholland had told the electors that certain public works were to be awarded if they gave their votes to the Grafter Government. Among the advantages they were to enjoy, were, first, wharves on the lakefront, including that for which the contract was let a few days before polling; secondly, electric railways to every man's door, run by electric power given by the Government; and finally, a big expenditure in their midst, through the carrying to completion of the Trent Valley Canal. All was going well when the hapless George Graham entered the constituency and made this fatal speech admitting that the canal would be proceeded with no matter how the people might vote. This upset the Mulholland campaign and the election was lost. Mr. Graham is not as good a tactician as Hon. A. B. Aylesworth, or as Byron Lott. Those statesmen, the one in Durham and the other in West Hastings, made the canal their principal plank, and insisted that the waterway would not be dug if they were not elected. This was Laurieresque politics. George Graham worked the canal, but made the mistake of saying that it would be built anyway. That Mr. Mulholland should be angry with George is not to be wondered at. But it was a mistake of the head, and not of the heart. Mr. Graham with his experience of the Ontario machine, knows the corruptionist principles, even better than Mr. Mulholland.

But what can be thought of this defeated candidate whose attack upon the leader is really a complaint that the people were not sufficiently deceived by him? Is it not a good thing that such a man should be kept out of Parliament? The explanation of the Conservative triumph it may be said, is not the undesirable frankness of Mr. Graham, but the popular distrust of the Government, its members and its leading supporters. East Northumberland resisted grafting inducements, that graft might be condemned. It thus played a great part in the fight for better conditions, which has only begun.—Mail and Empire.

PEN POINTS

Peterborough has opened the eyes of the province in the matter of sport.

The small boy is not very happy today. Hallowe'en is over and school begins again on Monday.

If David Hartley consents to contest the Mayoralty he should win in a walk.

If this walking craze keeps up the railways and hackmen will soon have to go out of business.

The results of the recent milk test appear in another column. They make interesting reading.

The three greatest present day fads are Limerick writing, long distance walking and running. Are you a faddist?

Thanksgiving Day was a great one for Peterborough. David Hartley cut down the long distance walking record, Ben Simpson captured second place in the Hamilton Herald road race, Ray Best took a good position in the Montreal Herald contest and the Rugby boys defeated the Victorias of Toronto, landing the western championship senior O.R.F.U. Thursday was certainly day for great rejoicing in this thriving centre.

Six things are requisite to create a happy home. Integrity must be the architect, and tidiness the upholsterer. It must be warmed by affection and lighted up with cheerfulness. Industry must be the ventilator, renewing the atmosphere and bringing in fresh salubrity every day; while over all, a protective canopy of glory, and nothing will suffice, but the blessing of God.

It seems an injustice that farmers, who rent boxes at the post office, should have the rate doubled. It may be all right to advance the fee for city patrons, in order to induce them to have their mail delivered by carrier, but farmers, who desire to get their letters at any hour which may be convenient for them to come to the city, should not be taxed $4 for a box at the office, where they formerly had to pay only $2. By the street mail delivery system, the average citizen reaps much benefit. If he still wants his mail to be left at the office, he should be prepared to pay a little more. But the rural resident has no advantage conferred on him, whatver, by the letter carrier system in Peterborough and, if he chooses to lease a box, so that he may obtain his letters and papers at any hour from seven in the morning until ten in the evening, without bothering or incommoding anyone at the office, he should be permitted to do so, without being asked to pay four dollars, instead of $2 as heretofore. The recent increase is unjust and unfair to our friends in the country, who obtain their mail at the local office.

The Brotherhood of St. Andrew

Eastern Ontario Convention Will be Held in Brockville

The Eastern Ontario Conference of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew will be held in Brockville, on January 17th, 18th and 19th next.

The Brotherhood of St. Andrew is a society of laymen in the Anglican Church, banded together for the sole object of promoting the spread of Christ's kingdom among men, especially young men.

This society was started in Chicago in 1883, and now has over 1100 Chapters in the United States, and 350 in Canada, with numerous others in Great Britain, New Zealand, the West Indies and other countries.

At the great international convention, held last month in Washington, there were some 2,000 delegates in attendance from all parts of the world.

Brockville members are working hard to ensure the success of the gathering there in January. A splendid programme has been arranged, containing the names of the Bishops of Ontario and Chicago, Dean DuMoulin, of Cleveland; Dean Farthing, of Kingston; Messrs. Hubert Carleton, Boston; Dr. Wilson, of Canton, N.Y.; N. F. Davidson, and F. W. Thomas, of Toronto, and other prominent clergyman and laymen of the Canadian Church.

A large number of members and visitors are expected from Eastern Ontario and New York State, as reduced rates will be given on all railways, and Brockville is so easily reached from every direction, and is famous for its hospitality.

WILL HAVE NO SUCCESSOR

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—Your issue of the 22nd contained a despatch purporting to come from Mr. Alfred Farlow, of Boston, re Mrs. Eddy's successor. I have just received a letter from Mr Farlow saying that the Associated Press were misled in sending out such a statement, which did not emanate from him. The statement he gave the press was as follows;—

"This talk about a successor to Mrs Eddy is pure speculation, and is no more than a rehash of a manufactured rumor which has gone the rounds of the press for years.

"In the first place, the well preserved condition of Mrs. Eddy, as recently discovered by the public, makes the question of a successor very much out of time.

"In the second place, one who is at all familiar with Christian Science, must know the impracticability and impossibility of a personal successor to Mrs. Eddy. Christian Science is already discovered and established, and Mrs. Eddy is already succeeded in a large measure by the religio-science which she teaches, and she will never have any other successor. The Christian Science church will never have any other personal leader beside Mrs. Eddy. It is a part of the mission of Christian Science to do away with leaders and to teach mortals to depend upon divine guidance, and in compliance with this fact a bylaw of the Christian Science Church specifically provides that the term 'leader' shall not be applied to Christian Scientists in connection with Christian Science. Mrs. Eddy ,because of her unique position as the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, naturally and necessarily becomes the leader of the Christian Science movement ,but the consummation of her work will place the church beyond the necessity of leaders or heads."

Thanking you, I remain,

Yours truly,

C.R. MUNRO.

BEER* IS GOOD FOR MOST FOLKS

(HARDLY ANOTHER BEVERAGE FEEDS SO WELL)

BEER really excels milk as a food-drink for most grown people. And many, many people cannot digest milk easily, because it is so lacking in solid food-contents. Moreover, milk is so liable to contagion that it is seldom pure when we get it in the cities. But Ontario-brewed beer is really pure,—brewed in cleanliness, of sound materials, in a sanitary way, and brought to the user in the same fit-to-drink state.

Beer Is No Stimulant

Drink beer with meals and at bedtime, as an item of diet that will help the stomach do its work better, and will feed the body besides. Don't choose beer as a stimulant, though,—it does not contain enough alcohol for that. Use it as a food-drink that induces lazy stomachs to do their work well, and so helps them get more good out of all food.

Beer Makes Better Nerves

Ontario beer is not only deliciously appetising and refreshing, because brewed of pure malt and hops only; but, besides, all the power that hops possess to repair nerve wastes is kept in these brews. That is what makes beer so particularly good for women to drink regularly. Ask your own doctor what he thinks of beer for your household.

* BEER is a term which covers lager, ales, porter and stout; and, in the practise of Ontario brewers, implies beverages made under most hygienic conditions from Ontario barley (the best in the world) malt, hops and pure water. 301

MILK SUPPLY OF CITY IS CONSIDERED SATISFACTORY

More Tests Show That There is Very Little Milk Being Sold that Does Not Come Up to the Standard.

Another test of the milk being supplied the people of Peterborough has just been made by Mr. P. Downham, from samples collected by Sanitary Inspector Hall. The results show that the milk is of very good quality, there being only two samples that did not come up to the required percentage of butter fat, 3.5. Some of the samples tested very high, and the majority of them were well over the required percentage.

The inauguration of the milk tests has proved a boon to the householders of the city, and to the milkmen, too. The householder knows what kind of milk he is supplied with by the milkman, while the latter has nothing to fear, if his milk is good, and the man with the good milk, will get the best trade.

The milk tests have largely done away with the haranguing between customer and dealer, as to quality of milk being delivered, and everything is now on a more businesslike basis.

Credit is due Ald. McIntyre for bringing in the bylaw providing for the tests, and for his efforts to see that it was properly observed.

All the milkmen do not appear in the list below, as Mr. Downham had an accident, while making the tests, and a couple of the bottles containing samples of milk were broken.

Sporting Writers Describe Simpson as Second Longboat

Some Press Comment on the Great Race at Hamilton —The Indian Thought He Was First Until He Finished

Yesterday's Hamilton papers give great praise to Fred Simpson, the local runner who took second place in the Herald road race on Thanksgiving day. He is styled as a second Longboat and great things are prophesied for him. According to the Herald Simpson thought he had the race won until he arrived at the finish and found that another man was in ahead of him. The Herald says in part:

"After Coley finished thirteen more men struggled in, and not one of them seemed a great deal worse for his jaunt. Adams dropped out at the Valley Inn after several men had passed him, and after crossing the hight level bridge, Fred Simpson, who came from behind like a streak of lightning, overtook Lawson, and ran down York street like a two-year-old, a broad smile on his face, and looking fresh as a daisy. Until he reached the Herald office Simpson thought he had the race won, and was greatly surprised to learn that another man had got in ahead of him. Simpson passed so many men during the latter part of the journey that he thought he had no one left to catch. It is doubtful if he could have beaten Coley even if he had caught him, as Coley had all kinds of grit, and showed at various times during the race that he was capable of sprinting with any of them."

The Herald also has the following about the Peterborough runner:

"Fred Simpson, who finished second, is an Indian, and comes from the Chippawa tribe on a reserve near Peterborough. He is 26 years old, stands 5 feet, 11 inches, and weighs 145 lbs. His appearance as a distance runner was at Peterborough last fall, when he finished third in the Examiner road race. On Dominion day last he won a ten-mile race at Lindsay, covering the distance in about an hour over very muddy roads during a rain storm. He has been training for the Herald race since last July, and many Peterborough people believed that he would win. He covered the last part of the journey faster than Coley, as he was four minutes behind him at the 15-mile post and only 3 minutes and 20 seconds at the finish. Simpson claims that he will beat Longboat the first time the two meet."

Montreal Herald Race Course is a Hard One

Ray Best, who made such a good showing in the Montreal Herald's ten mile race on Thanksgiving Day, returned home last night. There were 210 starters in the race, and 161 finished, Best coming twenty-fourth. The course, he states, is an exceedingly hard one being up hill for the greater part of the ten miles. The fact that some of the best runners in the country were entered, and that the time was over 49 minutes, goes to show that ther ace was harder than the average. Best says he would rather run thirteen miles on a road like the one to Lakefield than over ten like the Herald course. The Montreal runners had the advantage, having run over the course frequently and they knew every hill and grade. The race was well conducted and aroused great enthusiasm in the city.

Something More About Ben Simpson

Hiawatha Residents are Very Proud of His Performance

Fred Simpson, the noted Indian sprinter from Hiawatha, who was second in the Hamilton Herald race on Thanksgiving day, is 26 years old, and is a son of the late John Simpson of Hiawatha. His grandfather was also named John Simpson, and his great grandfather was Passegegsig, who was Chief of the Bay of Quinte, Kingston, and Gananoque Indians.

Simpson belongs to the Mississaga tribe and the members are very proud of his fleet footedness. He took third in the Examiner road race last year, won the Marathon race at Lindsay on May 24, was second in the recent five mile race at Norwood and on Thursday last captured second place in the nineteen mile road race under the auspices of the Hamilton Herald.

RUNNING

On Thanksgiving day at Lindsay George Gauthier and "Pete" Wallace, both of whom have won considerable fame on the wrestling mat, ran a hundred yards race on Kent street, the former winning by a comfortable margin. He was presented with a suitable trophy by an appreciative crowd. Gauthier says he is prepared to meet anybody in Lindsay for a hundred yards, and requests that the Lindsay papers publish his challenge broadcast. The time of the event was not recorded, but, judging from the way the men stepped, it was pretty fast.

Lindsay Post Tells About Rugby Match

In the Third and Fourth Quarters Locals "Played in the Main a Defence Game"

In an article presumably a report of the rugby game, between Peterborough and Victorias, but in which is really given more details foreign to the match than anytning else the Lindsay Post relieves itself thusly:—

The Lindsay public doesn't know very much about the fine points of football, and the intricacies of rugby were as a sealed book to them when they read about yesterday's battle between Peterboroughs, of the Otonabee, and the Victorias of Toronto Bay. Their interest was aroused, however, and they flocked to the Central Fair park along with many Peterborough and Toronto rooters, the huge grand stand being fairly well filled at 2.45, when play began.

From the outset the game went Peterborough's way, the score at the end of the first quarter standing 7-0. In the next quarter both teams put up a strenuous struggle—the westerners to even up the score, and the easterners to hold their ground. That they were successful is attested by the score remaining the same when the half ended. Several fierce scrimmages took place, and in one of the crushes a Toronto player had his collar bone fractured.

In the third and fourth quarters the westerners continued their good work and rolled up a score of 7, Peterboroughs' splaying in the main a defence game.

ROWDY CONDUCT.

The victory seems to have been unlooked for by many of the Peterborough rooters, because when the result was announced the aforesaid enthusiasts began to consume more liquor than was good for them. They attempted various pranks, but no great harm resulted until they boarded the 9.20 flyer from Toronto, on their way home. Between Best's station and Peterborough a number of the toughs on board commenced rough house tactics, and when the conductor, Mr. Walter Mercer, essayed to reason with the disturbers he was set upon and attacked, his nose being broken and other injuries inflicted. The toughs then attacked the brakeman, mauled him badly, and robbed him of $24.

While the train was descending the grade to Peterborough station most of the gang left the cars and scattered to their homes, but the Grand Trunk authorities invoked the aid of the police, and warrants were issued for the arrest of a number of the offenders. Four of these are now in custody, including the ringleader, and we understand it is the intention of the G.T.R. management to punish everyone connected with the attack upon the train staff.

In connection with the larger half of the "report of the game" subheaded "Rowdy Conduct," it might be mentioned that nobody regrets the fortunate attack on the conductor and any other rowdyism more than the members of the team, the Peterborough Rugby club and the respectable citizens of this city generally.

BASEBALL

CHINESE BEAT YANKS.

England grieves over the departed glory of her athletes says Colliers, but what is her grief, compared to the woe into which a recent sporting event of our Island possession has plunged the American nation. A baseball team from a Yankee warship landed in Honolulu, and was defeated by a Chinese team. Seven to six, the score; figures of shame, totalling up to the American disaster. Patriotism seeks solace in considering the natural advantages of the orientals. Undoubtedly a fielder with a sleeve two yards in circumference, can, by spreading himself out basket-wise, minimize the chance of missing a fly, while a mandarin with a finger-nail three feet long possesses capabilities in the matter of taking a lead off a base. Moreover, finding refuge in the national creed, for such cases made and provided, we assert our conviction that the umpire was unfair. But after all allowances the bigger fact remains that nine pig-tailed Celestials have defeated the United States navy.

Joe Kelly, who has so successfully managed the Toronto team during the past season, will manage Boston next year.

HOCKEY

O.H.A. ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Ontario Hockey Association will be held at the Temple Building, Toronto, on Saturday, Nov. 16, at 9 a.m. Proceedings will commence sharp on time, and clubs are notified to have their delegates on hand at the appointed hour. The secretary and treasurer will be at hand much earlier, but clubs may facilitate matters by having their fees sent in advance. The fees are $5 entrance, for new teams, and $6 annual subscription for each team, to be paid before the annual meeting.

Notice of amendments to the constitution of the association, or the rules of the game must be in the hands to the secretary, W. A. Hewitt, the Daily Star office, Toronto, in writing, on or before Saturday, November 2.

WALKING

HE HACKED DOWN.

Thomas Sleeman, who announced that he would walk to Toronto and return yesterday, backed down, and David McFarlane, who was billed to leave Toronto on a similar journey failed to start. Talk is cheap, but walking is different.

RUGBY

Provided the weather conditions will permit of a practice the rugby team will work out tonight at Riverside Park.

If Westmount wins the championship of the Eastern Division of the senior O.R.F.U. series, they will play Peterborough here, for the championship. If Kingston wins, the Limestone aggregation and the locals will play home and home games in the finals. The winner of the senior O.R.F.U. championship will then play off with the winners of the Inter-Collegiate series, for the Dominion championship.

LONGBOAT ARRESTED

Hamilton, Nov. 1.—Tom Longboat, the great Indian runner, was arrested last evening on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. Longboat came up to witness the Herald road race and imbibed more firewater than he could carry.

"Black Cloud," Mr. Jas. Kelly's fast horse, that was badly cut on Thanksgiving Day, by coming into contact with a telephone pole, while running away, is at present at Lee and McCollom's livery barns, undergoing veterinary treatment. The horse has a nasty cut on its breast.

AMUSEMENTS

PROF. CROCKER'S HORSES.

A fairly large and thoroughly appreciative audience was at the Grand opera house last night to witness the wonderful exhibition of sagacity, dexterity and intelligence displayed by Professor Crocker's educated horses, ponies, donkeys and mules. The animals went through various acts in a manner that won hearty applause. They performed in a way that was simply a revelation to all present. They obey their master implicitly. Some of the antics were intensely amusing. The "Night Scene in the camp" and "the battle," were gone through with military precision and alacrity. To recount in detail all that the horses did or rather did not do, would be almost impossible and the equine aggregation must be seen to be appreciated. The moving pictures were among the finest ever seen here.

Prof. Crocker's educated horses "That do everything but talk" will be the attraction at the Grand opera house again this evening and should draw a large attendance. The performance is unique, entertaining and instructive.

THE MAYOR OF LAUGHLAND

On the occasion of Tom Waters' appearance at the Grand on Thursday, Nov. 7th, he will offer a new musical comedy entitled, "The Mayor of Laughland." It is in three acts, all superbly presented, with special scenery. The Waters' Company numbers thirty-five people, and includes a first-class cast, and a host of pretty chorus girls. The costuming is described as elaborate, with no less than eleven complete changes for the chorus. Briefly, the story deals with one Michael Ignatius O'Flynn, boss of the town, but unable to rule his own daughter, who threatens to run off with the son of his bitterest political enemy. The mayor is finally entrapped by the daughter and forced to capitulate. Chief among the fun-makers is Waters, of course, but he does not hold the centre of the stage all the time.

Magnifsing Choir Leader's Voice.

In the old village of Braybrook in Northamptonshire is a monster trumpet, 5 feet 6 inches in length, and having a bell-shaped end 2 feet 1 inch in diameter.

The trumpet is made up of ten rings, which in turn are made up of smaller parts. The use of this trumpet—only four of the kind are known to exist at the present day—was to magnify the voice of the leader in the choir and to summon the people to the church service.

At the present time neither the choir nor the service is in need of this extraordinary "musical instrument," but the vicar of the church takes care of the ancient relic and is fond of showing it to all visitors.

Slang Will Creep In.

In a paper contributed to Putnam's Monthly recently Herbert Paul, an Englishman, deplores the decadence of the English language. He thinks he may be forgiven a passing qualm when he finds such a phrase as "queering the pitch" in the leading columns of a great newspaper which "used to be a fountain of classical English. He is not so "futile and pedantic as to wage war against slang. But its proper place is surely private conversation."

Is it? We ourselves are moved to record a passing qualm. Only the other day, in a household where the Lares and Penates were shipped direct from the Athens of America, we overheard a conversation between a nice old lady and the ten-year-old daughter of a Radcliffe graduate. It bore somewhat remotely upon the virtues of thrift, and so we cannot be quite sure whether the old lady's manifest bewilderment arose from the irrelevance or the phraseology of the child's impulsive avowal, "I'm going to plant all my dough in a bike."—Life.

A Lucky Purchase.

In order to secure some token by which to remember a great-aunt to whom she had been much attached, Mlle. Bertha Chevanne, a young French woman, attended a sale of the old lady's effects. The girl was poor, and most of the articles were beyond her purse. A shabby old book—a book of devotions—was, however, put up. Nobody bid for it except Mlle. Chevanne, and she bought it for next to nothing. In turning over the leaves she came across a folded paper. It was a will bequeathing her the whole of her great-aunt's estate, valued at $80,000.

BRITAIN AND YELLOW RACES

London Spectator Predicts Clash With Japanese Some Day.

The weekly reviews comment gravely upon the Japanese-American situation. They express relief that the immediate tension appears to have been relieved, but they foresee that it is not impossible, in the more or less distant future, that the same problem should confront Great Britain that now confronts the United States.

The Spectator publishes a thoughtful article in which, although it dismisses the idea that war between Japan and America is wholly incredible, it admits with reluctance that the situation contains many elements of anxiety, saying it is almost inevitable that there should come a conflict, some time or other, out of the Anglo-Saxon resistance to the landing of Japanese immigrants in the territories bordering the Pacific Ocean. The colonists of Australasia, Africa and Canada are as anxious as the people of California to exclude the yellow races.

With all respect towards Japan, The Spectator is unable to withhold its sympathy from the colonists. It says circumstances have forced the Americans to be the pioneers in working out the problems, but it is impossible to foresee how soon another series of accidents may not bring Great Britain face to face with similar difficulties.

Consequently the paper expresses the most earnest hope that the British public and press will do the utmost in their power to assist in the promotion of a peaceful and enduring solution of the American-Japanese problem, the Government by the tactful influence of an ally, and the press by the avoidance of any comment that might prove to be an embarrassing precedent in the future.

"With all sympathy and admiration for Japanese aspirations and the Japanese themselves we must admit," The Review concludes, "that Great Britain's first and last duty is to her own flesh and blood."

Situation Sound In Canada.

London, Nov. 2.—(C. A. P.)—The Times, in its financial supplement, devotes the first article to the financial situation in Canada. It says the condition in Canada is sound, but business men must be content to mark time for a while. Canadian bankers are better judges of the situation than most of their customers can be.

Fatal Hallowe'en Prank.

New York, Nov. 2.—During a Hallowe'en frolic in Harlem Joseph Barbenro, aged 14 years, shot dead his playmate, Frank Reynolds, 12 years of age. Barbenro was making a mock rescue of a little girl from the custody of Reynolds, and drawing a supposedly harmless pistol, sent a bullet in the other's head.

Railroad Bridge Collapsed.

Manila, Nov. 2.—The new railroad bridge over the Pasig River, near Fort McKinley, collapsed owing to the breaking of the superstructure, and 40 workmen were precipitated into the river. Three Americans and 20 Filipinos were injured. The damage is estimated at $100,000.

Falls Into Boiling Water.

Flesherton, Nov. 2.—A serious accident occurred near here Thursday, when a two-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. John Teeter fell into a pail of boiling water. Its condition is extremely precarious.

Seriously Crushed.

Strathroy, Nov. 2.—Charles Barnes, a well-known baseball player in this district, was crushed under a pile of rails yesterday and may die.

Town Without a Postoffice.

While in Scotland last autumn I arrived at Maxwelltown, Kirkcudbrightshire, and wanting a stamp for a picture postcard I inquired for the postoffice, but to my surprise I was informed the town had neither post nor telegraph-office. Investigation revealed that the town had a population of more than 3,000 inhabitants, being also a burgh, with its provost, town council and bailies. This unique town has to depend on, Dumfries, nearly three miles distant, for everything of a postal nature.—London Tit-Bits.

Providing For the Season.

"Dear, let us take a little cottage in the country this summer."

"All right, darling, but be sure and insist on a furnace in good order."—Baltimore American.

No Chicken.

Patience—I saw her in bathing, and it is a fact that she has web feet.

Patrice—There! I always said she was no chicken!—Yonkers Statesman.

A Mean Inference.

"Is your dog blind?"

"What's the matter? Did he try to bite you?"—Bohemian.

Mrs. Charles Nahlen, of Chicago, deserted by her husband, was found dead in her room by escaping gas. Her pet dog lay dead beside her.

Carl Bundschu, aged 45, manager of the Elkes' Club at Knoxville, Tenn., was shot and killed by a porter of the club and his body locked in one of the rooms.

Hugh Thalman, 13, who left his home in Chicago, presumably so he would not have to appear in court as a truant, has not yet been found.

FOUND SMUGGLED FURS.

Were Consigned to New York by Montreal Manufacturer.

East Alburg, Vt., Nov. 2.—Deputy Collector of Customs Charles L. Orton went to Burlington yesterday to confer with Collector C. H. Darling regarding seizure of furs made by Deputy Collector H. C. Ladd. The furs, at the lowest estimate, are valued at $2,500.

Deputy Ladd, while passing along the roads between Alburg Springs and East Alburg, last Wednesday night, met two men driving. He became suspicious and asked them if they had anything dutiable. They refused to reply and drove on toward East Alburg. Mr. Ladd overtook them at the home of M. E. McCarger, and found the furs hidden in a bin of oats. He then attempted to arrest the men, but after a short struggle they escaped. Ladd took possession of the furs, which consisted of coats, stoles and an opera cloak, and reported the facts to Collector Darling.

The furs were consigned to New York by a prominent Montreal manufacturer.

The smugglers have not yet been arrested, but it is said that one of them is well known to the authorities.

BITTEN BY STALLION.

Infuriated Horse Shakes His Owner Like a Rat.

Cornwall, Ont., Nov. 2.—H. Beckstead of Mariatown, Morrisburg, was exercising a large Clyde stallion in his yard by means of a long halter, when the animal suddenly became fractious and, grasping Mr. Beckstead by the fleshy part of one of his arms, shook him much the same as a dog would a rat, lacerating the muscles and some of the larger veins.

When seen by a man who lives on the farm, the enraged animal was on his knees and had Mr. Beckstead between them and did not let loose his teeth until driven off by the aid of a stick.

A doctor was immediately summoned. Besides the lacerations and injuries to the man'se chest, he is injured internally, but to what extent is not determined as yet.

Early Wednesday morning the Union Bank building, at Dalhousie station, was totally destroyed by fire. The origin is not exactly known, but it is supposed it commenced in the basement. There has been no loss in the bank funds.

STOLE IMPORTANT PAPERS.

Serious Charge Preferred Against Chicago Stenographer.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Miss Etta McLean, a stenographer in the office of United States District Attorney Simms and Alexander B. Gordee, were held yesterday for the Federal grand jury in bonds of $5,000 each, on the charge of stealing important papers from the office of the district attorney.

The evidence showed that the woman took numerous letters and papers, and that Gordee tried to sell them to John R. Walsh, former president of the Chicago National Bank, now awaiting trial on the charge of misapplication of funds of the bank, and to his attorneys. They received no encouragement from Mr. Walsh or from his attorneys.

Chauffeur Killed.

Tuxedo Park, Nov. 2.—J. Hartman, chauffeur, employed by William Pierson Hamilton, son-in-law of J. Pierpont Morgan, was killed some time Thursday night while returning from Tuxedo to Sterlington, the Hamilton summer home, in a touring car. His body was found yesterday pinned under the automobile, which turned turtle after veering abruptly into a ditch on the Eagle Valley road.

At 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon Hartman met the Hamilton family at Sterlington station and took them home. He then left the place for a run to Tuxedo.

UNION JACK HAULED DOWN.

Unfurled as a Courtesy to Visiting Canadian Manufacturers.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 2.—A whole Canadian convention and the manager of the Chicago Beach Hotel were brought to a recognition of United States patriotism Thursday night by Miss Emily T. Foster of the hotel, who advised Manager Gray that if he was to fly a British flag over his hostelry he must fly an American flag from the same staff. Gray held out in favor of the Canadian convention until night, when two detectives from Hyde Park police station called to investigate a number of complaints that had been telephoned in about the flag. Then he capitulated, and hauled down the flag.

The Chicago Beach Hotel is at present the headquarters of a big convention of Canadian manufacturers. Out of courtesy to the guests, the Union Jack, with the Canadian emblem, was ordered unfurled.

BIG BLAZE AT BUFFALO

Police Headquarters Gutted—Eight Firemen Injured.

Were Caught In Collapse of Roof—Rogues' Gallery Destroyed—Many Important Documents and Records Burned — Was Work of Firebugs —Prisoners Saved—Loss Is Estimated at $100,000.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 2.—Police headquarters, at the corner of Franklin street, the Terrace and West Seneca street, burned yesterday afternoon. Police records, the rogues' gallery, and many important documents, including the original copy of Leon Czolgosz's confession of the assassination of President McKinley, were destroyed. The fire was of incendiary origin. Two companies of firemen were caught in the collapse of the roof and cupola and eight men were seriously injured. None will die. The injured men are Capt. Michael Haggerty and Firemen Charles Basil, G. J. Schuenbleim, John C. Malloy, Frank Maloney, Charles Fries, Dennis Ryan and Albert Witte.

At 2.30 yesterday afternoon Police Commissioner Zeller picked up a blazing newspaper in a hallway. Half an hour later a police messenger found a blazing window brush in the storeroom. He had just reached the commissioners' room with the smouldering brush when there was a cry of fire from the street and flames were seen shooting from the cupola over the main entrance and from the windows on the fourth floor.

The 20 prisoners were handcuffed together and marched to the jail. The firemen apparently had the flames under control and were working on the third floor when the cupola toppled over and crashed through the roof and top floor. Two companies of men were caught in the crash. There were released after 20 minutes of hard work, and eight of them taken to the hospital. The building was practically destroyed. The loss is estimated at $100,000.

DEALT HARDLY WITH MOLTKE.

Case Has Created a New Phase—Another Trial Likely.

Berlin, Nov. 2.—The Harden-Moltke case has entered on a new phase. It appears that the state's attorney has decided to take up the matter and bring suit against Herr Harden, editor of Die Zukunft, before a bench of five judges. This decision apparently is due to the widespread opinion that Gen. Count Kuno Von Moltke was hardly dealt with in last week's trial of the suit for libel against Herr Harden. It also denotes a complete reversal of the attitude of the state's attorney, who originally had refused to bring suit against Herr Harden at Gen. Von Moltke's instance, leaving the latter to take private action on his own account.

Serious Hallowe'en Prank.

Chatham, Nov. 2.—A Hallowe'en prank played here Thursday night came near resulting seriously. Some young lads removed the plank covering from an old, unused well on Centre street. A recently-arrived Englishman, who happened to be crossing the lot later, fell headlong into the hole, from which he was later rescued by friends.

It was a pure piece of luck that the Englishman was not seriously injured. As it was he received several bad bruises and a bad wetting.

Boy Shot In Foot.

Chatham, Nov. 2.—Robert Allen, the 12-year-old son of Frank Allen, a Grand avenue butcher, was shot in the foot while spending Thanksgiving in the woods with another young man named Charles Coleman.

Coleman was carrying a rifle, which went off accidentally while pointed downwards. The ball entered Allen's shoe and passed through two toes and lodged in a third one. The injured lad was attended by Dr. George T. McKeough, who extracted the bullet and dressed the wound.

Canadian Customs Increase.

Ottawa, Nov. 2.—The customs receipts of the Dominion for the month are more than a quarter of a million greater than for October last year. For the seven months of the current fiscal year, the increase is over six millions and a half. The receipts for October were $4,930,031, an increase of $275,000, and for the seven months the receipts were $36,342,766, an increase of $6,691,790. The revenue from all sources for the year will be over the one hundred million mark.

Wine Cellars Destroyed.

Dunkirk, N. Y., Nov. 2.—The C. E. Rickman Wine Co.'s cellars at Brockton, the largest and oldest plant in the Chautauguy grape belt, were totally destroyed by fire last night. There were over three quarters of a million gallons of wine in the cellars, and the loss will reach $250,000. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

Three men were scalded by hot wine mash, while fighting the fire John Roe fell into a vat of the stuff and is in a serious condition.

Gen. Booth Well.

New York, Nov. 2.—Gen. Booth was in high spirits yesterday, and his appearance gave little indication of his recent illness.

It was said by a high official of the army that reports regarding his condition had been greatly exaggerated.

Kingston May Go Dry.

Kingston, Nov. 2.—A deputation of citizens will wait on the council Monday and urge that a local option by-law be submitted to the electors next January.

INTERRUPTED.

Its serpent coils this railway train
Must twist and writhe and bend
Through weary miles of hill and plain
Before my journey's end.
One happy moment since, I sought
To speed the flight of time,
Developing a clever thought
To fashion into rhyme.
But now, alas, a clod here comes
Who nips my little plan
And all my budding thought benumbs—
The cheery traveling man!

He sprawls beside me in this seat
And eyes these notes of mine,
And asks me if "the orders meet
Expenses" in my "line."
His trade, he says, "is pretty good
At this stage of the game."
He "can't complain at all." Oh, would
That I could say the same!
Farewell! Alas, farewell, my muse!
I take what joy I can
The while he sits and airs his views—

Down on the Farm.

The unsophisticated chap from the city had passed his first night in the old farmhouse.

"Waal, neighbor," drawled the farmer at breakfast, "how did you sleep last night?"

"Sleep?" blurted the city chap in disgust. "Why, man, I was turning and turning all night!"

The old farmer laughed uproariously.

"Kept turning, did you, neighbor? Waal, I told yon that you would sleep like a top."

"Funny, eh? Well, do you know there was so much loose straw in the mattress it kept getting in my ears and nose all night?"

"Just so, stranger. When you asked about the bed, didn't I say it would tickle you to death?"

And then the old farmer passed over the left over pie and black coffee.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Exorbitant.

DIRTY MONEY.

A Large Part of Our Paper Currency Is Not Fit to Handle.

Recent cases of blood poisoning from handling dirty money furnish a striking illustration of the unsatisfactory condition of the paper currency of the country in this important respect of cleanliness. It has often been asserted that the dirty notes which pass from hand to hand in this community serve as vehicles for the dissemination of disease, but it may be doubted whether these reiterated statements have carried much conviction with them.

The average man does not exactly disbelieve them, but he has an idea that they are exaggerated, that there is no real danger from the source mentioned, and he is generally too glad to get money of any kind to be very particular about its physical quality. He thinks that there is not much risk of his contracting any disease from all the money he has occasion to handle, and, anyhow, he is perfectly willing to take his chances.

That kind of feeling can be understood, and yet it shows some lack of thought or sense. There are noxious germs on much of the paper money in circulation. Considering how many hands it passes through and all the kinds of people who have had it in their possession it is natural, it is almost unavoidable, that there should be, and that these noxious germs may prove infectious has been proved more than once.

As a matter of fact, a large part of the paper currency in circulation is not fit for a nice, clean, self-respecting man to be carrying around concealed upon his person. In other large cities where there are numerous banks the conditions are not so bad, because the banks refrain as far as they can from giving dirty notes to their customers, but in the country, where greenbacks and treasury notes are passed around until they will scarcely hold together, a state of things exists in this connection which is distinctly injurious and discreditable.

It has been proposed as a remedy that the use of paper money in denominations lower than twenty dollars be discontinued and that gold and silver coin be exclusively employed in retail transactions. That this would not be impracticable is proved by European experience. There is practically no paper money in England.

The smallest bill is the five pound note of the Bank of England, which the person tendering is liable to be asked to indorse, so seldom is it seen. Americans have for too many years been accustomed to the convenience of a paper currency to be willing to give it up. Yet the problem is not insoluble, and some other remedy should be sought for and applied when found.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Earthquake Curiosities.

During the earthquake in Jamaica in January four statues in the public square, all within about 100 yards of one another, underwent remarkably varied experiences. The statue of Queen Victoria, on the south side of the square, was turned slightly to the left. Another statue in a corresponding position on the north side of the square was turned to the right. A statue facing northeast was thrown to the ground and broken in pieces, and one facing west was snapped in two in the middle, and the bust dropped upon the base of the pedestal without being overturned. Streets running north and south were filled with fallen walls, but those running east and west were less obstructed, mainly because the earth movements were in that direction.—Youth's Companion.

"Deaf Mutes" Talk.

It is a misnomer to refer to any one as "deaf and dumb." Except in rare instances a child is mute, not on account of any malformation of the vocal organs, but because it is deaf and has never heard a spoken language. The loss of the sense of hearing should therefore not necessarily mean deprivation of the power of speech also. It is only within recent years, says the Scientific American, that we have come to realize this fact, and in up to date institutions the old fashioned finger alphabet is now unknown. Every child is taught to speak in the natural way by means of the vocal organs.

Felt Lined Tires.

A piece of felt interposed between the air chamber and the envelope is a French solution of the tire puncture problem that seems to have given good results. The felt is about half an inch thick, its width depending on the size of the tire, and it is held in place by the outer envelope at its edge and cemented to the inner surface of the protecting band. It soon adjusts itself to the shape of the tire. Before a nail or other sharp point the felt tends to give way instead of being penetrated, and the resistance usually prevents puncture, though not invariably.

A New Complaint.

The following mysterious official document has been received after having recently passed through the hands of an officer:

"Regret to inform you that Pte. ——, admitted to hospital this morning, is dangerously ill, suffering from N. Y. D."

This may interest "the faculty," who are always on the lookout for new complaints. In point of fact, however, it seems that N. Y. D. stands for "Not yet diagnosed."—London Truth.

Dear Sir,—I have much pleasure in acknowledging the receipt of the cheque for $1,244, being the amount paid me on the maturity of my endowment policy, 35390, in your Company which matured on the 1st inst.

I find I have received almost 4 per cent. compound interest on every dollar paid in to the Company and in addition have had free insurance for the past fifteen years.

Such a result speaks volumes for the management of your company and far exceeds my expectations and I would be ungrateful indeed were I not to acknowledge it.

I was also offered a paid-up policy of $2,078, or an annuity for life of $111.55, both of which I consider excellent.

I thank you very much indeed and wish your company the continued success and confidence it so richly deserves.

Yours very truly,

The Prisoner of Zenda

By... ANTHONY HOPE

Copyrighted, 1898, 1898, by Henry Holt & Company

In truth, I heard something of the way the news was received in the castle, for after an interval of three days the man Johann, greedy for more money, though fearful for his life, again found means to visit us. He had been waiting on the duke when the tidings came. Black Michael's face had grown blacker still, and he had sworn savagely. Nor was he better pleased when Rupert took oath that I meant to do as I said and, turning to Mme. de Mauban, wished her joy on a rival gone. Michael's hand stole toward his sword, said Johann, but not a bit did Rupert care, for he rallied the duke on having made a better king than had reigned for years past in Ruritania. "And," said he, with a meaning bow to his exasperated master, "the devil sends the princess a finer man than heaven had marked out for her. By my soul, he does!" Then Michael harshly bade him hold his tongue and leave them, but Rupert must needs first kiss madame's hand, which he did as though he loved her, while Michael glared at him.

This was the lighter side of the fellow's news, but more serious came behind, and it was plain that if time pressed at Tarlenheim it pressed none the less fiercely at Zenda. For the king was very sick. Johann had seen him, and he was wasted and hardly able to move. "There could be no thought of taking another for him now." So alarmed were they that they had sent for a physician from Strelsau, and the physician, having been introduced into the king's cell, had come forth pale and trembling and urgently prayed the duke to let him go back and meddle no more in the affair. But the duke would not, and held him there a prisoner, telling him his life was safe if the king lived while the duke desired and died when the duke desired—not otherwise. And, persuaded by the physician, they had allowed Mme. de Mauban to visit the king and give him such attendance as his state needed and as only a woman can give. Yet his life hung in the balance, and I was yet strong and whole and free. Wherefore great gloom reigned at Zenda, and, save when they quarreled, to which they were very prone, they hardly spoke. But the deeper the depression of the rest, young Rupert went about Satan's work with a smile in his eye and a song on his lip, and laughed "fit to burst" (said Johann) because the duke always set Detchard to guard the king when Mme. de Mauban was in the cell—which precaution was, indeed, not unwise in my careful brother. Thus Johann told his tale and seized his crowns. Yet he besought us to allow him to stay with us in Tarlenheim, and not venture his head again in the lion's den, but we had need of him there, and, although I refused to constrain him, I prevailed on him by increased rewards to go back and to carry tidings to Mme. de Mauban that I was working for her and that, if she could, she should speak one word of comfort to the king, for, while suspense is bad for the sick, yet despair is worse still, and it might be that the king lay dying of mere hopelessness, for I could learn of no definite disease that afflicted him.

"And how do they guard the king now?" I asked, remembering that two of the Six were dead and Max Holf also.

"Detchard and Bersonin watch by night, Rupert Hentzau and Gautet by day, sir," he answered.

"Only two at a time?"

"Aye, sir, but the others rest in a room just above and are within sound of a cry or a whistle."

"A room just above? I didn't know of that. Is there any communication between it and the room where they watch?"

"No, sir. You must go down a few stairs and through the door by the drawbridge, and so to where the king is lodged."

"And that door is locked?"

"Only the four lords have keys, sir."

I drew nearer to him.

"And have they keys of the grating?" I asked in a low whisper.

"I think, sir, only Detchard and Rupert."

"Where does the duke lodge?"

"In the chateau on the first floor. His apartments are on the right as you go toward the drawbridge."

"And Mme. de Mauban?"

"Just opposite on the left. But her door is locked after she has entered."

"To keep her in?"

"Doubtless, sir."

"And the duke, I suppose, has the key?"

"Yes. And the drawbridge is drawn back at night, and of that, too, the duke holds the key, so that it cannot be run across the moat without application to him."

"And where do you sleep?"

"In the entrance hall of the chateau, with five servants."

"Armed?"

"They have pikes, sir, but no firearms. The duke will not trust them with firearms."

Then at last I took the matter boldly in my hands. I had failed once at Jacob's ladder; I should fail again there. I must make the attack from the other side.

"I have promised you twenty thousand crowns," said I. "You shall have fifty thousand if you will do what I ask of you tomorrow night. But, first, do those servants know who your prisoner is?"

"No, sir. They believe him to be some private enemy of the duke's."

"And they would not doubt that I am the king?"

"How should they?" he asked.

"Look to this, then. Tomorrow at 2 in the morning exactly fling open the front door of the chateau. Don't fail by an instant."

"Shall you be there, sir?"

"Ask no questions. Do what I tell you. Say the hall is close or what you will. That is all I ask of you."

"And may I escape by the door, sir, when I have opened it?"

"Yes, quick as your legs will carry you. One thing more. Carry this note to madame—oh, it's in French; you can't read it—and charge her, for the sake of all our lives, not to fail in what it orders."

The man was trembling, but I had to trust to what he had of courage and to what he had of honesty. I dared not wait, for I feared that the king would die.

When the fellow was gone, I called Sapt and Fritz to me and unfolded the plan that I had formed. Sapt shook his head over it.

"Why can't you wait?" he asked.

"The king may die."

"Michael will be forced to act before that."

"Then," said I, "the king may live."

"Well, and if he does?"

"For a fortnight?" I asked simply.

And Sapt bit his mustache.

Suddenly Fritz von Tarlenheim laid his hand on my shoulder.

"Let us go and make the attempt," said he.

"I mean you to go—don't be afraid," said I.

"Aye, but do you stay here and take care of the princess?"

A gleam came into old Sapt's eye.

"We should have Michael one way or the other then," he chuckled, "whereas if you go and are killed with the king what will become of those of us who are left?"

"They will serve Queen Flavia," said I, "and I would to God I could be one of them."

A pause followed. Old Sapt broke it by saying sadly, yet with an unmeant drollery that set Fritz and me laughing:

"Why didn't old Rudolf III. marry your—great-grandmother, was it?"

"Come," said I; "it is the king we are thinking about."

"It is true," said Fritz.

"Moreover," I went on, "I have been an impostor for the profit of another, but I will not be one for my own, and if the king is not alive and on his throne before the day of betrothal comes I will tell the truth, come what may."

"You shall go, lad," said Sapt.

Here is the plan I had made: A strong party under Sapt's command was to steal up to the door of the chateau. If discovered prematurely, they were to kill anyone who found them with their swords, for I wanted no noise of firing. If all went well, they would be at the door when Johann opened it. They were to rush in and secure the servants if their mere presence and the use of the king's name were not enough. At the same moment—and on this hinged the plan—a woman's cry was to ring out loud and shrill from Antoinette de Mauban's chamber. Again and again she was to cry: "Help, help! Michael, help!" and then to utter the name of young Rupert Hentzau. Then, as we hoped, Michael, in fury, would rush out of his apartments opposite and fall alive into the hands of Sapt. Still the cries would go on. My men would let down the drawbridge, and it would be strange if Rupert, bearing his name thus taken in vain, did not descend from where he slept and seek to cross. De Gautet might or might not come with him. That must be left to chance.

And when Rupert set his foot on the drawbridge? There was my part, for I was minded for another swim in the moat; and, lest I should grow weary, I had resolved to take with me a small wooden ladder on which I could rest my arms in the water—and my feet when I left it. I would rear it against the wall just by the bridge, and when the bridge was across I would stealthily creep on to it—and then if Rupert or De Gautet crossed in safety it would be my misfortune, not my fault. They dead, two men only would remain, and for them we must trust to the confusion we had created and to a sudden rush. We should have the keys of the door that led to the all important rooms. Perhaps they would rush out. If they stood by their orders, then the king's life hung on the swiftness with which we could force the outer door, and I thanked God that not Rupert Hentzau watched, but Detchard. For though Detchard was a cool man, relentless and no coward, he had neither the dash nor the recklessness of Rupert. Moreover, he, if any one of them, really loved Black Michael, and it might be that he would leave Bersonin to guard the king and rush across the bridge to take part in the affray on the other side.

So I planned—desperately. And that our enemy might be the better lulled to security I gave orders that our residence should be brilliantly lighted from top to bottom, as though we were engaged in revelry, and should so be kept all night, with music playing and people moving to and fro. Strakenz would be there, and he was to conceal our departure, if he could, from Flavia. And if we came not again by the morning he was to march, openly and in force, to the castle and demand the person of the king. If Black Michael were not there, as I did not think he would be, the marshal would take Flavia with him, as swiftly as he could, to Strelsau and there proclaim Black Michael's treachery and the probable death of the king and rally all that there was honest and true round the banner of the princess. And, to say truth, this was what I thought most likely to happen.

For I had great doubts whether either the king or Black Michael or I had more than a day to live. Well, if Black Michael died, and if I, the play actor, slew Rupert Hentzau with my own hand and then died myself, it might be that fate would deal as lightly with Ruritania as could be hoped, notwithstanding that it demanded the life of the king—and to her dealing thus with me I was in no temper to make objection.

It was late when we rose from conference, and I betook me to the princess' apartments. She was pensive that evening, yet when I left her she flung her arms about me and grew for an instant bashfully radiant as she slipped a ring on my finger. I was wearing the king's ring, but I had also on my little finger a plain band of gold engraved with the motto of our family, "Nil Quae Fecl." This I took off and put on her finger and signed to her to let me go. And she, understanding, stood away and watched me with dimmed eyes.

"Wear that ring even though you wear another when you are queen."

"Wear that ring even though you wear another when you are queen," I said.

"Whatever else I wear, this I will wear till I die and after," said she as she kissed the ring.

CHAPTER XVII.

THE night came fine and clear. I had prayed for dirty weather, such as had favored my previous voyage in the moat, but fortune was this time against me. Still, I reckoned that by keeping close under the wall and in the shadow I could escape detection from the windows of the chateau that looked out on the scene of my efforts. If they searched the moat, indeed, my scheme must fail, but I did not think they would. They had made Jacob's ladder secure against attack. Johann had himself helped to fix it closely to the masonry on the underside so that it could not now be moved from below any more than from above. An assault with explosives or a long battering with picks alone could displace it, and the noise involved in either of these operations put them out of the question. What harm, then, could a man do in the moat? I trusted that Black Michael, putting this query to himself, would answer confidently, "None," while even if Johann meant treachery he did not know my scheme and would doubtless expect to see me at the head of my friends before the front entrance to the chateau. There, I said to Sapt, was the real danger.

"And there" I added, "you shall be. Doesn't that content you?"

But it did not. Dearly would he have liked to come with me had I not utterly refused to take him. One man might escape notice. To double the party more than doubled the risk, and when he ventured to hint once again that my life was too valuable I, knowing the secret thought he clung to, sternly bade him be silent, assuring him that unless the king lived through the night I would not live through it either.

At 12 o'clock Sapt's command left the chateau of Tarlenheim and struck off to the right, riding by unfrequented roads and avoiding the town of Zenda. If all went well, they would be in front of Zenda by about a quarter to 2. Leaving their horses half a mile off, they were to steal up to the entrance and hold themselves in readiness for the opening of the door. If the door were not opened by 2 they were to send Fritz von Tarlenheim round to the other side of the castle. I would meet him there if I were alive, and we would consult whether to storm the castle or not. If I were not there, they were to return with all speed to Tarlenheim, rouse the marshal and march in force on Zenda, for if not there I should be dead, and I knew that the king would not be alive five minutes after I had ceased to breathe.

I must now leave Sapt and his friends and relate how I myself proceeded on this eventful night. I went out on the good horse which had carried me on the night of the coronation back from the shooting lodge to Strelsau. I carried a revolver in the saddle and my sword. I was covered with a large cloak, and under this I wore a warm, tight fitting woolen jersey, a pair of knickerbockers, thick stockings and light canvas shoes. I had rubbed myself thoroughly with oil, and I carried a large flask of whisky. The night was warm, but I might probably be immersed a long while, and it was necessary to take every precaution against cold, for cold not only saps a man's courage if he has to die, but impairs his energy if others have to die and finally gives him rheumatics if it be God's will that he lives. Also I tied round my body a length of thin but stout cord, and I did not forget my ladder. I, starting after Sapt, took a shorter route, skirting the town to the left, and found myself in the outskirts of the forest at about half past 12.

I tied my horse up in a thick clump of trees, leaving the revolver in its pocket in the saddle—it would be no use to me—and, ladder in hand, made my way to the edge of the moat. Here I unwound my rope from about my waist, bound it securely round the trunk of a tree on the bank and let myself down. The castle clock struck a quarter to 1 as I felt the water under me and began to swim round the keep, pushing the ladder before me and hugging the castle wall. Thus voyaging, I came to my old friend, Jacob's ladder, and felt the ledge of masonry under me. I crouched down in the shadow of the great pipe—I tried to stir it, but it was quite immovable—and waited. I remember that my predominant feeling was neither anxiety for the king nor longing for Flavia, but an intense desire to smoke, and this craving, of course, I could not gratify.

The drawbridge was still in its place. I saw its airy, light framework above me, some ten yards to my right, as I crouched with my back against the wall of the king's cell. I made out a window two yards my side of it and nearly on the same level. That, if Johann spoke true, must belong to the duke's apartments, and on the other side, in about the same relative position, must be Mme. de Mauban's window. Women are careless, forgetful creatures. I prayed that she might not forget that she was to be the victim of a brutal attempt at 2 o'clock precisely. I was rather amused at the part I had assigned to my young friend Rupert Hentzau, but I owed him a stroke, for, even as I sat, my shoulder ached where he had, with an audacity that seemed half to hide his treachery, struck at me in sight of all my friends on the terrace at Tarlenheim.

Suddenly the duke's window grew bright. The shutters were not closed, and the interior became partially visible to me as I cautiously raised myself till I stood on tiptoe. Thus placed, my range of sight embraced a yard or more inside the window, while the radius of light did not reach me. The window was flung open, and some one looked out. I marked Antoinette de Mauban's graceful figure, and, though her face was in shadow, the fine outline of her head was revealed against the light behind. I longed to cry softly, "Remember!" but I dared not, and happily, for a moment later a man came up and stood by her. He tried to put his arm round her waist, but with a swift motion she sprang away and leaned against the shutter, her profile toward me. I made out who the newcomer was. It was young Rupert. A low laugh from him made me sure, as he leaned forward, stretching out his hand toward her.

"Gently, gently!" I, unmoved, "You're too soon, my bird."

His head was close to hers. I suppose he whispered to her, for I saw her point to the moat, and I heard her say in slow and distinct tones:

"I had rather throw myself out of this window!"

He came close up to the window and looked out.

"It looks cold," said he. "Come, Antoinette, are you serious?"

She made no answer, so far as I heard, and he, smiting his hand petulantly on the window sill, went on in the voice of some spoiled child:

"Hang Black Michael! Isn't the princess enough for him? Is he to have everything? What the devil do you see in Black Michael?"

"If I told him what you say"— she began.

"Well, tell him," said Rupert carelessly. And, catching her off her guard, he sprang forward and kissed her, laughing, and crying, "There's something to tell him!"

If I had kept my revolver with me I should have been very sorely tempted. Being spared the temptation, I merely added this new score to his account.

"Though, faith," said Rupert, "it's little he cares. He's mad about the princess, you know. He talks of nothing but cutting the play actor's throat."

Didn't he, indeed?

"And if I do it for him, what do you think he's promised me?"

The unhappy woman raised her hands above her head, in prayer or in despair.

"But I detest waiting," said Rupert, and I saw that he was about to lay his hand on her again when there was a noise of a door in the room opening, and a harsh voice cried:

"What are you doing here, sir?"

Rupert turned his back to the window, bowed low and said in his loud, merry tones:

"Apologizing for your absence, sir. Could I leave the lady alone?"

The newcomer must be Black Michael. I saw him directly as he advanced toward the window. He caught young Rupert by the arm.

"The moat would hold more than the king," said he, with a significant gesture.

"Does your highness threaten me?" asked Rupert.

"A threat is more warning than most men get from me."

"Yet," observed Rupert, "Rudolf Rassendyll has been much threatened and yet lives."

"Am I in fault because my servants bungle?" asked Michael scornfully.

"Your highness has run no risk of bungling," sneered Rupert.

It was telling the duke that he shrieked danger as plain as ever I have heard a man told. Black Michael had self control. I dare say he scowled—it was a great regret to me that I could not see their faces better—but his voice was even and calm as he answered:

"Enough, enough! We mustn't quarrel, Rupert. Are Detchard and Bersonin at their posts?"

"They are, sir."

"I need you no more."

"Nay, I'm not oppressed with fatigue," said Rupert.

"Pray, sir, leave us," said Michael more impatiently. "In ten minutes the drawbridge will be drawn back, and I presume you have no wish to swim to your bed."

Rupert's figure disappeared. I heard the door open and shut again. Michael and Antoinette de Mauban were left together. To my chagrin, the duke laid his hand on the window and closed it. He stood talking to Antoinette for a moment or two. She shook her head, and he turned impatiently away. She left the window. The door sounded again, and Black Michael closed the shutters.

"De Gautet, De Gautet, man!" sounded from the drawbridge. "Unless you want a bath before your bed, come along!"

It was Rupert's voice, coming from the end of the drawbridge. A moment later he and De Gautet stepped out on the bridge. Rupert's arm was through De Gautet's, and in the middle of the bridge he detained his companion and leaned over. I dropped beside the shelter of Jacob's ladder.

Then Master Rupert had a little sport. He took from De Gautet a bottle which he carried and put it to his lips.

"Hardly a drop!" he cried discontentedly and flung it in the moat.

To be continued.

Had Dispute as to Nationality

An Englishman Gave Patrick Corsey a Drubbing—Aired in Police Court

Patrick Corsey was charged with being drunk and disorderly on Wednesday night, October 30th, at the police court this morning. He pleaded not guilty.

P. C. McGinty said that there was a gang standing at the corner of Sherbrooke and George streets, and there was a great deal of disorderly conduct. Corsey and an Englishman by the name of Keane were having a scrap.

Corsey went into the box. He said that the Englishman came up to him and said, "Are you a Canadian?" He replied that he was and with that he was struck three or four blows. "He pretty nearly killed me," said Corsey.

"I ought to fine you for being licked by an Englishman," said His Worship.

"P. C. McGinty wanted me to lay an information against him," said Corsey, "but I didn't want to have to come to court. I'll lay one now for holding me up on the street."

His Worship drew up the information, and the case will be heard tomorrow.

INJURED A SIDEWALK

T. Hickey a coal driver, was charged with injuring a newly laid cement sidewalk on Maitland ave.

Mr. T. A. B. Hall was called. He said that there had been several loads driven over the sidewalk and it was badly damaged. Witness could not say that Hickey destroyed it.

There was no evidence to show that Hickey had committed the offence, and His Worship said that he could not make a conviction.

"I will make an example of the first one that is proved guilty," said His Worship.

MUSICAL SERVICE OF HIGH ORDER

Special Music Given in Connection With the Anniversary Festival

At St. John's church yesterday the musical work during the day gave evidence of careful rehearsal, the communion office being fully choral, some of its numbers being given yesterday for the first time, and at the conclusion Rev. Canon Davidson expressed his warm appreciation of the fervent rendering of the service.

At the evening service, the choir, numbering over 40 voices, entered fully into the festival, and hymns, service and chants were excellently rendered.

The anthem at both services was Barnby's standard anthem, "God Shall Wipe Away All Tears," a most difficult composition. The rendering at evening service was excellent, and Mr. R. J. Devey has good reason to be thankful for the assistance of such a fine body of singers.

The festival was concluded for the day by singing of hymn No. 437, "For All the Saints," the congregation joining in most heartily.

The first movement of Beethoven's organ sonata in D Minor was finely played as the concluding voluntary.

To-morrow is Guy Fawke's Day.

A CRITICAL PERIOD

INTELLIGENT WOMEN PREPARE

Dangers and Pain of This Critical Period Avoided by the Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many women realize that the most critical period in a woman's existence is the change of life, and that the anxiety felt by women as this time draws near is not without reason?

If her system is in a deranged condition, or she is predisposed to apoplexy of any organ, it is at this time likely to become active and, with a host of nervous irritations, make life a burden.

At this time, also, cancers and tumors are more liable to begin their destructive work. Such warning symptoms as a sense of suffocation, hot flashes, dizziness, headache, dread of impending evil, sounds in the ears, timidity, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and inquietude are promptly heeded by intelligent women who are approaching the period of life when woman's great change may be expected.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the world's greatest remedy for women at this trying period.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound invigorates and strengthens the female organism, and builds up the weakened nervous system as no other medicine can.

Madame Louis Belleau of 17 Ramsay St., Quebec, Que., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound assisted me to pass the change of life with but very little sickness and pain, and I am pleased to give it my endorsement, for I feel that it is the medicine which every woman should take. I am the mother of three children, and when I reached the age of fifty naturally my health was none too good, and I feel sure that if I had not taken your Vegetable Compound I should not have passed the climax safely. I took it off and on for two years and now find that I am in splendid health and strength and feel younger and better than I did ten years ago. Much praise to your medicine, and may all suffering women learn of its value."

For special advice regarding this important period, women are invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. She is a daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been advising sick women free of charge. Her advice is free and always helpful to ailing women.

HUNT STRUCK HOTEL.

Looked as If Cyclone Had Passed—Gets Four Months.

Guelph, Nov. 4.—A husky-looking young fellow named Hunt, of Palmerston, an ex-brakeman and fireman of the Grand Trunk, came down to Castle McNab, in charge of a constable, Saturday morning, to spend the winter.

Hunt, it appears, while a very quiet fellow when sober, goes out on a toot occasionally. On Monday last he tackled the fluid extract of hops and got into a peck of trouble. He was out with the boys and had imbibed rather freely, when—so he says—he was given some morphine pills. He then started out to paint the town.

By the time Hunt struck the Queen's Hotel he was going like a whirlwind and soon made the house look as if a cyclone had passed. He was arrested, and the mills of justice did not delay in turning him out on a four months' sentence.

FATAL HEAD-ON COLLISION.

Fast Passenger Train Crashed Into Freight.

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 4.—A fast passenger train on the Queen and Crescent route, going at a high rate of speed, collided head-on, with a freight train, a mile south of Morganville, Ga., yesterday, killing Engineer Spencer and a negro brakeman and seriously injuring six trainmen and 20 passengers.

Husband Killed Wife.

New York, Nov. 4.—On the eve of their planned separation, William Frederick John, a contracting stonecutter, shot and killed his wife, Grace, and mortally injured himself at their home in Brooklyn last night. He was 30 years of age and his wife 26. They had been married seven years and had two daughters, one of two years and the other four years.

The Johns, who were well-to-do, had no trouble except that directly due to incompatibility of temper.

Jersey City Flyer Wrecked.

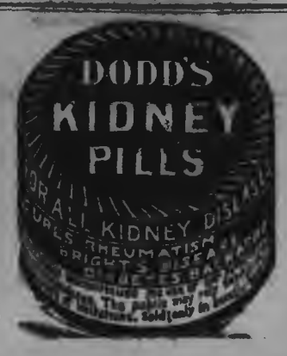
Scranton, Pa., Nov. 4.—The Jersey Central flyer, which left Philadelphia at 6 o'clock last night for this city, was wrecked at 10.30 near Pittston. The engine and four cars tumbled over an embankment, killing Engineer Johnson and seriously injuring the fireman. None of the passengers were seriously injured. There was a settling of the tracks, due to a mine cave-in.

Murderer Ended Life.

Lethbridge, Nov. 4.—The police have learned that the Indian suspected of murdering three tribesmen at Fifteen Mile Lake has since committed suicide.

Steamship Montreal Floated.

Montreal, Nov. 4.—The C. P. R. steamship Montreal arrived here yesterday, having been successfully floated in Lake St. Peter on Saturday.



FRANCE'S NEW TARIFF

Will Be Based on Double System of Rates.

Many of the Duties Will Be Raised—No Further Negotiations Until Revision is Complete — Treaty With Canada Will Be Ratified—United States Will Suffer From Prohibitive Rates.

Paris, Nov. 4.—The tariff commissions of the Senate and the Chamber of Deputies, which have begun drafting a bill for the revision of the tariff of 1892, at a conference with Premier Clemenceau and Foreign Minister Pichon and other members of the Cabmet, Saturday formally requested the Government to agree not to conclude further commercial treaties with foreign powers until Parliament acts upon the bill which the commissions have drafted. The Cabinet practically gave the promise demanded, providing that the recent negotiated Canadian-French treaty be ratified.

The promise of the Government is regarded as being important, as it constitutes a virtual decision to suspend tariff negotiations with all countries pending a revision of the tariff, which is not expected to be accomplished during the present session.

The bases of the proposed revision of the tariff are an extension of the double system of rates to all schedules, making the lowest maximum rates 50 per cent. higher than the minimum rates, and specifically restricting the grant of minimum rates to countries offering equal concessions to France. Moreover, as the proposed revision is being engineered by high tariff advocates, the minimum rates in the case of many schedules will probably be raised. If the high tariff people have their way, the proposed law will compel France to begin tariff wars against all countries refusing to conclude reciprocity treaties. The United States will be the principal sufferer under the proposed revision, unless she concludes a reciprocity treaty with France, as the projected rates for many classes of goods now extensively imported will become prohibitive.

CHICAGO HOTEL SCORCHED.

Five Hundred Guests Nearly Suffocated by Smoke.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—More than 500 guests of the Plaza Hotel fled from their rooms early Saturday when fire broke out in the basement. The building was quickly filled with smoke and many of the guests had difficulty in reaching the street.

The guests, most of them thinly clad, sought refuge in stores near-by. Some of them had been slightly affected by the smoke. About forty women, becoming exhausted, were carried down ladders and fire escapes by firemen.

Arthur Hart, the night clerk, and two bell boys, who nearly lost their lives in warning the guests of their danger, assisted many in reaching the street.

When the firemen reached the building the fire escapes were crowded with frightened men and women. Some of them jumped from the second floor landings, without waiting to be taken down. Several were severely bruised.

The fire was soon extinguished, with small property loss.

ATTEMPTED HOLD-UP.

Station Operator at Berlin Attacked by Thieves.

Berlin, Nov. 4.—At 3 o'clock Saturday morning two men attempted to hold-up Night Operator Hofferds at the G. T. R. station. Two big stones were thrown through the window, and one of the desperadoes fired a revolver at the operator, who responded by producing his own shooting-piece, whereupon the would-be robbers decamped and succeeded in eluding three policemen who answered Hofferds' call.

Three Years for Hanlon.

Orangeville, Nov. 4.—Magistrate Pattullo on Saturday sentenced William Hanlon, who pleaded guilty some weeks ago to two charges of forgery, to serve three years in Kingston penitentiary with hard labor.

W. D. Henry, counsel for the prisoner, entered a plea for a light sentence.

Hanlon forged two notes, using the name of Patrick Garrity, a Caledon Township farmer. By this means, he secured $200 from the local Bank of Commerce, and $100 from the Sterling Bank. He is wanted in Guelph to answer charges of securing money from four banks by a similar method. Nothing was said before the magistrate Saturday in reference to these charges, and they will be dealt with separately.

Indian Suicides.

MacLeod, Nov. 4.—A Peigan Indian, anxious to go to the happy hunting grounds, loaded a shotgun Saturday, laid himself down on his bed, and after pointing the gun toward his head, tried to pull the trigger with his moccasined feet. Failing to catch the trigger he got up, cut away the point of the moccasin, so that his big toe protruded, lay down again, and this time succeeded in his purpose. When found the top of his head was completely shot off, death having been instantaneous.

Big Fire at Kingston, N. Y.

Kingston, N Y., Nov. 4.—Fire yesterday destroyed the tugboat John H. Cordts, belonging to the Cornell Steamboat Co., the company's coal pockets containing 1,800 tons of coal, and five cars loaded with coal standing on the Ulster and Delaware siding, adjoining the pockets. The loss will reach $150,000.

Major Beattie's Majority.

London, Nov. 4.—Major Beattie's official majority is 1,035.

Mr. Walter F. Baker, a millionaire broker of Boston, who died in Bogata, N.J., on Sunday night last, is thought to have been poisoned.

CONGRESS TO EASE STRAIN.

Roosevelt May Order Extra Session to Relieve Situation.

Washington, Nov. 4.—President Roosevelt is being urged to call an extra session of Congress to deal with the financial situation.

The request comes, and represents, the judgment of conservative leaders in the financial world, who have represented the present situation as one that compels action of a character which will affirmatively eradicate all ground for suspicion of American industrial methods.

The President has been assured from reliable sources that there will be no opposition on the part of the great industries of the country to the enactment of laws necessary to carry out his ideas of Federal control to the extent to which he has expounded them in his recent utterances.

These assurances are given to avert what is represented as the most dangerous situation which has confronted the country during a long historical period—that is the seemingly growing lack of confidence backed on known irregularities in business methods in some quarters, and no sure and speedy means of separating the good from the unsound.

To this end it is suggested that the President shall set Congress to the task of making such amendments to the financial laws as will result in the maximum of flexibility with the minimum of basic changes in the United States system.

Next, and perhaps most important, that the President embody his suggestions on corporate control into succinct recommendations for enactment into law.

RESULT OF BALLOT.

Nearly Seventy-Seven Thousand Railway Men Favor Strike.

London, Nov. 4.—At a great meeting of railroad men, held last night in Albert Hall, attended by deputations from all parts of the United Kingdom, Richard Bell, M. P., general secretary of the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants, and leader of the strike movement, announced the result of the ballot taken among the members of the society on the question of a strike.

Mr. Bell said the society had 97,631 members at the end of September and that many men had joined recently, but did not ballot. He announced that 88,134 papers had been returned, of which 76,925 were for striking and 9,773 were opposed to it. The remainder of the ballots were spoiled, but a majority of these were for striking.

Mr. Bell declared that the executive committee of the society was well satisfied with this result, but it had resolved that no further reference should be made to the situation pending the interview Nov. 6 between Mr. Lloyd-George, President of the Board of Trade, and representatives of the society. He said that he hoped the mandate would not be put into force, but he was satisfied that if it became necessary to take this step the men would stond by their colors.

The meeting adopted a resolution heartily pledging its support to any action the executive committee might deem necessary.

DEFIED DEPUTY SHERIFF.

Gananoque Cattle Buyer Objected to Seizure of Stock.

Brockville, Nov. 4.—On Friday A. J. Traill, the deputy sheriff, swore out a warrant for the arrest of Thomas Dempster, a Gananoque cattle buyer, on a charge of interfering with him (the deputy sheriff) while in the discharge of his official duties.

Mr. Traill was in the act of executing a writ on the premises of Patrick Sullivan, a farmer residing between Lansdowne and Gananoque, and was taking possession of the cattle when Dempster came along and, claiming he had purchased two of the cattle, took possession of them against Traill's remonstrations.

Chief Burke was despatched to execute the warrants, and leaving here on the 6 o'clock train, arrived in Gananoque in time to locate Dempster and return with him at 9. The chief and Dempster were accompanied here by W. B. Carroll, his solicitor, and W. B. Dempster, who immediately arranged for bail, which was granted, the prisoner in $1,000 and the two sureties of $500 each, to appear for examination in the Police Court here at 10.30 Tuesday morning. Dempster and his bondsmen returned to Gananoque at midnight.

Bartels Over the Border.

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 4.—Herman Bartels, the former Syracuse brewer, was brought back to Auburn Saturday night from Welland, Ont., and locked up in the county jail, to await trial upon a perjury charge growing out of evidence he gave in his trial for attempted arson at Auburn two years ago.

After his conviction, Bartels jumped his bail and fled to Canada. Upon his arrival in Auburn Bartels was taken immediately to jail, where his son, Herman, Jr., talked with him.

The trial will take place in January, and sensational disclosures are promised.

Rain Claims a Life.

Middleton, N. Y., Nov. 4.—The heaviest rain of the season fell throughout this section Saturday. Much damage has been done through the flooding of low lands.

While crossing Pochuck Creek, at Pine Island, in a canoe, Jacob Stanwish was swept into an eddy and drowned in sight of his companions.

Violent Earthquake.

Samarakand, Russian Turkestan, Nov. 4.—A violent earthquake occurred here yesterday morning, but did comparatively little damage. The inhabitants of Samarakand were panic-stricken, and rushed out into the streets, and for some time great excitement prevailed.

Through the generosity of Col. Jeffrey H. Burland, Dr. H. C. Perrin has been appointed director of the McGill Conservatorium of Music.

WHALERS CAUGHT IN ICE

Vessels Went Too Far in the Northern Seas.

Five Vessels Are Missing — Crews Numbering 225 Must Winter In the Arctic—Jeanette Had to Use Gunpowder to Blast Her Way Out—Trapped by Sudden Closing In of Winter.

San Francisco, Nov. 4.—Venturing too far to the westward in the Arctic Ocean in quest of whales, five vessels of the whaling fleet sailing from San Francisco more than a year ago, with 225 men, have been caught by the sudden closing in of the northern winter, according to Capt. Hoffman of the whaler Jeanette, which arrived Saturday. The missing vessels are the Herman, the Beluga, the Belvidere, the Thrasher and the William Bayles. None of these whalers was seen by the men of the Jeanette, which once had to make a path through the pack ice with gunpowder before the open sea was reached. All of the whalers went further to the northwest this season than usual, the Jeanette plainly sighting Prince William's Land. Only one other vessel of the fleet, the Bowhead, reached the open sea after the Jeanette escaped. The Bowhead was sighted off this port yesterday.

GERMAN EMPEROR'S VISIT.

Will Reach London on Nov. 11 Accompanied by Von Buelow.

London, Nov. 4.—England is to be invaded by royalty during the month of November. The German Emperor and Empress, who it is expected will be accompanied by the Imperial Chancellor, Prince Von Buelow, and to whose visit some political significance is therefore attached, will arrive here on Nov. 11, and will spend a week as guests of King Edward and Queen Alexandra at Windsor Castle, which has been considerably altered and improved for their reception. A staff of several hundred workmen are busy in and around the historic riverside home of the British sovereign, and have already greatly altered the appearance of the grounds and building.

A series of the most elaborate entertainments has been arranged, including theatrical performances and a great banquet, at which the German Emperor will meet many of the leaders of Great Britain's social and political worlds. The banquet, if plans do not miscarry, will surpass in splendor anything of the kind before attempted here for in this, as in all other respects, King Edward is desirous of showing the greatest honor to his nephew.

RIDDLED WITH BULLETS.

Outrage Perpetrated on Caretaker of Evicted Farm in Ireland.

London, Nov. 4.—With his right shoulder, right side of his back, and right arm riddled with bullets, a young man named Fred Pierce lay for three hours on a road before he was able to get to a house, after a shooting outrage had been perpetrated on him at Durra. This is the residence of R. W. Greene, sub-commoner, about four miles from Ennis, County Clare, and the victim of the outrage was employed as caretaker of an evicted farm at Sunnagh, on the Butler estate.

Pierce was returning from Ennis races. The shots were fired from over the Durra demesne wall at close range, some of the pellets going deeply into the flesh and some penetrating the lung.

IT WAS A CLOSE CALL.

Freight Cars Leave the Rails at Niagara Bridge.

Niagara Falls, Nov. 4.—A serious accident was averted Saturday while a freight train was crossing the Niagara River. The story is that when about ten feet from the Canada side a break beam dropped to the ground and piled up three cars. The cars fell clear of the rails when they toppled over and traffic was not delayed. A railroad man who witnessed the mishap said if the accident had occurred a few seconds earlier 15 cars would have dropped into the Niagara River and carried with them the brakemen who were on the top of the train.

Lower California Swept by Great Flood.

San Francisco, Nov. 4.—Sixteen persons are said to have been drowned by a torrential downpour and more than fifty houses washed away at St. Jose del Cabo, Lower California, on Oct. 14. As the deluge struck the town the people were caught, and many had no chance to escape, being carried out to sea. Some who escaped the flood were killed by being crushed by flying portions of buildings.

The Prisoner of Zenda

By... ANTHONY HOPE

Copyrighted, 1894, 1898, by Henry Holt & Company

It fell, as I judged from the sound and the circles on the water, within a yard of the pipe. And Rupert, taking out his revolver, began to shoot at it. The first two shots missed the bottle, but hit the pipe. The third shattered the bottle. I hoped that the young ruffian would be content, but he emptied the other barrels at the pipe, and one, skimming over the pipe, whistled through my hair as I crouched on the other side.

"Ware bridge!" a voice cried, to my relief.

Rupert and De Gautet cried, "A moment!" and ran across. The bridge was drawn back, and all became still. The clock struck a quarter past 1. I rose and stretched myself and yawned.

I think some ten minutes had passed when I heard a slight noise to my right. I peered over the pipe and saw a dark figure standing in the gateway that led to the bridge. It was a man. By the careless, graceful poise I guessed it to be Rupert again. He held a sword in his hand, and he stood motionless for a minute or two. Wild thoughts ran through me. On what mischief was the young fiend bent now? Then he laughed low to himself; then he turned his face to the wall, took a step in my direction and, to my surprise, began to climb down the wall. In an instant I saw that there must be steps in the wall; it was plain. They were cut into or affixed to the wall at intervals of about eighteen inches. Rupert set his foot on the lower one, then he placed his sword between his teeth, turned round and noiselessly let himself down into the water. Had it been a matter of my life only I would have swam to meet him. Dearly would I have loved to fight it out with him then and there—with steel—on a fine night and none to come between us. But there was the king. I restrained myself, but I could not bridle my swift breathing, and I watched him with the intensest eagerness.

He swam leisurely and quietly across. There were more footsteps up on the other side, and he climbed them. When he set foot in the gateway, standing on the drawn back bridge, he felt in his pocket and took something out. I heard him unlock the door. I could hear no noise of its closing behind him. He vanished from my sight.

Abandoning my ladder—I saw I did not need it now—I swam to the side of the bridge and climbed halfway up the steps. There I hung, with my sword in my hand, listening eagerly. The duke's room was shuttered and dark. There was a light in the window on the opposite side of the bridge. Not a sound broke the silence till half past 1 chimed from the great clock in the tower of the chateau.

There were other plots than mine afoot in the castle that night.

CHAPTER XVIII.

THE position wherein I stood does not appear very favorable to thought, yet for the next moment or two I thought profoundly. I had, I told myself, scored one point. Be Rupert Hentzau's errand what it might and the villainy he was engaged on what it would, I had scored one point. He was on the other side of the moat from the king, and it would be by no fault of mine if ever he set foot on the same side again. I had three left to deal with—two on guard and De Gautet in his bed. Ah, if I had the keys! I would have risked everything and attacked Detchard and Bersonin before their friends could join them. But I was powerless. I must wait till the coming of my friends enticed some one to cross the bridge—some one with the keys. And I waited, as it seemed, for half an hour, really for about five minutes, before the next act in the rapid drama began.

All was still on the other side. The duke's room remained impenetrable, behind its shutters. The light burned steadily in Mme. de Mauban's window. Then I heard the faintest, faintest sound. It came from behind the door which led to the drawbridge on the other side of the moat. It but just reached my ear, yet I could not be mistaken as to what it was. It was made by a key being turned very carefully and slowly. Who was turning it? And of what room was it the key? There leaped before my eyes the picture of young Rupert, with the key in one hand, his sword in the other and an evil smile on his face. But I did not know what door it was nor in which of his favorite pursuits young Rupert was spending the hours of that night.

I was soon to be enlightened, for the next moment—before my friends could be near the chateau door—before Johann, the keeper, would have thought to nerve himself for his task—there was a sudden crash from the room with the lighted window. It sounded as though some one had flung down a lamp, and the window went dark and black. At the same instant a cry rang out, shrill in the night: "Help, help! Michael, help!" and was followed by a shriek of utter terror.

I was tingling in every nerve. I stood on the topmost step, clinging to the threshold of the gate with my right hand and holding my sword in my left. Suddenly I perceived that the gateway was broader than the bridge. There was a dark corner on the opposite side where a man could stand. I darted across and stood there. Thus placed I commanded the path, and no man could pass between the chateau and the old castle till he had tried conclusions with me.

There was another shriek. Then a door was flung open and clapped against the wall, and I heard the handle of a door savagely twisted.

"Open the door! In God's name, what's the matter?" cried a voice, the voice of Black Michael himself.

He was answered by the very words I had written in my letter:

"Help, Michael—Hentzau!"

A fierce oath rang out from the duke, and, with a loud thud, he threw himself against the door. At the same moment I heard a window above my head open, and a voice cried, "What's the matter?" and I heard a man's hasty footsteps. I grasped my sword. If De Gautet came my way the Six would be less by one more.

Then I heard the clash of crossed swords and a tramp of feet, and—I cannot tell the thing so quickly as it happened, for all seemed to come at once. There was an angry cry from madam's room, the cry of a wounded man. The window was flung open. Young Rupert stood there, sword in hand. He turned his back, and I saw his body go forward to the lunge.

"Ah, Johann, there's one for you! Come on, Michael!"

Johann was there, then—come to the rescue of the duke! How would he open the door for me, for I feared that Rupert had slain him?

"Help!" cried the duke's voice, faint and husky.

I heard a stir on the stairs above me, and I heard a stir down to my right in the direction of the king's cell. But before anything happened on my side of the moat I saw five or six men round young Rupert in the embrasure of madam's window. Three or four times he lunged with incomparable dash and dexterity. For an instant they fell back, leaving a ring round him. He leaped on the parapet of the window, laughing as he leaped, and waving his sword in his hand. He was drunk with blood, and he laughed again wildly as he flung himself headlong into the moat.

What became of him then? I did not see, for as he leaped De Gautet's lean face looked out through the door by me, and without a second's hesitation I struck at him with all the strength God had given me, and he fell dead in the doorway without a word or a groan. I dropped on my knees by him. Where were the keys? I found myself muttering, "The keys, man, the keys!" as though he had been yet alive and could listen, and when I could not find them I—God forgive me! —I believe I struck a dead man's face.

At last I had them. There were but three. Seizing the largest, I felt the lock of the door that led to the cell. I fitted in the key. It was right. The lock turned. I drew the door close behind me and locked it as noiselessly as I could, putting the key in my pocket.

I found myself at the top of a flight of steep stone stairs. An oil lamp burned dimly in the bracket. I took it down and held it in my hand, and I stood and listened.

"What in the devil can it be?" I heard a voice say.

It came from behind a door that faced me at the bottom of the stairs.

And another answered:

"Shall we kill him?"

I strained to hear the answer and could have sobbed with relief when Detchard's voice came grating and cold:

"Wait a bit. There'll be trouble if we strike too soon."

There was a moment's silence. Then I heard the bolt of the door cautiously drawn back. Instantly I put out the light I held, replacing the lamp in the bracket.

"It's dark—the lamp's out. Have you a light?" said the other voice—Bersonin's.

No doubt they had a light, but they should not use it. It was come to the crisis now, and I rushed down the steps and flung myself against the door. Bersonin had unbolted it, and it gave way before me. The Belgian stood there, sword in hand, and Detchard was sitting on a couch at the side of the room. In astonishment at seeing me, Bersonin recoiled; Detchard jumped to his sword. I rushed madly at the Belgian. He gave way before me, and I drove him up against the wall. He was no swordsman, though he fought bravely, and in a moment he lay on the floor before me. I turned. Detchard was not there. Faithful to his orders, he had not risked a fight with me, but had rushed straight to the door of the king's room, opened it and slammed it behind him. Even now he was at his work inside.

And surely he would have killed the king and perhaps me also had it not been for one devoted man who gave his life for the king, for when I forced the door the sight I saw was this: The king stood in the corner of the room. Broken by his sickness, he could do nothing. His fettered hands moved uselessly up and down, and he was laughing horribly in half mad delirium. Detchard and the doctor were together in the middle of the room, and the doctor had flung himself on the murderer, pinning his hands to his sides for an instant. Then Detchard wrenched himself free from the feeble grip, and as I entered drove his sword through the hapless man.

Then he turned on me, crying:

"At last!"

We were sword to sword. By blessed chance neither he nor Bersonin had been wearing their revolvers. I found them afterward, ready loaded, on the mantelpiece of the outer room. It was hard by the door, ready to their hands, but my sudden rush in had cut off access to them. Yes, we were man to man, and we began to fight, silently, sternly and hard. Yet I remember little of it, save that the man was my match with the sword—nay, and more, for he knew more tricks than I—and that he forced me back against the bars that guarded the entrance to Jacob's ladder. And I saw a smile on his face, and he wounded me in the left arm.

No glory do I take for that contest. I believe that the man would have mastered me and slain me and then done his butcher's work, for he was the most skilful swordsman I have ever met, but even as he pressed me hard the half mad, wasted, wan creature in the corner leaped high in lunatic mirth, shrieking:

"It's Cousin Rudolf! Cousin Rudolf! I'll help you, Cousin Rudolf!" And, catching up a chair in his hands (he could but just lift it from the ground and hold it uselessly before him), he came toward us. Hope came to me.

"Come on!" I cried. "Come on! Drive it against his legs!"

Detchard replied with a savage thrust. He all but had me.

"Come on! Come on, man!" I cried. "Come and share the fun!"

And the king laughed gleefully and came on, pushing his chair before him.

With an oath Detchard skipped back and before I knew what he was doing had turned his sword against the king. He made one fierce cut at the king, and the king, with a piteous cry, dropped where he stood. The stout ruffian turned to face me again. But his own hand had prepared his destruction, for in turning he trod in the pool of blood that flowed from the dead physician. He slipped; he fell. Like a dart I was upon him. I caught him by the throat, and before he could recover I drove my blade through his neck, and with a stifled curse he fell across the body of his victim.

Was the king dead? It was my first thought. I rushed to where he lay. Aye, it seemed as if he were dead, for he had a great gash across the forehead, and he lay still in a huddled mass on the floor. I dropped on my knees beside him and leaned my ear down to hear if he breathed. But before I could there was a loud rattle from the outside. I knew the sound. The drawbridge was being pushed out. A moment later it rang home against the wall on my side of the moat. I should be caught in a trap and the king with me if he yet lived. He must take his chance to live or to die. I took my sword and passed into the outer room. Who were pushing the drawbridge out—my men? If so, all was well. My eye fell on the revolvers, and I seized one and paused to listen in the doorway of the outer room. To listen, say I? Yes, and to get my breath, and I tore my shirt and twisted a strip of it round my bleeding arm and stood listening again. I would have given the world to hear Sapt's voice, for I was faint, spent and weary. And that wildcat Rupert Hentzau was yet at large in the castle. Yet, because I could better defend the narrow door at the top of the stairs than the wider entrance to the room, I dragged myself up the steps and stood behind it listening.

What was the sound? Again a strange one for the place and the time. An easy, scornful, merry laugh, the laugh of young Rupert Hentzau! I could scarcely believe that a sane man would laugh. Yet the laugh told me that my men had not come, for they must have shot Rupert ere now if they had come. And the clock struck half past 2! My God, the door had not been opened! They had gone to the bank! They had not found me! They had gone by now back to Tarlenheim with the news of the king's death—and mine. Well, it would be true before they got there. Was not Rupert laughing in triumph?

For a moment I sank unnerved against the door. Then I started up alert again, for Rupert cried scornfully:

"Well, the bridge is there! Come over it! And in God's name let's see Black Michael keep back you curs! Michael, come and fight for her!"

If it were a three cornered fight I might yet bear my part. I turned the key in the door and looked out.

CHAPTER XIX.

FOR a moment I could see nothing, for the glare of lanterns and torches caught me full in the eyes from the other side of the bridge. But soon the scene grew clear, and it was a strange scene. The bridge was in its place. At the far end of it stood a group of the duke's servants. Two or three carried the lights which had dazzled me; three or four held pikes in rest. They were huddled together; their weapons were protruded before them; their faces were pale and agitated. To put it plainly, they looked in as arrant a fright as I have seen men look, and they gazed apprehensively at a man who stood in the middle of the bridge, sword in hand. Rupert Hentzau was in his trousers and shirt. The white linen was stained with blood, but his easy, buoyant pose told me that he was himself either not touched at all or merely scratched. There he stood, holding the bridge against them and daring them to come on, or, rather, bidding them and Black Michael to him, and they, having no firearms, cowered before the desperate man and dared not attack him. They whispered to one another, and in the backmost rank I saw my friend Johann leaning against the portal of the door and stanching with a handkerchief the blood which flowed from a wound in his cheek.

By marvelous chance I was master. The cravens would oppose me no more than they dared attack Rupert. I had but to raise my revolver to send him to his account with his sins on his head. He did not so much as know that I was there. I did nothing—why, I hardly know to this day. I had killed one man stealthily that night and another by luck rather than skill—perhaps it was that. Again, villain as the man was, I did not relish being one of a crowd against him—perhaps it was that. But stronger than either of these restraining feelings came a curiosity and a fascination which held me spellbound, watching for the outcome of the scene.

"Michael, you dog! Michael! If you can stand, come on!" cried Rupert. And he advanced a step, the group shrinking back a little before him.

The answer to his taunts came in the wild cry of a woman:

"He's dead! My God, he's dead!"

"Dead!" shouted Rupert. "I struck better than I knew!" And he laughed triumphantly. Then he went on: "Down with your weapons there! I'm your master now! Down with them, I say!"

I believe they would have obeyed, but as he spoke came new things. First there arose a distant sound, as of shouts and knockings from the other side of the chateau. My heart leaped. It must be my men, come by a happy disobedience to seek me. The noise continued, but none of the rest seemed to heed it. Their attention was chained by what now happened before their eyes. The group of servants parted, and a woman staggered on to the bridge. Antoinette de Mauban was in a loose white robe, her dark hair streamed over her shoulders, her face was ghastly pale, and her eyes gleamed wildly in the light of the torches. In her shaking hand she held a revolver, and as she tottered forward she fired at Rupert Hentzau. The ball missed him and struck the woodwork over my head.

"Faith, madam," laughed Rupert, "had your eyes been no more deadly than your shooting I had not been in this scrape nor Black Michael in the lower regions tonight!"

She took no notice of his words. With a wonderful effort she calmed herself till she stood still and rigid. Then very slowly and deliberately she began to raise her arm again, taking most careful aim.

He would be mad to risk it. He must rush on her, chancing the bullet, or retreat toward me. I covered him with my weapon.

He did neither. Before she had got her aim he bowed in his most graceful fashion, cried, "I can't kill where I've kissed," and before she or I could stop him laid his hand on the parapet of the bridge and lightly leaped into the moat.

At the very moment I heard a rush of feet and a voice I knew—Sapt's—cry, "God, it's the duke—dead!" Then I knew that the king needed me no more, and, throwing down my revolver, I sprang out on the bridge. There was a cry of wild wonder, "The king!" and then I, like Rupert Hentzau, sword in hand, vaulted over the parapet, intent on finishing my quarrel with him where I saw his curly head fifteen yards off in the water of the moat.

He swam swiftly and easily. I was weary and half crippled with my wounded arm. I could not gain on him. For a time I made no sound, but as we rounded the corner of the old keep I cried:

"Stop, Rupert! Stop!"

I saw him look over his shoulder, but he swam on. He was under the bank now, searching, as I guessed, for a spot that he could climb. I knew there to be none, but there was my rope, which would still be hanging where I had left it. He would come to where it was before I could. Perhaps he would miss it; perhaps he would find it, and if he drew it up after him he would get a good start of me. I put forth all my remaining strength and pressed on. At last I began to gain on him, for he, occupied with his search, unconsciously slackened his pace.

Ah, he had found it! A low shout of triumph came from him. He laid hold of it and began to haul himself up. I was near enough to hear him mutter, "How the devil comes this here?" I was at the rope, and he, hanging in midair, saw me, but I could not reach him.

"Hello! Who's here?" he cried in startled tones.

For a moment I believe he took me for the king. I dare say I was pale enough to lend color to the thought, but an instant later he cried:

"Why, it's the play actor! How came you here, man?"

And so saying he gained the bank.

I laid hold of the rope, but I paused. He stood on the bank, sword in hand, and he could cut my head open or split me through the heart as I came up. I let go the rope.

"Never mind," said I, "but as I am here I think I'll stay."

He smiled down on me.

"These women are the deuce"— he began, when suddenly the great bell of the castle began to ring furiously, and a loud shout reached us from the moat.

Rupert smiled again and waved his hand to me.

"I should like a turn with you, but it's a little too hot," said he. And he disappeared from above me.

In an instant, without thinking of danger, I laid my hand to the rope. I was up. I saw him thirty yards off, running like a deer toward the shelter of the forest. For once Rupert Hentzau had chosen discretion for his part. I laid my feet to the ground and rushed after him, calling to him to stand. He would not. Unwounded and vigorous, he gained on me at every step; but, forgetting everything in the world except him and my thirst for his blood, I pressed on, and soon the deep shades of the forest of Zenda engulfed us both, pursued and pursuer.

It was 3 o'clock now, and day was dawning. I was on a long, straight grass avenue, and a hundred yards ahead ran young Rupert, his curls waving in the fresh breeze. I was weary and panting. He looked over his shoulder and waved his hand again to me. He was mocking me, for he saw he had the pace of me. I was forced to pause for breath. A moment later Rupert turned sharply to the right and was lost from my sight.

I thought all was over and in deep vexation sank on the ground, but I was up again directly, for a scream rang through the forest, a woman's scream. Putting forth the last of my strength, I ran on to the place where he had turned out of my sight, and, turning also, I saw him again; but, alas, I could not touch him. He was in the act of lifting a girl down from her horse. Doubtless it was her scream that I heard. She looked like a small farmer's or a peasant's daughter, and she carried a basket on her arms. Probably she was on her way to the early market at Zenda. Her horse was a stout, well shaped animal. Master Rupert lifted her down amid her shrieks. The sight of him frightened her, but he treated her gently, laughed, kissed her and gave her money. Then he jumped on the horse, sitting sideways like a woman, and then he waited for me. I on my part waited for him.

Presently he rode toward me, keeping his distance, however. He lifted up his hand, saying:

"What did you in the castle?"

"I killed three of your friends," said I.

"What! You got to the cells?"

"Yes."

"And the king?"

"He was hurt by Detchard before I killed Detchard, but I pray that he lives."

"You fool!" said Rupert pleasantly.

"One thing more I did."

"And what's that?"

"I spared your life. I was behind you on the bridge, with a revolver in my hand."

"No? Faith, I was between two fires!"

"Get off your horse," I cried, "and fight like a man."

Dear Sir,—I have much pleasure in acknowledging the receipt of the cheque for $1,244, being the amount paid me on the maturity of my endowment policy, $1000, in your Company which matured on the 1st inst.

I find I have received almost 4 per cent. compound interest on every dollar paid in to the Company and in addition have had free insurance for the past fifteen years.

Such a result speaks volumes for the management of your company and far exceeds my expectations and I would be ungrateful indeed were I not to acknowledge it.

I was also offered a paid-up policy of $3,078, or an annuity for life of $111.55, both of which I consider excellent.

I thank you very much indeed and wish your company the continued success and confidence it so richly deserves.

Yours very truly,

WEDDING BELLS

TANNER—JEWELL

A very pretty wedding took place on Wednesday, Oct. 30, at the Methodist parsonage Enniskillen, Ont., when the youngest daughter of Rev. J. A. Jewell, B. A., of Enniskillen, Ont., Miss Annie Richardson Jewell, was united in marriage to Mr. Charles Stewart Tanner of the drug firm of E. A. Tanner & Brother, of Lakefield, Ont. The ceremony was performed by the bride's father, assisted by Rev. A. M. Irwin of Newcastle. The pretty bride was attired in a robe of lace over mauve silk, and presented a charming appearance. Little Miss Ethel Mayo of Toronto, acted as flower girl. The home was tastefully decorated with flowers and other decorations for the event. A very pleasing feature was the presence of the aunt of the groom, Mrs. John Cox, of Peterborough, a lady of ninety-one years, who had made the trip from Peterborough for the wedding. Among others present, besides the members of the bride's family, resident in Enniskillen, were Mrs. A. A. Cox, of Peterborough, Miss T. Tanner, sister of the groom, of Lakefield, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Tanner of Lakefield, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Tanner, of Toronto, Mr. A. R. Cox of Toronto, Miss Helen Dyer of Belleville, Mr. and Miss Cruickshank of Cobourg, Miss Sybil Jewell of Lindsay, Mr. Ross Jewell of Port Perry, Mr. Merrill Jewell of Toronto, Mrs. McBurney, of Toronto, Mrs. Irwin of Newcastle, and others. The groom presented the bride with a beautiful gold watch, studded with diamonds, and the flower girl with a very pretty wishbone pin. The popular young couple left on the Grand Trunk train from Bowmanville, for a trip to Toronto, New York, and other places, and will take up their future residence in Lakefield, Ont.

SPLENDID MOVE FOR TEMPERANCE

Raise in the Price of Liquors Will Cause Less Drinking

To the Editor of the Review,

Sir,—I see by newspaper of Saturday, that owing to the increase in the price of liquor, the hotelkeepers have decided on raising the price at the bars from five cents to ten cents per glass. I consider this the greatest move that has ever been made in the cause of temperance in this country, for it will certainly reduce the quantity to be drunk by one-half. Such a move ought to the approval and endorsation of all temperance people. It is up to the Ministerial Association, if they wish to show their sincerity, to at once pass a resolution tendering their thanks to the hotelkeepers, for thus reducing the sale of intoxicants, although the increase will also effect those who keep it in their cellars.

Yours truly,
TEMPERANCE.

Native of Barbadoes Speaks Of Conditions on That Island

Rev. A. L. Reed, Who Has Been Appointed Assistant to Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, Tells of the Climate, Cyclones and Physical Features of One of the Leading West India Islands.

Rev. A. L. Reed, B.A., L.Th., who preached at St. Luke's church last evening, and will assist Rev. Dr. Langfeldt during the winter months, is a native of the Island of Barbadoes in the West Indies. He is a graduate of Codrington College, Barbadoes, having obtained his degree of B.A. and L.Th. from that school. Mr. Reed came to Canada last September, to enter upon a four years' post graduate course in philosophy, at Trinity College. During this stay in this country, he will also make a study of the educational systems existing in the different provinces. While the schools in Barbadoes are very fine, Mr. Reed desires to become perfectly acquainted with Canadians, that some changes, which would greatly improve those of his own country, might be made.

Codrington College, Mr. Reed states, is a very old school, having been erected in 1743. In 1875 it was affiliated to the University of Durham, England.

Speaking of the climate of the Island Barbadoes, Mr. Reed remarked that the rather frigid nature of the weather here, was a sudden change to what he had been accustomed to. "The temperature was 92 degrees in the shade when I left home, and it never goes below 62 degrees at any time." Mr. Reed thanks he will like the cold weather much better, and that he will not find it disagreeable.

When asked if the recent earthquake at Kingston, Jamaica, which is over six hundred miles from Barbadoes, had any effect on the Island, Mr. Reed replied that it had not. Barbadoes was not subjected to earthquakes, but there have been times when slight shocks have been felt. Several Barbadonians, including Bishop Swaby, of the Island, were in Kingston at the time of the dreadful disaster, but all escaped death and quickly returned to Barbadoes. Hurricanes are more antagonistic to the Island. Mr. Reed recalled the last severe one, having been a witness of the ruins it created. It was in 1898 and it played great havoc. Damage to an enormous extent was done. Strong and well built structures were uprooted, and large and costly buildings of all kinds were dashed to atoms. A great loss of life was also caused.

Rev. Mr. Reed is an ordained minister and was engaged in the work before coming to Canada. He preached an earnest and helpful sermon last evening and interested a large congregation.

Further Information About The Educational Changes

In last Tuesday's issue of the Review there appeared an article supplied by Mr. H. R. H. Kenner, of the Collegiate Institute staff, regarding the reorganized scheme of professional training in connection with the Public and High schools. The Review is indebted to Mr. Kenner for the following additional information:—

There will be two main classes of training schools, the Normal School, for the preparation of second class and Public school teachers, and the Faculty of Education, for the preparation of High School assistants and first-class Public school teachers.

In addition to these, a few Model schools of a new type, conveniently situated and efficiently organized, will be established for the preparation of third-class teachers for school sections of the districts and counties whose financial and other conditions may prevent them from securing a higher grade of teacher. The new third-class certificates will correspond to the present professional district certificates, and the Model School Entrance examination to the old Primary of 1892-1898.

The subjects of examination in 1908 for this Model School Entrance examination will be the subjects of the Lower Schools and the High Schools as follows:—Book-keeping and Business Papers, Art, Elementary Science, English Literature, Geography, Spelling, English Composition—Writing, English Grammar, History (British and Canadian), Arithmetic, Mensuration, Algebra and Geometry.

The writing will be judged from the composition answer papers.

The texts for the examination in English literature will be presented by the Education Department from year to year. The geometry for this examination will consist of the practical course prescribed for the Lower School of the High Schools, and of the propositions in euclid as prescribed for district certificates in appendix C. The Elementary Science for this examination will consist of the botany, zoology, physics and chemistry prescribed for the Lower School under the regulations of 1904.

The examination will be held only in such counties and districts, and the professional districts based thereon will be valid only for such schools as each county board may designate and as the Minister of Education may approve.

The three classes of reorganized training schools differ in some important respects from those they will displace. In particular, the Normal School will provide a complete course of academics (non-professional) as well as professional training. As far as is practicable, the Faculties of Education and the Model Schools will make the same provision. In addition, the class examinations and the final and other written examinations will test both the scholarship and the professional competency of those who intend to become teachers.

NORMAL SCHOOLS.

There are additional requirements for entrance into the Normal schools. In addition to the Departmental Examination (outlined in last Tuesday's paper), a candidate for admission to a Normal school will have to pass at the Normal school, in September, immediately before the session opens, an examination in the following subjects of the Lower School of the High Schools, unless he holds a certificate from the principal of an approved High School or Continuation Class that he has completed satisfactorily the course in said subjects:—Reading, writing, spelling, book-keeping and business papers, art, biology, geography, English grammar and arithmetic and mensuration. The biology for this examination will consist of the botany and zoology prescribed for the Lower Schools under the regulations of 1904.

There are no changes of importance as regards the requirements for entrance into the Faculties of Education, the one at Toronto and the other at Kingston, take the place of the Normal College at Hamilton.

The chief changes in the new regulations may be summarized as follows:—

1. The abolition of Model schools except in the districts and financially weak counties.
2. The increase of Normal Schools from 3 to 7.
3. The establishment of two Faculties of Education, the one at Toronto University, and the other at Queen's University, Kingston, to replace the Normal College at Hamilton.
4. The teaching and examination of non-professional, as well as professional subjects, at the Normal Colleges and at the Faculties of Education.
5. A more efficient method of selecting the Boards of Examiners for the different examinations.
6. The dropping of arithmetic, English grammar and geography from the Normal School entrance examination.

Oats Jumped Over 20 cents per Bushel

Memorable Day in History of Winnipeg Grain Exchange

Oats at 80 cents per bushel would seem a dream, yet this was the figure reached on the Winnipeg grain exchange on October 30th. The Winnipeg Free Press says: Wednesday, Oct. 30, will go down in history as the day oats jumped 20 1-2c. Early in the morning it was noticed that there was some big short on the oat market, and prices advanced, not by 1-8 at a time but at a 1c. clip. Heavy sales were made around 71c. and from that up to 74c. and 75c. No sales could be located higher than that, but the market closed strong at 80c. bid. This is the record-breaking oat price. Rumor put the shortage of one firm at 300,000 bushels, and the bidding certainly looked like it. The stringency of money to handle wheat received further confirmation this morning, when November wheat was actually on a parity with October, at the opening, sold within 1-8 of the high point of October, and closed only 1-4 under the cash month, while for December 1-4 higher was asked than for October, and the close on December was 1 1-4 over October, and 1c. over November. To those familiar with the trade, these figures speak for themselves. October and November showed a drop of 1 1-2 and 7-8c. respectively, while May and December advanced 1-4 for December, and 1-2c. for May, over Tuesday's close. Trading in May was active, showing plainly, that it had to be confined to future months.

The American months opened higher, showed a generally more healthy tone, and closed 1 3-4c. for December and 1 3-8 for May, higher in Minneapolis, and 7-8c. for December, 1 1-4c. for May and 3-4 for July higher in Chicago.

Suggestion of Peterboro' Man

How This City Would be on New Short Line to Ottawa

For some time the Toronto World has been discussing the need of a new short railway line between that city and Ottawa.

The honor of suggesting the most feasible and quickest route belongs to Mr. John Green, barrister, of this city, who outlined a route of 196 miles, which is some 60 miles shorter than the C.P.R. road from Toronto to Ottawa.

By adopting Mr. Green's suggestion the G.T.R. would be able to use forty-two miles of line already built in this district and Peterborough would be an important point on the route. The new line would be Toronto to Oshawa, to Millbrook, to Lakefield, and thence to Ottawa. By this scheme a shorter route would also be available for the great tourist traffic to the Kawartha lakes in summer. Visitors from Toronto and the west, would not have to go around via Port Hope, and considerable time and distance would thus be saved. The Toronto World says the distances by the suggested route are as follows,—

	Miles.
Toronto to Oshawa	34
Oshawa to Millbrook	20
Millbrook to Lakefield	22
Lakefield to Ottawa	120
	196

The line would traverse the old mining district of Ontario and the fertile agriculture district beyond. It would prove to be the shortest line to the capital from Toronto, the C.P.R. line being 256 miles.

In addition to placing Peterborough on the main line of the two railways running between this two capitals it would shorten the present distance by G.T.R. from Peterborough to Toronto, cutting west from Millbrook to Oshawa, where it would join the present main line. The existing line between Peterborough and Lakefield could be utilized, but from that town to Ottawa, an entirely new line would be built.

BEER* HELPS DIGESTION

WHAT little alcohol there is in Ontario-brewed beer greatly aids the stomach to digest its food,—ask your own doctor if beer with meals wouldn't be good for you.

Beer increases the flow of gastric juices, and so helps much to cure dyspepsia. The right use of beer tones the whole digestive tract,—makes the system get all the good of food instead of but part of that good.

*BEER is a term which covers lager, ales, porter, and stout; and, in the practice of Ontario brewers, implies beverages made under most hygienic conditions, from Ontario barley (the best in the world) malt, hops, and pure water. 103

Some Notes From St. John's Parish

A parochial letter from St. John's church contains the following of much local interest:—

The Sunday school is now progressing under the energetic superintendency of Mr. A. Poe and a devoted band of teachers. Mr. Heathcote has taken the Men's Bible Class, Mrs. Boucher the Women's and Mr. Devey that for senior boys. The library, under Misses Wilson and Rush has been supplied with some $150 worth of new books from the Nicholls' Estate grant, and is being used—as intended—not only by scholars but also by teachers and others. The classes are now equipped with tables and screens, with great advantage.

Right Rev. Bishop Reeve will administer the Apostolic Rite of Confirmation in St. John's on December 15th. A preparatory class is being held on Fridays at 8 p.m. The Rector will gladly prepare privately any who cannot attend the class. Who in your circle has not yet received this blessing? Cannot you bring them within reach of it?

The King's Daughters can find abundant use for clothing and money. The Rector's Poor Fund has had too slim a balance of late to permit of the usual loans being made.

Rev. Canon Davidson is at home, 64 Hunter street, every morning, and by appointment in evening, and welcomes all callers. No subject too unimportant to discuss. Telephone 211.

Our large and efficient surpliced choir under Mr. R. J. Devey's enthusiastic direction, continues to do its important work faithfully and well and in an excellent spirit of harmony and devotion. The value of the contribution given by the members of the church is impossible to estimate. Their services are given freely and they do not even demand anthems and showy music, but are content to lead the congregation in our simple service.

Fairly liberal offerings have been received through the offertory towards the mission work of the church in the Northwest and abroad, $224 having been handed in towards our apportionment of $290. We hope to get the full amount this year without personal canvas. Our apportionment for the Widows' and Orphans' Fund is $78, only $40 of which has come in thus far.

Handsome Stone Cross Placed In Apex of St. John's Chancel

Was Dedicated on All Saints' Day in Memory of Faithful Clergy Who Served the Parish in Years Gone By—A Loving Tribute to Their Deeds.

A handsome stone cross has been erected and was dedicated on All Saints' Day, at St. John's church in memory of the clergy who have served the parish in the past. The Parochial Letter, issued by the Rector to the members of the congregation refers to it as follows:—

"At this season among all God's saints we remember especially those who in past years have served in the parish and have gone elsewhere, or have departed this life. How many of all ranks and conditions come before the mind's eye. Among these, the clergy of bye-gone years, are thus commemorated by the handsome stone cross which has been placed on the apex of the chancel to their memory. The cross is a gift of the clergy and their friends, two of the donors having died since sending their subscriptions. Those commemorated are: Revs. R. J. C. Taylor, M. Burnham, J. W. R. Beck, V. Clement, P. Clement-Smith, T .B. Angell, C. B. Kenrick, W. M. Loucks and E. V. Stevenson. May a message from the Crucified be given to many passers-by who looked upon this sacred emblem, and may we all be stimulated to tread more bravely and cheerily the hard but beautiful way of the cross."

Rev. Dr. Langfeldt Preached Able Sermon at St. John's

Special Services to Commemorate Twenty Fifth Anniversary of the Opening of the Church—Looking Into the Future.

At St. John's church yesterday, a dedication festival, commemorating the twenty-fifth anniversary of the re-opening of the church, and the seventy-second of its erection, was celebrated by special services. In the morning, parochial, communion with a very large attendance, was partaken of at 8.30 and 11 o'clock, and in the evening Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, of St. Luke's preached a special sermon. There were large congregations at both services, and the occasion was a noteworthy one in the history of the church.

The keynote of Dr. Langfeldt's remarks in the evening, was the need of remembering God's faithfulness to His people, and the sermon was preached from the text, Joshua 23:15. —"Not one thing has failed of all the good things which the Lord your God spake concerning you; all have come to pass on you, and not one thing has failed thereof." In commencing his sermon, Dr. Langfeldt stated that when he had consented to be present at the dedication festival, he had sought to find a text that would do justice to the occasion, and had selected the above passage. There was no one in the congregation, he felt assured, that remembered the erection of the church, but they knew the history of the structure, understood the outstanding factors of the work, knew the men who had been the leaders, and remembered the members of the congregation who had given their talent, and money, and prayers, for the progress of the church and should, therefore, be thankful for what had been done.

Forgetfulness was, in the full, as great a gift as memory on some occasions, and there was no attitude more kind than God's forgetfulness. Life would be almost unendurable, if every memory preserved its bitterness, but it was a gracious law of nature that people forgot their sorrows more than their joys. They should remember more what God has done for them than what they have done for or against Him.

Dr. Langfeldt passed on to speak of God's great faithfulness. If was true that people would sometimes say that they had failures when they had seemed to have a right to expect success and had asked for things that had not been given. People were, however, poor judges of failure, and what was a temporal failure might be an adjunct to eternal success. Then the discipline of failure might have been necessary. Life was a book which could never be understood by reading one of its chapters. Only the promised things are to be dealt with, and faith in God had its foundation only in promises. Going outside of them there might be hope, but not faith. The speaker asked if anyone distinctly promised thing had not come.

In referring to the proofs of God's faithfulness, Rev. Dr. Langfeldt remarked that throughout all the years notwithstanding that the earth was teeming with evil, the greed everywhere, and the dearest relationships of life, disjointed and abused, still the morning had succeeded the evening, the chain of nature had not dropped a link.

Canadians had cause to be thankful in belonging to a country so highly favored of God, with its great natural resources and wealth and its opportunities presented to men of industry and honesty. The crops had filled the farms with plenty. A spirit of peace and contentment filled the land, and no foe molested, while loyalty had never swerved. The hand of God had been on the land. In the church while there were conflicting opinions, there were great tokens for good, and every section of the church was instinct with life and energy. Means of grace had multiplied and the church had made great progress.

Looking into the future the speaker could see Peterborough, the see of a new diocese with St. John's church as its cathedral. One characteristic of God's dealings with people, said the speaker, passing on, has been the system of a beautiful balance, the trial and the strength, the need and the supply, have always been in equipoise. Few had passed through the last year without some sorrow. To some it had come with crushing suddenness, to others it was the wear of continual grief, the daily friction of little troubles. Some had been wounded by man, others had been stricken by the hand of God alone. God's presence, however had been a great reality, and a consolation, and the end of it all was humiliation and heaven, for the speaker remarked that he found it impossible to separate the two.

In conclusion, the speaker once more urged upon his hearers the necessity for believing in the amazing faithfulness of God.

Won High Praise in St. Catharines

Press Pays Tribute to Excellent Vocalism of Miss Davies

Miss Helen Davies, Peterborough's talented soprano vocalist, took part in the annual Y.M.C.A. concert held in St. Paul Street Methodist church, St. Catharines, of which church Rev Dr. Crothers, formerly of Peterborough is pastor, on Wednesday night last.

Referring to Miss Davies, the St. Catharines Standard says;

"Miss Helen Davies, Peterborough, in her solo "Come Unto Me," from Handel's Messiah, charmed the audience. Seldom has the city been visited by a more talented and accomplished singer, and a clearer, richer, and more cultured soprano voice is rarely heard in the Garden City."

The Star Journal remarks;

"The chief contributor to the programme was Miss Helen Davies, a Peterborough young lady of prepossessing appearance, and also the owner of a beautiful, rich soprano voice. Her various numbers were exceedingly difficult pieces, but they were faultlessly rendered and served to bring out the excellent qualities of the gifted singer's voice."

Miss Maud Crothers, formerly of Peterborough, also contributed to the high class programme. The Star Journal has this to say of her work;

"Miss Maud Crothers, violiniste, whom Mayor Riddell remarked was a new star in the musical firmament of St. Catharines, well merited all encomiums that were bestowed upon her. She was an artist of no mean order."

BUSINESS GOOD ON THE RAILWAYS

Busiest Opening of Hunting Season Ever Known

The G.T.R. reports the busiest opening to the hunting season that they have ever experienced. Hunters are as thick as bees, and all headed for the northern forests. Between dogs, guns, camp dunnage and canoes, the railway men are having a hard time of it. Several times during the week an extra box car had to be added to the train, and was filled to overflowing with what would not go in the baggage car. With so many hunters in the woods, a great many deer should be brought home.

At the C.P.R. the officials report a very busy season. Great numbers of hunters are passing through to Robcaygeon every day, and it has been a record breaking season for passengers of this class. On Thanksgiving the traffic was very heavy, great numbers both coming and going.

The C.P.R. station at Janetville has been fully completed for some time now, but no agent has as yet been installed to take charge of it. There are several more smaller stations among the line, in the same condition of affairs.

The Development of Healey Falls; A Visit to Scene of Operations

Some Interesting Information About What is Destined to Soon be the Source of Unlimited Power—Work is Going Ahead Rapidly and Great Enthusiasm Prevails—Party of Havelock Gentlemen Visit the Falls and See for Themselves

Special to the Review.

Havelock, Nov. 4.—A number of the most prominent citizens of Havelock accompanied by Mr. J. A. Culvenwell, of Port Hope, managing director of the Northumberland-Durham Power Co., visiterd Healey Falls on Thursday, Oct. 31st, to inspect that wonderful fall of water which will undoubtedly in the course of a year become known to the whole country for enormous electric power which will be developed. It will also bring into prominence all the towns in South Midland Ontario especially that growing and progressive place called Havelock, which through its importance in connection with the Northumberland-Durham Power Co., and Healey Falls, has been rightly christened "Power Town."

The party consisted of W. Mathison, J.P., large real estate owner, Councillor Jos. Knox, building contractor, W. J. Boyd, branch manager of Sovereign Bank, J. Campney, Councillor J. V. A. Goon, President Havelock Merchant's Retail Association, S. S. Joyce, merchant, and ex-Reeve Wm. Ritchie, C.P.R. engineer, Jas, Watson, merchant, and Mr. J. A. Culverwell, and the writer.

The upper falls situated at Healey Falls bridge, which spans the Trent river were first visited. There is a drop here of about 9 feet. The party then proceeded down the left bank of the river. Here there is an ideal palce for picnics and camping a level strip of land covering several acres dotted here and there with shade trees. To look at this beautiful lawn prepared by nature, one would think it was the work of man. But like the falls itself it seems to have been made for the good of man. It has indeed been utilized to some extent while the falls, over which there flows 100 000 cubit feet of water per minute, has been left untouched. It is like wasting money. It is the same as the earth yielding large crops of grain each year and leaving them untouched, to fall and rot and do no good to the country whatever. The earth was made for the good of man and what is expected of him. It is his duty to place the power given him by nature in such a circumstance as will be of benefit to him and do some good to the country. Why has this not been done at Healey Falls? Because of greedy politicians and grafters who have unfairly opposed the Northumberland-Durham Power Co. in a work which will benefit the whole country. The longer this matter is delayed the more is there that is lost and can never be regained for every time the second hand on a man's watch makes one revolution 100,000 cubit feet of water flows over Healey Falls to no good and so it will continue until the Northumberland-Durham Power Co. have been given a lease of certain parts of the upper rapids at Healey.

All the way between the upper and lower falls there are rapids making a considerable drop in the river. The big falls is situated about 600 yards below and is much larger than the upper. Below this the river keeps continually dropping by rapids for a distance of about 1,000 yards.

The Northumberland-Durham Power Co. at present hold a lease of the big falls and rapids on both sides from the Ontario Government and also a patent of a res of land on the south side of the falls, absolutely necessary for development works. The company also own by deed two portions of the upper Healey rapids and land adjoining. One of these pieces is situated at the bridge on the north side, where there is a fall of 8 feet and the other on the south side of the river about half way between the bridge and lower falls, where there is a drop of 9 feet.

Altogether from the upper falls to the end of the lower rapids, there is a fall of 13 feet, while from the lower rapids as far up as the Ontario Government lease extends there is a fall of 37 feet. Behind this is a reservoir of 14 miles of river, which varies from 100 yards to 1-4 mile in width. There is enough power at Healey Falls and reservoir to supply 14,000 horse power at the dryest time of the year.

After the north side of the falls had been examined and the particulars carefully explained to the party by Mr. Culverwell, the south side of the river was examined. About 2-3 of a mile from the bridge construction operations have been commenced by the company and are making rapid headway. Already twenty men and four teams have been working and a construction house, blacksmith shop, stationary forge and dynamite hut have been erected by the company. A road has been built from the bridge to the construction house, a distance of about 1-2 mile and will be built still further on. Great headway has been made under the management of Mr. Culverwell and the company's civil engineer.

The company are at present constructing two different works. The first one visited was a 4,200 foot headrace which will extend from above the bridge, along the south side of the river on the high tableland a little above the foot of the lower rapids. This will be an open raceway, about 30 feet wide at the bottom and 15 feet deep.

From the point the raceway goes to, there will be two twelve foot steel pipes supported on abutments of cement to carry the water down the hill to the power house. This will cause a drop of 73 feet straight and will give great power.

A good deal of work has been done at this headrace, but of course, it cannot be completed until the Dominion Government settle with the company as to that portion of the upper rapids that is necessary to complete the development. The government should settle this point with the company at once as it is holding the company from completing the headrace. There is no use of the Dominion Government keeping this portion of the upper rapids from the company as it will be of no use to anyone except the company.

The company want to be sure of some headway towards development this fall and for fear through some means or other they did not get the required lease of the upper falls, they have started operations on the development which they will make in that case. A dam is being constructed at the foot of the lower rapids, 37 feet high, which will flood the water up to some five chains above the big falls which is as far up as the Ontario Government lease extends. This is being done to hold the Ontario lease and if completed will make the upper rapids useless to any one. This will be done if the Dominion Government do not settle with the company about the portions required.

The Dominion Government will likely accede to their request when Mr. Culverwell and his associates press for this settlement. The company have the backing of 18 municipalities who wish the government to do so, and they will likely do so as the required rapids are of no use to anyone else. It would be too much like the dog in the manger if they did not.

SOME SPEECHES.

After the work on the 4,200 foot head race and also that on the dam at the lower rapids had been examined, a meeting of the party was held. Mr. Wm. Mathison was appointed chairman and called upon Councillor Jos. Knox for a few words.

Mr. Knox said that when the matter was first proposed he was not in favor of it, but after careful reflection he found out its many good qualities. He said that for many years he had been searching for some inducements to bring factories to Havelock and that electric power was the one thing to do it. He also said that with the opening of the several mines in the vicinity of Havelock, there would be a demand for power to run the machinery and without Healey Falls were developed there would be no place to get it. He concluded that he was strongly in favor of the proposition and would do everything in his power to help the project along.

Bank Manager Boyd said it was a good proposition and was just the thing that was needed to help this part of Ontario along. He was satisfied with the substantial work done but thought there was no use proceeding farther at present in the work until the Dominion Government settled as it might be a waste of money when they did not know which development they were going to make.

The several other gentlemen present also reported themselves as highly pleased with the proposition and were satisfied with the substantial work done, but agreed with Mr. Boyd that it was advisable not to proceed farther at present.

Mr. Culvenwell was next called on and expressed himself as highly pleased with the interest the citizens of Havelock took in the development of Healey Falls. He said that it was just what the country needed for advancement. He also agreed that it would be a waste of money to continue with the lower scheme of development should the Dominion Government allow them to proceed with the whole. But unless they decided at once, the company will proceed with the lower development. The Dominion Government would only do right in giving them the required portions of the upper falls.

The company will give the government land for locks and canal cuttings and also water for lockage. He stated the company's engineers report that the head race they will build will in no way interfere with the canal.

After the meeting the party sat down to a sumptuous dinner at Farmer Pettifer's house. Ample justice was done to the good things provided and toasts to the Northumberland-Durham Power Co. and "Power Town" (Havelock) were proposed and duly honored.

A number of the best citizens of Havelock have since taken a financial interest in the company, in fact "the heather is on fire," in "Power Town."

ENGINEERS' STATEMENT.

The following statemnt of Clarke and Monds, civil engineers, is self-explanatory:—

Healey Falls, Nov. 2, 07.

J. A. Culverwell, Esq.,
Managing director,
The Northumberland-Durham Power Company, Limited,
Port Hope.

Dear Sir,—I hereby certify that construction work for development of power at Healey Falls and rapids has been carried on from Oct. 16th to Nov. 2nd, 1907, and I have personally inspected vouchers of expenditures on the works for wages, plant and material to the amount of one thousand and three 65-100 dollars during that time. Previous to the above dates the amount of six hundred and fifty dollars was spent on engineering surveys, plan and report, thus making a total expenditure on development account to date of one thousand six hundred and fifty-three dollars. The work has been done under my supervision. During the work of construction a force of about twenty men and three or four teams has been employed clearing the site, constructing roads, erecting necessary buildings, excavating earth and blasting out rock. Nearly all the earth stripping has been done for the dam required to develop the thirty-six foot head under lease from the Ontario Government, and a considerable quantity of rock excavated as well. In addition to this a certain amount of work was done in stripping and blasting on the site of the head race required for the development of the complete head of seventy-three feet available at this point.

As engineers of the company we would advise that if possible no further work be done on the development of the smaller head till it is definitely known whether the company will secure the rights from the Dominion Government for these portions intervening between the Ontario Government and the portions of the upper rapids owned by the company and necessary for the development of this seventy-three foot head, as in the latter event any such work done on the lower head will be completely thrown away.

Yours truly,
W. MONDS,
For Clarke & Monds, Civil Engineers.

Special Music at Charlotte St.

Mr. R. N. Jolliffe's Vocalism Heard With Delight by Large Congregations

Large congregations were present at Charlotte Street Church at both services yesterday, especially in the evening, when a number were unable to gain entrance. The music was of a special nature, the choir being assisted by Mr. R. N. Jolliffe of Toronto. In the morning the anthem was "O, that I had wings," by Smieton, Miss Bellegham sang, "O Loving Father," by Teresa Del Rigo, and Mr. Jolliffe in splendid voice rendered, "Have Mercy O Lord," by Mendelssohn.

In the evening a male choir had charge of the singing. There were three spirited choruses given with splendid effect. Mr. Jolliffe sang Kipling's "Recessional," setting by De Koven, and made a deep impression. Mr. Jolliffe's voice is constantly improving, and he is winning for himself a high place in the musical world.

Big Crowds at S. A. Barracks

There were big crowds at all the meetings at the Salvation Army barracks yesterday, and the services were of an unusually interesting nature. Adjutant and Mrs. White of Toronto, were present and the adjutant was in charge of the different meetings. Last night the barracks was crowded and an address by Adjutant White proved helpful and inspiring.

Professionalism in Sport is Strongly Condemned

Rev. H. M. Manning Calls it One of the Curses of the Time—Strong Words Regarding Present Day Athletics in General.

In the course of his sermon in Charlotte Street Church last night, Rev. H. M. Manning denounced present day athletics as one of the curses of the time. Play, which was intended by God to be productive of enjoyment, and a means of healthy recreation, had been taken and commercialized, and professionalized and in many cases brutalized, until it had become actualy a curse.

Mr. Manning's sermon had to do with idolatry. The getting up of gods of gold and silver to be worshipped, no longer existed in what are called Christian countries, but there existed to a great extent another form of idolatry, that of setting up things in the human heart that took the attention away from God. With a great many money was an idol, with others it was pleasure, or dress, and with a large percentage, sports constituted the idol that took them away from God. A person who allowed money, pleasure, dress or sports to have the place in the heart that God should occupy, was guilty of idolatry, as much as the one who worshipped a god fashioned by the hand of man.

Play was natural, said Mr. Manning. This was evidenced by the fact that children play, lambs and other creatures of the field and forest play. God meant play to be an enjoyment-giving, health-producing recreation, but it had been taken by man and commercialized, professionalized, and in many cases brutalized until it had become a curse. Present-day athletics had promoted the betting and gambling and drinking habit, and had proved the ruin of many a young man who otherwise would have been a useful servant of God. The speaker had a poor opinion of the man, who could not get out and play the game for the love of it. The professionalized athlete was a failure in life, and in many cases became a parasite to society. At the present time it was the few who played the game and the multitude who looked on and as a result play did not fulfill the mission for which God intended it. Mr. Manning read an article from the Canadian Courier in which professionalism in sport and present day athletics in general, were strongly condemned.

THE FINANCIAL OUTLOOK

The acute stage of the financial crisis has passed; hysteria has subsided, and the situation now appears well under control. This does not mean that an immediate recovery is to be expected. Recuperation will be slow, and irregular; the causes for the recent collapse being too deep seated and complex to indulge in any false hopes in that respect. It is now fully recognized that the crisis was chiefly due to the exhaustion of floating capital, says Mr. Henry Clews, of New York. Additional sources of weakness were the overextension of credit, the overproduction of securities, the impairment of confidence by corporate mismanagement, and the occasional interference of national and State governments in corporation affairs. Wall Street has now amply discounted all of these drawbacks, having done so in three successive stages, by means of the breaks in March, August and October. In the financial district the situation is gradually righting itself. After liquidation on a tremendous scale, the surest and most natural relief came through gold imports, over $25,000,000 having thus far been engaged. The other form of relief—that of Clearing House certificates—though artificial, was equally efficient. This latter expedient has been resorted to in many of the leading Clearing Houses in different parts of the country, and has done much to restore the equilibrium.; so, too, has Secretary Cortelyou's prudent and liberal action, as well as the generous assistance of our leading bankers.

As we have already said, it would be a mistake to anticipate a prompt recovery in values and business. While Wall street has had its full share of liquidation, the process of readjustment is now passing on, and extending to industrial and commercial affairs. Fortunately the storm struck Wall Street with values already upon a low plane, which greatly mitigated the force of the blow and averted a disastrous panic. Many commodities, however, are upon a high level, and a majority of our industries have until recently been working under full pressure, and the inevitable curtailment of credit means a lessening of their activity. Economy in management will now have to be enforced; many hands will necessarily be discharged, and with the purchasing power of the people thus impaired, the consumption of staple goods will surely decrease. This turn in the tide comes, in many respects, at an opportune time, since there are few markets which are burdened with an oversupply of merchandise. Nevertheless, any material decrease in consumption would soon lead us into a period of overproduction, with its unpleasant consequences, and it is here where lies the point of weakness in the merchandise markets. Lower prices for commodities, however, will bring us to a more normal and healthy situation, stimulate consumption and encourage a fresh, forward movement. Lower prices for wheat and copper, have already greatly stimulated the export of these articles. Cotton has been held back by high prices, but monetary pressure is likely to have the same effect in this as in other markets.

A MEANS TO A GOOD END

The Christian Guardian, the official organ of the Methodist church, discusses the question of the enforcement of the Liquor license laws, and takes the ground that the system is in the public interest, and is completely justified by the results. The Guardian says:—

"Evidently there is a dend-set being made against the special detective method of enforcing the law at present in use under the license department of Ontario. Several newspapers representing the Opposition have told us what they think about it in unmistakable terms, while even a few of the loyal government sheets have given us to understand that they would like to see it done away with, and the good old local inspector plan alone in use. A candidate for legislative honors in the Conservative camp has gone even so far as to tell his constituents that he considered the special inspector an altogether un-British institution, and that he would, if elected, do what he could to have him done away with. So far as we have seen, no complaint is made against these special provincial inspectors on the ground that they are not a success at tripping up the transgressors of the law. This is well, for we note that for the six months ending with July 31, the five or six provincial officers have to their credit 147 convictions, $7,170 in fines, 3 commitments and 4 cases pending, while the whole force of local inspectors for the entire province for the same six months shows only 417 convictions, $14,826 in fines, 7 commitments and 4 cases pending. Is it possible that these same 'whiskey informers" are becoming unpopular because they are doing their work too well? Certainly it seems a legitimate business to attempt to enforce the law against irregular selling, and the men who are doing it in the only way apparently that it can be successfully done ought not to be discredited. It almost looks as if the present clamor against the special-inspector methods had the liquor interests chiefly in mind; certain it is that the doing away with these same inspectors would be considered a grateful act by the liquor party. It is also true that if such were done, the temperance people almost to a man would see in it a weakening on the part of a government that had justly earned their gratitude by its attempt to rigorously and impartially enforce the law. We believe in "whiskey informers," so long as members of "the trade" accept the despicable methods that they do to evade the law".

PEN POINTS

Have you got over the effects of Thanksgiving day turkey?

It is better to get the walking fever than a walking ticket.

Coal has not advanced this month. If the merchants had dared to tack on another quarter there would have been civil war sure.

The adjourned annual meeting of the Young Conservative Club will be held on Thursday night next. The election of officers and other business will come up. Be on hand.

Since the price of drinks is advancing in Peterborough men may become anxious to be admitted to membership of the proposed new W.C.T.U. organization.

This from the Kingston Whig is surely startling; "Music, in the schools, is an inspiration to a happy, youthful life. Dancing would be better for the sake of the exercise it affords and the grace of carriage it promotes."

Why do people destroy the leaves of trees? E. P. Powell, in an American paper says, that having served their purpose in the summer, they drop to fatten the soil. "Fools burn them," said he, "but other fools burn bank notes. It is all the same, the destruction of wealth."

The London Times, which is staid and old-fashioned enough to put little faith in get-rich-quick people, tells us Canadians that we must pull up a bit, and that our banks are better judges of the financial situation than their customers are. The Times is right, of course, but it is very hard to take that sort of medicine.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his War Minister are to be invited, says the Ottawa Journal, to attend the opening of the Gettysburg National Park, so that they may get pointers to help them in fixing up the Plains of Abraham as a national show place. But, as the Bishop of London remarks, the Canadian government has allowed a manufacturer to disfigure the spot where Wolfe died.

Too many automobiles and too many cigars, was the burden of a sermon of Rev. E. C. Cayley, of St. Simon's church, Toronto, on a recent Sunday. "We have become an extravagant and wasteful people," declared Mr. Cayley, and it was time a halt should be called. "It is well for this wastefulness not to continue, for the welfare of our nation, and sometimes the hour of adversity tries and tests him, purifying the metal from dross. It is well to count your mercies, and to think what it would have been had things been just different from what they have been, just not so favorable to you."

The London Lancet, which always delivers its views with the air of an oracle and occasionally makes "discoveries" that are very ancient, has put out a clothing idea. It says that bright-colored fabrics are warmer than dark-colored ones, and they they also put people in better spirits during the dullest months of the year. It advises men to adopt light-colored suits and gay waistcoats. The Windsor Record says the Lancet is simply "working over" a well known fact in elementary physics, namely, that black is a better radiator than white, consequently that black clothing is not good for winter wear, because it promotes loss of bodily heat. Every housewife has observed that her stove is "hotter" after being blackleaded, although she is unable to explain the fact. The women look lovely in summer in spotless white, but in a torrid day they would be more comfortable in colors. White is the proper thing for winter when comfort is in question.

MIX THIS YOURSELF

Easily Prepared at Small Cost and Many Swear by It.

Mix the following, by shaking well in a bottle, and take in teaspoonful doses after meals and at bedtime.

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. A local druggist is the authority that these simple, harmless ingredients can be obtained at nominal cost from any good prescription pharmacy.

The mixture is said to cleanse and strengthen the clogged and inactive Kidneys, overcoming Backache, Bladder weakness and Urinary trouble of all kinds, if taken before the stage of Bright's disease.

Those who have tried this, say it positively overcomes pain in the back, clears the urine of sediment and regulates urination, especially at night, curing even the worst form of bladder weakness.

Every man or woman here, who feels that the kidneys are not strong or acting in a healthy manner should mix this prescription at home, and give it a trial, as it is said to do wonders for many persons.

Another Party Goes Hunting

Left Saturday Night for two Week's Deer Outing

Dr. Amyot, Messrs. Dave Johnson, Gus Corcoran, M. O'Brien, A. Head and Wylie, of this city left Saturday evening for the north country where they will spend the next fortnight in pursuit of the deer. They are all crack huntsmen and are one of the many parties that have for a great many years searched for deer in the back woods of Peterborough county. They always return with their share of venison. Their camp will be in the vicinity of Eagle Lake.

Complaints Should Be Investigated

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—Of late there has been several thefts reported as having been committed in the dressing rooms of the local Y.M.C.A. while the members were in the gymnasium or while away from the rooms. I have been a victim of the thief and would suggest that the authorities look into the matter before the culprits are allowed to proceed farther. I own a locker and the other evening after having just used a new pair of gymnasium shoes once I locked them up. A couple of nights later when I went to get them they were not to be found. I also missed other articles. It is regrettable that such actions should take place at the Y.M.C.A. and the leaders should make an investigation for the benefit of the members and endeavor to locate the guilty ones. Thanking you for your space,
Yours truly,

Departure of Popular Young Resident is Much Regretted

Several Presentations to Mr. M. J. Hutchinson Who Left for Toronto This Morning to Assume His New Duties.

Mr. M. J. Hutchinson who has been city editor of the Examiner for the past four and a half years, left this morning for Toronto to assume the position of associate editor of the "Dry Goods Review," one of the McLean Publishing Company's publications. The respect in which Mr Hutchinson is held by the citizens of Peterborough generally, was evidenced by presentations from numerous bodies with which he was connected, among them the "B.A.C." Club, the Peterborough Press Club, the Examiner Printing Co., and the choir of Charlotte street church. Particulars of the different presentations are given below;

Banqueted by The Press Club

Mr. M. J. Hutchinson Honored by His Associates

At Hooper's Palm Gardens on Saturday night, Mr. M. J. Hutchinson, late city editor of the Examiner, was tendered complimentary banquet by Press Club of the city. Those present included the members of the editorial and business departments of the city papers and several others, who were formerly connected with the "Fourth Estate" in Peterborough. The banquet was a jolly little affair although the speeches during the evening contained a note of deep regret at the departure of Mr. Hutchinson. The president of the Club, Mr F D. Craig, presided, and short speeches were made by Hon. J. R. Stratton, Messrs. F. H. Dobbin, F R. Yokome, G B VanBlaricom, B T Huston, A C. Yokome, Percy Crane, J Hogan, E R Cleary, H Theobald, D B MacRae.

All referred to the splendid work Mr. Hutchinson had done during his connection with the Examiner, of which paper he has been city editor for the past four and a half years, and predicted a bright career for him as editor of the "Dry Goods Review." The toast to the guest of the evening was proposed by Hon. J. R. Stratton, and in his reply, Mr. Hutchinson referred briefly to his connection with the press of Peterborough and his regret that it was necessary for him to terminate the pleasant associations with his fellow workers that had existed during his residence in this city.

An unique address was also presented to Mr. Hutchinson, after it had been read by Mr. F. H. Dobbin and the recipient made a suitable reply.

Mr. Hutchinson's removal from Peterborough is much regretted by the newspaper men of the city, as he was always fair in his dealings with his co-workers, a clever journalist, and a jolly good fellow. They rejoice, however, that he has been promoted, and is entering a wider sphere.

The gathering broke up with "Auld Lang Syne" and the National Anthem.

Handsome Gift From "Examiner"

Mr. Hutchinson Presented With Pair of Gauntlets

The esteem in which Mr. M. J Hutchinson, late city editor of the Examiner, is held by the employees of that concern, was evidenced on Saturday afternoon. At five o'clock Mr. Hutchinson was called into the job office, where all the employees had gathered and after Hon. Mr. Stratton had made a short speech of an appropriate nature, Mr. F. R. Yokome, on behalf of the staff, presented Mr. Hutchinson with a pair of Persian lamb gauntlets. The gift was accompanied by an address, in which reference was made to the valuable services Mr. Hutchinson had given the Examiner, and the loss being sustained by this removal.

Hon. Mr. Stratton paid a high tribute to Mr. Hutchinson's energy and ability and wished him every success in his new position.

Mr. Hutchinson replied suitably, expressing regret that he was leaving the Examiner, and referring to his happy associations with all the members of the concern.

"B.A.C." Club Loses Esteemed Member

Mr. M. J. Hutchinson Presented With Handsome Ring by His Fellow Members

The "B.A.C." Club is losing one of its charter members, and incidentally one of its most valued and enthusiastic ones, in the removal from Peterborough of Mr. M. J. Hutchinson, city editor of the Examiner, who begins his new duties as associate editor of the "Dry Goods Review" the first of the week. At a banquet of the club at Hooper's Palm Gardens Friday night, Mr. Hutchinson was honored by his fellow members, who presented him with a handsome signet ring engraved with the insignia of the club, the letters "B.A.C." The banquet was a jolly little affair, about sixteen kindred spirits sitting down to an excellent and well served repast. After honoring several informal toasts, the toast to the departing brother was proposed by Mr. E. M. Best, who referred to the important part Mr. Hutchinson had taken in the organization of the club, and the enthusiastic interest he had manifested in it ever since. His departure was deeply regretted, but the club wished him every success in his new sphere of labor. The presentation of the ring was made by Mr. Will Warne with a few appropriate words. Mr. Hutchinson replied suitably, expressing hearty thanks for the gift and the honor done him. Dr. J. E. Middleton presided most acceptably. Mr. R. N. Jolliffe and several others made short speeches of an appropriate nature.

Mr. Hutchinson is one of the founders of the now famous "B.A.C." and in his removal to Toronto he does not sever his connection with the club, for a flourishing branch now exists in that city, and to it he will be a valuable acquisition.

The club elected a new president and secretary Friday night. Mr W Richardson and Mr. C. E. Sisson being elected to the respective positions.

After the banquet an adjournment was made to the "Crystal", which Mr. Edwards kindly placed at the disposal of the Club. There Mr. Jolliffe delighted everyone with several splendid vocal selections. In addition to these there were several choruses by "the bunch" and a jolly time generally.

A new member was initiated into the mysterics of the club last night.

Mr. R. N. Jolliffe and Dr. Bagshaw represented the Toronto branch at the gathering.

The Choir Loses Valuable Member

Charlotte St. Vocalists Regret Departure of Mr. Hutchinson

Mr. M. J. Hutchinson, who for the past two years has been a valued member of the choir of Charlotte street church, was presented with a handsome gold-headed umbrella by the members of that organization on Friday night. The presentation was an impromptu affair, and afterwards a social time was spent. The presentation was made by Mr. Chas. Harmer, who, in a few well chosen words, expressed the regret felt by the members of the choir at the departure of Mr. Hutchinson. The recipient made a suitable reply, in which he referred to his pleasant associations with all the members of the choir, and the regret it caused him to have to sever these relations.

Short speeches were made by several members of the choir, all of whom alluded to the loss the choir was sustaining in Mr. Hutchinson's departure for Toronto.

American Flag Had to Come Down

Before Sir William Mulock Would Enter Columbian Hotel, Cobourg

Every town has its "flag incident." Cobourg is the latest and Chief Justice Mulock, the chief character.

The fall assizes had just opened in the town, and the ex-postmaster-general was presiding. On arrival at Cobourg he was met by Sheriff Proctor, a prominent local Liberal, and escorted to the Columbian Hotel, which is owned by J. B. McCall, M. P., for West Northumberland. Sir William was ascending the steps with the sprightliness of youth when he glanced up. He stopped suddenly and his companion looked puzzled. Then, he, too, looked aloft, and something of understanding broke upon him. He was about to speak, but the chief justice forestalled him.

"I will not enter the hotel unless that flag is removed," he asseverated with a wave of his hand towards "Old Glory," which has hung above the portal for years as a tacit invitation to the United States tourist.

And then it was that the fealty of the member of parliament to a former chieftain asserted itself. Orders were given, the flag vanished and the chief justice entered within.

The incident is a lively topic in Cobourg, and the consensus of opinion is that Sir William's loyalty is of properly native kind.—Toronto World.

Feeling Growing Against Autos

Show Utter Disregard of Rights of Others

Toronto, Nov. 3.—"People talk of the days of the 'Cavan Blazers,' when people went round burning down toll gates, which they did not like," said J. J. Preston, M.P.P. for West Durham, this morning, in speaking of the feeling developing in his county against automobiles.

He declared the autos showed an utter disregard for the rights of other people to the use of the roads, and the feeling against them was becoming very strong.

LET'S ALL GO TO CHICAGO

Living Will be Cheap There in the Near Future.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—That the present disturbed financial condition may bring in its wake a general and substantial reduction in the cost of living was the talk yesterday among jobbers, wholesalers, and retailers of meats, eggs and other food products. Some of them expressed the belief that a reduction of ten per cent. in the retail price of meats may be made in a few days. Nearly 1,000,000 cases of eggs are in cold storage in Chicago. For several weeks fresh eggs have sold at 27 cents a dozen retail, and the "cooled" variety at 23 cents.

In South Water street, many dealers were quoting the best creamery butter at 26 cents a pound wholesale. This probably will cause a reduction in the retail prices from 35 cents, to 30 and 31 cents a pound.

The Legislative Assembly of India has adopted a bill designed to prevent seditious gatherings.

ACTOR HAS MANY DOUBLES.

Men Resembling Fugitive Comedian Seen in Many Towns.

New York, Nov. 4.—Persons closely resembling Raymond Hitchcock, fugitive from justice, were seen by the score Saturday in various parts of the country; but with many promising clues these was no definite information as to his whereabouts. The police are anxiously awaiting a reply to the message sent by wireless to the captain of the White Star liner Majestic, which sailed an hour after Hitchcock was last seen here, and upon which there is reason to believe he may have taken passage.

If Hitchcock is on the Majestic he will be placed under arrest and turned over to the police of Scotland Yard as soon as the steamer reaches the other side.

A surprising development Saturday was the reported disappearance of Herman Ranke, who has been Hitchcock's valet, and who has been playing a minor part in "The Yankee Tourist" at the Astor Theatre. He was one of the witnesses summoned to the district attorney's office, in connection with the charges made by little girls against Hitchcock, and, according to the actor, was present at his country home in Great Neck, and also at the house in Forty-First street when two little girls visited those places.

Flora Kabelle, wife of Raymond Hitchcock, continues to play her part at the Astor Theatre. The press agent gave out to the newspapers Saturday night what purported to be an interview with her, in which she declares that she places no credence in the report that her husband has run away with Bella McKenzie, adding that she still believes he is innocent of the charges made against him.

LONDON MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

General Defeat of the Socialist Candidates—Three Women Elected.

London, Nov. 4.—Municipal elections were held on Saturday in England and Wales. They were noteworthy for the almost general defeat of the Socialists and other candidates of advanced views and for an equally pronounced triumph for the Conservatives. Formerly municipal contests here were invariably fought out on political lines, but have been less so in recent years. On this occasion, however, they seem to have reverted to the earlier conditions, mainly owing to the energetic appeal of the Socialists to the electors.

There were probably a thousand Socialist and advanced Labor candidates seeking election in the various constituencies, but only a mere handful were successful, their defeat in most instances, being crushing. The strong organized opposition to the Socialists was probably answerable for a large proportion of the Conservative gains, which completely overwhelm those of the Liberals and all other parties, but the results can also be taken as an indication of the continued dissatisfaction with the present Liberal Government.

Another feature of the campaign was that women were eligible for the first time to seek election in the municipal council. Seventeen entered the field, a majority of whom advocated an advanced program. Only three of them were elected.

Receives Philippine Prince.

Washington, Nov. 4.—Prince San Fulana, a Moro, diminutive, swarthy aged 17, presented himself at the executive offices of the White House Saturday and was received cordially by President Roosevelt.

The prince presented the President with a double-edged kris, which had been in the family of the prince for 230 years and was the property of his father, Damo Ali, who was killed by American soldiers two years ago.

The prince traces his ancestry to Mohammed, 77 generations back.

Promissory Notes Stolen.

Emerson, Man., Nov. 4.—On Wednesday night last the office of George Chester, financial agent of this town, was broken into and the vault, which was not locked, opened and promissory notes to the value of $40,000 stolen. The thief or thieves obtained entrance by means of the back door, where they smashed one of the panels, and so were enabled to reach in and turn the key. The vault had been damaged some time before in a fire, and it was impossible to lock it.

Girl Burned to Death.

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 4.—A little girl named Marjorie Mussen, aged 14 years, was burned to death Saturday.

She was attempting to light a fire with coal oil when the stove exploded and her clothing caught fire. She was terribly burned about the body before neighbors arrived and she died a few hours afterwards in the hospital.

Lynched For Murder.

Mobile, Nov. 4.—Abe Sumroll and Hank Lucas, negroes, were lynched Saturday at Vinegar Bend, Ala., near here. Sumroll murdered Julie Boaz, a young Cuban, last Monday night.

Boaz was trying to arrest Sumroll for burglary. Lucas' crime was the protecting of Sumroll from the police and a posse.

Many Small Shocks.

Shide, Isle of Wight, Nov. 4.—A number of serious small earthquakes were recorded at the observatory Saturday. These shocks evidently represent the settlement of broken strata in some distant country, probably Turkestan.

Pope's Heart Is Weak.

Paris, Nov. 4.—Advices from Rome to The Eclair say that Pope Pius is suffering from an attack of heart trouble. He is very weak, according to the correspondent, and is obliged to take to his bed and abandon all appointments.

Emperor's Birthday.

Tokio, Nov. 4.—Yesterday being the Emperor's birthday, a holiday was universally celebrated.

During the day the usual grand review of troops was held by Field Marshal Oyama, at which the Emperor was present.

The old smallpox hospital on the Westmount Golf Links was destroyed by fire last night.

Will Occupy New Shelter Within Next Few Weeks

Carpenters at Work on House on Hilliard Property Converting it Into a Shelter for the Children's Aid Society.

Carpenters are hard at work at the house on the Hilliard property in the north end of the city, making numerous improvements preparatory to the occupation of the place by the Children's Aid Society. It will be remembered that the city, some time ago, granted the Society the use of the house and a piece of property at the Hilliard farm, to be used as a Shelter, it being impossible to have the building on Charlotte street much longer. Carpenters started work about ten days ago renovating the house and getting it into shape for a Shelter. It is expected that it will be ready for occupancy in about 2 weeks. At present only the eastern portion of the house will be used. The site is considered an ideal one for the purpose required. The children will have more room than at present, and in the summer there will be a garden, and other delights of life in the country. At the present time there are three youngsters in the Shelter on Charlotte street.

The improvements at the house are being done by day labor, under the supervision of Mr. George Cochrane and Mr. Wm. Henry.

Stage News of Interest To Local Theatre Goers

Mr. Dan Simons, the Peterborough comedian who is playing the part of rugby coach in Geo. Ade's greatest comic opera success, "The College Widow," is emphatically making good in the role assigned to him. Mr. Simons numerous friends in this city will be pleased to learn that he is shining conspicuously among a caste of all stars.

Mr. Reuben Fax, formerly of Belleville, who for years was associated with the late J. H. Stoddard in "Beside the Bonnie Brier Bush," playing the part of "Posty," and who was seen here in the leading role in "The Yankee Consul," is gaining a great name for himself in the theatrical centre of America, New York, where he is appearing at the Stuyvesant Theatre, in one of the principal comedy roles in "A Grand Army Man." The leading part is taken by David Warfield of "Music Master," fame. Mr. Fax has been identified with the Belasco forces for some time and his Canadian friends are watching with interest his brilliant stage career.

A tuneful production to appear here this season is Pixley and Luder's "The Burgomaster." The principals in this comedy have both been seen in Peterborough under most favorable auspices. Gus Weinberg, playing the principal male part in "The Burgomaster," appeared in the role of King Bunn in "The Gingerbread Man," when it was presented here a year ago, and was a member of the original cast that produced that piece at the Gayety Theatre, New York. Ruth White, who is Weinberg's co-star in "The Burgomaster," was for some time associated with Oscar L. Figman in "The Tenderfoot," taking the principal feminine role. "The Tenderfoot" was considered one of the daintiest and cleverest musical plays ever seen here, and Miss White was very cordially received. She has written one of the song hits of "The Burgomaster," entitled "There's Only One Street and That's Broadway."

The McQuinn family of this city are appearing in Eastern Ontario in a show of their own managed by the head of the family, Mr. William J. McQuinn. They have had a particularly successful year, playing to big business all along the route.

Mr. Oscar O'Shea and wife of Peterborough, are having a prosperous season with "The King of Tramps." Mr. O'Shea is manager of the company and he and his wife take two of the chief roles.

Harry Lindley is undoubtedly the Methuselah of the stage. The old comedian has been seen here several times, during the long years he has been before the public. He and his daughter are now members of the cast of the H. Wilmot Young Stock Company, having joined that organization in Brockville the other day.

Arthur Deagon of Galt, is portraying the leading character "Happy Johnny Hicks," in "The Time, the Place and the Girl," at the Princess this week. Mr. Deagon appeared here in the principal comedy role, in "Peggy from Paris," two seasons ago, and was particularly happy as "Reginald Hickey." At the conclusion of the opera he was dined at the Peterborough Club, and introduced to several of its members by a friend of his who resides in this city.

Fell Asleep on the Train

And Lady Was Carried a Mile Past Peterboro' Before Awaking

Falling asleep on the train and not hearing the brakeman "Bat" out Peterborough, a lady from a point west of Lindsay, had a rather unpleasant experience on Saturday night. She was on her way to attend the W.C.T.U. convention being held at Cornwall this week, and came from the west on the G. T. R. train which arrives here at nine o'clock p.m. She intended stopping off at Peterborough to spend Sunday with some friends, but she fell asleep on the train and did not awaken until the train was nearly a mile out of the city on its way to Port Hope. When she came out of slumberland, she asked a fellow passenger, where the train was and on being informed that it had passed Peterborough, she at once got after the conductor and had him stop the train. The lady got off and walked back to this city, but this being the first time she had ever been here she had a hard time locating the house of the friend where she was to visit. It was nearly midnight before she arrived there and surprised her friends by calling at such a strange hour.

Entire change of programme three times a week. Open every afternoon and evening.

Change of Programme To-night

Reynolds Will be Here To-night

And Arrange a Wager That He Can Beat Hartley's Time

The Port Hope Guide says; "Mr. James Reynolds will visit Peterborough on Monday and endeavor to arrange a bet of 1 to 2 that he can lower Hartley's record."

Inquiry today elicited the fact that Reynolds will reach Peterborough by the 5.38 train this evening, and will be at the Oriental, where he will be prepared to conduct negotiations.

Mr. George Graham, proprietor of the Oriental, is an old school friend and associate of Reynolds, who will be his guest this evening.

Locals Will Meet Westmount Team

Champions of Eastern Section of O.R.F.U. to Play Here

It is likely that Westmount will play here next Saturday to decide the championship of the senior O. R.F.U. There will only be one game Westmount at Peterborough, the Westmount Club having been admitted to the union on condition that they come west to play the winners of the Western section.

Secretary McDonough of the local club is in communication with Westmount today, and will know tonight when Westmount will be here.

The Peterborough team will practice tonight at 7.15, and every man should be out. The locals now have a splendid chance of winning the championship, and meeting the winners of the Intercollegiate series for Dominion honors.

Port Hope Admits Hartley Did Well

But Thinks That Reynolds Can Lower His Record

The Port Hope Guide says; The Peterborough press are loud in their praise of David Hartley, who recently accomplished the great walking feat. He is deserving of all the nice things said about him, but the Peterborough papers go a little too far when they say he placed Reynolds in the background. Hartley had a much different and shorter route than Reynolds, and it cannot be fairly said that he lowered Reynolds' record. 'Tis true the made a great walk, but there are many in Port Hope willing to wager money that Hartley cannot beat Reynolds' time from Port Hope to Toronto and return.

Walking Fever is Spreading

Two Bank Clerks Take a Fifteen Mile Tramp

Millbrook, Nov. 1. — This walking fever has spread throughout the counties, since Jimmy Reynolds of Port Hope has done his stunt so often and so well. On a wager two of our bank clerks, Messrs. Ronald Dawson and Jack Sandy, walked to Fraserville and back on Saturday evening, a distance of fifteen miles in three hours and ten minutes. Messrs. Fred Haney and Ted Burnham drove over the course with the pedestrians to see that there was no mistake about it. The time allowed for the sprint was four hours but the boys beat that by fifty minutes, and say they can do it in three even.

WALKING.

HARTLEY'S GREAT WALK.

"I think," remarked a well known citizen of the Review today, "that the residents of Peterborough should present David Hartley, the noted long distance walker, with a substantial purse. Surely Peterborough can afford to be as generous to Hartley as Port Hope has been to Reynolds. Hartley outclassed the latter, and has brought distinction to Peterborough by his great performance. He made nothing out of his wonderful accomplishment, but his pluck and energy should be substantially recognized. I would like to see the hero of Thanksgiving Day presented with a liberal purse, and all citizens subscribe towards this worthy fund."

HARTLEY AND REYNOLDS

Today's Globe says;

"Tom Coley will meet all comers in the five-mile race at the Garrison games next Saturday, for the indoor championship, and it is expected that Jimmy Reynolds of Port Hope, and David Hartley of Peterborough, will be given a chance to meet in the one-mile walk."

A one-mile walk between Reynolds and Hartley would not be as interesting as a contest for a longer distance. Neither claims to be above the average as regards speed, endurance being their strong point.

SIMPSON NOT TO RUN SATURDAY

The Toronto News on Saturday, contained an announcement that Tom Coley and Fred Simpson would meet in the five mile indoor race at the Garrison games in Toronto on Saturday night. It was learned here today, that Simpson will not run on Saturday night, as he has not been training for the five miles but for longer distances. The Indian has several long distance events in view and prefers a ten, fifteen or twenty mile grind to shorter distances.

Young Men Charged With Assault On Conductor Appear in Court

Evidence Given by the Conductor and Brakemen But Case Was Not Completed—Events That Led Up to the Fracas.

The three young men, Ed. Donoghue, F. LaPlante and Ed. Pilling who are charged with being disorderly on the Toronto flyer, returning from Lindsay on Thanksgiving night appeared before Magistrate Dumble this morning.

Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared for Pilling and Mr. F. D. Kerr defended Donoghue and LaPlante.

Mr. W. H. Moore conducted the case for the G.T.R.

The charge against the trio this morning was for assaulting Conductor Walter Mercer.

They pleaded not guilty. This morning all the evidence for the prosecution was not taken, and the court adjourned until 2.30 o'clock.

Mr. Walter Mercer, conductor on the G.T.R. between Toronto and Peterborough was the first witness called. He said that the train left Toronto at 7.05 p.m. and was due here at 10.05. A parlor car was attached to the rear of the train. There were about a dozen young men forcing their way into the parlor car. The porter informed them that they would have to pay more if they remained there. The conductor told them to be quiet but did not tell them to leave the car.

The conductor then went through the cars and collected the tickets. As they were approaching Best's station the air signal was given by some passenger. The train does not stop there but the engine driver received the signal and stopped. There was no occasion to do so, as there were no passengers to get on or off. Witness asked the engineer why he stopped, and he replied that he had received the signal to do so. At Tully's bridge the conductor was in the front part of the train counting the number of tickets. The brakeman came in and said those fellows were scrapping again. Going into the car where the fracas was, witness noticed people standing on the seats and watching the scuffle at the end of the car. There was considerable disorder, Pilling was fighting and witness told him to behave himself or he would have him arrested. The conductor held onto him, but Donoghue insisted on him letting Pilling go. They pulled Pilling out of his coat and left it in the conductor's hand. The ladies and children were screaming. There was a lot of bad talk and considerable disorder.

LaPlante and the brakeman were fighting in the corner. The conductor said to LaPlante, "You are another that will be arrested." LaPlante then struck him and gave him two black eyes. On arrival at Peterborough the conductor went to Dr. McCulloch's office, and found the membrane of his nose was broken.

Fred Marshall, brakeman, was the next witness. He said that Pilling and some other fellow were fighting. He tried to quiet them, but was unable to do so. He went fro the conductor. They tried to put down the disorder. Witness said that abusive language was used towards him by LaPlante.

Several other witnesses were called, who were mostly passengers in the car. Being present at the time, they told their story of the fracas.

The Review, in its account of the affair on Friday, stated that the trouble arose out of the refusal of the fellows to pay their fare. From the conductor's evidence, it appears that this was not the case, and the reporter was wrongly informed. In justice to the three, the Review makes this statement.

Many Large Fields of Wheat In West Have Been Left Standing

Grain Was Spoiled by Frost and Not Worth Cutting—Real Estate Not Booming Either in New Provinces—Ald. Leary Returns From His Western Trip

Field after field of wheat, in many parts of Western Canada, is standing, never having been cut, as it is no good. It has been destroyed by the frost. Real estate is at a standstill and this year generally, is a rather poor one for the people of the North west.

Such are the existing conditions out there at the present time, according to Alderman R. H. Leary, who has just returned, after a four weeks' trip to Western Canada, going as far as Edmonton. To one passing through country on a train, the immense tracts of wheat lands appear very fine, and one is impressed with the fact that the wheat harvest has been a bountiful one. But when one drives through the fields and has an opportunity to examine the wheat closely, as Mr. Leary had, he finds there is no grain in the head and what looks so fruitful is only straw and chaff.

After spending a few days in Winnipeg, Ald. Leary went south to Napinka. From Napinka to Estevan, a distance of 120 miles, the crops have never been cut. The grain was frozen. At Weyburn and Yellowgrass, the conditions are better, and at Moosejaw, the crops were very fair. From Portage la Prairie, north to Yorkton and Binscarth, the crops are poor and the farmers have suffered heavy losses Owing to the wheat failure, they cannot meet expenses. They have no money, and there is but little in the country.

At Edmonton Mr. Leary met several old Peterborough boys, including Col. Edwards, Messrs. Jas. A. Fife, Ed. Cox, and several others.

At Edmonton, where there was such a great boom in real estate, all is now practically at a standstill. The city has even stopped selling debentures, and local improvements have ceased. There are said to be 1612 tents in Edmonton, people being unable to get houses. Doctors and other professional men have their offices under canvas.

Mr. Leary will ship no horses West this fall, as there is no sale for them out there, on account of the unfavorable crop returns and the string encyclopedia of the money market.

Esteemed Lady Dropped Dead While Engaged Watering Flowers

Mrs. George Justus, of Bobcaygeon, Sister of Mrs. J. W. Fowler of This City, Passed Away Very Suddenly at Her Home on Friday Last.

While engaged in watering some flowers in an upstairs room, Mrs. George Justus, who resides in Victoria County, a few miles from Bobcaygeon, dropped dead. Heart failure was the cause of death.

A daughter who was down stairs, heard her mother fall, and hastened to her side, but ere any assistance could be rendered the vital spark had taken its flight. The deceased lady was a sister of Mrs. J. W. Fowler, 688 Concession street, Peterborough. A daughter, Miss Effie Justus, was visiting relatives here last week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fowler were present at the funeral, which took place on Sunday afternoon, to Bobcaygeon cemetery, and was largely attended.

The deceased, whose maiden name was Mary Jane Mulligan, was about 65 years of age. She leaves a husband, one son and four daughters to mourn the loss of a fond and affectionate wife and mother.

What makes the present case doubly sad is that only last spring a daughter was afflicted with apoplexy and passed away very suddenly.

Bartender Fined; Had No License

Joe Lavasseur, who has been attending bar at the National Hotel without a license was this afternoon fined ten dollars and costs, amounting to $12.60 to be paid forthwith or thirty days in gaol. Lavasseur pleaded guilty before Magistrate Dumble. His employer will appear tomorrow morning on the charge of employing a man without a license.

Hotel Employer Was Fined To-day

For Employing Bartender Who Has No License

For employing a unlicensed bartender, Mr. J. A. Lawless, of the National hotel, was this morning, in the police court, fined $10 and costs amounting to $13.35, to be paid in ten days.

The defendant pleaded not guilty. Mr. W. H. Moore conducted the case.

Inspector Joseph Stewart was called. He stated that he was the issuer of bartender's licenses. He knew Jos. Levasseur of this city. He had no license to attend bar. He had acted as barkeeper since a week ago last Saturday, at the National Hotel.

P. C. Meharry was then called. He knew Jos. Levasseur. Witness saw him attending bar at the National on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights.

Chief Roszel stated that he had served Jos. Levasseur with a summons on Saturday at the National. He was behind the bar.

Mr. Levasseur went into the box. He went to the National to work for a few days as the regular bartender had left. Witness went to the inspector's office several times, but Mr. Stewart was not there. Levasseur then decided not to get a license as the managership was about to change and he did not know whether he would be retained in the position.

Mr. Regan, manager for Mr. Lawless, said that a week ago Saturday, the regular bartender got sick Mr. Levasseur, the bar porter, was put in his place. Mr. Regan said he told Levasseur to go and get a license. Two or three days later, he learned that Levasseur was unable to find the inspector.

His Worship said that Levasseur had attended bar, and he would have to fine the hotel, imposing a tax of $10 and costs.

Duck Shooters for Rice Lake

Messrs. Harry Neil and J. Hughes, east city, left this afternoon, for Rice Lake, where they will spend three or four days duck shooting. HORSE MARKET AT LOW EBB IN CANADIAN WEST

On Account of Money Stringency —Steam Ploughs are also Supplanting Horses

As all who are interested in the horse situation know, there is practically no sale for horses in this part of the country at the present time. According to Ald. R. M. Leary who has recently returned from an extended trip through western Canada, the horse market out west is even in a more distressed state than it is here, and it is almost impossible to effect a sale or profitable horse deal of any kind in the prairie country.

"It's a very hard matter to sell a horse out there," he said to the Review this morning; "in fact it's almost impossible to give horses away."

MECHANICAL MEANS EMPLOYED

"What is the reason?" he was asked.

"On account of the general money stringency due to the failure of the crops," he replied. "In Manitoba today, better horses for the money can be purchased than those that are purchasable there. The steam ploughs are also taking, to a large extent, the place of horses, and one man operating two steam ploughs at Arcola, Man., told me he received $4 an acre for ploughing, and stated he had ploughed 5,000 acres this year. He has two ploughs, one 12 h.p. and the other 10 h.p. and boards his gang of men, who work in day and night shifts, in a big van, that he takes around with him wherever he goes.

Mr. Leary stated that horses were expected to bring a pretty good price in the spring, especially driving horses and heavy draughts, but said they would not sell as high as they have in former years.

Old Method is Done Away With

"Duplex" Sponging Machine Installed by Richard Hall & Son, Ltd.,

A new "Duplex" sponging machine has recently been added to the equipment of the establishment of Richard Hall & Son, Limited. It has been in operation for about a month, and is giving splendid satisfaction. The machine does away with the old-fashioned way of shrinking dress goods by sprinkling them with water, and then allowing them to dry. The new "sponger" is wide enough to permit an ordinary width of cloth to be run through. As the cloth passes through the machine it is thoroughly steamed and is wound around a roller as it emerges from the smaller rollers through which it has passed. The steam is secured by having the machine attached to a pipe from the furnace, and of course, it can be turned on or off at will. The cloth is thoroughly shrunk by the steaming process, and at the same time, a rich finish is given the goods. After the cloth has been on the roller a few minutes it is thoroughly dry, and is ready for the dressmaker without the soaking and crimping of the old method. If no steam pipe is available to which the machine can be connected, the steam can be secured from a water boiler and gas heater located underneath the rollers through which the cloth passes while being steamed.

The machine is manufactured in Cleveland and is highly satisfactory in every detail. Goods are now sponged while the customer waits.

A "Singer" carpet sewing machine was also added a few months ago and is a great labor saver.

NORWOOD WILL HAVE A TEAM

Mr. R. S. Pearse Says Septette From That Town Will be Strong One

Norwood is sure to have a team in the city league this winter, Mr. R. S. Pearse, of Norwood, who is in the city, says that there is a great deal of enthusiasm over hockey in Norwood, and from present indications the seven from that town will be a particularly strong one. He said they expected to have a team in the eastern burg that would be a worthy one in all departments, and better than any that has ever represented Norwood, not even barring the year when the latter place gave the A.A.A. such a hard run for the championship of the Trent Valley League.

Young People's Guild of Knox Church Listen to Fine Programme

A Scotch evening of much interest was held last night at Knox church, under the auspices of the Young People's Guild. A large number were present and a profitable time was spent, the programme consisting of Burns' readings, songs and a sketch of the great poet's life.

Mr. H. Wilkie, vice-president of the Society, and convenor of the literary committee, occupied the cair. After a few brief remarks by the chairman a song, "Scots Wha hae" was given by Mr. Duncan Campbell, followed by a biographical sketch of the poet's life by Miss Lucy Watt. Mrs. H. J. Keith then delighted those present with a vocal solo, "Bonnie Doone." Another sketch of the poet that proved very interesting, was given by Miss W Anderson. Reading from his works were given by Misses Bell, Buyers, Menzies, M. Thompson and Rev. H. J. Keith.

Mr. J. W. Buyers then sang another of Burns' favorite songs after which a delightful time was brought to a close by the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

Mr. H. A. Thurston, of 228 Vermont St. E., Indianapolis, Restored by Ferrozone.

"A year ago I took the grippe. I was as weak as a child. I was no longer able to eat. My blood was thin. My cheeks were white and hollow. Doctors gave me all kinds of medicine, but none of them brought me strength. My friends said I was wasting away with some slow disease, and I bade them good-bye. Then I heard of the wonderful Ferrozone. After three days it gave me an appetite. I gained strength and became cheerful. Under Ferrozone I improved steadily. I am well to-day. I weigh fifteen pounds heavier than ever before, and feel like a new man.

Fire Causes Destruction at Many Points in Dominion

Invalid Girl Nearly Burned to Death While Asleep.

Baby Brother Played With Matches and Set Bed on Fire—Three Fires at Orillia—Blaze In Lumber Yard—Excelsior Works Burned — Signal Tower Destroyed—New Church In Ruins.

Paris, Nov. 5.—Yesterday morning the invalid daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Ross, aged 17 years, of Paris Junction, was nearly burned to death while asleep, and will likely die.

Her little brother had gotten hold of some matches, and set fire to the curtains upstairs in the room where the young woman lay helpless to even call out an alarm or move from the bed.

The flames spread to the cot and were making fast headway when the mother, aroused by the calls of the little boy, rushed into the room, and with great difficulty and presence of mind succeeded in smothering the fire.

Medical aid was immediately summoned, but could do but little for the suffering child, and no great hopes are held out for her recovery.

The young girl in question has been confined to her bed ever since she was six months old.

Children Played With Fire.

Belleville, Nov. 5.—Mrs. Ben Simpson, of this city, went out into the yard Sunday after a pail of water, leaving her two children, aged 5 and 3, in the kitchen.

When she returned, a few minutes later, the youngest, Mabel, was on fire. She had played with fire in the stove. Her little brother, trying to put the fire out, had thrown a dipper of water on her, but without avail. The little girl died shortly afterwards. The mother is nearly crazed with grief.

Three Fires at Orillia.

Orillia, Nov. 5.—At 4 o'clock yesterday morning, fire gutted the frame dwelling at the foot of Mathcedesh street, occupied by Samuel McPherson. Loss on the building and contents is about $600.

At 5.30 the brigade were called out for a blaze in the Tudhope Carriage Co.'s lumber yard. Spontaneous combustion had ignited a coal-pile, and flames spread to the lumber. The damage was slight.

The World Furnishing Co.'s factory was found to be on fire at 11.30, and at one time it looked as if the whole massive structure would be consumed. The firemen, after a hard fight, were able to confine the fire to the drying-kiln, where it originated probably from becoming over-heated. Loss about $2,500; partially insured.

New Church In Ruins.

Fort William, Nov. 5.—The Catholic Church, in course of erection here, was burned Sunday night. Loss $15,000.

Blaze at Forest.

Forest, Nov. 5.—About 4 o'clock on Sunday morning the Stave and Heading Mill, owned by J. Greenlees and M. Kennedy, Forest and Sutherland and the Innes Co., of Chatham, was discovered in flames.

When the firemen arrived nothing could be done but protect the surrounding buildings. The loss is $6,000, insurance, $3,000; $1,500 in London Mutual, and $1,500 in Economical Berlin. Origin unknown.

Big Fire In Lockport, N.Y.

Lockport, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Fire which broke out in the Olmstead Excelsior works early yesterday resulted in the destruction of that building, the five-storey mills of the Franklin Milling Co. across the street, Hevey's coal trestle in the rear of the Franklin mills, and the New York Central's signal tower. Loss $200,000.

Oakville Unspotted.

Oakville, Nov. 5.—The slight epidemic of smallpox prevalent for the past six weeks has been entirely overcome. here have been no new cases for nearly three weeks; all the suspects under quarantine have been released, and the few remaining patients at the isolation camp are all doing well and having a good time.

The churches were all crowded on Sunday, for the first time in many weeks, and the public schools were re-opened yesterday with a good attendance.

John D. a Foreigner.

Findlay, Ohio, Nov. 5.—Judge Duncan in Common Pleas Court yesterday quashed the summons served upon John D. Rockefeller in Cleveland last summer.

His opinion is that Mr. Rockefeller represents a foreign corporation that is not doing business in Ohio, and that Mr. Rockefeller's visit to this state was purely a personal one.

Japan celebrated yesterday, the birthday of the Emperor.

MAY DIVIDE $4,000,000.

Montreal Men Claim to Be Heirs of Estate In California.

Montreal, Nov. 5.—Four million dollars is a lot of money. Two Montreal men in comparatively humble circumstances hope to divide this sum between them in due time. They are Jules Gagnon of 240 Sanguinet street, and his cousin, Honore Gagnon. Mr. Jules Gagnon himself explained it yesterday.

Eight years ago, in 1899, his cousin Francois Gagnon, an old man of 81 years died in San Luis Obispo, Cal., Francois Gagnon was a wealthy man, and Jules and Honore Gagnon, as his nearest of kin, claim to be his heirs. The old man certainly left no will, and his property ought to be under the administration of his lawyers, with whom Mr. Jules Gagnon is trying to come to an arrangement.

It is now three years since Mr. Gagnon of Sanguinet street heard of the death of his aged relative, with whom, unfortunately, he had not kept in touch. He employed a notary to establish his claim, but made no progress, and now he has written direct to Judge Coffey of San Francisco, asking for definite information regarding the four-million-dollar estate, of which the judge declares himself to be ignorant.

LEFT CORPSE IN STORM.

Farmer Tells Strange Story of Housekeeper's Death.

Woburn, Mass., Nov. 5.—Medical Examiner Harrison S. Blake of this city went to Burlington Sunday to investigate the death of Mrs. Sarah Higgins, aged 60 years, whose body was found at the home of George Stubbs, a farmer, for whom she acted as housekeeper.

Stubbs told the medical examiner that Mrs. Higgins had been missing for several days, and that Saturday night he went into the cellar to get some potatoes, when he stumbled over her body. Not liking the idea of remaining in the house with the body during the night, Stubbs says he opened the bulkhead leading from the cellar and drew the body out into the backyard, where he covered it with some pieces of burlap. There the body remained through Saturday night's storm.

Early Sunday Stubbs went to the home of a constable at Burlington Centre and notified him of the case. Bruises were found on the face and side of the head.

Five Dead In Wreck.

Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 5.—Five persons were killed and a score more injured in a head-on collision between a northbound passenger train and a southbound freight, near Riggins' switch.

LIFE BEHIND THE BARS

Canadian Penitentiaries Make Good Health Resorts.

Report of Minister of Justice Shows Crime Is Not Increasing — Death Rate In Prison Very Low — Jail Is No Benefit to Youthful Prisoner—Numbers Have Increased — Many Total Abstainers.

Ottawa, Nov. 5.—The annual report of the Department of Justice for the last fiscal year issued yesterday shows that the average daily population of the several penitentiaries of the Dominion was 1,433, as compared with 1,407 in 1906, and 1,359 in 1905.

This gradual increase, the report says, corresponds with the increasing population of the country, and is not such as to indicate any alarming advance in criminality. The number of criminals who accompany the rush of immigration is evidently offset, or counter-balanced by the existing facilities for employment at remunerative rates, as illness and consequent poverty are the principal inducements to crime. The ability to earn an honest living is an effective preventive except in the case of wilful criminals only.

The operation of the parole law continues to be satisfactory. The paroles in the nine months ending March 31, 1907, numbered 157, the pardons 29, and the escapes one.

The number of absolutely illiterate convicts is equal to about 17 per cent., while not more than 10 per cent. have had the advantage of a good common school education.

Lads under 20 years of age constitute 11 per cent. of the total, notwithstanding the unsuitability of penitentiaries for immature criminals.

It is safe to assume that not more than one in a thousand of this class are benefited by penitentiary experience.

The percentage of Canadian-born convicts is 61, as compared with 17 per cent. ten years ago.

Fourteen per cent. of the penitentiary population are classed as total abstainers, 44 per cent. as temperate and 42 per cent. as intemperate.

ARM TORN FROM BODY.

Fatal Accident In Knife Works at St. Catharines.

St. Catharines, Nov. 5.—A fatal accident occurred yesterday at Whitman & Barnes knife works, the victim being Edward Liptrott, millwright, who had been in the employ of the company but a few weeks. Deceased was engaged on a machine, and his clothing became caught on the shafting. One arm was torn from the body, death resulting almost instantly. Liptrott was born in England, but had been in America for years, having come to St. Catharines from Buffalo in May last, and having worked for some time at the Packard electric works before going to the knife factory.

TORONTO MAN ARRESTED.

Police Say He Was Introducing a Canadian Lottery.

Cincinnati, Nov. 5.—Herman Croll, who claims that his home is in Toronto, Ont., was heavily fined here on a charge of obtaining money under false pretences. The police say he was introducing a Canadian lottery here. He sold tickets got up in the form of a bond. The headquarters of the company are in Montreal, and it is known as the Montreal Bond Co.

Croll, it is said, did a lucrative business in Cincinnati and surrounding towns. Croll maintains that his business is perfectly legitimate, and that the Bond Co. will do all it agrees to do.

BIG TORY GAINS.

Municipal Elections Throughout England Result In Sweep.

London, Nov. 5.—The complete results from the municipal elections held in England and Wales last week augment the already enormous Conservative gains and emphasize the defeat of the Socialists. The returns from 145 boroughs show the following gains.

Conservatives 125, Liberals 21, Laborites 22, Socialists 4, and Independents 4.

Record of Criminals.

Ottawa, Nov. 5.—The Chief Constables' Association decided to make W. P. Archibald's office a headquarters of criminal records, so that these may readily be obtained by the Department of Justice when applications for pardons are received.

It is claimed that counsel for prisoners frequently obtain pardons for their clients by misrepresentations.

May Lose Right Eye.

St. Catharines, Nov. 5.—Two 13-year-old boys, one of them St. Clair Wright, son of Baker Wright, were playing with a toy pistol. The weapon refused to discharge and young Wright looked into the barrel to find out what was wrong. The blank cartridge in exploding damaged the boy's right eye to such an extent that the sight can hardly be saved.

Paper Mills Close.

Bangor, Me., Nov. 5.—Notices posted in the mills of the Great Northern Paper Co. at Millinocket announce that the mills will be closed for an indefinite time, as the result of the demands made by the machine-tenders for international brotherhood.

About 1,500 men are idle on account of the shut-down.

Huntsville, Ala., Nov. 5.—James E. Boyd, cashier of the Huntsville Bank & Trust Co., committed suicide yesterday.

Samarkand, the capital of Turkestan, was shaken by a violent earthquake, yesterday, but no violent damage is reported.

FEAR ATTACK ON KAISER.

Socialists Declare They Will Make an Hostile Demonstration.

London Nov. 5.—The coming visit of the German Emperor and Empress to this city is the cause of apprehension, for a section of the English Socialists have declared their intention of making hostile demonstrations along the line of the procession from Paddington station to the Guildhall.

The police having been forewarned, will make every effort to prevent the carrying out of their intentions, but it may prove a matter of some difficulty.

The general public may, however, be relied upon to give the grandson of Queen Victoria a hearty welcome.

The Anarchists are never active in England, but to make it doubly sure the Soho quarter of the city, their refuge in England, is being closely watched by English and foreign detectives, and the whereabouts of all dangerous persons is already known to Scotland Yard and their movements will be followed.

As is the usual course on the arrival of foreign sovereigns, the Emperor and Empress will land at Portsmouth, where they will be welcomed by the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Connaught. The approach to the landing stage will be through lines of British men-of-war, Admiral Lord Charles Beresford having been ordered to take the Channel fleet to Spithead to greet them.

MAIL CLERK'S ESCAPE.

Collision Near Bracebridge Attended With Exciting Incident.

Bracebridge, Nov. 5.—A short siding at Falkenburg, five miles north of this place, caused the Soo express to crash into a freight train. The engines of both trains, a mail car and a freight car, were completely wrecked and while no one was badly hurt, Thomas Mason, mail clerk, of Toronto, had a narrow escape. The mail car was lifted right on to the top of the engine and Mason went through the floor.

The car was lighted by gas contained in a tank under the car. When the smash came he was pinned by this tank to the side wall. Shortly the tank fell away and freed him. The escaping gas nearly suffocated him. The tender was driven right into the mail car, and the boiler on top of that. He clambered around until he got his head out and breathed fresh air and afterwards groped around until he was able to get outside.

MANY LIVES LOST IN A GALE.

Three Newfoundland Fishing Schooners Are Missing.

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 5.—It is feared that many lives were lost in the last heavy gale. Three Newfoundland fishing schooners are missing and four French vessels belonging to the St. Pierre banking fleet have not reported. Wreckage washed ashore on the southern coast of Newfoundland indicates that the schooner Orion was lost.

She carried a crew of 18 men, all of whom are missing. The Orion was on her way home from a fishing trip on the grand banks and she encountered the storm ten days ago.

The Prisoner of Zenda

By... ANTHONY HOPE

Copyrighted, 1894, 1898, by Henry Holt & Company

"Before a lady," said he, pointing to the girl. "Fie, your majesty!"

Then in my rage, hardly knowing what I did, I rushed at him. For a moment he seemed to waver. Then he reined his horse in and stood waiting for me. On I went in my folly. I seized the bridle, and I struck at him. He parried and thrust at me. I fell back a pace and rushed in at him again, and this time I reached his face and laid his cheek open and darted back before he could strike me. He seemed almost dazed at the fierceness of my attack; otherwise I think he must have killed me. I sank on my knee, panting, expecting him to ride at me. And so he would have done, and then and there, I doubt not, one or both of us would have died, but at the moment there came a shout from behind us, and, looking round, I saw just at the turn of the avenue a man on a horse. He was riding hard, and he carried a revolver in his hand. It was Fritz von Tarlenheim, my faithful friend. Rupert saw him and knew that the game was up. He checked his rush at me and flung his leg over the saddle, but yet for just a moment he waited. Leaning forward, he tossed his hair off his forehead and smiled and said:

"Au revoir, Rudolf Rassendyll!"

Then, with his cheek streaming blood, but his lips laughing and his body swaying with ease and grace, he bowed to me, and he bowed to the farm girl, who had drawn near in trembling fascination, and he waved his hand to Fritz, who was just within range, and let fly a shot at him. The ball came nigh doing its work, for it struck the sword he held, and he dropped the sword with an oath, wringing his fingers, and clapped his heels hard in his horse's belly and rode away at a gallop.

"Au revoir, Rudolf Rassendyll!"

And I watched him go down the long avenue, riding as though he rode for his pleasure and singing as he went, for all there was that gash in his cheek.

Once again he turned to wave his hand, and then the gloom of the thickets swallowed him, and he was lost from our sight. Thus he vanished—reckless and wary, graceful and graceless, handsome, debonair, vile and unconquered. And I flung my sword passionately on the ground and cried to Fritz to ride after him, but Fritz stopped his horse and leaped down and ran to me and knelt, putting his arm about me. And, indeed, it was time, for the wound that Detchard had given me was broken forth afresh, and my blood was staining the ground.

"Then give me the horse!" I cried, staggering to my feet and throwing his arms off me. And the strength of my rage carried me so far as where the horse stood, and then I fell prone beside it. And Fritz knelt by me again, "Fritz" I said,

"Aye, friend—dear friend!" said he, tender as a woman.

"Is the king alive?"

He took his handkerchief and wiped my lips and bent and kissed me on the forehead.

"Thanks to the most gallant gentleman that lives," said he softly, "the king is alive!"

The little farm girl stood by us, weeping for fright and wide eyed for wonder, for she had seen me at Zenda, and was not I, pallid, dripping, foul and bloody as I was—yet was not I the king?

And when I heard that the king was alive I strove to cry "Hurrah!" but I could not speak, and I laid my head back in Fritz's arms and closed my eyes, and I groaned, and then, lest Fritz should do me wrong in his thoughts, I opened my eyes and tried to say "Hurrah!" again, but I could not, and, being very tired and now very cold, I huddled myself close up to Fritz to get the warmth of him and shut my eyes again and went to sleep.

CHAPTER XX.

IN order to a full understanding of what had occurred in the castle of Zenda it is necessary to supplement my account of what I myself saw and did on that night by relating briefly what I afterward learned from Fritz and from Mme. de Mauban. The story told by the latter explained clearly how it happened that the cry which I had arranged as a stratagem and a sham had come in dreadful reality before its time and had thus, as it seemed at the moment, ruined our hopes, while in the end it had favored them. The unhappy woman, fired, I believe, by a genuine attachment to the Duke of Strelsau, no less than by the dazzling prospects which a dominion over him opened before her eyes, had followed him at his request from Paris to Ruritania. He was a man of strong passions, but of stronger will, and his cool head ruled both. He was content to take all and give nothing. When she arrived she was not long in finding that she had a rival in the Princess Flavia. Rendered desperate, she stood at nothing which might give or keep for her her power over the duke. As I say, he took and gave not. Simultaneously Antoinette found herself entangled in his audacious schemes. Unwilling to abandon him, bound to him by the chains of shame and hope, she yet would not be a decoy nor at his bidding lure me to death; hence the letters of warning she had written. Whether the lines she sent to Flavia were inspired by good or bad feeling, by jealousy or by pity, I do not know, but here also she served us well. When the duke went to Zenda she accompanied him, and here for the first time she learned the full measure of his cruelty and was touched with compassion for the unfortunate king. From this time she was with us, yet from what she told me I know that she still (as women will) loved Michael and trusted to gain his life, if not his pardon, from the king as the reward for her assistance. His triumph she did not desire, for she loathed his crime and loathed yet more fiercely what would be the prize of it—his marriage with his cousin, Princess Flavia.

At Zenda a new force came into play, the daring of young Rupert. He was caught by her beauty, perhaps. Perhaps it was enough for him that she belonged to another man and that she hated him. For many days there had been quarrels and ill will between him and the duke, and the scene which I had witnessed in the duke's room was but one of many. Rupert's proposals to me, of which she had of course been ignorant, in no way surprised her when I related them. She had herself warned Michael against Rupert even when she was calling on me to deliver her from both of them. On this night, then, Rupert when she had gone to her room, having furnished himself with a key to it, made his entrance. Her cries had brought the duke, and there in the dark room while she screamed the men had fought, and Rupert, having wounded his master with a mortal blow, had on the servants rushing in escaped through the window, as I have described. The duke's blood, spurting out, had stained his opponent's shirt; but Rupert, not knowing that he had dealt Michael his death, was eager to finish the encounter. How he meant to deal with the other three of the band I know not. I dare say he did not think, for the killing of Michael was not premeditated. Antoinette, left alone with the duke, had tried to stanch his wound, and thus was she busied till he died, and then, hearing Rupert's taunts, she had come forth to avenge him. Me she had not seen, nor did she till I darted out of my ambush and leaped after Rupert into the moat.

The same moment found my friends on the scene. They had reached the chateau in due time and waited ready by the door. But Johann, swept with the rest to the rescue of the duke, did not open it—nay, he took a part against Rupert, putting himself forward more bravely than any in his anxiety to avert suspicion, and he had received a wound, in the embrasure of the window. Till nearly half past 2 Sapt waited; then, following my orders, he had sent Fritz to search the banks of the moat. I was not there. Hastening back, Fritz told Sapt, and Sapt was for following orders still and riding at full speed back to Tarlenheim, while Fritz would not hear of abandoning me, let me have ordered what I would. On this they disputed some few minutes; then Sapt, persuaded by Fritz, detached a party under Bernenstein to gallop back to Tarlenheim and bring up the marshal, while the rest fell to on the great door of the chateau. For near fifteen minutes it resisted them; then, just as Antoinette de Mauban fired at Rupert Hentzau on the bridge, they broke in, eight of them in all, and the first door they came to was the door of Michael's room, and Michael lay dead across the threshold, with a sword thrust through his breast. Sapt cried out at his death, as I had heard, and they rushed on the servants, but these in fear dropped their weapons, and Antoinette flung herself weeping at Sapt's feet. And all she cried was that I had been at the end of the bridge and had leaped off. "What of the prisoner?" asked Sapt, but she shook her head. Then Sapt and Fritz, with the gentlemen behind them, crossed the bridge, slowly, warily and without noise, and Fritz stumbled over the body of De Gautet in the way of the door. They felt him and found him dead.

Then they consulted, listening eagerly for any sound from the cells below, but there came none, and they were greatly afraid that the king's guards had killed him and, having pushed his body through the great pipe, had escaped the same way themselves. Yet because I had been seen here they had still some hope (thus, indeed, Fritz in his friendship told me), and, going back to Michael's body, pushing aside Antoinette, who prayed by it, they found a key to the door which I had locked and opened the door. The staircase was dark, and they would not use a torch at first lest they should be the more exposed to fire, but soon Fritz cried: "The door down there is open! See, there is light!" So they went on boldly and found none to oppose them. And when they came to the outer room and saw the Belgian, Bersonin, lying dead they thanked God, Sapt saying, "Aye, he has been here." Then, rushing into the king's cell, they found Detchard lying dead across the dead physician and the king on his back, with his chair by him. And Fritz cried, "He's dead!" and Sapt drove all out of the room except Fritz and knelt down by the king, and, having learned more of wounds and the signs of death than I, he soon knew that the king was not dead nor if properly attended would die. And they covered his face and carried him to Duke Michael's room and laid him there, and Antoinette rose from praying by the body of the duke and went to bathe the king's head and dress his wounds till a doctor came. And Sapt, seeing I had been there and having heard Antoinette's story, sent Fritz to search the moat and then the forest. He dared send no one else. And Fritz found my horse and feared the worst. Then, as I have told, he found me, guided by the shout with which I had called on Rupert to stop and face me. And I think a man has never been more glad to find his own brother alive than was Fritz to come on me, so that in love and anxiety for me he thought nothing of a thing so great as would have been the death of Rupert Hentzau. Yet had Fritz killed him I should have grudged it.

The enterprise of the king's rescue being thus prosperously concluded, it lay on Colonel Sapt to secure secrecy as to the king ever having been in need of rescue. Antoinette de Mauban and Johann, the keeper (who, indeed, was too much hurt to be wagging his tongue just now), were sworn to reveal nothing, and Fritz went forth to find not the king, but the unnamed friend of the king, who had lain in Zenda and flashed for a moment before the dazed eyes of Duke Michael's servants on the drawbridge. The metamorphosis had happened, and the king, wounded almost to death by the attacks of the jailers who guarded his friend, had at last overcome them and rested now, wounded, but alive, in Black Michael's own room in the castle. There he had been carried, his face covered with a cloak, from the cell, and thence orders issued that if his friend were found he should be brought directly and privately to the king and that meanwhile messengers should ride at full speed to Tarlenheim to tell Marshal Strakencz to assure the princess of the king's safety and to come himself with all speed to greet the king. The princess was enjoined to remain at Tarlenheim and there await her cousin's coming or his further injunctions. Thus the king would come to his own again, having wrought brave deeds and escaped almost by a miracle the treacherous assault of his unnatural brother.

This ingenious arrangement of my long headed old friend prospered in every way save where it encountered a force that often defeats the most cunning schemes. I mean nothing else than the pleasure of a woman, for, let her cousin and sovereign send what command he chose (or Colonel Sapt chose for him), and let Marshal Strakencz insist as he would, the Princess Flavia was in no way minded to rest at Tarlenheim while her lover lay wounded at Zenda, and when the marshal, with a small suit, rode forth from Tarlenheim on the way to Zenda the princess' carriage followed immediately behind, and in this order they passed through the town, where the report was already rife that the king, going the night before to remonstrate with his brother in all friendliness for that he held one of the king's friends in confinement in the castle, had been most traitorously set upon, that there had been a desperate conflict, that the duke was slain, with several of his gentlemen, and that the king, wounded as he was, had seized and held the castle of Zenda. All of which talk made, as may be supposed, a mighty excitement, and the wires were set in motion, and the tidings came to Streisau only just after orders had been sent thither to parade the troops and overawe the dissatisfied quarters of the town with a display of force.

Thus the Princess Flavia came to Zenda. And as she drove up the hill, with the marshal riding by the wheel and still imploring her to return in obedience to the king's orders, Fritz von Tarlenheim, with the prisoner of Zenda, came to the edge of the forest. I had revived from my swoon and walked, resting on Fritz's arm, and, looking out from the cover of the trees, I saw the princess. Suddenly understanding from a glance at my companion's face that we must not meet her, I sank on my knees behind a clump of bushes. But there was one whom we had forgotten, but who followed us and was not disposed to let slip the chance of earning a smile and maybe a crown or two, and while we lay hidden the little farm girl came by us and ran to the princess, courtesying and crying:

"Madame, the king is here—in the bushes. May I guide you to him, madame?"

"Nonsense, child!" said old Strakencz. "The king lies wounded in the castle."

"Yes, sir, he's wounded, I know, but he's there, with Count Fritz, and not at the castle," she persisted.

"Is he in two places, or are there two kings?" asked Flavia, bewildered. "And how should he be here?"

"He pursued a gentleman, madame, and they fought till Count Fritz came, and the other gentleman took my father's horse from me and rode away. But the king is here with Count Fritz. Why, madame, is there another man in Ruritania like the king?"

"No, my child," said Flavia softly (I was told it afterward), and she smiled and gave the girl money. "I will go and see this gentleman," and she rose to alight from the carriage.

But at this moment Sapt came riding from the castle and, seeing the princess, made the best of a bad job and cried to her that the king was well tended and in no danger

"In the castle?" she asked.

"Where else, madame?" said he, bowing.

"But this girl says he is yonder—with Count Fritz."

Sapt turned his eyes on the child with an incredulous smile.

"Every fine gentleman is a king to such," said he.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Nov. 4.—(Special.)—Exports for October were 13,330 cattle, 3396 sheep, making the total for the season to date 85,311 cattle and 7351 sheep, as compared with 111,972 cattle and 9391 sheep for the corresponding period last year.

At the Montreal Stocks Yards' West End Market the receipts of live stock for the week ending Nov. 2 were 4145 cattle, 3940 sheep and lambs, 2 hogs and 790 calves. Supplies for the local market today consisted of 1600 cattle, 2000 sheep and lambs, 2200 hogs and 300 calves.

Choice beeves were quoted at 4¾c, while good stock sold at 4¼c to 4½c; fair at 3½c to 4c; common at 2½c to 3c, and canners at 1½c to 1¾c per lb.

An easier feeling has developed in the market for sheep, and prices since this day week have declined 15c to 25c per 100 lbs., which has been due to the weaker cable advices and the fact that supplies are coming forward more freely. At the above reduction the demand for export account was fair, and sales were made at 4¼c per lb., but the trade in butchers' sheep was slow at 3½c to 3¾c, and holders of culls are finding it difficult to make sales, even at 3c per lb., as a lot of them have now been on the market for the past two weeks without meeting with a buyer, which to some extent is due to the tight money situation. The tone of the market for lambs was also easier, and prices were ½c per lb. lower than a week ago, on account of the more liberal supplies; the demand was good, and an active trade was done at 5½c to 6c per lb.

A good trade was done in calves, and, as supplies were not in excess of the requirements, prices show no change. Choice stock sold at $12 to $15; good at $8 to $10; fair at $6 to $7, and common at $3 to $4 each. The condition of the market for hogs continues weak, and prices since last Wednesday have scored another decline of 5c to 15c per 100 lbs., which is due principally to the large receipts, there being over 5000 head received last week, and the offerings this morning were over 2000. The demand was fairly good, and sales of selected lots were made at $6.25 to $6.35 per 100 lbs., weighed off cars.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

SWINDLED YOUNG MEN

Hundreds of Young Immigrants Victimized by Impudent Fraud.

Operations of Frederick Spate at Montreal—Started Bogus Building Society—Advertised for Collectors and Required Cash as Security—Skipped to Watertown, N. Y., With About $50,000—Jumped His Bail.

Montreal, Nov. 4.—The operations of Oscar Frederick Spate, who was chased Saturday night by the police from Montreal to Watertown, N. Y., were unearthed on Sunday morning, when hundreds of young Englishmen, who had been victimized by him, swarmed into Chief Detective Carpenter's office and told their tale of woe.

Spate operated in Montreal under the name of Frederick Sterling. He fitted up handsome offices in the Ottawa Bank building, St. James street, and started what he called the Dominion Building Society. He had also a dozen or more side lines. It is thought that he must have carried away about $50,000 belonging to men who could ill-afford to hand over their hard-earned savings.

Spate's plan was to advertise extensively for young men to act as collectors for the Dominion Building Society. Upon application the young men would have to put up a cash guarantee of from $300 to $500 each, and if they proved satisfactory they would be paid from $15 to $20 a week. With the money his collectors put up he skipped.

Spate was arrested a few days ago on a charge of fraud and Saturday night jumped his bail. He has been traced to Watertown, N. Y., and the police feel sure of securing him.

Dear Sir,—I have much pleasure in acknowledging the receipt of the cheque for $1,244, being the amount paid me on the maturity of my endowment policy, 35890, in your Company which matured on the 1st inst.

I find I have received almost 4 per cent. compound interest on every dollar paid in to the Company, and in addition have had free insurance for the past fifteen years.

Such a result speaks volumes for the management of your company and far exceeds my expectations and I would be ungrateful indeed were I not to acknowledge it.

I was also offered a paid-up policy of $2,078, or an annuity for life of $111.55, both of which I consider excellent.

I thank you very much indeed and wish your company the continued success and confidence it so richly deserves.

Yours very truly,

(Signed) REV. H. C. GARBUTT

Two Large Signs Adorn Gas Holders

Had to Fight for His Country

Police Magistrate Allowed Patrick Corsey to Depart

Patrick Corsey, who was charged with being drunk and disorderly yesterday, appeared in police court again this morning, the case having been enlarged. The Englishman who struck Corsey could not be found and will have to go unpunished. Two witnesses were heard for the defence. Both swore that the trouble arose out of the fact that Corsey was a Canadian.

"Pat was not drunk, nor he didn't swear," said one witness, "but he had to fight for his country." He couldn't 'lick' them all and he got the worst of it." When one witness was asked what nationality were Corsey's assailants, he replied, "there are so many people here now, you can't tell whether they are Jews, Italians or Englishmen."

"You can go free this time," said His Worship to Corsey.

"Well what am I going to do your Honor?", asked Corsey. "My work calls me out late at night, and the first thing I'll be getting my head knocked off."

"Come to police court with your troubles," and we'll fix them," replied the magistrate, and Corsey walked away.

GOES TO NORTH SEQUIN FRIDAY

Mr. R. A. Elliott Will Join Members of Hunting Party Already There

Mr. R. A. Elliott, the local real estate man, does not confine himself to hunting for bargains in houses and other properties, but also is an enthusiast in the pursuit of the shy and elusive deer. Next Friday he leaves for North Sequin Point, about six miles north of Sequin Falls, where he will join the other members of the party already there, Messrs. Frank Turner, Cobourg; Geo. Montgomery, Cobourg; Rev. J. H. Teney, Omemee, and H. Barnard, Hamilton. Mr. Elliott will remain at North Sequin for a week when the party breaks up. Those who are there already have been there since the opening of the season. The hunters board with a settler who acts in the dual capacity of host and guide.

Last year Mr. Elliott was very fortunate when on his deer hunting expedition at North Sequin, bringing one of the finest bucks secured in that part of the country, the head of which he had mounted by a local taxidermist. He will do his best to repeat the trick this fall, but like all nimrods will have to have the luck before he can show his skill.

Big Celebration to be Held Here on Dominion Day, 1908

Sons of England Already Preparing an Attractive Programme—Some of the Features of the Demonstration—S.O.E. Lodges Within Radius of 100 Miles Will Take Part.

Lansdowne Lodge, No. 25, Sons of England B. S., held a most successful meeting last evening, initiated one candidate, and received six applications for admission into the order.

After the meeting the Demonstration Committee met and organized, and received a report from the Grounds Sub-Committee, who had secured the grounds for the demonstration which will take place on July 1st, 1908.

The officers elected are E. W. Elcome, chairman; R. Waram, vice-chairman; Wilfrid Shiner, secretary, and C. Wood, treasurer.

It is the intention of Lansdowne Lodge to enlist the support of the members of Sons of England, for one hundred miles around Peterborough and secure the biggest crowd that has been suggested at Port Hope. Hartley is also willing to go to Toronto on Saturday night, to meet Reynolds in the one-mile walk at the Garrison Games.

To demonstrate to any doubting Thomases that his record was made fairly and squarely, Hartley is willing to take the trip again any time, to prove that he made the time honestly.

It is proposed to hold a big athletic event in the morning, reception of visitors, and excursions. Games in the afternoon, a good programme of sports, dancing, open air concert, and probably wind up with a grand display of fireworks.

The public will be taken further into the confidence of the committee, as arrangements progress.

A Publicity Committee has been appointed to keep the public thoroughly informed. One thing is assured the citizens of Peterborough for 1908, and that is a big demonstration, worthy of the city on July 1st next.

Did Mr. Andrew Voss Meet With Foul Play in Toronto?

Former Peterborough Musician in Semi-Conscious Condition in St. Michael's Hospital—Was Apparently Robbed of All the Money He Had With Him—Sister Thinks He Was Victim of an Assault.

A Toronto paper has the following concerning Mr. "Andy" Voss, who for a couple of seasons was solo cornetist with the 57th Regiment band, leaving that organization about five years ago. He was later identified with the Kilties, of Belleville, accompanying them on their tour to the Old Country. Mr. Voss, who is a brilliant cornetist, is well known here and has been heard in solo work in this city. He is a member of the 48th Highlanders' band in Toronto, and also plays in the orchestra in connection with one of the Toronto theatres. The despatch reads:—

The condition of Andrew Voss, of 292 Arthur street, who was supposed to have been hurt by a fall in front of the City Hall about 12.30 on Thanksgiving night, and who was taken to St. Michael's Hospital, has not improved.

He gained partial consciousness for the first time yesterday. Voss has been unable to give a clear account of his accident, and it is feared that he met with foul play, and his sister, Mrs. John Charters, of 133 Ossington Avenue, is under the impression that he was assaulted and robbed.

Voss is a member of the 48th band and also plays in a theatre orchestra. He is not, according to his sister, a drinking man.

When he left his home at the usual time on Thanksgiving night to play at the theatre he was supposed to have had between $30 and $50 on him but when he arrived at the hospital he had not a cent in his pockets.

Voss told Mrs. Charter that he was about to board a west bound Queen street car at the corner of Bay and Queen streets when his attention was attracted by a group of Highlanders who had returned from the sham fight in Dundas. One was demanding an apology from another which the second man refused to give.

"Never mind," sid Voss, 'I'll apologize for you." The first man, it is alleged by Mrs. Charters, struck Voss on the head. Voss fell to the ground, unconscious. A passing cab was hailed and Voss removed to the hospital. The men who accompanied them did not leave their names and the hospital authorities said that the cabman was left unpaid.

Mrs. Charters said to The Star that two policemen witnessed the proceedings, but did not interfere. Her husband discovered yesterday that the police are in possession of two names, but they are not certain that they are the correct ones.

Voss has been removed to a private ward and is still in a dazed condition.

Voss is 26 year sold and lives with his mother on Arthur street.

Willing to Meet Reynolds At Any Time or at Any Place

David Hartley is Anxious to Meet the Port Hope Man and Prove His Superiority—Will Walk Reynolds Any Distance Desired.

David Hartley is after Jimmy Reynolds' scalp and is prepared to meet this Port Hope barber at any time, at any place, or for any distance. David admits that Reynolds is a good walker, but contends that in view of the record, which the Peterborough man established last week, the tonsorial pride of the town on the lake, should admit that Hartley is the better man of the pair.

Hartley laughs at the statement that he had an easier walk than Reynolds and well he might. Peterborough is almost 600 feet higher than Port Hope, and Hartley had to make this elevation on the last thirty miles of his journey. The road from Port Hope to Toronto is to a great extent level and Hartley is confident that he can take a big slice off Reynolds' record for that distance. He would prefer to meet this Port Hope walker in a race between Peterborough and Port Hope going over the distance four times which would make a total distance of 128 miles. The start and finish could be made either at Port Hope or Peterborough, either would be satisfactory to Hartley. He is also willing to meet Reynolds on the Port Hope-Toronto route, or on the Port Hope, Toronto, Cobourg and return to Port Hope circuit, that has been suggested at

STEPHENSON—McPHERSON

A pretty home wedding took place at Omemee, Ont., on Thursday, Oct. 31st, at three o'clock, when Florence, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. McPherson, was married to Mr. Wm. G. Stephenson, youngest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Stephenson, by the Rev. Robt. McCullough.

The bride was gowned in a white lace robe mounted on chiffon over white silk, and carried white roses. Miss Ethel Clark, in pale blue silk mousline over blue silk, and carrying pink roses, attended the bride, while little Daisy Adams, also in pale blue, carried the wedding ring on a silver tray. Mr. Arthur McCrea of Toronto, supported the groom.

After the guests had partaken of a dainty repast, Mr. and Mrs. Stephenson left on the evening train for a short trip, the bride traveling in a dark green broadcloth suit, with hat to match. On their return they will reside in Omemee.

While There Was Run on York Loan

About $30,000 Per Week Was Being Paid Out—Preference Claims

About $30,000 per week was paid in cash to withdrawing shareholders of the York Loan Company during the run on the company in the spring and summer of 1905, according to a statement of W. H. Hunter, when the claims of "Class 4" were considered before Referee Kappele.

"The amount paid out in cash decreased to about $25,000 per week just before the collapse," he said. "That was because the cash was getting scarce.

"During the last year," he added, "the company had paid out about two million and a half in the way of withdrawals, if I am not mistaken."

C. B. Scott, who is acting for the liquidator, the National Trust Company, stated that he would have a good deal of evidence to submit regarding the insolvency of the York Loan before the actual winding-up occurred.

"There is about $300,000 of preference claims at present," he said. "But if the insolvency of the company at a prior date is established, many of these will have to rank as ordinary shareholders, because their stock would not have been withdrawable after the point of insolvency was reached."

"Class 4," which was considered on Monday, include the holders of shares payable on demand, or which had matured prior to the date of liquidation, and of shares which were withdrawable at any time on thirty days' notice, whether notice of withdrawal had been given or not, or, if given, whether it had expired prior to the date of liquidation or not.

It was shown that many shareholders whose stock matured after three years and a half paid up in advance, so as to be able to withdraw before the time, and this was allowed by the company.

LEFT TO JOIN HUNTING PARTY

The death occurred yesterday afternoon at three o'clock at Chemong village, of Mrs. Jacobs, wife of Mr. John W. Jacobs, jr. Special to the Review.

Toronto, Nov. 5.—Mrs. Carter, wife of a well-to-do hardware merchant, of Picton, made a determined effort to commit suicide this morning. The woman had been living apart from her husband and with the two youngest children, a boy of four and girl of five years, took apartments on Manchester street about three months ago.

This morning the landlady heard the children screaming and rushing into the room, found Mrs. Carter on the floor, with the tube from a gas stove in her mouth, the gas being turned on full force. The woman was immediately hurried to the General Hospital where, after the doctors had worked upon her for some time, she regained consciousness. This afternoon she is reported out of danger.

Mr. Cochrane at Jacob's Island

County Constable Geo. Cochrane went out to Jacobs Island today, accompanied by Mr. Bates, the owner of the island to give notice to some people, residing in a shack that their room is preferable to their presence. It appears that the persons in question have been trespassing on this island for some time and have refused to obey Mr. Bates when he gave them instructions to leave. As his wishes in this respect were not heeded by the trespassers he decided to take a representative of the law with him to the island and have them given notice to leave at once.

PARK FOR THE SOUTHERN END

Council in Favor of Entering into Agreement With School Board to Provide One

It is probable that the property between Aylmer and George streets, east of the King Edward School, which is owned by the Board of Education will be taken over by the city and converted into a park.

At least the city council is desirous of taking such action, and if the Board of Education is favorable to the project it will likely be carried through. It was brought up at the committee of the whole council last night, when it was pointed out that there were no parks in the south end of the city, and the property referred to above would make an excellent location for one.

Ald. Morrow introduced the matter, pointing out the need of a park in the south end and the splendid opportunity there existed at the present time for providing one by entering into an agreement with the Board of Education.

The proposition was commented upon favorably, and after short discussion, on motion of Ald. Morrow seconded by Ald. Bradburn, Ald. Tovey, Wilson and Duncan were appointed a committee to confer with the Board of Education, regarding making a park out of the property between Aylmer and George streets, east of the King Edward school.

Excellent Views of Football Game

Taken at Lindsay by Mr. N. A. Howard-Moore of This City

Mr. N. A. Howard-Moore, who was in Lindsay on Thanksgiving Day, attending the rugby football match, between the Peterboroughs and Victorias of Toronto, took several fine views of the game. Mr. Moore has some photographs of the contest on display in the window of the Tate Optical Company, George street. Several pictures are 6 x 7, while others are post card size. The views of different stages of the fray are exceedingly realistic and the features of the players and many spectators are distinctly recognizable.

Mr. Moore's splendid work is greatly admired.

Jim Reynolds Didn't Show Up

"Jimmy" Reynolds, the Port Hope walker, was expected in the city last night to arrange a match with Hartley, but the speedy barber didn't show up. There is considerable money in Peterborough to say that David Hartley can trim Reynolds at any old distance, at any old time, and a matched race at an early date will likely come off.

Fire Alarm System Meets Requirements of Contract

And City Council Orders Account of Bell Telephone Company to be Paid—Mr. Higgins Has a Claim for Compensation—Committee of Whole Deals With Many Matters.

The City Council was in Committee of the Whole for two hours last night before going into regular session. Many important matters were dealt with, including the Plumbing Inspector's increase of salary, the settling of the Bell Telephone's account for installing the fire alarm system and several other matters. Nothing was done regarding an increase in salary for the Plumbing Inspector, but the Telephone Co's account will be paid, Foreman Pakenham of the fire hall certifying that the fire alarm system is everything called for in the contract.

Those present were Mayor McWilliams, Ald. Duncan, McIntyre, Elliott, Morgan, Johnston, Duncan, Bradburn, Morrow, Phelan, Tovey and Leary.

The question of the sale of city debentures for local improvements was first taken up and discussed at some length. In this connection it was moved by Ald. Elliott, seconded by Ald. Phelan, that the matter of the sale of the city debentures now ready be left with a committee composed of Ald. Morrow and Ald. Bradburn, with authority to sell them at the best possible terms.

CITY'S BANK ACCOUNT.

The placing of the city's bank account for 1908 was next taken up, and caused considerable discussion. The matter was settled by the following resolution:—

Ald. Johnston moved, seconded by Ald. Elliott, that the Finance Committee co-operate with the other city bodies regarding the calling of tenders for the city's bank account from the first of January, 1908.

WANTS MORE SALARY.

The request of Plumbing Inspector Thompson for an increase of salary was next dealt with. He is now receiving $500 per year, the same salary he was given when he was appointed two and a half years ago. At that time, Mr. Thompson claims, he was promised an increase in the near future.

The Mayor stated that the Council had made no promise of this kind. Some alderman might have told him this, but the council was not responsible for the statement of any alderman.

Ald. Wilson said he did not believe that Mr. Thompson had not been fairly treated by the council. He had asked for a test machine, which would cost about $25, but it had not been purchased for him. The result was that he had to borrow a machine in order to do his work.

Other aldermen agreed with this.

Ald. Morgan moved, seconded by Ald. Bradburn, that the chairman of the Property Committee be authorized to purchase a smoke tester for the use of the plumbing inspector in his work.—Carried.

The application for an increase in salary was not decided, the opinion being that it should be left until the first of the year. The consensus of opinion was that the Inspector should get an increase, but that it would not be advisable to take action until the first of the year.

WANTS COMPENSATION.

Mr. J. C. Higgins, who owns some property beside the gravel pit on the Hilliard farm, in the north end of the city, applied to the Council for compensation for damage done his land by the city laborers taking sand and gravel so close to the property that his fence had been destroyed and his land undermined. He wanted further work of the kind discontinued, and compensation for the damage that had already been done.

The Mayor said that the damage had been done two years ago by the city laborers digging too close to Mr. Higgins' property.

Ald. Tovey wanted to know whose fault it was, but Mr. Higgins' property had been trespassed upon. He considered that there was carelessness somewhere.

Ald. Elliott said Mr. Higgins' property would have to be cribbed along the gravel pit to prevent the earth from caving in.

The Mayor suggested that it might be cheaper to purchase two or three feet of Mr. Higgins' property.

Ald. Elliott contended that the cribbing would still be necessary.

Ald. Tovey maintained that supervision should be exercised to prevent anything of the kind happening again.

After some more discussion it was moved by Ald. Phelan, seconded by Ald. Tovey, that the matter of getting a settlement with Mr. Higgins be left with the chairman of the Board of Works and city engineer with power to act.

BELL TELEPHONE'S ACCOUNT

The payment of the balance of the account of the Bell Telephone Co. for the fire alarm system was next taken up. It appears that Mr. Pakenham, foreman of the fire hall, has given a certificate that the system is working in a manner that fulfils the terms of the contract, although the system is not perfect, he claims.

Mr. Pakenham was called upon, and told the committee that the system was working in a manner that fulfilled the contract. The system was not perfect, however, as some more equipment of various kinds was required.

Ald. Bradburn moved, and Ald. Morgan seconded, that Mr. Pakenham furnish the council with a list of the equipment required and the cost.—Carried.

On motion of Ald. Johnston, and Duncan, it was decided that the account of the Bell Telephone Company, $2,694, be paid.

STREET EXTENSIONS.

The Mayor stated that the extension of Aylmer and George streets was going ahead satisfactorily. All the property necessary to extend the two thoroughfares had been purchased, except the McMahon property on George street. The city had not been able to come to any agreement with Mrs. McMahon for her property.

On motion of Ald. Phelan and Elliott, it was decided to leave the matter of purchasing the property with the Special Committee that dealt with the purchasing of the property already bought in the extension of the streets.

MORE TELEPHONES.

On motion of Ald. Tovey and Ald. Johnston, it was decided to place telephones in the new offices of the city engineer and city tax collector, and to have an extension desk telephone placed in the offices of the city clerk.

ALD. JOHNSTON OBJECTS.

Ald. Johnston did not agree with the action of the Legal Committee in deciding to remove the culvert over the creek on Edinburgh street back to its original place.

Ald. Phelan pointed out that the committee was acting on the advice of the solicitor.

Ald. Johnston conceded that this course was proper, but would prefer settling the matter at once, and not giving in to Mr. Bogue. He considered that the creek should be opened along the railway track, and the culvert left where it is at present.

No action was taken at the time, however, and adjournment took place.

Mr. John Hengough denies point blank the story that the Mayor of Boston, was discourteous to him.

PROPOSITION TO HAVE LOCAL INDUSTRIES ALL PLACED ON A FIXED ASSESSMENT

Ald. Morgan Introduces the Scheme at City Council Meeting But No Action is Taken for the Present Although it is Admitted That the Proposition Has Some Merit.

Peter Hamilton Co. Ask For a Fixed Assessment

And Application is Referred to Manufacturers' Committee.

Blocking of the Creek by Mr. Bogue Again Causes Long Discussion.

The City Council had several big problems on its hands last night with the result that it was a few minutes after twelve o'clock when adjournment took place. A request from the Peter Hamilton Co. for a fixed assessment, a proposition to grant fixed assessment for all industries in the city, introduced by Ald. Morgan and supported by Ald. Elliott, and the blocking of the creek on Mr. Jas. Bogue's property near Dublin street, were some of the questions that were in the limelight. The request of the Hamilton Co., was referred to the Manufacturer's Committee, no action was taken regarding the proposal to grant fixed assessment to all the industries in the city, while not much progress was made regarding the creek trouble. The report of the Legal Committee, dealing with the matter was adopted, after a long discussion in which numerous plans were suggested. Motions were made and defeated and then introduced again by other aldermen and were likely to carry, if attention had not been drawn to the fact that they were similar to the ones that had been voted down.

Mayor McWilliams presided, and all the aldermen were present.

WANT FIXED ASSESSMENT.

A communication was received from the Peter Hamilton Co., asking for a fixed assessment of not more than $10,000 for a period of twenty years on their property, plant, etc. The letter pointed out that the company's assessment at the present time is $52,000, and in view of the fact that concerns, making similar goods in other cities were enjoying fixed assessment, the Hamilton Co. found it difficult to compete against the other concerns. The Peter Hamilton Co., the communication pointed out, had been established in Peterborough for sixty years, and had never had any privileges. The company wanted to be dealt with the same as other industries in the city.

Mr. Milne Hamilton waited on the council and spoke along a similar line to the letter and requested that the council look into the matter. The assessment had been put up out of proportion, and something should be done.

On motion of Ald. Phelan and Johnston, the request of the Hamilton Co., was referred to the Manufacturer's Committee.

SEWER WANTED.

A petition was received from a number of ratepayers, asking for a sewer on Dickson street, off McDonnel street.

Mr. William Davidson addressed the council in support of the petition. If the sewer was continued up Dickson street, for about 120 feet, it would give Mrs. Walsh's house a connection, and Mr. Davidson could also have his own house connected with the extension.

Ald. Duncan moved, seconded by Ald. Elliott, that the request be granted, if the petition was sufficiently signed. Carried.

BOOKS SATISFACTORY.

Sheriff Hall, auditor, reported that he had examined the books of all the city officials for the nine months, ending September 30th, and found them satisfactory.

FIRE, WATER AND LIGHT.

Ald. Johnston read the report of the Fire, Water and Light Committee. Ald. Wilson drew attention to the fact that several requests for lights were granted, in the committee, but no mention was made of the application he had made some time ago, for a light at the corner of Brock and Stewart streets. This was a dangerous corner and a light should be placed there.

Ald. Johnston said the requests that had been granted, had been in before Ald. Wilson's, and the report was adopted.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Ald. Tovey presented the following report from the Finance Committee,—

Your Finance Committee beg leave to report and recommend as follows,

1. That no action be taken on the application of M. Pappas for the refund of part of fee paid by him for a shooting gallery license.

2. That the City Treasurer continue to pay interest on the overdraft on the Bank of Toronto, at 4 1-2 per cent. in accordance with the agreement made.

Ald. Phelan, the chairman, presented the report of the Legal committee, dealing with the interview with the county regarding the proposition to have the city's indigent old men placed in the House of Refuge and several other matters.

Ald. Johnston, as he had done in the committee of the whole, objected to the clause in the Legal committee's report. He did not believe in making concessions to Mr. Bogue, but would have the matter settled at once. If something was not done the city would have a big bill for damages on its hands in the spring as a result of flooded property.

Ald. Elliott believed that Ald. Johnson's scheme was along the right line if it could be worked out. The people had passed a by-law last January authorizing the diversion of the creek, but it had not been done.

Ald. Johnston moved, seconded by Ald. Elliott,—That the clause in the report of the Legal committee referring to the culvert of Edinburgh st. be struck out and that the clerk write the Grand Trunk railway and see if permission could not be obtained to have the creek diverted to the right of way of the Grand Trunk.—Lost.

Ald. Elliott moved, seconded by Ald. Morgan,—That the Council meet and visit the place in question as soon as possible and that no action be taken till this is done.—Lost.

The report was therefore declared carried.

Ald. Leary moved that the clerk write the Grand Trunk and ascertain if they will grant the right of way along the track between Edinburg and Dublin streets and in the meantime the city engineer to make the change in the culvert.

After some discussion Ald. Leary withdrew the motion.

Another motion was brought in that the Council visit the scene of the trouble, but it was also withdrawn.

FIXED ASSESSMENT.

Ald. Morgan came back to the question of fixed assessments and moved that the matter of fixed assessment for all the industries in the city be referred to a committee to report to the Council with the object of having all the industries placed on an equal basis. Ald. Morgan pointed out that the manufacturer who came to the Council and made a fight for fixed assessment usually got it, while the one who did not ask for it did not get it. His idea was that all the industries should be placed on an equal footing without the heads of companies having to come to the Council and pleading for fixed assessment.

Ald. Elliott agreed with Ald. Morgan. His suggestion was along the right line. He believed in fixed assessment, but in order that the industries enjoying this privilege should not get off too easily he would have the rate higher and the assessment fairly low and on an equitable basis throughout the city. He would favor having the rate as high as 20 mills on the dollar if necessary, but would keep the assessment fairly low. This was the only fair way as with a high assessment and low rate those with fixed assessment got off too easily.

There was some further discussion on the matter, but no action was taken.

CITY TREASURER'S OFFICE.

On motion of Ald. McIntyre and Wilson it was decided to have a new floor placed in the City Treasurer's office and other necessary repairs made, the work to be done under the direction of the chairman of the Property committee.

TO GRAVEL WATER STREET.

Ald. Morrow moved, seconded by Ald. Phalen,—That Water street be gravelled and rolled where necessary. The Board of works will do the work.

BY-LAWS PASSED.

By-law No. 1,343 authorizing the execution of a lease between the Children's Aid Society and the City Trust Commissioners, was passed, also the following by-laws:

By-law No. 1,344 to authorize the execution of a conveyance with Mr. D. Letellier.

By-law No. 1,345 to prevent the burning refuse within a certain area of the city.

By-law No. 1,346 to authorize the construction of a sewer on Jackson Avenue as a local improvement.

By-law No. 1,347 to authorize the construction of a sidewalk on the north side of Townsend street as a local improvement.

Ald. Duncan presented the report of the Board of Works which was adopted after some discussion.

GOLD RING IN WASTE.

Leads to Two Men Being Charged With Incendiarism.

Barrie, Nov. 4.—The evidence on which John McDonald and William Craddock of Fesserton were recently committed for trial by Magistrate Radenhurst would form the basis for an excellent Sherlock Holmes story in real life.

On the night of Oct. 15, W. W. Carter's mill at Fesserton was destroyed by fire, evidently of incendiary origin.

Provincial Detective Reburn was despatched to the scene on Oct. 16. His first clue was some waste taken from the axle box of a car. In the waste a gold ring was found. A footprint was also discovered, and on the strength of these and other considerations John McDonald and William Craddock were arrested.

The ring had evidently been rubbed off the finger while wiping oil off the hands.

Detective Reburn has returned after submitting his case at the preliminary hearing at Barrie.

ONTARIO IN LONDON.

Cabinet Will Consider Appointment of a Representative.

Toronto, Nov. 5.—As a result of a call upon the Premier by Hon. J. H. Turner, formerly a member of the British Columbia Government, but for some time agent-general of that province in England, the local Government will consider the question of appointing such a representative for Ontario. Mr. Turner spoke very glowingly to the Premier as to the wisdom of such a course, "but," said Mr. Whitney, "while there is no doubt, however, that, considered by itself alone, good results would come from it, yet on the other hand the question has to be considered with especial reference to the authority and power of the High Commissioner of the Dominion, and accordingly it can easily be seen that it would require on our part a good deal of consideration before a decision in favor of such a policy could be arrived at. "Australia, I may say, has no agent-general, but each of its states has its own representative."

Plural Marriages In Canada.

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 5.—"There are as many plural marriages in Canada to-day as there are in the United States." This statement, although seeming incredible, was made yesterday by Rev. George T. Webb, general secretary of the Baptist Young People's Association of America.

"The people of Canada are not awake to the design the Mormons have in Canada." Mr. Webb has just returned from a trip to the Mormon settlements.

Couldn't Pray, So Hanged.

New York, Nov. 5.—Moody because he could not find sufficient time during each 24 hours to offer up as many prayers as he desired, John Durowits, a Russian, hanged himself Sunday from a rafter in the barn in which he lived, at Amityville, L. I.

His religious exaltation and devotion to prayer had been noticed by the men who worked with him, and they had censured him for quitting his toil many times a day to go and pray.

Burglars at Windsor.

Windsor, Nov. 5.—Burglars entered three homes on Victoria avenue, the fashionable residence district of the city. In the house of George Nairn they took three dollars and had the nerve to eat a meal. In the residence of Capt. Dewson, across the road, they stole a roast of beef, and from Druggist D'Avignon they took a pair of shoes.

Detective Killed.

Denver, Col., Nov. 5.—Joseph Walker, a United States secret service man, was shot and killed yesterday by an employe of the Hesperus Mine.

Government agents have been in Durango for several days gathering evidence to be used in prosecuting persons indicted for fraudulent entries of coal lands.

Victim of Black Hand.

Passaic, N. J., Nov. 5.—Raffale Ruffano and wife, Antoinette, were murdered in Carfield, N.J., Sunday night. They had been compelled to leave Italy very suddenly two years ago, but gave no reason for their hasty departure. Mrs. Ruffano always carried a revolver.

Suicides With Old Glory.

Baltimore, Nov. 5.—Mrs. Cornelie McKelvie twisted an American flag into a rope, and with it committed suicide, by hanging herself to a closet door.

Melancholia is supposed to have prompted the act.

Sunk In Boston Harbor.

Boston, Nov. 5.—The steamer City of Birmingham of the Ocean Steamship Co., struck a ledge in the harbor early yesterday while bound out to Savannah and sank in ten fathoms of water, about two miles below her dock.

The crew escaped.

Negro Murderer Suicides.

Knoxville, Tenn., Nov. 5.—In view of 300 persons, Jim Davis, a negro who had shot two negro women, leaped from the railing of the Tennessee River bridge to the water, 100 feet below, and was drowned.

Davis yelled that he had killed 28 persons.

BOURASSA LOST FIGHT

Government Wins In Quebec Bye-Elections.

Mr. Turgeon Has Majority of Nearly 800 In Bellechasse—Other Ministers Also Elected — Devlin Wins Seat at Nicolet—Conservative Refrained From Voting—Polling Passed Off Very Quietly.

Quebec, Nov. 5.—The provincial bye-elections in Quebec yesterday resulted in a victory for the Government candidates. The greatest interest probably centered in Bellechasse, where Hon. Mr. Turgeon and Henri Bourassa were the principals in a spectacular battle. Bourassa was overwhelmed.

In Montmorency, Aaschereau won by a majority of 870. Bernier was his opponent.

In Rimouski, Danjous won by 348.

Devlin, recently elevated from the House of Commons to the Quebec Cabinet, had a closer fight, relatively, but won by 364.

The Result In Bellechasse.

Mr. Turgeon's majority in Bellechasse is now given at about 760, the return from one small poll being doubtful.

This unexpected large majority for the Minister is explained by the general abstention from voting of the Conservative electors. Many of them regarded the fight as one between two Liberals. Others refused to take the part of a stranger who was not a Conservative against a son of the county.

There is not much disappointment in Quebec City over the result. Everything passed off very quietly in the county yesterday, and neither side has much to say in the way of comment.

A SPLENDID ORGANIZATION

The annual meeting of the Young Conservative Club will be held on Thursday night next. The Club has been in existence for three years, and is in a flourishing condition. The membership is large, the rooms bright and attractive, the reading department well supplied with periodicals and the games room decidedly inviting.

When the project of forming a club three years ago, was undertaken permanent quarters engaged, and a man placed in charge, there were those who predicted that the scheme was too ambitious, and that the Conservative Club would, like many other worthy organizations started in Peterborough, flourish for a time, and then gradually die of inertia or dry rot.

It is pleasing to record, after three years' history, that the reverse has been the case. The organization is stronger financially and numerically today than at any time since its inception. Last year a series of talks or lectures, on leading statesmen and subjects of national and imperial importance were given, while there were several national evenings which were well attended. There were also other features of interest, including debates, musical selections, etc. The club gives the biggest dollar's worth by way of returns that can be found in Peterborough. The membership fee of $1 is a mere bagatelle, considering the many advantages to be reaped from association with such a worthy institution. Its affairs have been capably and carefully managed and the rooms are open every morning, afternoon and evening.

It is hoped that, at the annual meeting on Thursday night next, the assembly hall will be filled. Not only are the officers for the coming year to be elected, but the programme for the winter will be drafted.

Turn out on Thursday night. You will be welcome. The club needs your presence, and no more profitable or enjoyable evenings can be spent during the long winter period than in the wholesome, helpful surroundings of the club. A better, more honorable and higher minded type of members cannot be found in any social or political organization.

MR. BORDEN'S TOUR

Mr. R. L. Borden, the gifted and popular Conservative leader, has returned to his home in Ottawa after completing a three months' highly successful tour, in which he addressed some sixty public meetings in all parts of Canada, had travelled between 10,000 and 12,000 miles.

This certainly constitutes the most wonderful undertaking ever essayed by a Canadian public man. Mr. Borden was enthusiastically received in every province. His welcome was hearty and sincere. All the gatherings addressed by him were well attended. The further west he journeyed the more the people acclaimed the leader and his wise, progressive and statesmanlike programme—a programme that was drafted, not to curry favor with one section of the country, and be altered to catch votes or popular fancy in another section. Mr. Borden has not found it necessary to deviate one jot or tittle from the policy laid down by him in Halifax on August 12th last. He presented his policy in a manly, straightforward and open manner. No demagogic or socialistic tactics were resorted to; there was no playing to the gallery; no straining for effect, yet 90,000 electors heard Mr. Borden and heard him with profit and pleasure discuss the issues of the day. In every centre his firm, dignified and honorable standard for civil service reform, better postal facilities, control of public utilities, the establishment of a national system of telephones and telegraphs, improved facilities in transportation and cold storage, and clean elections, attracted the greatest attention.

Mr. Borden found the Conservative party in all the provinces united and aggressive. The members are ready for the fray and there will undoubtedly be a great change in the political complexion of many ridings. The work of organization is going on. The visit of the Conservative leader has stimulated the members of the party to fresh action, and, when the proclamation goes forth, the ranks will be in fine fighting trim.

Mr. Borden will address one more meeting in the Russell Theatre, Ottawa on the night previous to the opening of Parliament. Elaborate preparations are being made for the event, and it will be a fitting finale of a tour which has challenged the admiration of even the Conservative leader's opponents, and won for Mr. Borden new found friends by the thousand in every province of Canada. The people are eager to listen to the serious discussion of public affairs. When they found an honorable, far-seeing man, with a message that rings true, a man who follows a straight course and points the way to higher political ideals and loftier conceptions of public duty, he not only wins their respect and confidence, but is regarded as a man whom it is safe to trust—a leader who is courageous enough to lead, who fearlessly condemns wrong, denounces graft and exposes corruption, and takes a stand in favor of reforms as Mr. Borden has—such a one is in every way qualified to fill the highest and most responsible office in the gift of the Canadian people.

PEN POINTS

Although Bourassa was defeated by Hon. A. Turgeon in Bellechasse he made a game fight and succeeded in pulling down the victors previous majority by 400.

No one is complaining just now about the dust nuisance, but certain persons would not be happy unless they had a complaint of some kind. They are uttering maledictions against the wet weather.

Messrs. Wm. Langford, B. Morrow and A. E. Dixon, who this year constitute the Court of Revision, have almost as much work ahead of them as has the Dominion Parliament at its forthcoming session. There are 324 appeals to be heard and all must be disposed of before the end of the year. The members of the Court will certainly earn their salaries this year. How they will be able to consider all the appeals in the time at their disposal is a problem. Not more than twenty appeals can be gone through in one night and this means some 17 or 18 evening sessions, whereas in years gone by five or six sittings have been sufficient to clean off the slate. The chairman stated to-day that he believed afternoon sessions would have to be held if the work was to be concluded in reasonable time.

Of all the unique elections cards issued by a parliamentary candidate the one circulated broadcast by Mr. A. A. Mulholland, the Liberal candidate in the recent Northumberland bye-election, to use a colloquial expression "takes the cake." It is gaily colored and those, who have seen the wonderful production and know anything of history are enjoying a hearty laugh. A Conservative writes as follows:

"I notice that Mr. Mulholland has the Royal Standard on one side and the Union Jack opposite. In blue letters are the words 'Those flags won with honor must be maintained with honor.'" Can Mr. Mulholland tell us "Where, oh, where were they won?" As a specimen of crass ignorance this bears the palm. I might say more but the foregoing is enough.

There is no doubt but that the rapidly growing southern section of Peterborough should have a park or proper breathing spot. All the other wards are well—even generously provided for—and the suggestion made by Ald. Morrow at the Council meeting last night that the land between Aylmer and George streets east of the new King Edward school be purchased from the Board of Education is a good one. The ground comprises about three acres and is admirably located for park purposes. Such an open spot would be a boon to residents of No. 1 Ward particularly. Surely the most highly assessed and prosperous ward in the city is entitled to consideration. The Review does not believe that the School Board would be disposed to haggle over the price and the committee appointed by the Council should have no difficulty in carrying out the negotiations to a speedy and satisfactory conclusion.

It is refreshing to hear a man who returns from the west give a plain unbiased and frank statement relating to conditions as he found them. Ald. R. H. Leary, president of the Peterborough Industrial Fair, in an interview yesterday did not mince matters. He said that real estate was at a standstill, that a great deal of grain had not been cut, having been injured by the frost, and that the monetary outlook was just now not encouraging. This does not mean that the west will not progress. It has received only a temporary set back and will recover from its transient reverse, find its proper level and bearings, and become stronger and greater than ever. The country, its resources and its people are too great to be checked permanently. Perhaps things have been going a trifle fast. The present period will serve as a sort of check taking season. A boom cannot last forever, and a sure, steady reliable expansion is preferable and more lasting than a madcap gallop, and then a slow walk. An even gait and a chance to draw breath win in the end and capture any race over being winded at the start and "all in" before the finishing quarter.

THE LATEST DEAN PATTERNS

A CHARMING LITTLE APRON

Aprons are no longer thought of as plain, unbecoming articles of protection, for many of them are as pretty as dresses, and often serve to dress up a frock, as well as protect it. Here is sketched an apron which is easily made, and suitable to very dainty trimming. The front and back are tucked from the top in pointed outline, the edge being left plain, or finished with a beading and narrow lace. The shoulder pieces may be of the apron material, or all-over embroidery. For the medium size 1¾ yards of material, 36 inches wide, are needed.

Initial Steps Taken Towards Providing House of Refuge

Legal Commitee Authorized to Secure Information as to the Cost of an Institution of This Kind Suitable for Peterborough—Children's Aid Society Will be Interviewed.

The City Council has taken the initial steps towards erecting a House of Refuge in the city, for the accommodation of the poor and aged. At the session of the committee of the whole last night, the Legal Committee were authorized by a resolution to secure information as to the cost of a House of Refuge suitable to meet the requirements of Peterborough. The matter came up as a result of a consideration of the question as to what the city is to do with the four old men now in the Protestant Home, who the city would like to remove from there in order to make room in that institution, for a large number of old women. To meet present demands, however, the Legal Committee was authorized to see what could be done towards providing a home for the old men at once, for if the four are taken from the Protestant Home, twelve or fifteen more old women can be taken in.

The mayor brought up the question of providing for the indigent old men in the city, referring to the fact that the city had been unable to come to an agreement with the county. He pointed out that there were four old men in the Protestant Home, at which building one flat was now being used for men and the other for women. The Government inspector will not allow men and women to be placed in one flat. If these four old men were removed, the Home would be able to look after 24 or 25 old women. There were seven old men in the jail, who were guilty of no crime, but had been committed there, because there was no other place to put them.

Ald. Bradburn said that some arrangement should be made to have the old men taken out of the jail.

Ald. Morgan wanted to know if some arrangement could not be made to have the old men cared for at the house on the Hilliard property. The Children's Aid Society were now making repairs there in preparation to having the Children's Shelter located there in a few days. He thought that an arrangement could be made with the Children's Aid Society to have the old men cared for at the Hilliard house.

Ald. Morrow said he would favor taking some steps to provide a permanent home for the old men. The Hilliard farm would make an excellent location for such an institution. Something should also be done towards providing an isolation hospital.

Ald. Elliott said that it might be well to interview the Children's Aid Society and see if anything could be done. There was another house across the way from the house that had been given the Children's Aid Society, and perhaps some arrangement could be made to have the caretaker of the Children's Shelter look after the old men.

Ald. Johnston said that the difficulty might be met by having the old men now in the Protestant Home placed in the jail for the winter.

The mayor stated that the ladies would not allow them to be taken from the Home and placed in the jail.

On motion of Ald. Morgan and Elliott, the Legal Committee was authorized to see what arrangement could be made for the care of the old men now in the Protestant Home and in the jail, preferably with the Children's Aid Society, by with some reliable person, and to report to the council.—Carried.

Ald. Morrow and Leary moved that the Legal Committee be authorized to secure information as to the cost of a House of Refuge, suitable for the city.—Carried.

Speaking to the motion, Ald. Morrow said it was time Peterborough took some steps towards providing a home for the aged poor. Too much was being left for the private institutions to do.

Ald. Elliott agreed with this. Peterborough had been getting down easy in this respect, the poor being looked after for many years by charitably disposed persons.

Chinese Conditions as Seen Through Chinese Eyes

Interesting Interview With Mr. George Thomas, a Local Chinaman of Education—Splendid Work That is Being Done by Chinese Reform Association—An Organization Combining Strength and System.

In view of the recent great influx of Chinese into Canada, and, in fact, to quite an extent, into Peterborough, some information concerning the present day conditions of the Chinese in their native land and in this country as given by one of the most intelligent natives of the Orient, residing in this city, should be of interest to readers of the Review.

Mr. George Thomas, proprietor of the Dominion Cafe, when seen by a representative of this paper, told of the great progress that has been made in China in the last few years, and of the methods of the better class of Chinamen in America, of adopting, for the purpose of fostering a fraternal spirit, and also of obtaining as much light as possible on the legitimate ways of the progressive western world. Perhaps before going further, it would be well to give something of the family history of the gentleman in question.

Mr. Thomas stated that he was born in Hong Kong, where his father, mother and sister reside, his father being manager of a large company engaged in the export trade of Chinese products to the occidental countries. After receiving an education at Chinese schools, he attended Queen's College, Hong Kong, where he took a three years' English course. He came to Canada ten years ago, and selected Ottawa as his first place of residence. There he entered into the restaurant business, in which he is still interested to a large extent, in that city. He remained in Ottawa nine years, and for the past year has conducted a cafe in Peterborough.

CHINESE REFORM ASSOCIATION

Ten years ago, when Mr. Thomas left China, there were no railways, telephone or telegraph systems, street lamps or mail boxes, but when he returned to the Celestial Kingdom, 3 years ago, all these utilities, and many others besides, had been established. To what are these remarkable changes, in so short a time, due? To the good offices of the Chinese Reform Association, a society with headquarters in Machow, China, and with branches throughout the whole civilized world, wherever Chinamen are located. Owing to the despotic and unprogressive rule of the Dowager Empress of China, the more enlightened and ambitious of her subjects organized the Chinese Reform Association in order to offer encouragement to dwellers of other lands, to open commercial, industrial and religious communication with their country. When the Europeans began to flock to China on their various missions, they brought with them their ideas and methods of western civilization, and progress and any advantages their ways offered were quickly taken up by the reform association. This accounts for the phenomenal advancement of the country in so short a time.

AMERICAN BRANCHES

The headquarters of the Association for this continent are in New York. One of the most important branches in Canada is at Vancouver and branches are also established in all the larger cities of the United States and Canada. Meetings are held weekly in rooms rented for the purpose and at these gatherings, measures for the welfare of the Chinese are discussed. Each branch has an interpreter, treasurer and a secretary for Chinese and English correspondence, and at the meetings an educated Chinese speaker delivers an address along different lines of reform. Correspondence is conducted between the headquarters of the society and its branches in the different parts of the world, in which they are established, as well as among the branches themselves, so it will be seen that the members of the Chinese Reform Association are kept pretty well in touch with affairs of the greatest interest to them.

BARBAROUS WAYS DISCOURAGED

In China, Mr. Thomas said, the Association is waging war against the many heathenish practices that have been associated with the history of country from time immemorial. The fiendish habit of binding up the feet of female children of tender years is being bitterly opposed, as is also the manufacture and consumption of opium. Stringent measures to crush the opium curse, as the readers of the daily press are aware, have been taken lately by the Chinese Government.

DONT LIKE TAX.

Even the bare mention of the tax per head of $500 that the Canadian Government has placed upon the Chinese coming into this country, makes a Chinaman indignant, to say nothing of their being entirely excluded from Uncle Sam's land. Mr Thomas is the authority for the statement that in China the sentiment prevails that retaliatory measures in the form of a prohibitive tax should be placed by the Chinese government upon any undesirables from this continent seeking to enter the Flowery Kingdom.

"The Chinese nation," he said, in conclusion, "look forward to the time when enlightened and reputable Chinamen will receive the consideration they deserve in all parts of the civilized globe."

Two Young Men Heavily Fined

For Assaulting G.T.R. Conductor —One of the Accused Discharged

On the charge of assaulting Conductor Walter Mercer of the G. T. R. flyer on Thanksgiving night, while returning from Lindsay, Fremis La Plante and Edward Pilling were each fined yesterday afternoon, $25 and costs amounting to $30.-25 and Edward Donoghue was discharged.

For doing bodily harm to the conductor La Plante will also have to pay an additional fine of $36.50. Donoghue was acquitted, His Worship finding no evidence to convict him.

Messrs. G. N. Gordon and F. D. Kerr lawyers for the defence put up a strong plea for their clients but, after reviewing the evidence, His Worship passed the above judgment. The case was not concluded until five o'clock, occupying the whole day. The court room was crowded throughout and the people were apparently deeply interested.

Fifty houses have been washed away, and sixteen persons drowned in a flood in Southern California.

WHAT THE CLERGYMAN SAID.

Hanover, Ont.—No other class of men have the opportunity to do as much good, and be such helpful influences, as the clergy. Not only in their sermons, but in their daily life, they can teach us the better way of living. The example of the Rev. Mr. Brand, of Hanover, is one to be followed in every home in Canada. Owing to the arduous duties, incidently to his parish, the reverend gentleman suffered severely with liver trouble accompanied with constipation and indigestion. But he quickly found relief, and in a letter, tells how. "I can say I like Fruit-a-tives very much, as I am troubled with Liver Trouble—and shall continue to use them."

"Fruit-a-tives" are made of fruit juices and valuable tonics—and form the ideal combination for the treatment of Biliousness, Constipation, Headache and all Stomach, Bowel, Kidney and Skin Troubles. 50c a box.

Orangemen Hold Grand Concert

In Celebration of Guy Fawkes' Day—Fine Programme Rendered

A grand success was the concert held last evening in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, under the auspices of Diamond Loyal Orange Lodge, No. 80, in commemoration of the discovery of the gunpowder plot.

The spacious hall was packed with an appreciative audience and the committee who had charge of the affair are to be congratulated on the splendid manner in which everything was carried out. The programme was an excellent one and those taking part were forced to re-pond to encores.

Rev. A. H. Brace occupied the chair in his usual happy manner. He said that he was delighted to see so many present, and especially such a large number of ladies.

"We commemorate to-night the gunpowder plot of 1605 and we meet here to-night as Orangemen" said the speaker. "Every Protestant should be a member of the Orange Order. An Orangeman is not antagonistic to Roman Catholics as so many people suppose, but rather the principle of the Order is to be a friend to every one." There are principles for which we stand and for which we will die if it is necessary, continued Mr. Brace.

He next dealt very interestingly with the conditions that led up to the gunpowder plot in the reign of King James I. As Orangemen, this night, the commemoration of that great fall in attempting to destroy the King and his parliament, is kept with no vindictive feelings. The speaker urged Orangemen to make the Bible their guide. Union is strength and it was necessary to be strong in the principles of Protestantism.

"Be true to your obligations as Orangemen and never shrink from your duties," were his concluding words.

The following was the programme rendered:—

PART I.

Overture.—Peterborough Permanent Orchestra club.

Irish Recitation.—Miss Eva Bartley

Instrumental duet.—Miss Geraldine Byers and Miss Olga Johnston.

Vocal solo.—Miss Aggie Carr.

Banjo solo.—Mr. Will Dundas. Plantation Echoes.

PART II

Overture.—Peterborough Permanent Orchestra club.

Vocal solo.—Clara Bartley, "I'm Daddies Little Girl."

Reading.—Mr. Hanna.

Vocal solo.—Mr. Edward Crowe.

Vocal selection.—Mr. Wm. Thompson.

Col. J. W. Miller then addressed the large audience. It gave him great pleasure to speak at an Orange meeting. He felt it a great honor. "We ought to feel proud that we are followers of (King William of Orange. Stand fast in your principle and be clean hearted and upright."

The Orange Order which stands for liberty, honesty and Christianity is the best organization in Canada today, said the colonel and should be upheld by every Protestant.

After the concert refreshments were served and a social time spent. A vote of thanks was moved by Mr. Jos. Batten and seconded by Mr. Bartley, to those who took part in the program. A pleasant evening was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

ARE INSPECTING C.P.R. BRIDGES

Mr. J. M. R. Fairbairn and Party in the City Last Evening

Mr. J. M. R. Fairbairn, divisional engineer of the C.P.R., Toronto, was in the city last evening, accompanied by several resident engineers. The party came down from Toronto, on a C.P.R. motor car, run by gasoline. This morning, they proceeded east. They are inspecting the bridges of the C.P.R.

CHANGE OF PRICE

With this issue the Canadian Courier changes from a five-cent to a ten-cent weekly. The publishers promise a greatly enlarged paper on December 1st. This illustrated paper has made great strides since it was established last year, and is certainly a creditable production. Judging from its appearance, both the reading and the advertising public have given it quick and generous support. Mr. John A. Cooper, the editor, is to be congratulated on the success his venture has met with, and also upon the enterprise which he has displayed in bringing this national weekly to its present excellent position. Canada should be able to support the few national publications which she possesses.

The "Sailor Boy" brand of canned goods are the best that are put up. They never fail to please. Try a few cans.

SPORTING NEWS

RUGBY

Brockville is certainly a live sporting town. In a match at the Island City on Thanksgiving day between Brockville and Gananoque, 1,500 people saw the match.

BASEBALL

The report is out that Kelley has signed with Boston—not yet. Probably Toronto can hold him on his long contract. You remember Joe came here for two years, according to the arrangement as given out at headquarters last spring. — Toronto World.

CONNIE'S MURPHY'S CLEAN-UP.

"Connie" Murphy, who played left field for the Peterborough baseball team at the close of the season, made a fine clean-up at the annual games of the St. Mary's baseball club, in Toronto, a few days ago. He captured the all-round championship, securing six firsts and a number of seconds. "Connie's" many friends in Peterborough will be glad to hear of his good showing.

BILLIARDS

George Sutton and Jake Schaefer, the two famous billiard experts, meet at Orchestra Hall, Chicago, tonight, for the 18-2 balkline world's championship. The side bet on the issue of the match is $500.

BOWLING

On Saturday night at the Majestic bowling alleys, Mr. Smyth, the proprietor, presented Mr. Clare Gutteridge with five dollars and a box of cigars, being the prizes, respectively awarded the bowler obtaining the highest score in three consecutive games during the month of October and making the best individual score during the month.

In the three consecutive games competition, Mr. Gutteridge ran up 685 and obtained a score of 216 in the single game contest.

The competitions for the prizes are again being continued during this month and will be every month of the bowling season.

Last month saw some clever bowling and the alleys are being well patronized by local enthusiasts.

WALKING

A LINDSAY PIPE DREAM.

The following is from the Lindsay Post:

A good many people are inclined to view with suspicion the alleged performance of David Hartley, the Peterborough pedestrian, ending Thanksgiving afternoon, when he claimed to have completed a walk of 132 miles in 34 hours and 6 mins., lowering Reynolds' time for the same distance by 2 hours and 30 mins. For the whole of that distance he is said to have walked at the rate of nearly six miles an hour. It is unfortunate that Hartley did not, before starting, enlist the services of some person in whose word the general public would place implicit confidence, as it is the feeling is general that a fake of some kind has been worked for a purpose not yet made plain.

One might expect the above from Lindsay, a town that never has produced anything fast enough to win a handicap race from a stream of Barbadoes molasses in January. In the first place the Post man hasn't even figured the matter out correctly. Hartley covered 132 miles in 34 hours 6 mins., but during that time he rested four hours, so he made the distance in 30 hours 6 mins., or 1 806 minutes, or a mile every twelve mins. Therefore Hartley did not travel at more than five miles an hour, after taking away the time he rested. In view of the above, the Post's statement appears ridiculous.

Mr. Hartley is willing to start out to-morrow and repeat his performance and even lower his record. Is not that a sufficient answer to the knockers who are always looking for an occasion to wield the mallet?

HOCKEY

What about an intermediate team for Lindsay? High time some one was moving in the matter. Of course it all depends on the boys themselves—if they desire to play, and evince the right spirit, the proper person to manage the team will come forward in due time. There must be willingness, there must be enthusiasm.—Lindsay Post.

CURLING

ANNUAL MEETING.

Mr. T. F. Matthews, president of the Peterborough Curling Club, stated today that the annual meeting would be held as soon as the hunters returned home from the chase. It is expected that the date will be on Tuesday, Nov. 19th.

In a head-on collision near Little Rock, Ark., yesterday, five persons were killed and twenty more injured.

ONE OF BEST GAMES EVER PLAYED HERE

Will be Seen Next Saturday—Westmounts and Locals for Can. Championship

The rugby team had a full practice at Riverside Park last night, and will practice again this evening. Everybody is expected to be on hand as the new signals will be rehearsed. The team was not used up to any extnet in Lindsay on Thanksgiving Day in their match with the Vics, and will be in perfect condition for their game with the Westmounts next Saturday. The easternera have a crack line-up and not only play a strenuous game, but are also noted for their great speed and all round ability. The halves are clever tacklers and punters, while the wings are pronounced to be almost incomparably fast. The locals know they are up against a proposition that will require them to use all their knowledge of the game, when they face the fourteen from Quebec province.

So far this season the Peterborough team has done great work and proved to the satisfaction of its supporters that it can dish up an article of rugby of the gilt-edged variety. The club has been under heavy expenses, which have put a big hole in the finances and expect to have an exceptionally large crowd on hand when they meet the Westmounts next Saturday. The game will undoubtedly be the best one seen here this season and, no matter how it results, will certainly be very fast and interesting. The homesters have some good stunts up their sleeves to spring during the game and are doing some tall figuring on several puzzling and effective plays.

W.C.T.U. NOTES

The following has been given the Review by a local lady interested in the work of the W.C.T.U. The first two paragraphs are clipped from the Cleveland Expositor:—

SUCCESSFUL MEN DON'T DRINK

The editor of the Ladies' Home Journal, Mr. Bok, recently made an investigation with a view of ascertaining, if possible, the proportion of the leading business men of the nation who are addicted to the use of liquors.

Twenty-eight of the largest business men of the country were taken for the purpose, and the results show that twenty-two out of the twenty-eight, or more than five-sevenths have never used alcoholic liquors in any way, shape or form.

ONLY SOBER MEN WANTED.

The Lehigh Valley railroad has served notice on its employees that they must be total abstainers from alcoholic liquors, or leave the service of the company, and it is quite likely that all the other lines will adopt the same rule. It is only cumulative evidence that there are enough sober men in the world to do the world's work.

The conviction is gaining weight everywhere that the temperance question is not simply moral, but economic; and corporations are now one with the churches in their effort to suppress this great national vice.

NEVER BEGIN.

In his meetings at St. Paul, Minn., Dr. Chapman sobered the hearts of men by exhibiting at his great men's meeting a dollar bill that he had received at Topeka with this note attached:—

"I had $50,000, a wife and child. This is my last dollar. My wife and child have left me—have left me on account of whiskey. Take my advice young man, and live a sober, Christian life.

THE INTERIOR.

MEETING OF THE DIRECTORS

A meeting of the directors of the Port Hope Brewing and Malting Co. is being held in Port Hope today. Messrs. J. M. Brooks and Alex. Elliott, of this city, are in attendance.

Annual Meeting To-morrow Night

The third annual meeting of the Young Conservative Club will be held tomorrow, (Thursday evening, at 8 o'clock, in the club rooms, George street.

A full attendance of members is requested, as the plans for the coming winter season will be discussed, reports presented, officers elected, etc. Every member, young and old, should be on hand tomorrow evening.

AMUSEMENTS

BEN GREET IN "MACBETH.

Comic opera, musical comedy, and other productions of a higher nature may tickle the fancy of a large portion of the theatre going population of Peterborough, but that there are many lovers of high class drama in the city was evidenced last night when a crowded house greeted Ben Greet and his company at the Grand opera house. Shakespeare's great great tragedy, "MacBeth," was presented and the splendid work of the different members of the cast provoked round after round of applause. Peterborough people have not had many opportunities recently to see Shakesperian productions and they have been missing much. Regret was heard expressed on all sides last night that the greatest of dramatists' plays could not be seen more frequently.

Mr. Greet and his company play Shakespeare's plays as Shakespeare wrote them and as they were played in Shakespeare's time. No effort is made towards scenic effect, but so striking is the presentation of the lines that one does not notice the lack of scenery. "MacBeth" was splendidly put on last night with Mr. Greet in the title role. He was supported by an excellent cast and delighted the lovers of Shakesperian drama and others who did not know before that there was so much in the works of the great dramatist. Some of the scenes were strikingly powerful and outbursts of applause were frequent. The quaint costumes of the players, the strange music and many other features added greatly to the production.

The Collegiate Institute pupils were out in full force and evidenced deep interest in the play as "MacBeth" is being taken up at the Institute this term.

WILMOT YOUNG CO.

The H. Wilmot Young Co., will be at the Grand Opera House for four nights, Nov. 11, 12, 13, and 14, opening in the comedy drama "A Broken Heart," apropos of the per- Broken Heart." Apropos of the performance, the Kingston, Ont., News of Oct. 25, said,—

"Last night there was a record-breaking house at the Grand, for even after the "standing room only" sign had been hung out, people continued coming. Every box was taken, every seat on the ground floor, every seat in the balcony, and an immense throng in the "Gods." And the performance justified the attendance. Probably never before in the Grand has a stock company put on such a play and put it on so well. The play was entitled "A Broken Heart," and centered around Miss Marjorie Adams Young whose clever work drew gerat applause. H. Wilmot Young was excellent, and supported Miss Young in splendid style. The other characters were all well taken, and particularly that of Baby Margeurite, the little star. The costumes were beautiful throughout.

The specialties were the best that have been seen here in a long time. The illustrated songs and moving pictures were good, and the work of the Dr. Mateos very mystifying. The best of them all, however was Verona, and her marvellous electrical effect.

AT "NEW WONDERLAND."

The bill now being presented at "New Wonderland," opposite the street railway offices, George street, is a particularly novel and entertaining one. A series of realistic and novel slides are shown, the moving picture being put on now, "Cinderella," while "Alice, Where Art Thou Going," is a tuneful song, with appropriate and artistic slides.

Tax Collector in New Office

Second Instalment of Taxes Should be Paid Before November 15th

The City Tax Collector, Mr. W. J. Green is now comfortably settled in his apartments at the City Hall, and is ready to receive all those who have yet to pay their second instalment of the year's taxes.

Mr. Green will be 'at home' for this purpose, every day until five o'clock, until November 15th. After that, those who have not paid the full amount off taxes, will be charged 5 per cent. extra. "Come early and avoid the rush," is the collector's advice. Don't leave your payments until the last day.

Ratepayers and especially women who usually pay the taxes will be pleased to know that they will not have to climb a long flight of stairs. The collector's quarters are two doors east to the entrance to the old ones, on the ground floor. The office is handsomely fitted up with all the latest fixtures. In case of a rush, there are three wickets where payments can be made, and a waiting room at the rear, where people may rest.

The other offices in the new portion of the city buildings will be ready for occupation in a few days.

THE DISCOVERER

Of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the Great Woman's Remedy for Woman's Ills.

No other female medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement.

No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles or such hosts of grateful friends as has

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It will entirely cure the worst forms of Female Complaints, Inflammation and Ulceration. Falling and Displacement, and consequent Spinal Weakness, and is peculiarly adapted to the Change of Life.

It has cured more cases of Backache and Local Weaknesses, than any other remedy the world has ever known. It is almost infallible in such cases. It dissolves and expels tumors in an early stage of development.

Irregular, Suppressed or Painful Periods, Weakness of the Stomach, Indigestion, Bloating, Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility quickly yield to it. Deranged organs causing pain, weight and backache, instantly relieved and permanently cured by its use. Under all circumstances it invigorates the female system.

It quickly removes that bearing-down feeling, extreme lassitude, "don't-care" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feeling, excitability, irritability, nervousness, dizziness, faintness, sleeplessness, flatulency, melancholy or the "blues" and headache. These are sure indications of Female Weakness, or some derangement of the organs which this medicine surely cures. Chronic Kidney Complaints and Backache, of either sex, the Vegetable Compound cures.

Those women who refuse to accept anything else are rewarded a hundred thousand times, for they get what they want—a cure. Sold by Druggists everywhere. Refuse all substitutes.

The Treaty Cannot be Annulled; "Fighting Joe" is on the Warpath

Joseph Martin Throws Bomb Into Asiatic League Camp.

Says British Columbia Deserves Treatment It Gets From Laurier—Scores Canadian Manufacturers' Association—They Supply Premier With Campaign Funds — Should Vote Exclusion.

Vancouver, Nov. 6.—Joseph Martin, K. C., on Monday night threw a bomb into the Asiatic League at their own meeting, opposing practically all their views as to the methods of excluding Orientals and agreeing only with their demand for that exclusion.

He justified Laurier in his course upon the question, declaring that Sir Wilfrid had only promised to carry out the views of the British Columbia Federal representatives, and these men had supported him in the face of his repeated disallowance of the Natal Act, even voting to a man for the treaty.

In the same breath Martin denounced the Premier upon other phases of Federal administration for betraying every true principle of Liberalism since coming into power, violating every principle he had advocated in opposition, corrupting the people with their own money, forgetting all his pledges when in opposition.

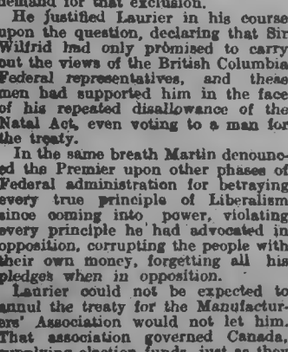
Laurier could not be expected to annul the treaty for the Manufacturers' Association would not let him. That association governed Canada, supplying election funds, just as they did for Sir John A. Macdonald. Laurier would bend the knee to the manufacturers for the sake of a few paltry thousand dollars in trade with the Orient, with the danger, even the certainty in view, of not only British Columbia, but other provinces of Canada becoming overrun with Asiatics.

"The solution of the question," continued Mr. Martin, "will begin only when we in British Columbia get right ourselves and stop voting for men who talk one way and in Ottawa vote another. That is what the Eastern Provinces will say when we ask for their sympathetic aid."

He then rapped the B. C. Conservative Government for being as insincere as the Federal Liberals, McBride allowing the Lieutenant-Governor to rule. If McBride was sincere he could pass and enforce the Natal Act, and continue re-enacting it as often as disallowed by Ottawa.

He concluded with a rap at the Trades and Labor Council, who largely composed the league, for opposing the immigration of white labor in an effort to keep up the excessive price of labor in British Columbia, though the province is in need of that labor.

The speech fairly paralyzed the league.



STEWARD DROWNS HIMSELF.

Attempted to Assault Young Lady, Then Jumped Overboard.

Brest, France, Nov. 6.—A local paper yesterday printed a story to the effect that on Oct. 28, during a voyage of the Hamburg-American line steamer Kron Prinz, Essen Cecilie, from Vera Cruz, Mexico, to Brest, a steward broke into one of the cabins and attempted to assault Mlle. Dasane, daughter of the late Field Marshal Dasane and goddaughter of the ex-Empress Eugene.

The screams of the young woman, it is added brought passengers to her rescue, and the steward leaped overboard and was drowned.

Four Drowned at Dalhousie.

Dalhousie, N. B., Nov. 6.—Andrew Carr, James Neilson, of Dalhousie, N. B.; Willie Wafer and James Dickie of Florence Point, Que., started for Florence Point Monday night in an eight-foot boat with the wind blowing a gale and seas running high.

The boat was found yesterday morning with Neilson's lifeless body in it. The boat had evidently swamped shortly after leaving here. The other bodies have not been recovered.

Edward Wafer, brother of Willie Wafer, was drowned in almost the same place seven years ago. Ernest Neilson's brother Jack was drowned near here five years ago. Two years ago William Carr, a brother of Andrew, was drowned in the same place under similar circumstances. Neilson was to leave for Ontario to-day.

Two Injured In Runaway.

Stratford, Nov. 6—Alexander Horne, a farmer living a few miles from the city, was badly injured in a runaway accident. His horse was standing near the G. T. R. shops when the whistle started it off. Horne was thrown on the road and severely cut about the face and head. The runaway horse collided with another one being driven by Mrs. Thomas Cartledge, who was also pitched from her buggy and rendered insensible. Both rigs were smashed.

Logging Train Ran Away.

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 6.—Two men were killed near Chemainus at noon yesterday, when a logging train operated by the Chemainus Lumber Co. ran down a steep mountain grade.

Locomotive Engineer L. White of Vancouver dashed his head against a tall stump, when in the act of jumping from the runaway train. He was instantly killed.

Nearly 80,000 railway workmen in Britain have voted for a general strike for recognition of the union, and unless a settlement is reached a hundred thousand men will soon be out.

ROBBED CHINESE RESTAURANT.

Smart Thief Arrested on Train at Kingston Yesterday.

Kingston, Nov. 6.—A sensational arrest was made yesterday morning, when Dan A. Wilcox, a sporty young man from Watertown, was arrested just as he was trying to beat his way out of town on the Kingston & Pembroke 12.20 train.

The young man is charged with the theft of $30 or $35 from the two Chinese restaurants in the city. About ten days ago he got into the till of the King street restaurant for about $14. On Tuesday he again got away with some dollars and again on Friday he stole a larger amount.

Yesterday morning at 9.30 he tried to force the till of the Princess street restaurant, but was surprised in the act by a waiter. The young man, however, was not caught napping and got out of the door in quick style with the Chinese at his heels. Not only did he get clear away from the Chinese, but he managed to conceal himself so well that the police, who were called in, were stuck for some time.

Quickly men were stationed at every place where a getaway could be accomplished. At 12.30 he made a determined attempt to get away by beating it out of the K. & P. Railway. This was doomed to failure and P.C.'s Mullinger and Arinel had him inside the cells a moment later.

SCHOONER ORION LOST.

Crew of Sixteen Probably Drowned—St. John Steamer Burns.

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 6.—A dory stamped "Orion" has been picked up at Grangamelle. It is believed the schooner passed through the straits and was wrecked on Twin Islands or Port aux Choix, near Point Riche. The Government steamer Fiona is now searching for wreckage.

The schooner was from Grand Banks and Fortune Bay. Of the crew of 16, eleven were married.

Steamer Springfield Burned.

St. John, N. B., Nov. 6.—It has just been learned that the Belle Isle steamer Springfield was burned to the water's edge at Hatfield's Point early yesterday morning. The crew had a narrow escape. The origin of the fire is unknown. By the time the alarm was given the boat was one mass of flames.

The crew cut the burning vessel's ropes and let her drift away. She continued to burn for some time afterwards and finally filled and sank. All the boat's furnishings and a good deal of clothing, etc., belonging to the crew, were destroyed.

The stewardess, Mrs. Mott, was rescued when half suffocated. She was revived with difficulty. The steamer was one of the oldest boats on the St. John River, and was insured for $4,000.

PARENTS KILLED BEFORE BABY.

Black Hand Follows Them From New York to Garfield.

New York, Nov. 6.—Mother and father murdered before their two-year-old baby's eyes is the story of another Black Hand plot. Raffael and Antoinette Rossano, who kept a store here were threatened by mysterious letters from the Black Hand. Terrified they fled to Garfield, N. J., where they started a business.

But midnight, Saturday ended the struggle, when the mother was found on the front steps, dead, and the father sitting in a chair in the kitchen, also shot dead. The child has not been able to tell what she saw yet.

The murderers evidently had come into the store about the time it was to close, had shot both the man and his wife, obtained all the money there was, save the twenty-dollar bill, which they dropped, overlooked, or refused to take after it fell where it did, and had then left. The woman had been shot in the head while standing near the counter. She undoubtedly had a moment of consciousness after the shooting, and attempted to drag herself outside. She reached the doorway and had died there. The course of the bullet, which had entered her cheek and ranged back through the throat, had prevented her screaming.

Will Investigate Charges.

Ottawa, Nov. 6.—Hon. Frank Oliver, yesterday informed the delegation of ministers representing the Lord's Day Alliance and other ministerial bodies that an investigation had been ordered by the Government into the charges preferred by Rev. Mr. Pringle against certain Government officials in the Yukon, but so far Mr. Pringle had not gone ahead with his charges. As soon as he was ready they would be thoroughly investigated.

The Premier and the Government would do all it could to enforce the law and see that the Government officials did their duty.

Thousand Dollars For Life.

St. Catharines, Nov. 6.—George L. Steele has accepted $1,000 in full for his claim for damages from the Ontario Power Co. for injuries which will eventually cost him his life. Steele was working in the company's transformer-house. A hole had been left in the second floor, through which to bring material up, and the building being very dark Steele accidentally fell through.

Must Pay For Ghost Story.

Ottawa, Nov. 6.—The appeal of The Winnipeg Free Press Co. against Nagy, arising out of a libel proceeding against that paper for the publication of an article regarding an alleged haunted house in Winnipeg, was dismissed by the Supreme Court yesterday with costs. The judgment of the lower court held the paper liable for $1,000 damages, and this decision stands.

Rioters at Woodstock.

Woodstock, Nov. 6.—The close of the drill season was marked last night by riotous scenes on the market, in which many young members of the Oxford Rifles participated. A big bonfire was lit, and the fire brigade was called out for safety. A number of windows were broken and for those the officers of the regiment have voluntarily offered to pay.

The will of John Bunyan has been discovered among some old papers in an attic in Bellefontaine, Ohio.

WAITED FOR EXPLOSION

Thrilling Adventure of Night Engineer at Vancouver Breweries.

Attacked by Armed Burglars—Bound With Ropes and Thrown Under Desk In Main Office—Attempt to Blow Up Safe Brings Policeman Just In Time to Save the Whole Building.

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 6.—With his hands pinioned behind his back and burglars with drawn revolvers over him, Walter Wittmeyer, night engineer of the Vancouver Breweries, expected at any moment early yesterday morning to be blown into kingdom come by an explosion of the boilers of the big plant.

Wittmeyer was just turning water into the boilers after luncheon hour, when he suddenly found himself looking into the muzzles of four revolvers. Their masked owners knocked him down, bound him with ropes and carried him to the main office of the brewery.

There he was thrown under a desk. While he watched the robbers prepare to blow up the safe, Wittmeyer mentally calculated at what instant the boilers would run out of water, and the entire works, burglars and all, would be blown to atoms. The first charge of nitro-glycerine brought the policeman on the run. He opened fire and they ran. The engineer, bound hand and foot, rolled over to the boiler. The policeman freed him and he rushed to the engine-room just in time to save all.

CROWN MINISTER ON TRIAL.

Will Appear Before Senate Charged With Misappropriation.

Rome, Nov. 6.—Much interest is taken throughout Italy in the trial of Signor Nuncio Nasi, former Minister of Public Instruction, which began here yesterday.

Signor Nasi is accused of the misappropriation of public funds while in office, and is being tried by the Senate, sitting as a High Court of Justice. This unusual procedure adds to the importance of the occasion and also to the curious interest of the people.

The Government has taken every precaution to preserve order, for it is certain that there will be serious demonstrations in favor of the accused man.

With Signor Nasi, Signor Lombardi, formerly Nasi's secretary, is under indictment. Though he is suffering from pneumonia, he will appear before the High Court, and he declares he will fight with his last breath to prove his innocence and that of his friend and one-time master.

Tows Ship 25 Miles.

Victoria, Nov. 6.—The whaling steamer St. Lawrence put into port yesterday, with a record of 45 whales to her credit for the season. This catch will net $500,000 to the owners.

On one occasion a monster sulphur bottom towed the 110-ton steamer a distance of 25 miles, taking 300 fathoms of line, and with the engines half-speed astern to tire the monster out. At times the vessel tore through the water at a speed of 20 miles an hour, and in all it took seven solid hours and a couple of bombs to end the struggles of the whale.

Again an 80-foot long mammal on being struck dived beneath the vessel, the bomb exploded, and the craft rose out of the water with the tremendous shock occasioned by the explosion and lashing of the wounded giant.

Empress Augusta Cancels Visit.

Berlin, Nov. 6.—Empress Augusta Victoria is not going to England because her daughter, Princess Victoria Louise, is likely to suffer from chickenpox, having been in the company of Princess Alexandra of Schleswig-Holstein-Sonderburg-Slucksburg, who was attacked by the malady Monday. Princess Alexandra is the fiance of Prince Frederick August, third son of Her Majesty.

The Empress is extremely disappointed, and messages expressing her deep regret have been sent to King Edward and Queen Alexandra by the German Emperor, as well as by the Empress. The latter, who is a devoted mother, regards it as her duty to remain, and take care of her little daughter, who is already showing the first symptoms of the complaint from which Princess Alexandra is suffering.

Slept on the Track.

Kenora, Nov. 6.—J. C. Copping, who was hit by a locomotive on the C.P.R. last Friday, died yesterday. Copping had gone to flag No. 1 to protect the rear end of his train, and presumably fell asleep after placing torpedoes on the rails, which No. 1's engineer says woke him up, but he did not have time to avoid the blow.

Not Responsible.

St. Catharines, Nov. 6.—The owners of the steamer Norwalk which is held in the Welland Canal, will make a fight against paying the Montreal Navigation Co. damages of $26,500 for the sinking of the Jet in St. Louis Bay last week. The officers put the blame on the other vessel.

Killed Under Locomotive.

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Nov. 6.—Alexander McLure, aged 54, a brakeman on the Boston & Maine Railway, and a native of Pleasant Valley, P. E. I., was crushed to death under a big freight engine that turned turtle near Somerville Station, Mass.

Sydney Line to Expand.

London, Nov. 6.—(C. A. P.)—The Sydney line, on receiving the mail contract, will issue new shares and appoint an Australian on the directorate.

Ten men were blown to pieces in Bruges, France, on Saturday by the explosion of dog shells they were drawing to the testing ground.

DEMOCRATS LEAD.

Vote In New York Elections Was Unusually Light.

New York, Nov. 6.—Sufficiently complete returns to make certain the ultimate results show that the Republican and Independence League fusion in New York County was defeated yesterday by straight Democratic ticket; that the Independence League ticket for associate justices of the Court of Appeals was overwhelmingly beaten by the identical tickets of the Republicans and Democrats, and that there will be a slight change in the make-up of the state assembly.

In the city the Independence League Court of Appeals ticket was defeated four to one, and the league vote up-state was light. In this city interest centred in the county fight, in which the Republican and Independence League forces opposed the Tammany ticket. James W. Gerard was elected to the Supreme Court with a wide margin over M. Linn Bruce. Thomas F. Foley defeated for the sheriff's office the fusion candidate, Maximilian F. Ihmsen, who is also prominent in the Independence League. Early returns gave Foley a big lead, but this was later scaled down till 700 of the 833 of the election districts in the county showed a margin for the Democratic candidate of 25,000.

Edward T. Bartlett and Williard Bartlett, nominated by both Republicans and Democrats for the Court of Appeals, were chosen.

The election was unusually quiet and the vote light.

OPENED PRISONERS' LETTERS.

Illinois Sheriff Arrested for Tampering With Mail.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—Fred F. Carter, sheriff of Lake County, Indiana, was arrested Monday by U. S. Marshal Rankin, of Indianapolis, charged with having opened the mail of Alexander Poleski, a former prisoner.

If the Government establishes its contention, it is declared sheriffs, deputy sheriffs, wardens and other officials in penitentiaries, jails and similar institutions throughout the country are in danger of a like experience.

On the other hand friends of Carter point out that if officials in jails and prisons are forbidden to open the mail of the prisoners, plots for escape may be hatched with impunity and forbidden articles, ranging from cigarettes to the deadliest poisons, may be sent through the mail to prisoners.

Sheriff Carter freely admitted that he opened the mail of Poleski, but asserted that he believed he was acting clearly in conformance with his duty to see that no forbidden articles were smuggled into the jail or schemes arranged for a jail delivery.

ELECTION DAY RIOT.

One Killed, Two Seriously Injured at Lexington.

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 6.—Following an election day riot here yesterday afternoon, Clyde Campbell was killed. Patrolman Michael Murphy probably fatally wounded, and Patrolman Marion Smith and W. R. Campbell, Clyde's father, severely wounded. The elder Campbell, who was a Republican candidate for councilman, was arrested after he had protested against what he termed election frauds. His son came to his assistance, and was shot by Murphy. W. R. Campbell then shot Murphy, who returned the fire, severely wounding his man, although himself probably fatally hurt.

Man Got Broken Nose.

Brampton, Ont., Nov. 6.—A disturbance was created in the C. P. R. station here yesterday following a trial before Police Magistrate Crawford, who committed Neil McCollum for trial on a charge of obtaining a promissory note from one John McBride of Caledon on false pretences. McCollum sold a brood mare to George Hand of Mulmur, who gave him a note for $470 in payment. The horse not being up to the guarantee, it is said, Hand demanded the return of the note which in the meantime had passed into McBride's possession. McCollum obtained the note again, and McBride began a suit against him for the manner in which the former secured it from him. All parties concerned met at the station, and a general row occurred, in which McCollum and his son were roughly handled, the latter having his nose broken and the father being since confined to bed from the injuries received.

The C. P. R. authorities have issued a number of summonses, and the matter will be threshed out before the police magistrate here to-morrow.

Released on Suspended Sentence.

Brockville, Nov. 6.—Thomas Dempster was let off easy yesterday before Police Magistrate Deacon for interfering with Deputy Sheriff Traill, while the latter was making a seisure of cattle in Lansdowne.

Through his solicitor he pleaded guilty and, recognizing his mistake, was willing to apologize. In view of this he was discharged on suspended sentence. He paid the costs of the court, some $19.

Capelli Will Hang.

Toronto, Nov. 6.—The Dominion Cabinet yesterday considered an appeal for a commutation of the death sentence of Capelli, who is to be hanged at Parry Sound to-morrow.

T. C. Robinette, K. C., received a telegram from J. M. Godfrey of his firm, who made the appeal, and Mr. Robinette had no hopeful word to say.

Two Brothers Cremated.

Quebec, Nov. 6.—A tugboat at Murray Bay was completely destroyed by fire Saturday night, and two boys, brothers, named Bergeron, who were asleep on board, were burned to death.

Mr. Owen's Majority.

Campbellford, Nov. 6.—Mr. C. L. Owen was declared yesterday elected member of Parliament for East Northumberland. The official returns give him 242 majority.

The Prisoner of Zenda

By... ANTHONY HOPE

Copyrighted, 1898, 1908, by Henry Holt & Company

"Why, he's as like the king as one pea to another, madame!" cried the girl, a little shaken, but still obstinate.

"It is not the king. Don't kiss him."

Sapt started round. The old marshal's face asked unspoken questions. Flavia's glance was no less eloquent. Suspicion spreads quick.

"I'll ride myself and see this man," said Sapt hastily.

"Nay, I'll come myself," said the princess.

"Then come alone," he whispered.

And she, obedient to the strange hinting in his face, prayed the marshal and the rest to wait, and she and Sapt came on foot toward where we lay, Sapt waving to the farm girl to keep at a distance. And when I saw them coming I sat in a sad heap on the ground and buried my face in my hands. I could not look at her. Fritz knelt by me, laying his hand on my shoulder.

"Speak low, whatever you say," I heard Sapt whisper as they came up, and the next thing I heard was a low cry—half of joy, half of fear—from the princess:

"It is he! Are you hurt?"

And she fell on the ground by me and gently pulled my hands away, but I kept my eyes to the ground.

"It is the king!" she said. "Pray, Colonel Sapt, tell me where lay the wit of the joke you played on me?"

We answered none of us. We three were silent before her. Regardless of them, she threw her arms round my neck and kissed me. Then Sapt spoke in a low, hoarse whisper:

"It is not the king. Don't kiss him. He's not the king."

She drew back for a moment; then, with an arm still round my neck, she asked in superb indignation:

"Do I not know my love? Rudolf, my love!"

"It is not the king," said old Sapt again, and a sudden sob broke from tender hearted Fritz.

It was the sob that told her no comedy was afoot.

"He is the king!" she cried. "It is the king's face—the king's ring—my ring! It is my love!"

"Your love, madame," said old Sapt, "but not the king. The king is there in the castle. This gentleman"—

"Look at me, Rudolf, look at me!" she cried, taking my face between her hands. "Why do you let them torment me? Tell me what it means!"

Then I spoke, gazing into her eyes.

"God forgive me, madame," I said. "I am not the king!"

I felt her hands clutch my cheeks. She gazed at me as never man's face was scanned yet. And I, silent again, saw wonder born, and doubt grow, and terror spring to life as she looked. And very gradually the grasp of her hands slackened; she turned to Sapt, to Fritz and back to me, then suddenly she reeled forward and fell in my arms, and with a great cry of pain I gathered her to me and kissed her lips.

Sapt laid his hand on my arm. I looked up in his face. And I laid her softly on the ground and stood up, looking on her, cursing heaven that young Rupert's sword had spared me for this sharper pang.

CHAPTER XXI.

IT was night, and I was in the cell wherein the king had lain in the castle of Zenda. The great pipe that Rupert of Hentzau had nicknamed "Jacob's ladder" was gone, and the lights in the room across the moat twinkled in the darkness. All was still; the din and clash of strife were gone. I had spent the day hidden in the forest from the time when Fritz had led me off, leaving Sapt with the princess. Under cover of dusk, muffled up, I had been brought to the castle and lodged where I now lay. Though three men had died there—two of them by my hand—I was not troubled by ghosts. I had thrown myself on a pallet by the window and was looking out on the black water. Johann, the keeper, still pale from his wound, but not much hurt besides, had brought me supper. He told me that the king was doing well, that he had seen the princess; that she and he, Sapt and Fritz had been long together. Marshal Strakencz was gone to Strelsau; Black Michael lay in his coffin, and Antoinette de Mauban watched by him. Had I not heard from the chapel priests singing mass for him?

Outside there were strange rumors afloat. Some said that the prisoner of Zenda was dead; some, that he had vanished yet alive; some, that he was a friend who had served the king well in some adventure in England; others, that he had discovered the duke's plots and had therefore been kidnaped by him. One or two shrewd fellows shook their heads and said only that they would say nothing, but they had suspicions that more was to be known than was known if Colonel Sapt would tell all he knew.

Thus Johann chattered till I sent him away and lay there alone thinking not of the future; but, as a man is wont to do when stirring things have happened to him, rehearsing the events of the past weeks and wondering how strangely they had fallen out. And above me in the stillness of the night I heard the standards flapping against their poles, for Black Michael's banner hung there half mast high, and above it the royal flag of Ruritania, floating for one night more over my head. Habit grows so quick that only by an effort did I recollect that it floated no longer for me.

Presently Fritz von Tarlenheim came into the room. I was standing then by the window; the glass was opened, and I was idly fingering the cement which clung to the masonry where "Jacob's ladder" had been. He told me briefly that the king wanted me, and together we crossed the drawbridge and entered the room that had been Black Michael's.

The king was lying there in bed. Our doctor from Tarlenheim was in attendance on him and whispered to me that my visit must be brief. The king held out his hand and shook mine. Fritz and the doctor withdrew to the window.

I took the king's ring from my finger and placed it on his.

"I have tried not to dishonor it, sire," said I.

"I can't talk much to you," he said in a weak voice. "I have had a great fight with Sapt and the marshal, for we have told the marshal everything. I wanted to take you to Strelsau and keep you with me and tell every one of what you had done, and you would have been my best and nearest friend, Cousin Rudolf. But they tell me I must not, and that the secret must be kept, if kept it can be."

"They are right, sire. Let me go. My work here is done."

"Yes, it is done as no man but you could have done it. When they see me again I shall have my beard on. I shall—yes, faith, I shall be wasted with sickness. They will not wonder that the king looks changed in face. Cousin, I shall try to let them find him changed in nothing else. You have shown me how to play the king."

"Sire," said I, "I can take no praise from you. It is by the narrowest grace of God that I was not a worse traitor than your brother."

He turned inquiring eyes on me, but a sick man shrinks from puzzles, and he had no strength to question me. His glance fell on Flavia's ring, which I wore. I thought he would question me about it, but after fingering it idly he let his head fall on his pillow.

"I don't know when I shall see you again," he said faintly, almost listlessly.

"If I can ever serve you again, sire," I answered.

His eyelids closed. Fritz came with the doctor. I kissed the king's hand and let Fritz lead me away. I have never seen the king since.

Outside Fritz turned, not to the right, back toward the drawbridge, but to the left, and, without speaking, led me up stairs, through a handsome corridor in the chateau.

"Where are we going?" I asked.

Looking away from me, Fritz answered:

"She has sent for you. When it is over come back to the bridge. I'll wait for you there."

"What does she want?" said I, breathing quickly.

He shook his head.

"Does she know everything?"

"Yes, everything."

He opened a door and, gently pushing me in, closed it behind me. I found myself in a drawing room, small and richly furnished. At first I thought that I was alone, for the light that came from a pair of shaded candles on the mantelpiece was very dim. But presently I discerned a woman's figure standing by the window. I knew it was the princess, and I walked up to her, fell on one knee and carried the hand that hung by her side to my lips. She neither moved nor spoke. I rose to my feet and, piercing the gloom with my eager eyes, saw her pale face and the gleam of her hair, and before I knew I spoke softly:

"Flavia!"

She trembled a little and looked round. Then she darted to me, taking hold of me.

"Don't stand, don't stand. No, you mustn't! You're hurt! Sit down—here, here!"

She made me sit on a sofa and put her hand on my forehead.

"How hot your head is!" she said, sinking on her knees by me. Then she laid her head against me, and I heard her murmur, "My darling, how hot your head is!"

Somehow love gives even to a dull man the knowledge of his lover's heart. I had come to humble myself and pray pardon for my presumption, but what I said now was:

"I love you with all my heart and soul."

For what troubled and shamed her? Not her love for me, but the fear that I had counterfeited the lover as I had acted the king and taken her kisses with a smothered smile.

"With all my life and heart," said I as she clung to me. "Always, from the first moment I saw you in the cathedral. There has been but one woman in the world to me, and there will be no other. But God forgive me the wrong I've done you!"

"They made you do it!" she said quickly, and she added, raising her head and looking in my eyes: "It might have made no difference if I'd known it. It was always you, never the king." And she raised herself and kissed me.

"I meant to tell you," said I. "I was going to on the night of the ball in Strelsau when Sapt interrupted me. After that I couldn't—I couldn't risk losing you before—before—I must! My darling, for you I nearly left the king to die."

"I know, I know! What are we to do now, Rudolf?"

I put my arm round her and held her up while I said:

"I am going away tonight."

"Ah, no, no!" she cried. "Not tonight?"

"I must go tonight before more people have seen me. And how would you have me stay, sweetheart, except"—

"If I could come with you," she whispered very low,

"My God," said I roughly, "don't talk about that!" And I thrust her a little back from me.

"Why not? I love you. You are as good a gentleman as the king."

Then I was false to all that I should have held by, for I caught her in my arms and prayed her in words that I will not write to come with me, daring all Ruritania to take her from me. And for awhile she listened, with wondering, dazzled eyes, but as her eyes looked on me I grew ashamed and my voice died away in broken murmurs and stammerings, and at last I was silent.

She drew herself away from me and stood against the wall, while I sat on the edge of the sofa, trembling in every limb, knowing what I had done, loathing it, obstinate not to undo it. So we rested a long time.

"I am mad!" I said sullenly.

"I love your madness, dear," she answered.

Her face was away from me, but I caught the sparkle of a tear on her cheek. I clutched the sofa with my hand and held myself there.

"Is love the only thing?" she asked in low, sweet tones that seemed to bring a calm even to my wrung heart. "If love were the only thing, I could follow you—in rags, if need be—to the world's end, for you hold my heart in the hollow of your hand. But is love the only thing?"

I made her no answer. It gives me shame now to think that I would not help her.

She came near me and laid her hand on my shoulder. I put my hand up and held hers.

"I know people write and talk as if it were. Perhaps for some fate lets it be. Ah, if I were one of them! But if love had been the only thing you would have let the king die in his cell."

I kissed her hand.

"Honor binds a woman, too, Rudolf. My honor lies in being true to my country and my house. I don't know why God has let me love you, but I know that I must stay."

Still I said nothing, and she, pausing awhile, then went on:

"Your ring will always be on my finger, your heart in my heart, the touch of your lips on mine, but you must go, and I must stay. Perhaps I must do what it kills me to think of doing."

I knew what she meant, and a shiver ran through me, but I could not utterly fall beside her. I rose and took her hand.

"Do what you will or what you must," I said. "I think God shows his purposes to such as you. My part is lighter, for your ring shall be on my finger and your heart in mine, and no touch save of your lips will ever be on mine. So may God comfort you, my darling!"

THE LATEST DEAN PATTERNS

FOR THE LITTLE MAN'S SUIT

Much of the energy with which the average small boy is endowed seems to expend itself in the endeavor to wear out his clothes with as much celerity as possible; hence the mother of such a boy, never being quite through with the work of making new garments, is naturally eager to find designs that are easy to make and to keep clean. The little blouse suit here sketched will unquestionably prove welcome, since it exactly fills these special needs. The blouse, which is tucked in front and back in triple box-pleat effect, is modelled after the Russian style, and fastens on the left side, the closing being concealed by the tucks. A pleasing departure from the usual mode, however, is seen in the position of the belt, which terminates on either side under the tucks. The pleated sleeve is constructed on the most approved models for little boys' wear. Serge was used for modelling the suit as shown, but any pliable cloth might be chosen, the preference being given to a fabric that may easily be sponged and pressed when necessary. A tub fabric may be substituted for the wool, if desired, such suits being frequently made of washable material, regardless of the season. For the five-year size, 4 yards of 27 inch goods will be needed.

Dear Sir,—I have much pleasure in acknowledging this receipt of the cheque for $1,244, being the amount paid me on this maturity of my endowment policy, 35200, in your Company which matured on the 1st inst.

I find I have received almost 4 per cent. compound interest on every dollar paid in to the Company and in addition have had free insurance for the past fifteen years.

Such a result speaks volumes for the management of your company, and far exceeds my expectations and I would be ungrateful indeed were I not to acknowledge it.

I was also offered a paid-up policy of $2,078, or an annuity for life of $111.55, both of which I consider excellent.

I thank you very much indeed and wish your company the continued success and confidence it so richly deserves.

Yours very truly,

Dairying Industry Has Had Good Year

Less Cheese Made But Prices Have Been Higher, Says Mr. Derbyshire

Mr. Dan Derbyshire, ex-M.P., of Brockville, and former president of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association, is in the city to-day on business. He is accompanied by Mr. Geo. H. Barr, of Montreal, official referee of butter and cheese at that port.

Speaking to the Review to-day Mr. Derbyshire said that the make of cheese during the past season would not be as great as last year owing to the cold backward spring and the shortage in pasture, but the receipts would be as high if not higher owing to the increase in price. Mr. Derbyshire said that there is some shortage in fodder in the country, but not to as great an extent as rumored. Farmers were selling off some of their unprofitable cows, but he thought there was sufficient feed for all good milkers. On the whole the dairying season for the past summer had been a good one.

"What about that Senatorship?" Is it coming your way Mr. Derbyshire?" was asked.

"I have heard nothing about it," replied the genial Dan.

"How do you account for the turnover in Brockville at the recent bye-election when Mr. Donovan, the Conservative candidate, defeated Mr. Lewis, was asked.

"Oh, well it was this way" replied Mr. Derbyshire, "The Conservatives allowed Hon. G. P. Graham to be returned by acclamation and a number of Liberals thought the compliment should be returned so far as Mr. Donovan was concerned. They refrained from voting thus allowing Mr. Donovan to capture the seat" concluded Mr. Derbyshire as he left to attend the meeting of the Cheese Board.

Duck Shooting Good at Chemong

Zack Knott Who Had Great Luck Last Season Again After Birds

This has been duck shooting season in most parts of the country and the majority of the sportsmen have little reason to complain in the matter of bagging the birds. At Pigeon and Buckhorn Lakes an average season is reported and some of the sportsmen are having particularly good luck. Zack Knott of Chemong village, who secured the record number of ducks in the Karwartha Lakes last season, is shooting again this year and has been very fortunate, having brought down a large number of ducks. On Saturday 80 ducks were brought to the city on the Chemong stage for distribution among different Peterboro' hotels, restaurants, butcher shops and stores.

Unknown Ruffian Accosted Two Ladies After Night Fall

Two Young Women Encountered the Wretch in East City—Grabbed One and Held Her Hand But She Got Away—Villain Later Tried to Catch Another Lady But Was Beaten Off With an Umbrella

Accosted by an unknown man, who ran from behind a tree on Hunter street, near Mark street, and placed his hand over her mouth, a young lady, who resides on Rogers street, East City, had a rather exciting experience, which she will not soon forget.

While returning to her home shortly after ten o'clock last evening, the young girl was walking along the north side of Hunter street, when the thug assailed her.

The night was dark, and the weather being disagreeable, there were few people on the street. The young lady was alone and there was no one to be seen in any direction.

After crossing Mark street, from the corner to the young girl's home, the way is quite dark, and it is almost impossible to see anyone until right up to them. She had just passed Mr. Jas. McDonald's residence, which is the second house from the corner, when the man, who had concealed himself behind a tree, stepped onto the sidewalk and grabbed the young lady, and quickly held his hand over her mouth. She was needless to say, terribly frightened. After a struggle she released herself from her assailant's grasp and ran towards Mr. McDonald's, screaming vigorously. In a nervous and excited condition she rushed into the house, and told her story to Mr. and Mrs. McDonald.

Mr. McDonald at once telephoned the police station and soon P. C. Adams was on the trail.

After gaining her self-composure, the young lady was taken to her home.

Having succeeded in badly scaring one young lady, the villain quickly took flight to the north end of East City.

Another woman, residing on Concession street, was accosted as she was crossing the railroad track. Although she was badly frightened, her first impulse was to strike the scoundrel. Raising her umbrella, she hit him a crack in the face, and then ran towards her home. A young man who was also going home at the time witnessed the act and took after the man. While unable to catch him, he secured his cap.

It was learned from Mr. Patrick Hogan, proprietor of the Albion Hotel, that the man who is believed to have accosted the young ladies is a short, stout, dark-complexioned man. Between ten and eleven o'clock he called at the hotel and asked for lodging, but was refused. He had a couple of drinks and then departed.

The police have a description of him and are on the lookout for him.

Bold Burglary at Buckhorn; Purser's Store Robbed of $20

Two Young Ladies Discovered the Thief and Gave Chase—Were However Driven Back at Point of Revolver—Local Police Notified of the Raid.

A daring robbery was committed at Buckhorn last night between nine and ten o'clock, when Mr. Purser's store was entered and the till emptied of twenty dollars.

Two young ladies who entered the store from an adjoining room, saw the burglar making his exit through the door. The fair discoverers of the theft pursued the robber, but were driven back to the house again as the desperado turned on them, drawing a revolver and pointing it in their face.

At the sight of the firearm the ladies became greatly frightened and fled back to the house. The thief had got a good start and it was impossible to locate him.

Chief Roszel has received a phone message giving a description of the man. The police are on the lookout for him in case he strikes the city.

Thinks the Light Crop Will Do Country Good

Mr. Jos. Succee's Opinion of Conditions in Saskatchewan—Has Returned to Peterborough to Reside.

Mr. Jos. Succee, who moved from Peterborough to Saskatchewan last spring, arrived in the city, from the West, accompanied by his wife, and will reside here in future. When he went west several months ago, he located at Rosthern in Saskatchewan and put in a crop. A few weeks later, two Americans came along, took a fancy to Mr. Succee's property and made him a handsome offer for it, including his live stock, equipment, etc. The figure offered by the Yankees was too good to be turned down so Mr. Succee sold out and decided to return to Peterborough to live.

Mr. Succee states that the crop in Saskatchewan is not up to the average, as a large amount of wheat was caught by the frost. This was largely the result of late seeding, many settlers sowing wheat as late as the first week in June. However, Mr. Succee thinks that the setback will do the country good, as it will tend to put things on a firmer basis. There has been a little too much high flying and the falling off in the crop this season will have the effect of making the people a little more careful.

Rosthern is a town of about 1,200 inhabitants, is situated on the Canadian Northern Railway, in the Saskatchewan Valley, and is going ahead rapidly. It has several large elevators, grist mill, brick yards, and several other industries.

Mr. Succee still has considerable property in the west, having purchased a large area just before coming away. He has great faith in the west but thinks Peterborough is an ideal place in which to reside.

MEDD--ACKERMAN NUPTIALS

The marriage took place this afternoon at three o'clock, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Ackerman, DaHousie street, of their daughter, Miss Estelle Lumsden, to Mr. Sydney Taylor Medd, barrister-at-law, of Osgoode Hall, and a member of the law firm of Hall, Medd & Davidson, Peterborough, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Medd, of "Meddhome," Millbrook. The marriage took place in the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties, and was performed in the alcove of the drawing room, the Rev. J. P. Wilson, of Belleville, an intimate friend of the bride's family, officiating. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a princess gown of ivory duchess satin made perfectly plain, finished with a deep hem, caught up with bead pearls, and finished about the neck with a tiny yoke of tucked tulle and a berthe of duchess point lace, with seed pearls. She also wore a tulle veil, caught up with orange blossoms, and finished in the lower left hand corner with a monogram of pearls. She carried a bouquet of orchids, tied with white ribbon, and for her only ornament a diamond brooch, the gift of the groom.

The bridesmaid was Miss Edna Ackerman, sister of the bride, who wore blue silk colienne, with tiny lace yoke, and Empire sash, and a pale blue hat wreathed with violets and touched with cream lace, her ornaments being an amethyst cross, the gift of the bride, and a Nethersole bracelet, the gift of the groom. The groomsman was Mr. Alfred W. Medd, of Montreal, brother of the groom. The color scheme was beautiful and effective. The drawing room was banked with palms, and ferns, the room being decorated with white chrysanthemums. Yellow chrysanthemums adorned the living room, while the hall, stairway and the den, where the presents were displayed, from which the cards were removed, looked pretty with pink chrysanthemums. In the dining room the decorations were bridal roses and smilax. The wedding march, the bridal chorus, "Lohengrin," was played by Mr. Charles Ackerman, brother of the bride.

After the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served in the beautifully decorated dining room, the table being artistically decked with roses and smilax. The bride and groom were the recipients of numerous handsome and costly gifts, consisting of silverware, cut glassware in profusion, pictures, china and curios, and also several cheques. They also include a silver tea service from the employees of B. F. Ackerman & Son's establishment, and were all displayed in the "den," on handsomely decorated tables. The groom's gift to the best man was an opal pin, and to the pianist a pair of gold cuff links. Mr. and Mrs. Medd left on the afternoon train on a honeymoon trip, the bride bein gattired in plain green velvet tailored suit, with large velvet hat to match, wreathed with asters and wearing a stole and Empire muff of cub bear.

Among the out-of-town guests present for the interesting event were Mrs. Medd, Millbrook, mother of the groom, and Mr. W. A. Coulthard, of Saskatoon, a cousin of the groom, who travelled eastward especially for the occasion.

NOT SO BLACK AS PICTURED

Mr. Wm. Eyres Refers to General Conditions in the West

Mr. William Eyres, in conversation with the Review, today, said, "I have read with interest the interview of Ald. R. H. Leary, who has just returned from the West, and I think that he paints things much darker than they are. True, the crops here and there in the west, were destroyed by hail or frost, but in many sections the yield is a good one. There will be a great deal of fine crop, and the farmers generally will realize more this season than they have ever before, by reason of increased prices. Why frosted wheat is now selling at a higher figure than No. 1 hard brought last year. I know of one man in southern Saskatchewan, a few miles south of Calgary, who has already placed $12,000 in the bank, as the result of this year's harvest on his place. I spent June and July in the west, and considering that seeding, all over, was a month late, the grain has come through in fair shape. I farmed for twenty years in Alberta and Manitoba, and raised more grain during that period than I have from fifty years farming operations in Ontario. The West, all things considered, has done marvellously this year, and one year's shortage is not going to check its growth, and I claim that I know what I am talking about, both from personal observation, and reliable reports from different districts.

As to the dullness in real estate, that has been caused by the stringency of the money market, but the future is bright with promise.

Marmora Man Who Tried to Shoot His Brother-in-law

Belleville, Nov. 5.—Before Judge Deroche yesterday afternoon Ephraim Cooper of Marmora township, was charged with and found guilty of threatening, and attempting to shoot one William Walker, also of Marmora township.

The evidence taken in the case, indicated that there were hard feelings existing between the parties. Walker is a brother-in-law of Cooper.

It appears that the complainant was doing some work in a field on Mr. McFall's place, when Cooper appeared upon the scene and it is alleged that he challenged Walker to fight, which the latter refused to do. Cooper then used some vile language towards Walker, and drew from his pocket a revolver, which he aimed at the latter. He pulled the trigger, so Walker stated, but the cap did not explode. The latter then struck Cooper and with assistance succeeded in taking the weapon away from his assailant. It was also told in evidence that Cooper went away, but returned, and threw a stone at Walker which struck him on the body. The latter then went at Cooper and struck him with a shovel, knocking him out. The result was that Cooper was convicted and sentenced to one year in the Central Prison. Mr. Wills appeared for the accused and Mr. Anderson represented the Crown.

In London last month, ninety-nine foreigners took the oath of allegiance and became British subjects. Of this number twenty-eight were from Russia, twenty-two from Germany, and one described himself as a subject of no foreign estate.

Mr. Flaherty is an experienced hotelman and should prove a good proprietor.

Mr. Alexander Likes Hunting in These Parts

Was Formerly Associate Dramatic Editor of the New York Telegraph

Mr. Perry Alexander, whose place of residence is at Bertholdi Inn, 44th Street, and Broadway, N.Y., is in the city, the guest of his grandmother, Mrs. Chas. Perry, 335 Stewart street. He has recently returned from a two weeks' fishing and hunting expedition at Lake Ketcheeum, where he was the guest of the Ketcheeum Lake Club. This is the first year that Mr. Alexander has done any hunting in Canada, although he has pretty well covered the hunting grounds of Florida and of other southern states in pursuit of big game. He is delighted with his outing at Lake Ketcheeum, and says that while he had great luck in fishing, the ducks were not very plentiful. He leaves on Thursday for a season of still hunting at Sandy Lake and will probably remain there until the first of next year. He is an enthusiastic sportsman and a good shot. He has paid particular attention to Indian River, on the east coast of Florida, and has visited this place on a hunting trip with a house boat party, among the members of which were included his mother, Mrs. A. C. Bliss, daughter of Mrs. Perry and several others who were either in quest of game or simply took in the trip for the delightful outing it offered, and to view the picturesque scenery of Florida.

Mr. Perry is a former newspaper man and is still interested to quite an extent in matters relative to the fourth estate. Four years ago he was associate dramatic editor of The Telegraph, N.Y., a journal that devotes more attention to stage news and general theatrical intelligence than any other published in New York, with the exception of publications containing news of a purely theatrical character.

When Mr. Alexander was connected with The Telegraph, Mr. Fred Stone of the famous Montgomery and Stone comedy duo, the pair of inimitable comedians, who created the principal roles in "The Wizard of Oz," and who now are appearing in "The Red Mill," the comic opera success that ran all last season at the Knickerbocker Theatre, N.Y., was also a member of the Telegraph staff.

At the conclusion of his visit to Sandy Lake, he will depart for his home in the American metropolis.

Mr. Alexander has also been identified to quite an extent in a business capacity with different theatrical enterprises.

Many Enjoyed the Programme

Men's Association of All Saints' Church Held Successful Concert

The concert held at All Saints' church last night, under the auspices of the Men's Association, was one of the most successful events of its kind held this season. A large number were in attendance and the programme was of unusual merit. The proceeds were very gratifying to those in charge and will be donated to the building fund for the new church.

The concert was held in the basement, of the church, which was prettily decorated.

Rev. Mr. Major occupied the chair and before the programme commenced, gave a short address, in which he referred to the objects of the Men's Association, and the meritorious purpose for which the concert was being held. Miss Ida Mulholland gave a piano solo that was so good that an encore was demanded, and Mr Johns, who followed with a recitation, also had to respond to an encore. The next item was a mandolin selection that was well received, followed by a recitation by Miss Helen Metherell, who had to come back in answer to repeated calls. A vocal solo by Miss Emily Featherston, and a comic song by Mr. Featherston, were also features of the programme. Mr Crabtree favored the audience with a vocal solo, and later appeared in a duett with Mr. Scrimshaw. Mr Johns also gave another recitation that won great applause.

The programme concluded with a well put on dialogue, "A Haunted Barber Shop," in which Messrs. Graham, Hopkins, Crabtree and Ruth took part.

The flags and bunting used for the decorating of the hall, were kindly loaned by Mr. Kingscote, Water-st.

Talk on "India" Much Enjoyed

Rev. Mr. Keith Gave Lecture at Murray St. Church

The Women's Mission Circle of Murray street church, held a most successful meeting last night, the feature of which was an address on "India" by Rev. H. J. Keith. Mrs. (Dr.) Hunter occupied the chair and there was a large number present. Mr. Keith's talk was illustrated by stereopticon views and was of special interest to a gathering of Baptists, as he dealt largely with the work of Wm. Carey, the Baptist father of foreign missions. Mr. Keith showed several views taken by himself of scenes of Mr. Carey's work, including views of his library, his study chair, and many others.

At the conclusion of his address, a hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Keith, moved by Rev. Mr. Webb, and seconded by Mr. Dunlop.

The thank offering taken at the close of the meeting was very gratifying.

Dominion Govt. Delay Work Of Healey Falls Development

Company Performs Obligations of Ontario Government Lease—Work Stopped on Endorsement of Havelock Council.

The council of Havelock, on Nov. 4th, by resolution, gave expression of public opinion as to the substantial work performed on the Ontario Government lease portion of Healey's Falls and rapids, by the Northumberland-Durham Power Co. This action is not requisite to the Government, but Managing Director J. A. Culverwell thought it a good thing to do, notwithstanding.

The council unanimously endorsed the company's operations, and advised them to stop work on the lower development scheme, until it is definitely known whether the Dominion Government will lease to the company the inflowing portion of the upper rapids, between the Ontario portion and those portions owned by the company.

The company have therefore, stopped work, but will complete the lower head, unless the Dominion Government acts quickly.

They complain bitterly of the delay, and the hardship it entails, waiting for interminable canal surveys. The development of the whole scheme will not interfere with proper canal operations, and the company will furnish land for locks and canal cuttings and walls for lockage.

Following is the resolution;

Whereas the Northumberland-Durham Power Company, Limited, intend furnishing power from Healey Falls to Havelock and South Midland, Ont., and this council, and seventeen other councils have endorsed the application of the said Company to both Governments;

And whereas the said Company has been recently constructing water power development works at Healey Falls;

And whereas ten of the most prominent ratepayers of this municipality visited the Healey Falls works on October 31st, and after fully inspecting the properties and development operations at a meeting there, decided unanimously that the Company had performed bona fide, substantial construction work to the extent of some $1,653.65 in the development of the two different schemes of development, as per engineer's certificate, viz., $1003.65 for wages, plant and material, and $650. for previous engineering surveys, plans and reports. And they did recommend that the company do no further work on the smaller head until it is definitely known whether the company will secure the right from the Dominion Government for the portions intervening between the Ontario Government lease, and the portions of the upper rapids owned by the company, and necessary for the development of the whole seventy-three foot head; as in the event of the Dominion Government acquiescing, any such work done on the lower head, would be absolutely thrown away;

And whereas some fifteen prominent ratepayers have since subscribed stock in the company;

Therefore be it resolved, that we do endorse the opinion of said ratepayers and also the Company's engineer's report of November 2nd, of like advice.

And we do now petition the Hon. Frank Cochrane, Minister of Forests and Mines, to allow the Company to suspend construction work until the spring, so that they will be enabled to secure a settlement with the Dominion Government, and also further their financial organization.

Be it resolved also, that this council do express their appreciation of the operations of the company, and also the action of citizens, who are assisting financially the good work. —Carried unanimously.

All is Not Harmony Between Some of the Buyers and Salesmen

A Lively Discussion at To-day's Cheese Board—Some Salesmen Have a Grievance.

For the first time this season, trouble between salesmen and buyers cropped up at this morning's meeting of the Peterborough Cheese Board. For a short time matters were quite lively, and it required a lot of explaining to get the air partially cleared. Mr. Harrison, salesman for Westwood and Villier's factories, started the ball rolling by demanding from Mr. Cook, who is one of the buyers, why he had insisted on demanding a cut of two pounds per box on the cheese sold him, after it had been loaded on the cars at Hastings last week. Mr. Harrison also stated that the factorymen were told they could take their cheese off the cars, if they didn't want to allow the cut.

Mr. Cook said that it had been necessary to ask for the allowance owing to an increase on the rate of exchange. He had asked openly for a cut of two pounds per box, instead of alleging defects in the cheese and cutting prices on this pretext, as some buyers had done.

Considerable discussion followed and it cropped up that a number of salesmen had grievances against certain buyers, which they wanted threshed out. President Riddell suggested that the matter be left until the annual meeting, which would be held within the next two months. Mr. Cook wanted the trouble threshed out at once, when all the buyers were present. Only the "scarcheads" would show up at the annual meeting, he said.

Mr. Switzer, another salesman, wanted to know if the custom of past years of allowing a cut of a pound per box on the cheese sold at the last meeting of the season was to be in vogue this fall. This caused some more discussion, but nothing definite was done. The buyers claimed that it should be left with them to decide whether a cut should be made or not. If the goods were properly cured, they would not make a cut, but if the cheese was green they would do so.

Admiral Robley Evans ('Fighting Bob') of the United States Pacific Squadron, at a dinner in his honor in New York on Saturday night, did a little big talking about the record of his ships for shooting.

SONG—"Won't You Come Over to My House"

OUR SUPREME TRUST

O, Christ, I put my trust in thee,
Though dark around me all things grow,
What, though thy face I cannot see,
Thy spirit close to me I know.

Though sects divide, though men dispute,
And all around me none agree,
One thing they can never refute,
Thy love hast made Thee die for me.

A man can but lay down this life,
For those he loves, and Thou for me,
To win me from this world of strife
Didst hang upon the shameful tree.

And still thy love did more than this;
For death was more than death for Thee,
Thy Father's face was from Thee turned,
That awful day on Calvary.

So Lord as through my life I go,
Make my way clear, and may I be
Never ashamed to let men know,
Of this great sacrifice for me.

Then shall I all unfearing meet,
The call that makes me cast away,
All earthly fetters from my feet,
And hasten to Thy perfect day.

HAPPENINGS AT LAKEHURST

Lakehurst, Nov. 5th.—There has been no service in the Presbyterian church here for the past two Sundays, owing, we believe, to the unfavorable state of the roads and weather.

The Methodist church, also, was without service last Sunday, but this, we regret to say was due to the sickness of the minister, Mr. Mark. We hope he will speedily recover.

Mr. George Esson is in Harvey once more visiting former acquaintances.

Messrs. Wilbert White, Fred Truesdale and Thos. Fulton are away taking advantage of the hunting season. We hope they may have good success.

A FARMER'S TRIALS

Weak and Worn Out Through Overwork and Long Hours.

The farmer's life is always a hard one, but if he is weak or suffering it is almost unbearable. The hours are long and the work so hard that none but the strongest can stand it. An illustration of the effect of hard work on the system is given by Mr. Geo. Huntsberry, a farmer of Spry, Ont. He says: "I have lived nearly all my life in the Bruce peninsula. I am a farmer and have always had my share of hard work, and like a good many other men, I thought there was no wearout to my system. In this I was mistaken for about a year and a half ago. I began to go gradually down hill. I would tire at the least exertion; my appetite failed me; I had a severe pain in my side and around my heart. The doctor told me I was suffering from pernicious anaemia; that I was almost bloodless. I doctored for six months, but instead of improving, I grew so weak that I could hardly move without assistance. I lost flesh, until I was almost a skeleton. A friend from Stokes Bay, told me of the great benefit she had derived from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and advised me to try them. My sister-in-law had also received great benefit from their use, so I decided to give them a trial. After using the pills about a month, I began to gain strength, and from that on I improved rapidly. New blood seemed to course through my veins, my appetite improved; the pain left my side and heart, and I gained in weight. After using about a dozen boxes of the pills, I was again enjoying the best of health. I have nothing but praise for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as they cured me after medical treatment had failed—I really believe they saved my life."

Good blood is the secret of health. Keep the blood pure, and such diseases as anaemia, rheumatism, sciatica, indigestion, heart palpitation, eczema, and the secret ills of women will not exist. The most perfect blood tonic, and nerve restorer in the world is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

DIVER'S AWFUL PLIGHT

Hung For Half an Hour in Vortex of Water.

Godfrey Thiebert Has Miraculous Escape From Death at the Falls—Was Down In 30 Feet of Water—Drawn Into Vortex Over Immense Turbines—The Life Line Became Entangled.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Nov. 6.—A thrilling and miraculous escape from instant death occurred at the Electrical Development Co.'s intake yesterday morning. A diver named Godfrey Thiebert was lowered down in the fore bay in 30 feet of water from a float to examine the screens and intake pipes.

Thiebert, who had on his heavy diving apparatus, with the awful suction of water, was suddenly drawn into the vortex of waters leading to the immense turbines below and was unable to free himself, the life-line having caught in the iron work of the seven-ton iron gate and the man hung over the top of the 150-foot penstock with the rushing water battering his breath out of his body.

The eight men on the float were pulling for all their worth on the life-line in answer to emergency signals from Thiebert, but their combined strength was not able to extricate him. To cut off the water by closing the immense gates to penstock meant instant death.

At this critical moment, Mr. Sims, the mechanical superintendent, gave orders to the men to keep up their pressure steadily and ran into the building and switched off the power, and closed the valves and the rope freed and the men pulled Thiebert out of his perilious position unconscious. Dr. McGarry was called and revived Thiebert, who was badly bruised about the shoulders. He had given up all hope of being rescued, being in his perilious position over half an hour, fearing that he would be crushed by the pressure of the water, or that the rope would break and he would be torn to shreds on the turbine wheel.

'QUAKE IN GUATEMALA.

Buildings Show Ragged Cracks—Several Persons Injured.

New Orleans, Nov. 6.—An earthquake at Guatemala City and covering a wide territory in Guatemala on Oct. 16 and 17 is reported by passengers arriving on the steamer Bluefields from Port Barrios. Several persons were hurt in Guatemala City by falling objects during the shocks. The Bluefields passengers said that a large number of the buildings in the city showed ragged cracks after the quake, but that they did not hear of any fatalities.

Restore the Guillotine.

Paris, Nov. 6.—The increase in crime in France has aroused a popular demand for the restoration of the death penalty, which has been practically abolished by the systematic commutation of the sentences of criminals condemned to death.

The Government desires to formally abolish capital punishment, and has been commuting death sentences to imprisonment at hard labor for life. During the present session of Parliament it was the intention of the Ministry to secure the adoption of a measure formally doing away with the executions of criminals, but recently juries throughout the country have recommended having recourse to the guillotine as being the only means of stopping the atrocious murders which are of daily occurrence in Paris and in the provinces.

A popular vote taken by a local newspaper, has resulted in 1,083,655 persons pronouncing themselves in favor of restoring capital punishment, while 328,692 announced themselves as being opposed to it.

Found Naked Body In Bush.

North Bay, Nov. 6.—Arthur Russell of 133 Coursol street, Montreal, was found dead in the bush near Moose Lake, on the T. & N. O. Railway, in a naked condition.

From papers found in the clothes discarded by the unfortunate man, it appears that he was on his way to Cobalt. He was seen in the vicinity of Moose Lake several times, and his actions indicated insanity. The body was brought to North Bay and buried under instructions from Coroner McMurchy in the Catholic cemetery. Deceased's mother lives at Margate, England.

Too Free With Gun.

Belleville, Nov. 6.—Ephraim Cooper of Marmora was charged before Judge Deroche yesterday with attempting to shoot his brother-in-law, William Walker.

There was bad blood between the parties, and Cooper, in the course of a quarrel, drew a loaded revolver and snapped it at Walker. The weapon did not go off and was taken from Cooper. Judge Deroche sent the prisoner to the Central Prison for a year.

Evaporator Destroyed.

Belleville, Nov. 6.—Monday evening fire broke out in Funnell's evaporator at Trenton, and despite all efforts of the firemen the building, with its contents, was destroyed. It was a large frame building, situated in the rear of the postoffice, and contained a considerable quantity of evaporated fruit. The loss to Mr. Funnell will be considerable.

G. T. R. Employes Laid Off.

Montreal, Nov. 6—The Grand Trunk Railway Co. yesterday morning laid off 250 men in the motive power department of the company's shops at Point St. Charles.

They were told that they would not be required until next spring.

BOOK PLATES.

They Came Within Fifty Years After the Invention of Printing.

It was within half a century from the invention of printing that book plates were introduced as identifying marks to indicate the ownership of the volume.

Germany, the fatherland of printing from movable type and of wood cutting for making impressions in ink on paper, is likewise the home land of the book plate.

The earliest dated woodcut of accepted authenticity is the well known "St. Christopher of 1423," which was discovered in the Carthusian monastery of Buxheim, in Suabia.

It was to insure the right of ownership in a book that the owner had it marked with the coat of arms of the family or some other heraldic device. Libraries were kept intact and passed from generation to generation, bearing the emblem of the family.

The first book plate in France is dated 1574; in Sweden, 1575; Switzerland, 1607, and Italy, 1623. The earliest English book plate is found in a folio volume once the property of Cardinal Wolsey and afterward belonging to his royal master.

The earliest mention of the book plate in English literature is by Pepys, July 16, 1688. The first known book plate in America belonged to Governor Dudley. Paul Revere, the patriot, was one of the first American engravers of book plates and a designer of great ability.—Journal of American History.

NOT ON DOCKET.

Emmerson Libel Suit May Never Be Heard.

Moncton, N. B., Nov. 6.—The Michaelmas term of the Supreme Court opened yesterday morning with Chief Justice Tuck and a full bench presiding.

Argument was scheduled to be made on the point which Judge Landry had served for the decision of the full bench in the Emmerson case against James H. Crocket, managing editor of The Gleaner. The case, however, was not on the docket, and there will be no argument. Many legal men believe that the last has been heard in the courts of the famous suit for defamatory libel.

Even Auditor Had Overdrawn.

St. John, N. B., Nov. 6.—The treasury board at a meeting last night, discovered that even one of the regular civic auditors had overdrawn his account with Chamberlain Sandall for $300. The board took no action.

The steamer Alcides arrived here yesterday, after a fierce battle with wind and waves on the Atlantic Ocean, which made her ten days overdue.

Vigilant In Collision.

Port Stanley, Nov. 6.—The Government cruiser Vigilant collided with a tug in the harbor yesterday. The tug was badly damaged and the stem of the Vigilant dinged.

Acting Minister of Justice.

Ottawa, Nov. 6.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier will be acting Minister of Justice during Hon. A. B. Aylesworth's absence in Clifton Springs, N. Y. Mr. Aylesworth expects to return shortly before the opening of Parliament in good physical condition for the labors of the session.

Sold Liquor, Goes to Jail.

Chatham, Nov. 6.—Charles Patmer of Moilin was sentenced to four months' hard labor in the County Jail for having been convicted of selling liquor without a license on Oct. 26. This is his second offence. Moilin is a local option town.

Persistance of Men.

Holbein, Burgess and Wolffe have all decided to try the swim from Dover to Calais this season. Holbein, it will be remembered, failed last year by half a mile after a swim of 22 1-2 hours; Burgess was compelled to abandon the attempt when three miles from shore, owing to cramp; while Wolffe was crippled by muscular injury about four miles from shore. Other competitors will be Ted Heaton, the superintendent of Liverpool corporation baths; Horace Men, the Isle of Wight long distance swimmer, and Cattaneo, the Italian champion.

A new feature this season will be a team race from England to France, arrangements for which have been made by "L'Auto." In August a similar race will be carried out under the auspices of the Channel Swimming Club.

Holbein is at present training at Wateringbury, Burgess and Cattaneo on the Seine; Wolffe at Brighton, Men at Sandown, and Heaton on the Lancashire coast.

MARK TWAIN AS A BOWLER.

Bewildering Results He Achieved In His First Game.

More than forty years ago in San Francisco the office staff adjourned upon conclusion of its work at 2 o'clock in the morning to a great bowling establishment where there were twelve alleys. I was invited, rather perfunctorily and as a matter of etiquette—by which I mean that I was invited politely, but not urgently. But when I diffidently declined with thanks and explained that I knew nothing about the game those lively young fellows became at once eager and anxious and urgent to have my society. This flattered me, for I perceived no trap, and I innocently and gratefully accepted their invitation. I was given an alley all to myself. The boys explained the game to me, and they also explained to me that there would be an hour's play and that the player who scored the fewest ten strikes in the hour would have to provide oysters and beer for the combination. This disturbed me very seriously, since it promised me bankruptcy, and I was sorry that this detail had been overlooked in the beginning. But my pride would not allow me to back out now, so I stayed in and did what I could to look satisfied and glad I had come. It is not likely that I looked as contented as I wanted to, but the others looked glad enough to make up for it, for they were quite unable to hide their evil joy. They showed me how to stand and how to stoop and how to aim the ball and how to let fly, and then the game began.

The results were astonishing. In my ignorance I delivered the balls in apparently every way except the right one, but no matter—during half an hour I never started a ball down the alley that didn't score a ten strike every time at the other end. The others lost their grip early and their joy along with it. Now and then one of them got a ten strike, but the occurrence was so rare that it made no show alongside of my giant score. The boys surrendered at the end of the half hour and put on their coats and gathered around me and in courteous but sufficiently definite language expressed their opinion of an experience worn and seasoned expert who would stoop to lying and deception in order to rob kind and well meaning friends who had put their trust in him under the delusion that he was honest and honorable. I was not able to convince them that I had not lied, for now my character was gone, and they refused to attach any value to anything I said.

The proprietor of the place stood by for awhile saying nothing; then he came to my defense. He said: "It looks like a mystery, gentlemen, but it isn't a mystery after it's explained. That is a grooved alley; you've only to start a ball down it any way you please and the groove will do the rest; it will slam the ball against the northeast curve of the head pin every time, and nothing can save the ten from going down."

It was true. The boys made the experiment, and they found that there was no art that could send a ball down that alley and fail to score a ten strike with it. When I had told those boys that I knew nothing about that game I was speaking only the truth. But it was ever thus all through my life—whenever I have diverged from custom and principle and uttered a truth the rule has been that the hearer hadn't strength of mind enough to believe it.—From Mark Twain's Autobigraphy in North American Review.

WILL PRESERVE OUR FISH SUPPLY

Movement to Save What Remains of the Lake Fisheries

In the following article the Toronto Globe paid a well merited tribute to Mr. A. Kelly-Evans, a gentleman whose untiring efforts in the direction of fish and game protection, are well known and properly appreciated in this city and district.

"A movement of great importance to the Province and to the Dominion at large has been inaugurated by the American Fisheries Society in calling an international convention to devise uniform regulations to save what remains of the lake fisheries and schemes to restock them on the basis of a permanent supply. It is announced by leading American newspapers that Hon. W. E. Meehan, Commissioner of Fisheries for Pennsylvania, and Secretary of the Executive Committee of the American Fisheries Society, has forwarded a call to His Excellency Earl Grey, Lieutenant-Governor Sir Mortimer Clark, President Roosevelt and the Governors of all the States bordering on the Great Lakes. There is in this action a reasonable hope of fruition from the long and persistent efforts of the Dominion and Provincial authorities towards the adoption of a uniform international policy regarding the lake fisheries. Without the co-operation of the several States bordering on the lakes the best efforts of this province cannot avert the threatened destruction of an important and greatly needed source of food.

"The immediate cause of the present activity may be found in an address by Mr. A. Kelly-Evans, who represented the Ontario Fish and Game Protective Association at the meeting of the American Fisheries Society at Erie, Penn., in July last. For many years the activity of the society has been devoted chiefly to biological research, and its reports have diffused a great amount of interesting and useful information regarding fish life and propogation. But Mr. Evans was able to convince the members that unless there was a determined and concerted action on the part of the American and Canadian authorities, there would soon be but little fish life remaining for food, game, or purposes of study. He helped the society to perceive the danger besetting the game and commercial fishing on both sides of the boundary waters, and the call for a convention, follows a resolution adopted at the meeting. This convention will give our fish and game protective associations a splendid chance to do effective work, and they should be represented by their most active workers. Both the Dominion and Provincial Governments will be represented, and success in the outcome will depend largely on the choice of delegates. The States bordering on the lakes have at last been aroused to an appreciation of the importance of the commercial fisheries as a source of food, and of the imminent danger of destruction through neglect. Our Dominion and Provincial authorities can be depended upon to act with promptness and take full advantage of the favorable conditions which have arisen."

Board Welcomes New Inspector

Mr. Mowat Makes Happy Reply to Greetings Extended

On behalf of the Board of Education, Mr. D. W. Dumble, at the meeting last evening, extended to Mr. A. Mowat, the new inspector, hearty greetings. Mr. Mowat had commenced his duties, and Mr. Dumble hoped that the schools, under his supervision, would continue to prosper as they had done in the past.

Mr. Mowat, who was present during the meeting, on rising to speak, was heartily applauded. He made a few brief remarks regarding the commencement of his duties. He said before making application for the position, he carefully considered it. He would endeavor, as much as possible, to follow in his predecessor's footsteps, and hoped the schools would prosper the same as before, to the entire satisfaction of the Board. He said that he was following a strong man. This, in one way, was an advantage, as everything had been left in such a splendid way that all he had to do was to continue what had been done.

Proposal to Have Park in South End

Meets With Much Approval—Deputation From City Council Addressed the School Board

"That the Property Committee of the Board of Education confer with Alderman Wilson, Duncan and Tovey in regard to the proposal to make a park in the south end of the city," was the motion made by Mr. D. W. Dumble, and seconded by Mr. W. S. Robinson, and carried at the monthly meeting of the board last evening.

Ald. Tovey and Duncan were present on behalf of the City Council, stating that the city was desirous of taking over the two or three acres of land between Aylmer and George streets, east of the King Edward school, which is owned by the Board of Education. For some time past Ald. Tovey remarked that the need of a park was felt, and these grounds could be made into a very fine one.

Mr. Dumble expressed himself as being very pleased with the proposal. Many people said when this land was purchased the board bought too much. In many of the schools there were insufficient play grounds for the scholars. There is no park in the south end and the people want one. He thought suitable arrangements could be made with the city. Several other members expressed themselves as delighted with the enterprise and would like to see it carried out. A meeting of the combined committees will be held at an early date.

NEW PRINCIPAL FOR COLLEGIATE

Mr. Kenner Will Succeed Mr. Fessenden at End of Present Term

At the regular meeting of the Board of Education held last evening Mr. H. R. H. Kenner, B.A., was unanimously chosen to succeed Mr. C. Fessenden, as Principal of the Collegiate Institute, Mr. Fessenden having resigned owing to ill health. Mr. Kenner's duties will begin on September 1st, 1908. His appointment to the Principalship is well deserved, and no doubt will be learned of with great pleasure by a large number of people. Mr. Kenner has been classical master of the local Collegiate for the past fourteen years, and during that time has proved himself to be an efficient and painstaking teacher. He is highly esteemed by the pupils and has a large circle of friends who will be pleased to hear of his appointment. His long service on the local staff has made him thoroughly acquainted with the school, and he is therefore the most suitable man for the position.

East Peterboro' Desires Finlay

Will Stand by Him—Riding Not to be Humbugged by Stratton

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—It is generally understood Mr. J. R. Stratton is canvassing for the nomination in East Peterborough.

We now have Mr. Finlay as our representative. He has done more, for our riding than any other member than we have had in the last forty years. We intend to stand by him, and when he wants to retire we have plenty of material at home in East Peterborough without any government wrecker like Stratton coming in. Let him rid his skirts of Gamey and keep in the West.

I was present one day when Finlay was asked: "If Stratton does buy or steal the nomination from you, can we depend on you staying in the battle?" His answer was, "Yes, sure," and we believe Mr. Finlay is a man of his word. If Stratton should secure the nomination he will get a bigger surprise than Goliath did when David slew him with a stone, for Otonabee will snow him under, Dummer will follow, Asphodel and Norwood likewise, and in Belmont he will be mud deep.

Now, Mr. Editor, I would say that if our present member is the man that I think he is, he will stay with the riding to a finish and pay no heed to the wire-pullers and grafters. If Stratton succeeds in his plotting and scheming, no doubt it will necessitate the reading of the Riot Act.

Thanking you, etc.,

Fifth of November Was Celebrated by Orangemen

Large Gathering at Downer's Corners Listen to Addresses by Prominent Speakers—An Excellent Program Provided and Refreshments Served.

The annual celebration of the fifth of November, by Col. Sanderson L. O. L. No. 321, Downer's Corners, was well attended last evening, although not so well as last year. After a sumptuous supper which was served by the lady friends of the members of the lodge, a good programme was presented.

Among those on the platform besides the chairman, Mr. Ritchie, were Rev. C. H. Coon, of Mark Street Church, and Rev. A. H. Brace, of Park Street Baptist Church.

The programme was as follows,—

Whistling Solo.—"The Cake Walk," by Mr. W. Kitney.

Address.—Rev. C. H. Coon.

Mr. Coon expressed his pleasure at being present, and told how much he enjoyed the appearance of the well laden tables. He said in substance, "I am here to become acquainted with you, and I esteem an honor and a privilege to be here with you. I always enjoy the privilege of speaking to a company of men and women who are thoughtful and I feel that I am not mistaken when I say, in speaking to this company, that I am addressing a gathering which is trying to take a step upwards, in this life, and if I can say a word that will help to lift someone to a better understanding of this life, I am well repaid. I am not a member. Now as I have contemplated the Orange Order I have been devoutly grateful for one thing, that your Order has given the word of God, the place of honor in your lodges, and in all your public ceremonies. Not only must you set yourselves to honor it with a place on your table in your lodge rooms, and in your processions, but also in your private lives, familiarize yourself with the Word of God, that you may know what you are defending. Now if you take that Bible as the guide of your life, then it will mean more to you than processions, it will mean arraying yourself in defence of your rights and liberties of the Protestant faith. By doing this you will be able to aim at higher ideals in life and society will be the better for your lodge room, and its associations. I have known of a lodge of the Orange Order which uplifted the community, where I once preached. On the other hand I have known of a lodge of the same order which injured the community. It was not the fault of the order, but of those who manage affairs. The speaker before sitting down referred to the condition of the political life of the land, speaking in no uncertain manner, condemning the present condition of affairs.

Miss Verda Choate, then recited "I will paint you a sign," after which Mr. Walter Kitney delighted the audby a tin whistle solo, which way enjoyed very much, so much so, that he was called upon to respond to an encore.

Miss Mina Waldie recited "The Twelfth of July."

The Rev. Bro. Brace then gave a stirring address on the Gunpowder Plot, and although we assemble here to keep the anniversary of the Gunpowder Plot, we would like to dispel the idea that many of our Roman Catholic brethern have, that we hold any enmity, but on the contrary the Orangemen take an oath to succor any one of Roman Catholic brethren, who would be in trouble. Any Orangeman who would turn away from any Roman Catholic in distress, would be spurned and despised. We want this distinctly understood. King James lived in dangerous times, and he had to deal with three strange factions, the Puritan party, the High Church party, and the Roman Catholic party. Elizabeth managed them pretty well, but James had not the brains to handle them. The Puritan party was a class of Christians, beautiful in their life. James could not tolerate them. They could not down the surplice, nor the ritual of the church. They could not worship without imprisonment, so they emigrated to the new world. The speaker then went on to give the history of the Gunpowder Plot. Rev. Mr. Brace then appealed to the Orange Order to vote solid, and then the political parties will pander to our order just as much as they do to the Roman Catholic Church, who control every vote among them. The speaker in closing, urged upon the Orangemen to stand by their obligation twelve months in the year.

Mr. Kitney was again called on for a solo.

Mr. N. A. Howard Moore delivered a short address, after which a vote of thanks was expressed to the speakers, the ladies who provided the supper and others, who contributed to the success of the evening's entertainment. The programme was brought to a close by the singing of "God Save the King," and at its conclusion, the effigy of Guy Fawkes was burned outside the hall.

BEER MAKES BLOOD
MALT has certain food-elements which the body can transform into healthy blood quickly and with the least digestive effort.
HOPS contain a medical principle which tones the nerves without reaction, and so supplies nervous energy and saves it as well.
BEER* as brewed in Ontario is made from choicest Ontario barley malt, selected hops, and the purest of water, dealt with under conditions which insure purity and quality.
THE better the blood the sounder the health, and the surer the body to combat disease effectively. Beer, by some counted an intoxicant, is not so—it is a blood-maker, with barely enough alcohol in it to help the stomach do its work far better.
Beer with meals is good for 997 people out of every thousand—and is specially good for women. Ask your own doctor about it—beer is probably good for you.
*BEER is a term which covers lager, ale, porter, and stout; used in the practice of Ontario brewers. Implies beverages made under most hygienic conditions from Ontario barley (the best in the world) malt, hops, and pure water.

This team will be seen here on Dec. 9 or 10, and willbe followed with a game with the Nome Alaskans.

Manager Freddy Smith is arranging a series of home-and-home games with Peterborough, the boys being keen on playing them again, as they all remember their trip of a year ago. —Toronto News.

No Pro. Hockey to be Played This Winter

International League Unable to Get Sufficient Number of Teams

Sault Ste. Marie, Nov. 4.—Secretary M. Laughton, of Canadian "Soo" hockey team, International League, today received word from Michigan "Soo" that promoters there had thrown up hockey, also that there would be no team in the Michigan "Soo" this season. This decision on the part of the Michigan team was followed by messages from the copper country to the effect that it had been deemed advisable to drop professional hockey there for a season.

The Canadian team, which had been designed, consisted of; Goal, Lehman; of last season's team; point, Leader, of Brandon; cover, Schafer, of last season's team; rover, Taylor, of last season's team; centre, Lorne Campbell, captain of Pittsburg last year; Gaul and Mark, forwards, and spares Degray and Lalonde.

Immediately upon receipt of news from the other teams, Secretary Laughton wired the men under contract, that there would be no hockey here this season, and their services would not be required. The Canadian team had made strong preparations for the season, and was disappointed at the failure of others to enter the league. It is not known what effect their action will have on the Corby Cup, which was to have been played for this season. It is said that Michigan "Soo" could not secure men for a team. A three-team league is not satisfactory to Calumet and Houghton.

The Canadian "Soo," according to a statement of the management today, will witness some splendid amateur hockey this winter, if the International League fails to pull together again.

WILSON TO RUN AGAINST COLEY

Local Runner Entered for 5 Mile Event at Garrison Games

Ernie Wilson, winner of the Examiner road race, will go to Toronto on Saturday night, to run in the five mile event at the Garrison games. This is the race that Simpson was wanted for, but the Indian has been training for long distances, and his manager, Mr. Dick Baker, does not care to enter him in a five mile go. Wilson is in splendid shape and should make them all hustle. Tom Coley, Lawson, and a large number of Toronto's fastest are entered, and a great race is anticipated.

Wilson will be accompanied to Toronto by Dick Baker.

Re Organization of T.A.S. Band

Enthusiastic Meeting Held Last Night—Many New Members

St. Peter's T.A.S. band was re-organized last evening and starts out again with the brightest prospects.

The meeting was an encouraging one and a large number attended showing the greatest enthusiasm was being taken in the band. Many new members who are old and accomplished players, were present, and also some beginners. An executive committee and a leader protem were appointed. Considering that the instruments had not been used for some time, after half an hour's practice the band played a difficult selection very acceptably. Regular practices will be held on Wednesday and Friday of each week and judging from the interest displayed last night, the newly organized band will go ahead rapidly.

Tim Alert May Come to City

Mr. Chas. Martin, His Owner, Thinking of Stabling Him Here

Mr. Chas. Martin has returned to the city from Trenton where he has been for a few days visit staying at a Trenton hotel kept by Mr. Harry Cook, the celebrated horseman, who for some time was an active figure in local turf circles and who has also driven some of the speediest ones on the big circuits. Mr. Martin has his fast pacer stabled at Trenton under the care of Mr. Cook, but is seriously thinking of bringing him to Peterborough at an early date. Mr. Cook has his fast mare, Miss Paisley, formerly the property of Mr. George Lipsett, east city, at his Trenton stables and has a Miss Paisley-Tim Alert colt that gives promise of being able to pound the dirt for a mile to not a great many seconds over two revolutions of the minute hand.

LARGE FLOUR MILLS CLOSE DOWN TO-DAY

Special to the Review.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 6.—Owing to financial conditions, which prevent the placing of advance of orders, the flour mills of the Consolidated Company were shut down temporarily today. Other companies report having reduced their output or arranged to close for a time.

Three royal couples are to be the guests of the King and Queen next week, the Emperor and Empress of Germany, King Alfonso and the Queen of Spain, and King Haakon and the Queen of Norway, the two latter, each with the small prince royal.

AMAZING REVELATIONS.

How Government Money Is Thrown Away by Bungling Officials.

The stupidity of officials, ranking from Cabinet Ministers to subalterns of the army, costs Great Britain a nice thing annually. It is very amusing, but the jokes are of the most expensive pattern. The reports of the Committee of Public Accounts give particulars of these matters. That committee is a sort of watch-dog of the spending departments, and its insistent bark draws attention to any irregularity or extravagance in the expenditure of public moneys. The report issued by the committee contains some incisive criticism of the War Office. It will be remembered that the gross expenditure on the Army Votes during the year 1905-6 fell short of the estimate by £1,334,136. The actual surplus on March 31, 1906, was almost double the amount (£691,000) anticipated by the War Office in a forecast submitted to the Treasury as late as nine days previously. To the committee's demand for an explanation of this astounding discrepancy reply was made that there had been a complete upheaval of the War Office. Indeed the change in personnel was so thorough that it can be best realized by quoting the words of the Director-General of Army Finance: "All those who had had life-long experience in dealing with the finance of the army disappeared." The committee recognize the difficulty created by these circumstances and say they are glad to learn that "there is the most extraordinary desire on the part of the Military Headquarters Staff to effect reductions." As regards the future, the committee are without assurance that a more satisfactory result may be expected. For, it has been explained to them that the military directors (who now frame estimates and control the progress of expenditure) "are transient officers who come to their post with very expensive notions, and only get to know their work thoroughly by the time they have got to go." The Committee of Public Accounts next turns its vigilant gaze on South Africa. It appears that the general officer commanding in South Africa made a contract with the municipality of Standerton in 1904 for a supply of water to the troops at the minimum of 80,000 gallons per diem, the contract to run for twenty years. As the garrison has been so much reduced, and the daily requirements of the troops are already much below the fixed minimum, efforts are being made to obtain an equitable reduction of the annual payment. The committee inquire wonderingly how it was within the competence of any officer with a local command to bind the country to pay a large sum of money for a long term of years without referring the question to the home authorities for confirmation. The evidence before the War Stores Commission disclosed bribery in connection with various contracts for supplies. In accordance with the bribery clause inserted in all military contracts a fine of 10 per cent. is recoverable in such cases. In every established case of bribery the name of the firm is automatically removed from the list of Government contractors. In connection with expenditure under the Military Works Loan Acts, the committee's attention has been drawn by the comptroller and auditor-general to the following instances of the loss of public money due to successive changes of policy.

(i) At East Bulford there has been a loss to the public of between £140,000 and £150,000 in erecting a Mounted Infantry School, which was closed on July 1, 1906.

(ii.) At Tidworth nearly a million pounds has been expended in building barracks for eight infantry battalions, though only four are needed. The surplus barracks are being altered at considerable additional cost, so as to house a cavalry regiment and certain other troops.

(iii.) Near Formoy, a sum of £35,000 was expended in 1905-6 for the purchase of Moore Park (843 acres, with mansion and grounds) as a site for barracks and for training mounted infantry. The idea of a Mounted Infantry School in Ireland has now been dropped.

(iv.) At Stobs, "the original idea was that it was going to be a great training ground for troops, but it has been given up," the War Office having "only spent £56,000 out of the £725,000, which had been intended. . . . at a time when it was anticipated to have six Army Corps." The land purchased is used "mainly for volunteer camps and things of that sort."

Famous Lilac Tree.

Chief among the many objects of interest in the gardens of Eastern Lodge, Dunmow, Eng., the residence of the Earl and Countess of Warwick, is the magnificent lilac tree which occupies a conspicuous position on the terrace. This tree is the finest specimen of its kind in the United Kingdom. It has a circumference of 120 feet and a height of 16 feet and it has so dense a growth and blooms so profusely that when in flower it forms a huge bouquet of lilac blossom. The lilac is that commonly known as the Persian, and described by the botanists as the Chinese; but it is not a native of either Persia or China, but was raised in the Rouen Botanic Garden in 1795 by the hybridization of the true Persian lilac and the common lilac of British gardens. It was of noble proportions at the middle of the last century, and produced such a magnificent display of blossoms that in the flowering season Viscount Maynard, Lady Warwick's grandfather, used to make a special journey from London to enjoy the beauty and fragrance of the flowers.

Wouldn't Lose Two Days.

A young man who dropped into the recorder's office for a marriage license, finding that a license had just been issued containing the name of the young lady who was to figure in the document sought, purchased his license all the same with the name of another girl inserted. That was his day for getting ready to be married, and he didn't propose to let small matters bar the way.

RESTORED TO HEALTH. THANKS TO PE-RU-NA.

Friends Were Alarmed—Advised Change of Climate.

Miss Mildred Keller, 718 13th street, N. W., Washington, D. C., writes:

"I can safely recommend Peruna for catarrh. I had it for years and it would respond to no kind of treatment, or if it did it was only temporary, and on the slightest provocation the trouble would come back.

"I was in such a state that my friends were alarmed about me, and I was advised to leave this climate. Then I tried Peruna, and to my great joy found it helped me from the first dose I took, and a few bottles cured me.

"It built up my constitution, I regained my appetite, and I feel that I am perfectly well and strong."—Mildred Keller.

We have on file many thousand testimonials like the above. We can give our readers only a slight glimpse of the vast array of unsolicited endorsements Dr. Hartman is receiving.

WEDDING BELLS

MACBRIEN—ROSS

On Wednesday, Oct. 30th, a quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Ross, Port Perry. The occasion was the marriage of Nellie Louise, second daughter of William Ross, ex-M.P., to Lieut. James Howden MacBrien, of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, eldest son of Jas. MacBrien. Miss Ross was supported by Miss Gertrude Ross as maid of honor, and Miss Grace Ross as bride-maid. Lieut MacBrien was attended by Lieut. J. Sutherland Brown, Royal Canadian Regiment.

MEHARRY—IRWIN

A quiet, but pretty wedding was solemnized this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. John Irwin, 277 Bethune street, when her eldest daughter, Miss Myrtle, was united in marriage to Mr. John Meharry of the city police force. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. G. Potter. The bride and groom were unattended. The wedding was of an exceedingly quiet nature, owing to the recent bereavement in the bride's family. The bride wore a travelling suit of navy blue with pale blue hat to match.

Many beautiful and attractive presents were received by the bride, including a handsome clock from the city police force.

Mr. and Mrs. Meharry left on the 5.45 G. T. R. train for Toronto and Niagara, and on their return will reside on Victoria avenue. The best wishes of a host of friends follow the happy young couple for many years of happy wedded life.

The Doukhobors who have arrived at Fort William from Yorkton, propose resting there until spring before they begin their tramps to Montreal. Explosion of Gas Generator

Hotel in Kinmount Badly Shattered—Guests Had Close Call

Special to the Review.

Kinmount, Ont., Nov. 6.—The gas generator in the basement of the Northern hotel, owned by B. Simpson, blew up last night.

No one was seriously injured, although the proprietor, Mr. Simpson, W. Watson and R. Allan received severe burns on the face and hands. A number of guests had narrow escapes.

The accident was apparently due to employees filling the machine with carbide while it was working and using a lantern near the machine.

BREAD WENT UP IN TWEED LATELY, BUT CAME DOWN AGAIN

The Tweed News says: Bread is now ten cents for a full loaf. About two weeks ago the bakers advanced the price of a regular sized, three pound loaf to 12 cents, but almost immediately many a home was supplied with the kind that mother used to make, and the sale of bakers' bread was lighter.

The local bakers did not follow the lead of the Kingston and other bakers of making the loaf smaller. They made a mistake. This week they have announced the old price of ten cents. But here the question of weight looms up. The price of ten cents is a handy figure, as it is hard to arrange for the two cents change, but there is a discussion among the dealers as to weight. It is said that all loaves sold in Tweed are not up to the old three pound standard and there is likely to be a merry war as to who can sell the biggest loaf at the lowest price. To the general public this will be much more than interesting, but to the bakers who pay more for flour, the thousands of two cents in the pockets of bread eaters, will seem like lost treasure.

The present dissatisfaction among the people and dissension among the bakers, would seem to call for a remedy. In London, England, bread is sold by weight and if a loaf is not up to standard, the dealer has to add a slice to make up the missing weight. This plan, if hooked by law, might do away with the present question of short weight loaves. The baker is entitled to a just profit on his wares, and under the present law he is entitled to sell any weight loaf he wishes at any price he can live on, so long as he lets it be known what is the correct weight of his loaf. If the baker will advertise the weight and price of his bread, the customer can then judge on quality alone.

Samarkand, the capital of Turkestan, was shaken by a violent earthquake, yesterday, but no violent damage is reported.

The Club is fortunate in securing such an able gentleman as Prof. Shortt to give the opening address and to have him deal with such a vital question as immigration.

Italian Was Afraid That Doctor Might "Fleece" Him

And so He Came All the Way to Peterborough From Northern Ontario to Get Medical Attendance

Afraid that he would be "fleeced" if he went to a doctor where he was working in New Ontario, an Italian with only a sparse knowledge of English, and a recent arrival in the country, came all the way to Peterborough last week to get medical attendance. The fellow was working with a gang on the extension of the Temiscaming railway in northern Ontario, where he was taken ill. He had been at Peterborough before he went to work on the railway and and when he took sick he was afraid to go to a doctor near where he was working, as he was among strangers, and not knowing much about the country he was afraid that the medical man might hold him up for all this money. So he hiked back to Peterborough, explained his trouble to Mr. Tom Minicolo, whom he had met when in Peterborough before. He handed all his money over to Mr. Minicolo and asked him to take him to a good doctor and to pay the fee out of this money when he was all right again. Mr. Minicolo took the man to a local physician, and he will soon be able to go back to work again.

The incident goes to show that it is not pleasant to be a stranger in a strange land, and that new-comers should not be "run upon."

HOW YOU GET CONSUMPTION.

Most "lungers" allowed their power of resistance to fall very low. Favorable conditions were provided for the development of the baccilli. Consumption was the result.

But in a healthy body Consumption can't take root. The most potent health-maker is Ferrozone. Take it regularly and you needn't fear tuberculosis.

FERROZONE

Supplies exactly what the man verging on Consumption needs. It forms rich, nutritious blood, strengthens the nerves, puts vim and endurance into every organ of the body.

For the tired, weak—anyone in poor health—Ferrozone is worth its weight in gold. Avoid substitutes!

Was Victim of Female Swindler; How She Passed Forged Note

St. Catharines' Banker Relieved of Two Hundred Dollars.

Town Is Becoming Swindler's Paradise—Good-Looking Woman Passes Forged Note—Said Her Husband Had Been Killed — Claimed Acquaintance With Broker's Son—Sent Fake Telegram.

St. Catharines, Nov. 7.—For the second time within two weeks St. Catharines has been visited by a swindler, who succeeded in getting away with a quantity of real cash. On Tuesday L. H. Collard, private banker and broker, fell a victim to an unknown woman to the extent of $200. A peculiar circumstance is that yesterday Mr. Collard received a telegram from Niagara Falls, as follows:

"L. H. Collard, broker, Ontario street. Will express $200 to you from Toronto, where I am going, or will call week from Monday. Made a little mistake. (Signed) Lillian Hamilton."

As Mr. Collard was returning to the bank from luncheon he was accosted by a nice looking woman dressed in black clothes, with a feather in her hat. She called him by name and expressed surprise that he did not remember her, saying that she remembered him well. She said she was married in St. Thomas' church and afterwards, with her husband, went to Paris, France, where, in an auto accident, her husband was thrown out and had his neck broken, dying from injuries. She said she and her child were guests at the Welland House and that she met some people there every day whom she knew years ago in St. Thomas, and that she was slightly related to the Merritt family in this city.

Continuing, she told Collard that she had owned two houses in Port Colborne, but that she recently sold one and was now about to sell the other. She was, she said, negotiating for the purchase of property in the city and was short of a little money. She asked Mr. Collard if he would let her have a couple of hundred dollars, further disarming whatever suspicion he might have had by telling him that his son William, who is manager of the Imperial Bank at Ridgeway, had told her if she ever wanted any money accommodation to call on his father.

"Whom would you like as endorser?" asked the woman.

"Whom can you give me?" asked Mr. Collard.

"Oh, anybody; I could get Mr. Fairfield or Mr. Poole," was the reply.

Collard replied, "Either of them will do."

The woman left the bank and came back with one of Mr. Collard's private bank notes filled out for $200, signed Lillian Hamilton, and endorsed by Ben. C. Fairfield. She received the money without further question and left the bank. Collard suspected nothing till he saw Fairfield two hours later, when the signature was denied. The facts were then reported to the police, but nothing in the shape of a clue was received till Collard got the mysterious telegram about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Frank Capelli Was Reprieved; How He Received the Tidings

Saved From Hangman, and Condemned to Life Imprisonment.

Three Times Date of Execution Had Been Fixed—Prisoner Broke Down When Told News—Kissed Floor of His Cell—Eyes Streaming With Tears—Details of the Awful Crime Recalled.

Parry Sound, Nov. 7.—Already three times reprieved, Frank Capelli last night, in the very shadow of the gallows, received glad tidings from Ottawa that saves him from the hangman's noose, but condemns him to life imprisonment. To-day, for the second time, Radcliffe will leave Parry Sound with his "job" undone.

When Capelli heard the news his usual stolid and indifferent manner gave way to a complete breakdown. With tears streaming from his eyes he dropped to his knees and kissed the floor of his cell.

The message was received at about 6 o'clock last evening from the private secretary of the Governor-General, informing Sheriff Armstrong that His Excellency had been pleased to commute the sentence of death to one of imprisonment for life.

The story of the crime and of the efforts of the prisoner's counsel to save his life may be briefly summarized. The murder occurred in the house of Michael McCormack on the Burpee road, last winter, and resulted from a real or supposed attempt on the part of the prisoner to commit a criminal assault on Mrs. McCormack, and Dow lost his life in an effort to restrain the Italian. In the melee four other men were also stabbed by him.

The prisoner was tried in June and sentenced to hang on Aug. 1, but on the eve of the execution an application was made for a reprieve, which was granted. Subsequently another reprieve was granted to Oct. 7, and later another to Nov. 7, and in the meantime an appeal to the Court of Appeal by his counsel, Robinette & Godfrey of Toronto, was heard and refused, the court intimating that the matter of the appeal should have gone to the Minister of Justice.

On Tuesday Mr. Godfrey went to Ottawa in Capelli's behalf.

The gallows, which had been twice erected, will be pulled down to-day, and Hangman Radcliffe will leave for his home the second time without his services having been further required than to superintend the erection of the instrument of death and to interview the prisoner in preparation therefor.

British Strike Averted.

London, Nov. 7.—Rich. Bell, M.P., announced last night that the railroad dispute has been settled.

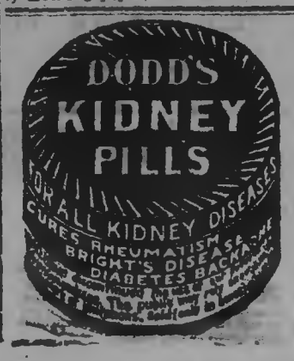
This averts a theatened strike, which, if it had been called, would have paralyzed railway traffic throughout the British Isles.

The details of the settlement had not been given out up to a late hour last night.

Anarchists Punished.

Rome, Nov. 7.—Six of the anarchists who attacked Cardinal Merry del Val, Papal Secretary of State, at Marino, in August, have been sentenced to terms of imprisonment varying from four to two months, and to pay a fine of $10 each. One of the accused was acquitted.

Sydney, N.S., is to have a new daily morning paper.



FAST BRITISH DESTROYER.

Mohawk Attained Speed of Almost Forty Miles Per Hour.

London, Nov. 7.—At her official trial yesterday the British torpedo-boat destroyer Mohawk attained the record speed of 34.3 knots an hour. This speed is equal to about 39 1-2 land miles an hour.

Jailed For Trapping Beaver.

Sundridge, Nov. 7.—Charles Graham and Bert Organ admitted having illegally trapped four beaver before Magistrate Gibbon yesterday. Deputy Game Warden Blea apprehended the men and confiscated three skins and a Winchester rifle, which are now in charge of Chief Game Warden Tinsley at the Parliament Buildings. The men were fined $40 and costs or three months, and $40 and costs and one month, respectively. They elected to go to jail. It is stated that the men were sent up to Ontario to trap by a man in Sydney, C. B., who supplied them with an outfit. The skins will be sold and the proceeds turned over to the Provincial Treasury.

Killed In a Cellar.

Penetanguishene, Nov. 7.—A man named David Douglas, hostler at the Georgian Bay Hotel, was instantly killed last evening by an electric light in the cellar of the Georgian Bay House. The light is at the end of a long wire that can be carried to all parts of the cellar. Douglas went into the cellar for a bag of potatoes, and carried the light some distance before he got the shock. His right hand was badly burned.

HITCHCOCK SURRENDERS.

Had Never Left New York But Was Prostrated.

New York, Nov. 7.—Raymond Hitchcock, the actor, who disappeared several days ago, after he had been indicted on charges preferred by several young girls, appeared at the Criminal Court building yesterday and went to the office of the district attorney.

Hitchcock was arraigned upon only one of the six indictments against him, to which he pleaded not guilty. Bail was furnished by Martin Engel. He was paroled in custody of his counsel upon the other five indictments.

Counsel for Hitchcock said the actor had not been out of New York since his disappearance was reported, but had been suffering from nervous prostration. Yesterday, he said, was the first day he had really been able to go out of doors.

While Hitchcock was in court, his wife remained in the district attorney's office, weeping and in a semi-hysterical condition.

Hitchcock looked pale and haggard, and showed signs of illness. To his friends he said he had decided to face his accusers and try to win back the confidence of his friends and the public.

"I am innocent," he said, "and the only way for me to prove it is to stand trial. I am prepared to fight it out now, and I'll go through with it."

Hitchcock talked with Assistant District Attorney Garvan, who has had charge of his case.

Accompanied by his wife and counsel, Hitchcock was taken to the Court of General Sessions, where bail was fixed at $7,500.

ADMITS SERIOUS CRIME.

Boy Confesses Criminal Assault on a Little Girl, Then Runs Away.

Woodstock, Nov. 7.—High Constable Hobson is out of town in quest of a 19-year-old Barnardo boy, Phillip Burly. Burly is wanted for committing a criminal assault upon the four-year-old daughter of a West Zorra farmer. He has confessed to the crime, which was committed while he was left in charge of the child while her parents were away. He has been employed for the past while by the little one's father. After committing the outrage and confessing, he ran away. He is thought to be in Ayr.

Japanese From Honolulu.

Ottawa, Nov. 7.—The Federal Government has received no advice as yet confirming the press despatches from Honolulu, stating that United States Senator Chillingworth and others are arranging to send to British Columbia in the near future several shiploads of Japanese, aggregating three or four thousand. If the despatches are correct, and an attempt is made to land these Japanese at Vancouver, it is not improbable that they will be turned back, in view of the fact that they will not have passports from the Japanese Government. The emigration law of Japan provides that passports obtained under false pretences as to destination are illegal, and if, as is suspected, the Japanese coming to Canada from Honolulu are brought there first with the intention of sending them thence to Canada, the Japanese consul will be asked to so inform the Mikado's Government and co-operate with the Canadian Government in putting a stop to this method of circumventing Japan's understanding with this country relative to the restriction of immigration to the Dominion.

Fifty Miles of Steel Laid.

Ottawa, Nov. 7.—About fifty miles of rails have now been laid on the national transcontinental railway on the Quebec section, and grading is well advanced for a long distance on the various divisions now under contract. It is thought that by next fall about 400 miles of road will be graded, and that the track will be laid on a large portion of it.

Tenders for a greater portion of the remaining thousand miles between Winnipeg and Moncton will be called for next spring.

There is a scarcity of corporation laborers here. The minimum wage is $1.75 per day, and the best men are being snapped up by private firms.

Two Seamen Sentenced.

Montreal, Nov. 7.—Two seamen received severe lessons yesterday. Andrew Brown, fireman on the steamship Victorian, accused of disobeying the engineer of the vessel, was sentenced by Judge Lafontaine to five weeks in jail. John Lewis, sailor on the Parkwood, arrested by Special Agent Rupert, was sentenced to ten weeks in jail, six weeks for an assault upon the first mate and four weeks for refusing to obey orders.

School Girl Suicides.

St. John, N. B., Nov. 7.—Late last night Rebecca Scott, a 10-year-old girl, who drank carbolic acid in the morning, was in a precarious condition in the hospital.

She had been playing truant and when found she would have to return to school, became desperate, ran to the kitchen, where she seized a bottle of carbolic acid and drank it, crying, "I will end it all."

Five Men Killed.

Steubenville, Ohio, Nov. 7.—By the explosion last night of a donkey engine boiler at the Labelle Iron Works here five men were killed, three perhaps fatally injured and a portion of the open hearth plant, directly opposite the explosion, was wrecked.

Want Saloonkeeper's Life.

Buffalo, Nov. 7.—Alexander Young, a saloonkeeper of Ebenezer, was shot yesterday and probably fatally injured while standing at a window of his dance hall conversing with two friends. This is the third attempt within 14 months to kill him.

Barge Onondaga Foundered.

Kingston, Nov. 7.—The barge Onondaga, with coal from Sodus, in tow of the steamer Glengarry, foundered in Lake Ontario during the gale of Monday night. The crew were saved. The barge was an old one.

J. McLeish, a freshman, from Parkdale, had a rib cracked, at a students' frostie at Queen's, Kingston.

DOMINION PARK BLAZE

Montreal Amusement Enterprise Suffers Heavy Loss by Fire.

One Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars In Buildings Wiped Out—Flames Spread Rapidly — Covered by $200,000 Insurance—Dangerous Fire at Sudbury—Lumber Yard and Planing Mill Burned.

Montreal, Nov. 7.—The Dominion Park, Montreal's well-known pleasure resort, on the bank of the St. Lawrence, just east of the city, was practically wiped out by fire yesterday morning.

The blaze started in the scenic railway building and an easterly wind carried the flames through the flimsy buildings to the west side.

The property is insured for $200,000, but the loss will likely exceed that amount. The resort was closed for the season some weeks ago, and only a watchman and a few carpenters were about the premises.

Dangerous Fire at Sudbury.

Sudbury, Nov. 7.—Fire, which for a time threatened to wipe out the northern part of the town, last night destroyed the Evans' planing mill and lumber yard.

GAS GENERATOR EXPLODES.

Kinmount Hotel Damaged But No One Badly Injured.

Kinmount, Nov. 7.—The gas generator in the basement of the Northern Hotel exploded Tuesday night, tearing a large hole in the floor of the hall and barroom over the machine, shattering glass in the windows and breaking some of the dishes in the dining-room.

No one was seriously injured, though the proprietor, J. Simpson, W. Watson and R. Allen received severe burns on the face and hands, and a number of guests had a narrow escape.

The accident was apparently due to employes filling the machine with carbide while it was working, using a lantern near it. The damage will be in the neighborhood of $500.

EIGHT REPORTED KILLED.

Boilers on the German Training Ship Blucher Blow Up.

Kiel, Nov. 7—The boilers of the German schoolship Blucher exploded yesterday morning while the vessel was near Muirwick. It is reported that eight men were killed and 22 injured.

Poor Apple Crop In States.

New York, Nov. 7.—The apple crop of the United States for 1907, as estimated by The American Agriculturist in its report to appear on Nov. 19, is scant 24,000,000 barrels, materially short of last year, or a failure even more marked when compared with 1906 and 1905. What is of greatest importance is the shortage in such commercial orchard sections as Western New York, nearly all of Michigan and the entire southwest. There is what may be set down as an absolute failure in Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska.

New York State has a good many apples, but they will be needed, and for that matter the total is only about one-fourth to one-third of a full yield. Pennsylvania has fairly abundant totals. New England has rather more apples than last year, due solely to the fact that Maine surprised its best friends by finally bringing to maturity a good crop.

Empress Augusta Will Go.

Berlin, Nov. 7.—Empress Augusta Victoria, according to semi-official information obtained here, changed her mind, on the pressing request of King Edward and Queen Alexandra, and decided late last night to accompany Emperor William on his approaching visit to England.

It was announced on Tuesday that the Empress was not going to England with her husband, because her little daughter, Princess Victoria Louise, is suffering from chickenpox and Her Majesty considered it advisable to remain and take care of the child.

Last Look at the Dead.

Brandon, Nov. 7.—Fully 10,000 citizens of Brandon visited the City Hall yesterday between 12 and 3 o'clock to pay their last respects to the late Hon. S. W. McInnis.

The remains were taken back to the family residence at 3 o'clock, where they will remain until nine o'clock this morning, when the funeral will be held to St. Matthew's Church. The body will be sent to Winnipeg on a special train, where interment will take place. All the Cabinet Ministers will attend.

Railroad Bonds Stolen.

New York, Nov. 7.—The theft of $14,000 worth of railroad bonds was announced yesterday at the offices of Washerman Bros., brokers. The stolen securities included eight $1,000 Erie first consolidated general lien 4's, due in 1996, and six $1,000 Oregon Short Line Railroad Co. refunding 4's, due in 1929. The particulars of the theft was not made public except that the bonds were stolen from one of the firm's customers.

No Trace of Toronto Man.

Montreal, Nov. 7.—No trace of the young man who jumped from the C. P. R. Halifax express on Sunday night near Lennoxville has been found, and it is thought that he landed safely and walked down the track. He had a ticket from Toronto to St. John, N. B., and had been acting in a strange manner for part of the journey.

Mail For Far North.

Ottawa, Nov. 7.—The Postoffice Department has arranged for a special mail service similar to that provided last winter to Fort Resolution, Fort McPherson and intermediate points. Mails will leave Edmonton on Nov. 23, early in January, and early in February.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

CAPTURED HIS WIFE.

Alberta Justice of the Peace Had Long Chase.

Ann Harbor, Mich., Nov. 7.—Chas. Wixman Hermit, a justice of the peace from Raymond, Alberta, chased his faithless wife and her paramour fifteen hundred miles across country, and arrested them here yesterday. The man in the case is John Cooper, a land agent. Although Hermit arrived here several hours behind the couple, he was enabled to make the capture because his wife tarried too long over a visit to relatives in Ferrisburg.

Hermit claims that while he was in Oregon on a business trip Cooper became infatuated with Mrs. Hermit and enticed her to elope with him. Hermit, notified by his friends of her desertion, started out on the trail of the pair. He followed them through a score of cities in the middle west, but Cooper and his companion always managed to keep a few miles ahead.

The couple were arraigned in the police court, and both gave bail for their appearance in court next week.

PRIEST ORDERED OUT.

Told Judge In Court He Was Not Speaking Truth.

Montreal, Nov. 7.—"Leave the court room." This order was given by Justice St. Pierre to a priest named Abbe Luche, who persisted in interrupting the judge while he was charging the jury in the Supreme Court yesterday. The incident occurred in the libel suit which ex-Ald St. Denis instituted against the Citizens' League. Abbe Luche interrupted several times, and was ordered by the court crier to be quiet, but paid no attention. When he said Judge St. Pierre was not telling the truth his lordship ordered the priest to leave the room, which the priest did.

Ald. St. Denis sued the league for $10,000 damages, and Abbe Luche became connected with the case through an open letter he had written to the league, saying Ald St. Denis was a man devoid of principle. The jury awarded Ald. St. Denis $100 damages.

STAY LOYAL TO CROWN.

No Chance of Canada Becoming a Republic Says Lord Strathcona.

London, Nov. 7.—Lord Strathcona, interviewed by The Tribune, reiterates his prophecy that before the end of the century Canada will be the dominant state and the food market of the Empire. He thinks there is not the remotest chance of the Dominion ever becoming a republic. There is no visible reason why in the future the vast population should not remain loyal to the crown.

Married on Deathbed.

Marshall, Mich., Nov. 7.—One week ago William Anderson, 27 years old, one of the most popular in the young set of Marshall's social and business life, was banqueted and toasted in honor of his approaching marriage. The banquet was on the eve of his departure to Northeast, Pa., to marry Miss Esther Schooler. Now Anderson is dead.

A few days before leaving for the home of his fiance Anderson suffered a slight attack of erysipelas. The day he arrived there he was taken seriously ill and a physician was called from Buffalo. When the hour set for the marriage ceremony approached the dying young man and the weeping girl wished that the words be spoken that would make them man and wife. They propped Anderson up in bed and the knot was tied. The news of his death is a shock to the town.

Walked Into the River.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Nov. 7—Tuesday night an unknown Frenchman, name not obtainable, walked into the tail race, near the ship canal, and was drowned. He had just arrived on the Algoma Central train from a lumber camp up the line, and, stepping off the train on the wrong side, walked into the water. The current was rather strong, and although an effort has been made to recover the body, it has not yet been successful. It is claimed that the victim was demented, and may have walked into the water intentionally.

Accident Near Crookston.

Belleville, Nov. 7.—C. Howard, a young man residing near Crookston, Ont., was accidentally shot in the leg Tuesday afternoon while hunting near Millbridge, north of this town. The unfortunate young man was in company with a party of deer hunters, who were examining their rifles before entering the woods, when in some unaccountable way one of the guns was discharged, the ball entering Mr. Howard's leg below the knee, shattering the bone and tearing the flesh terribly. He was taken to Belleville Hospital on the morning train, where it is feared it will be necessary to amputate the leg at the knee.

Shooting Accident Near Welland.

Welland, Nov. 7.—The postmaster and a prominent merchant of Ridgeway were shooting quail in Wainfleet marsh. Mr. Halivan's gun was cocked and exploded. When he fell the charge hit Mr. Hibbert in the face and shoulder. One grain pierced his eye. The doctors fear blindness as the other eye is sightless.

Opening of British Parliament.

London, Nov. 7.—Although a royal proclamation is made, announcing that Parliament is further prorogued from Nov. 16 to Dec. 26, there will be another proclamation issued before the latter date.

Parliament is not expected to reassemble until Jan. 23.

Political Leader Injured.

San Francisco, Nov. 7.—Gavin McNab, a well-known attorney and Democratic political leader, was run down by a runaway horse at Market and Kearney streets yesterday.

His skull was fractured and he may be fatally injured.

Strike Is Ended.

The Prisoner of Zenda

By... ANTHONY HOPE

Copyrighted, 1894, 1898, by Henry Holt & Company

There struck on our ears the sound of singing. The priests in the chapel were singing masses for the souls of those who lay dead. They seemed to chant a requiem over our buried joy, to pray forgiveness for our love that would not die. The soft, sweet, pitiful music rose and fell as we stood opposite one another, her hands in mine.

"My queen and my beauty!" said I.

"My lover and true knight!" she said. "Perhaps we shall never see one another again. Kiss me, my dear, and go."

I kissed her as she bade me, but at the last she clung to me, whispering nothing but my name and that over and over again—and again—and again—and then I left her.

Rapidly I walked down to the bridge. Sapt and Fritz were waiting for me. Under their directions I changed my dress, and, muffling my face, as I had done more than once before, I mounted with them at the door of the castle, and we three rode through the night and on to the breaking of day and found ourselves at a little roadside station just over the border of Ruritania. The train was not quite due, and I walked with them in a meadow by a little brook while we waited for it. They promised to send me all news. They overwhelmed me with kindness. Even old Sapt was touched to gentleness, while Fritz was half unmanned. I listened in a kind of dream to all they said. "Rudolf! Rudolf! Rudolf!" still rang in my ears, a burden of sorrow and of love. At last they saw that I could not heed them, and we walked up and down in silence till Fritz touched me on the arm, and I saw, a mile or more away, the blue smoke of the train. Then I held out a hand to each of them.

"It was always you, never the king."

"We are all but half men this morning," said I, smiling. "But we have been men, eh, Sapt and Fritz, old friends? We have run a good course between us."

"We have defeated traitors and set the king firm on his throne," said Sapt.

Then Fritz von Tarlenheim suddenly, before I could discern his purpose or stay him, uncovered his head and bent as he used to do and kissed my hand, and as I snatched it away he said, trying to laugh:

"Heaven doesn't always make the right men kings!"

Old Sapt twisted his mouth as he wrung my hand.

"The devil has his share in most things," said he.

The people at the station looked curiously at the tall man with the muffled face, but we took no notice of their glances. I stood with my two friends and waited till the train came up to us. Then we shook hands again, saying nothing, and both this time—and, indeed, from old Sapt it seemed strange—bared their heads and so stood still till the train bore me away from their sight. So that it was thought some great man traveled privately for his pleasure from the little station that morning, whereas, in truth, it was only I, Rudolf Rassendyll, an English gentleman, a cadet of a good house, but a man of no wealth nor position nor of much rank. They would have been disappointed to know that. Yet had they known all they would have looked more curiously still, for, be I what I might now, I had been for three months a king, which, if not a thing to be proud of, is at least an experience to have undergone. Doubtless I should have thought more of it had there not echoed through the air, from the towers of Zenda that we were leaving far away, into my ears and into my heart the cry of a woman's love: "Rudolf! Rudolf! Rudolf!"

Hark! I hear it now!

CHAPTER XXII.

THE details of my return home can have but little interest. I went straight to the Tyrol and spent a quiet fortnight, mostly on my back, for a severe chill developed itself, and I was also the victim of a nervous reaction, which made me weak as a baby. As soon as I had reached my quarters I sent an apparently careless postcard to my brother, announcing my good health and prospective return. That would serve to satisfy the inquiries as to my whereabouts, which were probably still vexing the prefect of the police of Strelsau.

I let my mustache and imperial grow again, and, as hair comes quickly on my face, they were respectable, though not luxuriant, by the time that I landed myself in Paris and called on my friend George Featherly. My interview with him was chiefly remarkable for the number of unwilling but necessary falsehoods that I told, and I rallied him unmercifully when he told me that he had made up his mind that I had gone in the track of Mme. de Mauban to Strelsau. The lady, it appeared, was back in Paris, but was living in great seclusion—a fact for which gossip found no difficulty in accounting. Did not all the world know of the treachery and death of Duke Michael? Nevertheless George bade Bertram Bertrand be of good cheer, "for," said he flippantly, "a live post is better than a dead duke." Then he turned on me and asked:

"What have you been doing to your mustache?"

"To tell the truth," I answered, assuming a sly air, "a man now and then has reasons for wishing to alter his appearance. But it's coming on very well again."

"What? Then I wasn't so far out? If not the fair Antoinette, there was a charmer."

"There is always a charmer," said I sententiously.

But George would not be satisfied till he had wormed out of me (he took much pride in his ingenuity) an absolutely imaginary love affair, attended with the proper soupcon of scandal, which had kept me all this time in the peaceful regions of the Tyrol. In return for this narrative George regaled me with a great deal of what he called "inside information" (known only to diplomatists) as to the true course of events in Ruritania, the plots and counterplots. In his opinion, he told me, with a significant nod, there was more to be said for Black Michael than the public supposed, and he hinted at a well founded suspicion that the mysterious prisoner of Zenda, concerning whom a good many paragraphs had appeared, was not a man at all, but (here I had some ado not to smile) a woman disguised as a man, and that strife between the king and his brother for this imaginary lady's favor was at the bottom of their quarrel.

"Perhaps it was Mme. de Mauban herself," I suggested.

"No!" said George decisively. "Antoinette de Mauban was jealous of her and betrayed the duke to the king for that reason. And, to confirm what I say, it's well known that the Princess Flavia is now extremely cold to the king after having been most affectionate."

At this point I changed the subject and escaped from George's "inspired" delusions. But if diplomatists never know anything more than they had succeeded in finding out in this instance they appear to me to be somewhat expensive luxuries.

While in Paris I wrote to Antoinette, though I did not venture to call upon her. I received in return a very affecting letter, in which she assured me that the king's generosity and kindness, no less than her regard for me, bound her conscience to absolute secrecy. She expressed the intention of settling in the country and withdrawing herself entirely from society. Whether she carried out her designs I have never heard, but as I have not met her or heard news of her up to this time it is probable that she did. There is no doubt that she was deeply attached to the Duke of Strelsau, and her conduct at the time of his death proved that no knowledge of the man's real character was enough to root her regard for him out of her heart.

I had one more battle left to fight—a battle that would, I knew, be severe and was bound to end in my complete defeat. Was I not back from the Tyrol without having made any study of its inhabitants, institutions, scenery, fauna, flora or other features? Had I not wasted my time in my usual frivolous, good for nothing way? That was the aspect of the matter which, I was obliged to admit, would present itself to my sister-in-law, and against a verdict based on such evidence I had really no defense to offer. It may be supposed, then, that I presented myself in Park lane in a shamefaced, sheepish fashion. On the whole, my reception was not so alarming as I had feared. It turned out that I had done not what Rose wished, but—the next best thing—what she had prophesied. She had declared that I should make no notes, record no observations, gather no materials. My brother, on the other hand, had been weak enough to maintain that a really serious resolve had at length animated me.

When I returned empty handed, Rose was so occupied in triumphing over Burlesdon that she let me down quite easily, devoting the greater part of her reproaches to my failure to advise my friends of my whereabouts.

"We've wasted a lot of time trying to find you," she said.

"I know you have," said I. "Half our ambassadors have led weary lives on my account. George Featherly told me so. But why should you have been anxious? I can take care of myself."

"Oh, it wasn't that," she cried scornfully, "but I wanted to tell you about Sir Jacob Borrodaile. You know he's got an embassy—at least he will have in a month—and he wrote to say he hoped you would go with him."

"Where's he going to?"

"He's going to succeed Lord Topham at Strelsau," said she. "You couldn't have a nicer place, short of Paris."

"Strelsau! H'm!" said I, glancing at my brother.

"Oh, that doesn't matter!" exclaimed Rose impatiently. "Now, you will go, won't you?"

"I don't know that I care about it."

"Oh, you're too exasperating!"

"And I don't think I can go to Strelsau. My dear Rose, would it be—suitable?"

"Oh, nobody remembers that horrid old story now."

Upon this I took out of my pocket a portrait of the king of Ruritania. It had been taken a month or two before he ascended the throne, and he wore a full beard. Nevertheless she could not miss my point when I said, putting it into her hands:

"In case you've not seen or not noticed a picture of Rudolf V., there he is. Don't you think they might recall the story if I appeared at the court of Ruritania?"

My sister-in-law looked at the portrait and then at me.

"Good gracious!" she said and flung the photograph down on the table.

"What do you say, Bob?" I asked.

Dakota Divorce Didn't Go.

Walkerton, Nov. 7.—The Switzer bigamy case was tried before Judge Barrett yesterday. From the evidence it was adduced that Switzer had violated the marriage laws of the country, but unintentionally. The judge therefore let him off on suspended sentence, under bail, to appear at any time within 12 months for sentence.

In 1894 Switzer was married in Manitoba to Ida Jane Jaldro. Growing tired of Ida Jane, he bethought himself of another former sweetheart, Marie Harris. He therefore concocted various schemes to get rid of Ida Jane and in 1906 was divorced from her in Dakota. A short while afterwards he was married to Marie Harris.

Kick for Trouser Pockets.

Kingston, Nov. 7.—Penitentiary guards have gone to Ottawa to lay grievances before the civil service commission. They want higher salaries, better uniforms with trouser pockets and the prison barber shop reopened.

The guards also want vacancies filled at once. The staff is constantly under strength and extra duty imposed. The prison, they hold, is being run too economically and at their expense and suffering.

Overblouse dresses are still popular, and an attractive one of recent design is shown. A pretty striped wool in brown and biscuit was used for the dress, with brown ribbon velvet for trimming. The body portion is here made of tucked China silk, with fine embroidery for garniture, but a warmer material may be substituted if preferred. The shoulder straps give a pretty effect to the V shaped overbloute and are most becoming to the small wearer. Any of the seasonably materials may be used for the dress, 4 yards of 36 inch material being needed to develop the 5 year size.

W. H. HILL, Esq.,
Manager Central Ontario,
Peterborough, Ontario.

Dear Sir,—I have much pleasure in acknowledging the receipt of the cheque for $1,244, being the amount paid me on the maturity of my endowment policy, 35390, in your Company which matured on the 1st inst.

I find I have received almost 4 per cent. compound interest on every dollar paid in to the Company and in addition have had free insurance for the past fifteen years.

Such a result speaks volumes for the management of your company, and far exceeds my expectations and I would be ungrateful indeed were I not to acknowledge it.

I was also offered a paid-up policy of $2,078, or an annuity for life of $111.55, both of which I consider excellent.

I thank you very much indeed and wish your company the continued success and confidence it so richly deserves.

Yours very truly,

(Signed) REV. H. C. GARBUTT

FACTORIES NOT CHEAP THERE

Are Well Constructed and Equipped in Denmark and New Zealand

Mr. Barr, official referee for cheese and butter for Canada, says that the Canadian cheese and butter industry is greatly endangered on account of the cheap factories and factory equipment in this country. He says New Zealand and Denmark set the example for the conduct of cheese factories, and no expense is spared in connection with the factories in these countries. The maker usually resides alongside the factory, and his place of residence is generally beautified by a fine lawn and attractive flower garden.

Specimens of Sculpture, the Work of Katherine E. Wallis, to be Placed in Provincial Museum

The Toronto despatch says: Within a few days two excellent specimens of sculpture in marble, by Katherine E. Wallis, of Peterborough, will be placed on exhibition in the provincial museum—one represents Mercury, in the attitude of twanging a string of the lyre, which he is fabled to have invented, and listening with pleasure to the sound, and the other, a Swiss peasant. Miss Wallis has spent some years in the ateliers of Florence, Berlin, Vienna, Rome and Paris, and her work has received warm commendation from art critics in Paris.

It has been suggested that some of our wealthy citizens, in emulation of the examples set in such matters, both in Europe and the United States, would do well to purchase one or both of these specimens of native art and present them to the museum for permanent exhibition.

Peterborough friends will be glad to hear of Miss Wallis' continued success. She is now in Paris and has been abroad for several years. Miss Wallis is a sister of Mrs. (Rev.) Walter Roger, of this city, and is well known here.

Carpenters Will Hold Meeting

A special meeting of the Amalgamated Society of Carpenters and Joiners, will be held in the Orange Hall, Simcoe street, on Friday night, at eight o'clock, when some important business, including the revision of the rules, will be taken up.

There seems to be some misunderstanding on the part of labor men in Peterborough, concerning the society, which not only stands for the rights of the labor man but also gives its members a sick benefit. The fees for initiation in Peterborough have been placed at $5. All information in regard to the society can be obtained from the branch secretary, Mr. A. Hope, 205 King street.

HARRY ADAMS

Judgment Was Reserved in Majority of the Appeals

OVER FORTY CASES WERE DEALT WITH

Court of Revision Had Busy Session Last Night

Majority of Appellants Make Comparison With Last Year's Assessment

The Court of Revision held its first meeting of the season last night and forty-two appeals were dealt with. Although it had been announced that the appeals were to be taken up in alphabetical order, and that "A" and "B" were to be considered last night scores of others besides those whose appeals would be taken up were on hand and deep interest was manifested in the proceedings. The council chamber was crowded, in fact many had to turn away, being unable to gain admittance.

The court this year is composed of Mr. Wm. Langford, chairman; Mr. A. E. Dixon and Mr. B. Morrow, all of whom were present last night along with the city clerk, City Solicitor Hall and Assessors McKee and McGrath.

In the majority of cases dealt with Judgment was reserved; only in two or three appeals was action taken and these were of minor importance. The major portion of the appeals were based on the grounds that the present assessment was out of proportion, compared with that for 1907.

The courts meets again tonight, when the claims of the appellants whose names commence with C, D and E, will be taken up. Although it was only intended to take up A and B last night, several appeals besides those were taken up, as there was time at the disposal of the court, and the appellants were present.

Below will be found a complete list of the appeals dealt with last night, the claims of the appellants and the decision of the court. It makes uninteresting reading just at the present time when the assessment question is so much to the fore;

W. C. Ackerman asked that his lot be assessed the same as last year, $1,400 instead of $1,500. He had paid income tax illegally last year on $600 assessment. Judgment reserved.

Heat Stove and Hardware Co. claimed that store on Hunter street had been assessed five years ago at $4,000, $7,000. Five years ago the property rented for $550, now it was $600. The free city postal delivery had decreased value of property. — Judgment reserved.

B. F. Ackerman claimed over assessment on property at 222 Dalhousie street. The assessment had been increased $1,870 and he could not understand why, as there had been no improvements. He would be very glad to sell it at the assessed value if leaving the city.—Judgment reserved.

Braidburn Estate.—Claim was made that License Inspector Stewart's office should be exempt from taxation and also that property at s Charlotte s George had been assessed at $75 per foot and only $65 per foot had been asked for it, and it could not be sold at that price. Judgment reserved.

Aggett and Stalker overcharged on land. No one appeared for appellant.

G. H. Armstrong, assessment of dog. Appeal allowed.

W. H. G Armstrong, overcharged on land, lot 68, plan 215. Mr. Armstrong was sworn and said he paid $400 for lot. The contract price for the house was $2,100. Dwelling not finished, electric light not being in, and verandah not on. He is assessed for $2,000. Judgment reserved.

Auburn Woollen Co., overcharged on land. No one appeared for appellants.

Mrs. Eliza Baker, overcharged on land, n London, w George, part 23. Building insured for $400 and assessed for $500. Assessment confirmed.

F. Bartlett, wrongly assessed, business tax. Mr. Bartlett is an architect, but has his office in his house. Judgment reserved.

John Bell, overcharged on land. No one appeared for appellant.

Henry Best, overcharged on land. No one appeared.

C. M. Birdsall, overcharged on lot s Brock, e George. E. A. Peck appeared for appellant. He argued that the law was changed in 1904 and in 1905 two assessors—McGrath and McKee—assessed the ward and gave satisfaction. In 1906, Messrs. McGrath and Kincaid assessed, corresponding with previous years, and there had been few appeals. This year there were many appeals, and the court should look at last year's assessment to ascertain the proper value of property. If the assessment was right now, the two previous assessments were wrong. No improvements had been made, only repairs. Judgment was reserved.

F. Birdsall, E. A. Peck appeared and made same argument as in previous case. Judgment reserved.

Patrick Bolton claimed over assessment on park lot 4, on west side Park street. The assessment on the property is $3,720 and he, the appellant, stated that he had offered to sell it for less than this figure. The land was not worth more than $300 per acre. Mr. Bolton claimed that the lot should not be divided in assessment as the tenant had no land. Two or two and a half acres were used as a sand pit, and should come under the heading of "damaged lands." Judgment reserved.

Jas. Booth, overcharged on land. No one appeared.

Mrs. Mary Bowman, C.P.R. hotel, appealed against assessment for hotel on ground that it was too high. The assessment this year was $9,000, last year, $8,175. Judgment reserved.

F. J. Braddi, overcharged on land. No one appeared.

W. Bradshaw part lot 7, s Hunter, w George, overcharged on land. Mr. Bradshaw said the assessment had been increased over last year, and there had been no improvements. — Judgment reserved.

R. C. Braund claimed assessment was too high on lot on which store is located at corner of Albert and Park streets, and also on other lots in the neighborhood on Albert street and Lafayette avenue. Judgment reserved.

R. Briou, overcharged on land. No one appeared.

John Britton, overcharged on land. No one appeared.

Martha Britton, overcharged on land. No one appeared.

Andrew Brown, overcharged on land. Mr. Brown was not present and the appeal was left until the next sitting.

C N Brown, overcharged on land, part 1 and 2, s Smoot, e George.

Mr. Brown said his assessment this year was $3,300, and last year $2,750. Judgment reserved.

Jos Brown, wrongly omitted and over assessed. Jos. Brown to be assessed as owner instead of M J. Brown. Assessment as to value confirmed.

H. R. Buckley, 458 Sherbrooke street. Assessment is $1,850, and stated that he had paid $1,800 for the property a year and ten months ago. The only improvement had been the putting in of a bath room, for which the contract was $160. Mr. Buckley claimed that he was assessed higher in proportion to other lots on the street. Judgment reserved.

George Benton, jr., overcharged on land. Mr. Benton claimed over assessment on lots at 224, 226, 228 Rubidge street, which were assessed respectively at $1,400, $1,400 and $1,580. He stated that there had been no improvements and the assessment had been increased, but could not say it was more than actual value. He did not remember what the insurance on the house was. Judgment reserved.

W. BUNTON'S CASE.

W Bunton claimed he was assessed too high on property at 334 George street (G.T.R. ticket office). It had been increased from $2,200 last year to $2,550 and there had not been that increase in value.

Mr. McKee said that he had taken as a basis what the buildings would cost at the present time, less ten per cent. He said the value and rents were increasing, and the cost of building material was higher than two years ago.

City Solicitor E H D Hall asked that Mr. Bunton's business assessment be increased to 50 per cent of value of land instead of 25 per cent.

Mr. D. O'Connell, who appeared for Mr. Bunton, submitted that the increase was an important matter. People had a right to expect the assessor making an increase would do it on some intelligent principle. The onus of showing why the increase had been made was on the assessor. The only reason given, said Mr. O'Connell, was that the assessor had an idea in his mind that rents had gone up, and the population increased. The tenant overburdened with increased rent must also pay increased taxes. The increase in rent was not a proper guide for the assessor.

The city solicitor said that the increase in rents showed that the land was more valuable to the owner. An increase in population meant increased value in centre of the city. Judgment was reserved.

Daniel Burke claimed over assessment on property at 97 Homewood Avenue. He said it was assessed for $1,800 ,and he had paid $1,750 for it two years ago. Judgment reserved.

Clara and Mary Cairns. George F. Cairns appeared for them and claimed that assessment of $1,100 on lots at 35, 41 and 43 Patterson street was too high. Last year, he said, the assessment had been increased 30 per cent, and this year 40 per cent, while there had been no improvements. Judgment reserved.

T. Kinnear claimed that the assessment on new warehouse at corner of Dalhousie and George streets was too high. It was assessed at $2,430 for land, and $5,500 for the building. Judgment reserved.

W D Campbell claimed that the assessment on property at 77 Gilmour street had been increased $1,250 in five years. This, he said, was out of proportion to increase in value. Judgment reserved.

C.G.E. APPEAL.

Canadian General Electric Company.—Mr. E. G. Patterson appeared for appellant and said that the assessment on lots 6 to 13, and 17 to 19, inclusive, plan 30, had been increased from $8,350 last year, to $15,450 this year, an increase of 90 1-3 per cent. Nothing had been spent on the property. Mr. Patterson also complained that the present assessment of $28,520 on lots 10 and 11, Wolfe and Townsend streets, was too high. They had been purchased for $10,000, and assessed at $15,000, but this had been reduced to $13,000 on an appeal several years ago. Judgment reserved.

C Chancy, overcharged on land at 64 Aylmer street. Judgment reserved.

C. H. Clementi protested against increased assessment on property at 360 Charlotte street. He said there had been an increase of about 50 per cent over last year. The assessment this year was $5,300, and he wished to God some one would give him that for it. If they did they could have it. Judgment reserved.

B Cooney, overcharged on land at 241 Stewart street. Increase over last year was $400. Judgment reserved.

W Cowie complained of assessment at 269, 271 Reid street, which are assessed at $1,450 and $1,400 respectively. Last year they were assessed at $1,050 each. There had been no improvements and he did no believe he could get the assessed value for it.

J J Cunningham overcharged on land at $104 Lock street. The assessment had been increased $670 over last year and no improvements had been made. Judgment reserved.

Roger Devlin protested against assessment on part lot 4, plan 41, Wescott street. He said it was assessed for $360 and he had paid $250 for it three years ago. Judgment reserved.

Justus Dunn, e Charlotte, w George part 2, Assessment increased from $7,900 to $7,530. Judgment reserved.

R. Milloy said that assessment on lot 1 on north side of Parnell street had been increased from $100 to $200. Judgment reserved.

G.N.W. Telegraph Company complained that assessment on poles and street plant was illegal, according to section 14, sub. section 8 of the Assessment Act. The assessment was struck off. The same complaint was made for 1907, and the taxes were remitted.

Jas. Watson complained of being wrongly assessed. Mr. W. Brown appeared and asked that he be assessed for as tenant. Change made from tenant to freeholder. Judgment reserved as to value.

The Planets Could Not See Them Kiss

They were enjoying a quiet stroll under the star-strewn veil of evening, and he, bashful youth, eagerly grasped a stray opportunity to keep alive the languishing conversation.

"Yes, Miss Georgiana, the star over there is the planet Jupiter, which they say is about 400,000,000 miles from the earth and that bright red planet, overhead, is Mars, which just now, is only a little over 40,000,000 miles away. It is a great question among scientists, whether or not there are inhabitants on either of them."

"Well George," said the fair listener, in her thirst for astronomical knowledge, drawing a trifle closer to her informant, "if there really are, it doesn't seem to me they're near enough so that they could see us on a dark evening like this, even though they were looking this way."—Judge.

Lindsay Hotelmen Not Loyal to Town

The Lindsay Post says; Three or four of our business men engaged in an interesting discussion yesterday on the subject, "Are our hotelmen loyal to the town in which they make their money?" One of the speakers contended that a few of them are anything but loyal, for the reason that they purchase almost all of their supplies out of town. Instances were quoted, and the discussion has opened up a subject that will stand investigation and likely prove fruitful of strange discoveries. One thing is certain—hotelmen have every reason to be loyal because their existence is dependent upon the sufferance of the people.

Broke Window in Printing Office

At the police court this morning a man who has just lately returned from Cobalt, was remanded for eight days, on a charge of being drunk in a public place. He was coming up George Street last evening, when under the influence of liquor, and accidentally fell up against a window in the Times Printing Office, breaking it. The cost of the window is estimated at three dollars. He will sojourn at Castle Nesbitt for the next week.

Vessel Called; Then Disappeared

The Port Hope Guide says:

A strange story reached our office today, and it was neither from the express agent nor the orator of Hope. express agent nor the orator of Hope. It was to the effect that a monster vessel, capable of carrying one thousand passengers, and a whole train of loaded cars, left Toronto heading eastward, and when about seven miles below the town of Port Hope made an attempt to enter the harbor of a small town called Cobourg, and after great difficulty succeeded in getting into a small inner basin when, to the astonishment of the inhabitants and all on board, the great vessel began to sink. The cry of quicksands was raised, and everything possible was done, but, sad to relate, the immense ship disappeared to no man knows where; possibly it may appear on the other side of the globe.

An accident occurred at the C.G.E. works, this morning, when Stephen O'Toole, an employee of the transformer building, had the two middle fingers of his left hand taken off at the first joint. The unfortunate fellow while engaged on a machine got his fingers caught in the shears, resulting in their being cut off. O'Toole was at once taken to the surgery ward, and Dr. Young was called. On examination of the injury, the doctor had him removed to Nemous Hospital in the Dan Spence ambulance. Dr. Young assisted by Dr. Eastwood, dressed the injured fingers, after which O'Toole was conveyed to his home on Hunter street. Broke Both Legs at the Ankle Joints

Mr. John McCauley Meets With a Serious Mishap While at Work Yesterday

Mr. John McCauley, who resides at 629 Rogers street, met with a painful accident yesterday morning while loading railway ties on a car in the yard of the Peterborough Lumber Company. He was putting the ties off a pile on to the car, when his pike pole slipped and he fell backward. In attempting to save himself Mr. McCauley landed on his heels. The result was that both legs were broken at the ankle joints. He was removed to his home. Dr. McNulty was called and reduced the fracture. Mr. McCauley will be laid up for some weeks.

First Real Snowfall of Season

Is Somewhat Later Than Last Seaso —Some Observations on Weather Conditions

What the poet has described as "snow, snow beautiful snow," came down in a haphazard manner last night and this morning and left everything very nasty here below. If anyone had suggested yesterday that the weather could be worse, he would have been hit on the head with a club, but the weather man, like the Peterborough rugby team, had something new up his sleeve, and proceeded to hand it out today.

After two days of almost incessant rain, snow commenced to fall about three o'clock this morning and when daylight came, the ground was white, with snow still falling. The atmosphere was decidedly cold, and a north wind had a tinge of bitterness in it. The streets became very sloppy when the snow started to melt, and they have not been in such bad condition for a year.

The highest temperature yesterday was 42 degrees; lowest, 30 degrees; rainfall, .53 of an inch. The gale which set in from the northwest last night, brought the first snow of any account this season. Last year the first snow came on October 30th, when two inches fell, which however all disappeared the following day. The snow ploughs were first brought into use on Dec. 3rd, and the first sleighing to be had was on Dec. 5th. By Dec. 17th sufficient snow had fallen and remained on the ground, to make good sleighing, which continued without serious interruption all winter. A change to better conditions now appears likely.

The report of R. F. Stupart, director of the Meteorological Service, Toronto, has the following regarding weather conditions in Ontario during October;

"A sub-normal temperature marked October weather in Ontario. The precipitation also was generally below average, except in some few localities. Many bright days were experienced, and during the latter half of the month, frost was of almost nightly occurrence. Snow flurries were noted in many districts, and in northern regions, light falls of snow were reported on several occasions. Deciduous trees were almost bare of foliage by the end of the month. Owing to the open weather, farm work has progressed satisfactorily and fall wheat is reported to be looking well. Port Arthur—Lakes and streams high, no ice or snow. Crops early fair, but all safely housed. Bruce Mines.— Geese migrated on the 18th. Beatrice—Roots about all in; fall work fairly advanced; live stock in good order. Gravenhurst—Oct. 1, first slight frost; the 19th, little flurries of snow, inappreciable in depth on the 20th; the first frost to injure tender plants on the 21st. Clinton—Forest leaves turning on the 10th; leaves yellow and falling on the 16th; falling rapidly on 21st; upper part of forest bare; fall pasture fair; fall wheat looking well; frost at night for last two weeks. Birnam—Fine open weather; trees not bare; wheat looking well; roots all housed; fall ploughing well advanced. London—Severe frosts have cut down all foliage and trees have shed their leavees. Port Burwell — Leaves about all off trees on the 20th; windy month. Georgetown — Considerable rain during the first part of the month improved conditions for plowing; sharp frosts at night prevailed the latter part; first ice formed on the 9th; wild geese going south on the 19th. Sutton West—Cold nights; bright days on the whole; favorable harvest; splendid weather for fall plowing. Lansdowne—The leaves have nearly all fallen off the trees; wild geese going south on the 18th and the 19th, and the 28th other birds have all gone. Arden.—The last few days of the month, sharp frosts prevailed; a large flock of wild geese flying south on the 20th.

PASSEPARTOUT PICTURES AND MOUNTING BOARD

The fad for passepartout pictures is again growing very general. Many who have used this means of decorating their rooms, find there is no other way of treating pictures, that is so economical and satisfactory. The Review has a new line of passepartout in all shades, mounting papers and pictures in the popular sepia tints. Call and see them, and fix up a few pictures for your friends for Xmas. Nothing is more acceptable than a pretty picture.

DRAWING UP YACHT FOR THE WINTER

Mr. Harold Rye is drawing up his gasoline and steam launches, which have been moored in the river near his boathouse at the end of the street car line, since the boating activities have ceased. Some of the boats are being placed under sheds for the winter, and others are being securely wrapped up with many coverings. The boats will remain under cover, until the pleasure boating season opens again next spring.

PETERBORO' FINE DAIRY DISTRICT

Mr. G. G. Publow, chief dairy instructor, and sanitary inspector for Eastern Ontario, gave an interview to a Review representative concerning matters of interest in the dairy business in this part of the country.

Eastern Ontario is divided into 24 dairy districts, which include 1,000 factories and which are located in an area of country with the western and eastern boundaries, respectively, at Yonge street, Toronto, and the boundary between Ontario and Quebec. On the average, there are about forty factories in each district. Every district has an instructor and sanitary inspector, whose duties consist of visiting the factories under his charge, giving the maker any instructions he deems advisable, seeing that everything is clean inside and outside, that there is a good supply of pure water, and that the people are getting good service.

The system of holding district meetings previous to the annual meeting, and inaugurated this year, seems to be a good move, and Mr. Publow thinks the idea is a capital one. It was impossible for him to state much concerning the interests that the dairymen in Eastern Ontario are showing in them, as only two have been held—at Picton and Peterborough. These have been largely attended, however, and are much appreciated by many who will find it impossible to attend the annual meeting. One of the objects of the meeting is to give the dairymen an opportunity of electing a director from the different districts to act as representative at the annual meeting, which will be held at Picton this year.

PETERBORO ONE OF THE BEST

Mr. Publow, in his official capacity has visited all the districts this year and considers the Peterborough district one of the finest in Eastern Ontario. He has noticed a marked improvement in the factories this year and said that the factories that have been built here since his last visit, are a credit to this section. He has noticed that the patrons are also putting forth commendable efforts to have their milk delivered to the factories in as good condition as possible. Several new stands have also been built in the district, with ice houses in connection for the cooling of milk and Mr. Publow is of the opinion that every cheese factory patron should have these facilities in order that the milk may be delivered at the factory in the best possible condition.

The Road to Greater Success Is Pointed Out by Experts

Big Gathering of Dairymen of Peterborough District Addressed by Prominent Authorities—Subjects of Vital Importance Given Consideration.

The Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association is certainly a progressive body, laboring faithfully and intelligently in the interests of the improvement of dairy processes in the districts that come under its jurisdiction. This year, for the first time in the history of the association, meetings are being held in all the districts and these will undoubtedly have the effect of arousing the enthusiasm of those attending the meetings and of encouraging them to do all in their power to raise the dairying industry to higher standard than that which it has already attained. There is no doubt that Canadian cheese and butter are the finest offered for sale on the markets of Great Britain, but it is also a fact beyond dispute that there is room for vast improvement in the manufacture of these products.

Judging from the views expressed by some of the speakers at the first district meeting in Peterborough, under the auspices of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association, held at the county council chamber yesterday and which was attended by a large number of cheesers, buyers and patrons, there is a tendency among Canadian dairy producers, to use a common expression, to run things too much "on the cheap." A plea was made for better factories, both from a standpoint of utility and appearance, and also for the installation of equipment of the most complete and useful character, and the establishment of superior curing rooms.

At yesterday's meeting, upon motion of Messrs. G. A. Gillespie, and G. Hawthorne, Mr. D. Derbyshire, ex-M.P., of Brockville, honorary president of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association was appointed as chairman. Mr. Gillespie, as director of this district was entitled to the chair, but graciously withdrew in favor of the honorary president of the association, who discharged his duties with an executive ability, born of a long familiarity with the position. He interspersed the remarks of the different speakers with several crisp and timely sayings, such as come only from the real and original 'Dan' Derbyshire.

The following were the speakers, whose names are given in the order in which they delivered their discourses;—Messrs. R. W. Ward, instructor and sanitary inspector for this district; Geo. H. Barr, Montreal, official referee for cheese and butter for Canada; G. G. Publow, Kingston, chief instructor and sanitary inspector for Eastern Ontario, and Henry Glendenning, Manilla, first vice president of the association.

Among those present were Messrs. J. Riddell, president of the Peterborough Cheese Board; John Coughlan, vice president of the Board, and E. Hawthorne, secretary.

Mr. Wm. Collins, secretary treasurer of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute, was also an interested spectator.

THE MEETING

Mr. Derbyshire, in a brief and neatly expressed opening address, said that he was very glad to be among his Peterborough friends once more, and told of the good work being done for the betterment of the dairy interests in Eastern Ontario. He spoke of many matters of interest to dairymen and urged his listeners to do their utmost to raise to as high a level as possible, the quality of dairy products. At the conclusion of his remarks, he introduced the first speaker, Mr. Ward, instructor and sanitary inspector for this district. Mr. Ward has been district instructor for nine years, and a great many of the improvements in dairying in the district, are due to his intelligent and well directed methods.

MR. WARD.

Mr. Ward pointed out the defects found in the cheese that has been manufactured during the past year, in the district. Some of these defects consisted of improper coloring, an uneveness of quality and too much moisture. These faults could be traced in many cases, to the poor quality of the milk supplied, due to a large extent, to the changeable weather. Many of the patrons would not alter their mode of caring for their milk until complaints had been sent from the factory. In some cases, too cheap help and inexperienced makers were to blame. The speaker said, in his opinion the adoption of more progressive methods was necessary. He stated that the reason he had called attention to defects mentioned above was to enable Mr. Barr and Mr. Publow to discuss them at length, and suggest any practical remedies.

OFFICIAL REFEREE SPEAKS.

Mr. George H. Barr, the official referee of cheese and butter for Canada was the next speaker. He expressed his pleasure at meeting the dairymen present, and said that Peterborough had the reputation of being one of the very first butter markets of the Dominion. It was difficult for him to say much in connection with the local conditions as he had not visited any factories in this district and had no opportunity of testing Peterborough cheese. Mr. Ward had stated that the quality of the cheese in this district was not as good as it might have been on account of the inferior work of cheap help. One of the mistakes of dairying in Canada, was running the business too cheaply. The factories are not constructed as permanently and well as they might be, and generally speaking, the equipment in the factories is too cheap. This unwise economy, if carried to excess is sure to result disastrously and eventually injure the reputation of Canadian cheese in Great Britain.

The dairy business today, when compared with other commercial enterprises, shows a lack of consolidation. There is a tendency to have as many cheese factories as possible without due regard to their construction and equipment. The shipping of green cheese encourages the building of factories with poor facilities, and the maker is also tempted to leave too much moisture in the cheese, so as to make it appear rich in quality, quickly. The speaker regretted to hear a speaker at last year's annual convention advocate leaving much moisture in the curds, and in his opinion, those who followed his advice, injured the quality of their cheese during the past season.

MR. PUBLOW.

Mr. Publow said he was glad to meet the Peterborough dairymen. This section has not been backward in holding district meeting and thought they were to be congratulated, and said they were very progressive dairymen. Mr. Ward has said he has been in this section for nine years, and says that while the cheese has not been so good the milk has been better. The dairy farmers are the men who should be most concerned about the quality of cheese and butter made in this part of the country, yet the average man is satisfied with the board price. If the milk has been in good condition, there should be no fault with the cheese. Some that Mr. Ward has seen has been coarse in texture and pale in color, showing that the milk has been overripe when taken to the factories. The speaker congratulated the gathering on the excellence and cleanliness of the factories, and believed much of the cheese that was faulty in this section this year, could be attributed to the shortness of help. All the best markets want a cheese that is close, rich and of good color, as well as being thoroughly digestible. Cheese of that quality cannot be made from over ripe milk. One large dealer in Montreal was not satisfied with Peterborough cheese this year, while another thought particularly fine cheese was made in Peterborough. It is essential for the farmers to get their milk in the condition conducive to the manufacture of the highest grade cheese. Two things are necessary in the care of the milk, viz., to keep it cool and to keep it clean. Mr. Publow didn't believe that the farmers of this district didn't know how to look after their milk, but was of the opinion that any defects in the milk was due to them not having the necessary facilities for giving it proper care. Good cool places, immune from rain and dust are necessary, and one in which milk could be cooled to 60 degrees, or even below. Canadian cheese was very closely criticized this year, but even in face of this, not as much of it had been rejected as in many former years.

The cheesemakers should reject every can of milk that was not suitable for the making of cheese. Up to the warm weather this year the cheese had been of fine quality, but after that it was below standard, but this year has been a very changeable one. Mr. Ward mentioned that in the warm weather many of the cheeses went to pieces. But the speaker did not believe that this would be said of factories provided with proper curing rooms conducted in an intelligent manner. There never was a time in which there were so many good cheesemakers who were dissatisfied with conditions both from a productive and sales standpoint. The people who produce the milk are responsible to the greatest extent for the quality of the cheese. The instructors in the different districts should be thoroughly informed concerning all matters in connection with cheese production. Mr. Publow appealed to his listeners to have curing rooms in factories in which the temperature could be regulated to 60 degrees in all weather. In reference to this section the speaker said that the great dissatisfaction among the makers was, in his opinion due to the cost of the handling of the milk, and many of the makers have made practically no profit this season. Cheese factories should be built of a good material and while it is not necessary to be extravagant nothing about the factory should savor of cheapness in any way and the cheesemaker should be a bright, intelligent man that makes an attractive cheese as well as one of good quality. A cheese properly made should go on improving for at least three months and is it not foolish to dispose of cheese until it is properly ripened. It's up to the men who produce the cheese to see that it is ready for sale before it is disposed of.

MR. GLENDENNING.

Said he had the pleasure of speaking at Peterborough before. He said one of the essential features in connection with the work was a good cow. By means of a sketch of a cow that was hung up on the wall he pointed out its various defects and then told of the kind of cows that it was desirable for dairymen to possess. The shorthorn is a good dual purpose cow, but in the last twenty years or so the breeders of Shorthorns were breeding to bulls of Scotch strain in order to produce good stock for beef. In regard to feeding of the cows if we are going to produce milk quickly it is necessary to have cheap feed, but to-day the markets are against them. It is necessary to grow as much as possible upon the farm. Farmers should aim to have summer silage as well as winter silage, but the speaker would not advise the feeding of silage alone as it does not contain all the food properties necessary for the production of good milk, but it is very valuable owing to the fact that it contains many of the qualities possessed by grass. And a green food is better than dry feeds and for this reason silage is preferable to hay and grain. June grass is an excellent food for cows and another thing we find associated with grass is white clover. A combination of grass and white clover is the best food for the dairy cow. White clover has a great deal higher food qualitites then red clover. The speaker by means of a chart illustrated the proportion of nutriment in the different foods printed on the chart.

How are we going to produce butter and milk in summer and winter? First have corn silage and then alfalfa hay. If hay can be put into the barns at $2.50 a ton against $24 per ton of wheat bran, conditions are most favorable for production of cheap milk and butter. The hay combined with corn silage makes the ideal feed. The speaker said that from the first of January until the present time he had made about $60 per dairy cow, feeding them in the way he had advocated. In this country there are thousands of acres of ideal alfalfa land. Clay loam is probably best for the growing of alfalfa, although it grows very well on sandy soil. Corn silage, alfalfa hay and the necessary amount of roots in the opinion of the speaker makes the best feed, next to good grass. The speaker thought Jersey cows were best butter cows obtainable. He also though cows should also have a liberal amount of salt. The feed of cows should be regulated by an intelligent man. While cows eating a large quantity of food and giving large returns are desirable, there is a great danger of overfeeding.

Mr. Derbyshire said he was very much pleased with the meeting and was glad it was attended by such an intelligent and representative gathering. He spoke highly of the ability of the speakers and urged those present to make use of the sound practical advise given them. He told his listeners they should make the annual meeting at Picton the greatest in the history of the association.

A vote of thanks was tendered the county for the use of the Council chambers and the meeting was brought to a close by the singing of "God Save the King."

Was Not the Man That the Police Wanted

Could Not be Identified by Young Lady—Didn't Leave Hotel on Night of Assault

Yesterday evening about 5.30 o'clock Chief Roszel and P.C. McGinty, accompanied by a representative of this paper, journeyed over to Hogan's hotel, East City, where there was a stranger, concerning whom some suspicion was entertained that he was the individual guilty of having assaulted a couple of young ladies in East City the other night.

The Chief had received a 'phone message telling of his presence in the hotel, the person communicating with the officer of the law thinking he had good grounds for his suspicions that the man he was telling the Chief about was the one for whom he was looking.

He was located by P.C. McGinty in the corridor of the hotel, and when asked to accompany the policeman to the station he seemed much surprised, and wanted to know on what charge he was wanted.

"I haven't done anything," he said.

"Well, if you haven't it's all right," replied the officer, "but you'll have to come to the police station with me, and if you haven't done anything, as you say, we'll let you go."

The man, who gave the name of Sullivan, said he had been working in the Cavendish Lumber Company's camps for some time, but was unfortunate enough to have his thumb badly cut, being accidentally struck across it with an axe by a lumberman who was working with him. He said the injury was a very painful one, and he had come to the city to have it dressed. A big bandage wrapped around his thumb and hand, and a faint odor of lodiform seemed to bear out the truth of his statements in this respect. He said he had arrived here yesterday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock, and was thinking of going to the hospital for a few days, in order that he could get proper medical treatment for his wounded hand.

NOT THE MAN.

After the prisoner had been locked up, one of the young ladies who was the victim of the assault the other night, was called to the police station to identify him, but failed to do so. Mr. George Long, proprietor of the American Hotel, said that Sullivan stayed with him the night in question, and retired immediately after tea, as he was tired after his long journey from the camp, and did not arrive till morning.

Sullivan was liberated at about a quarter to eight last night, as there was absolutely nothing against him.

School Teachers Desire Increase

Brantford Pedagogues Petition the Board for an Advance

Brantford, Nov. 6.—The teaching staff of the local public schools have again petitioned the Board of Trustees for a raise in salary. The petition is generally signed, and the advance asked for is one applying to all grades. The school management committee met last evening, but made no recommendation in the matter, which will be left to the board for adjustment. The regular meeting of the board will be held on Thursday night. Salary schedules are being rearranged in other centres, and the local teachers think they should be in line. It is unlikely that the board will take immediate action.

Benefit Concert For Dave Hartley Is Now Proposed

Several Prominent Gentlemen Are Identified With the Movement

A proposal is on foot to hold a benefit concert for David Hartley, the great Peterborough walker. The matter is in its initial stages yet, but several prominent gentlemen are behind it and are meeting with much encouragement. The idea is to rent the Grand Opera House for a night, and have local talent put on a first class programme. Everybody will be willing to help, as it is realized that Hartley's great feat has brought much honor to the city. After paying expenses, the proceeds of the concert would, of course, be given to Hartley.

Farmer Propounds a Question That He Wants Answered

"I can't understand what keeps the price of meat so high in the city," remarked a farmer who called at the Review office the other day. "The butchers," he continued, "will not pay is anything like decent prices for our cattle yet they make the city people pay will for their meat. Just as an instance, I've got a steer that will easily produce 500 pounds of meat when he is killed and cut up. The best I have been offered for the animal is $19.00, yet beef is worth retail, 10 cents to 12 cents per pound.

"I can't understand what's wrong," said the man from the country as he departed. "There is a big difference between $19 and $50."

An illustration of how Zam-Buk heals and closes poisoned wounds, is provided by Mr. W. G. Stimers, of Colborne. He says, "Some time ago, in consequence of eating poisoned ivy I broke out in sores on my head and face. I went to a doctor who treated me and for a time the wounds healed but they broke out again, as bad as before, and all the remedies I tried, failed to give me relief. A sample box of Zam-Buk, which I obtained did me so much good that I purchased a proper supply. The result of its work has been a complete cure. The sores have healed without leaving any scars, and indeed now, there is no trace of them. The glands in my throat had become swollen and hard. These symptoms also have been cured by application of Zam-Buk."

Absolutely pure, Zam-Buk is nature's balm, and for all skin diseases is without equal. Zam-Buk will also cure ulcers, festering sores, ringworm, cuts, bruises, chapped hands, boils, eczema, piles, etc., etc. Write Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for free trial box, sending 1c. stamp. All stores and druggists sell at 50 cents a box.

WEDDING BELLS

O'ROURKE—MASTERSON

A very pleasing event took place on Tuesday morning at Burnley R.C. church, when Miss Annie Masterson, of Alnwick, was united in the bonds of holy matrimony to Mr. Richard O'Rourke, of Dartford.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father O'Connell, of Burnley, in the presence of only the immediate friends of the contracting parties. Mr. John Masterson, brother of the bride, was best man, and Miss Nellie Lynch, Rochester, was bridesmaid. After the ceremony the bridal party adjourned to the residence of Mr. Hugh Masterson, near Burnley, where a wedding breakfast was served. The bride and groom left on the G.T.R. to spend their honeymoon in Toronto and western point, followed by the best wishes of a large circle of friends.

THURSDAY, NOV. 7, 1907

MR. OWEN'S VICTORY

When the first reports came from East Northumberland on the night of the election it was represented that Mr. Owen, the Conservative candidate, had won by a majority of 250. This was an increase over the figure for 1904. A subsequent report reduced the majority to 148. Now the official figures are given and it appears that Mr. Owen's majority is no less than 242. The member-elect has, therefore, not only held the constituency, but has increased by 36 the majority, which stood at 206 at the general election.

The achievement entitles Mr. Owen and East Northumberland to the congratulations of the entire country, says the Mail and Empire. Mr. Owen put up a splendid fight, which deserved the recognition it secured; and the yeomen of East Northumberland did giant service to Canada in resisting the disgraceful offers of wharves, canals and works of various kinds, as inducements to vote for the prolongation of the regime of dishonesty and graft. There can be no doubt that the grafter campaign was the worst the constituency has ever had to face from that source. It was a most scientifically designed system of corruption. To the northern part of the county the Government offered whatever advantages were likely to accrue from the construction there of a section of the Trent Valley canal. It was with respect to this proffered bribe that the candidate of the Government made the imprudent complaint that the Minister of Railways had spoiled it by alleging, in a statement of folly, that the canal would be built no matter what verdict the constituency might give. To the more central part of the riding it was represented that cheap power depended upon the action of the Government, and that the action of the Government was likely to be regulated by the vote given by the people. In the southern section of the riding wharves and harbors were made to figure as the issues upon which the vote was to be taken, while among the farmers the representation was made that electric cars would come to their doors if the Government candidate should be elected. The schemes laid before the electors as inducements to forget the interests of their country, and to throw their influence on the side of graft, were very seductive. Yet the people, by an increased majority, declared for public honesty and for decent administration.

The farmers of East Northumberland, and the electors generally, rendered notable service to their country when they rejected the corrupt propositions of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's henchmen. They helped to rob this form of bribery of its value, and certainly they set an example of civic honor which other parts of Canada will be likely to copy. Nor will they necessarily lose the public works that have been promised. George Graham no doubt blurted out the truth when he made the unfortunate remark that certain of the bribes would be paid no matter what the vote might be. East Northumberland will get its necessary works, and if it does not, it can hold Mr. Mulholland, the defeated candidate responsible.

MR. GRAHAM AND THE CANAL

(Toronto News)

The News is assured that Hon. Geo. P. Graham, in his speech in East Northumberland did not present the Trent Valley Canal to the electors as a reason why they should support the Government candidate. It is said he pointed out that the project had the support both of Liberal and of Conservative Governments, and that the canal would be carried to completion, regardless of the decision of East Northumberland. The News had no reporter at Mr. Graham's meeting and therefore based its observations on certain reports of his speech which appeared elsewhere. We do not suggest that he was deliberately misrepresented, but it is possible that in a condensed report of his speech a false impression was conveyed. So far as the News is concerned, it would much rather believe that Mr. Graham discussed the canal as a national undertaking, deserving public support on its merits, than insist that he sought to make party capital out of the expenditures. There is no doubt that Mr. Mulholland's election cards and his campaign speeches were entirely improper and that he sought to draw upon the public treasury in order to secure his election. But it is gratifying to know that Mr. Graham gave no support to this phase of Mr. Mulholland's campaign and that he recognizes that public money and public works should not be distributed according to the party complexion of constituencies, but as the needs and interests of the country demand. Bold and flagrant as Mr. Mulholland's campaign was, so far as we have noticed, it has not drawn a word of disapproval from any Liberal journal, nor from any Liberal Club, from one end of the country to the other.

WAS WEAK ADMINISTRATOR

The wisdom of a change of Government is not always fully apparent at the outset, even in the most glaring cases of need in that particular. That the Ross Government fell through excess of poor material and poor construction is an old story. However, there was one item of interest in its career, that has only of late fully developed itself. It is in connection with the management of Asylums for the Insane, by the late Provincial Secretary, Mr. Stratton. It has been customary for the Examiner, as in duty bound, and for the friends of that gentleman generally, to claim a wonderful degree of efficiency for him in the management of his department. After the downfall of the Ross Government, the great weakness of Mr. Stratton's departmental administration, became at once apparent. But that he should have so far neglected his duties or so far mismanaged his departmental affairs as to leave the revenue from the estates of inmates in a state of perilous neglect, the public did not not know. Now, however, comparative statements show that in two years under the present management, there has been a steady increase amounting to over forty thousand dollars, in the revenue of such estates. This increase is due to the more careful and judicious management of the estates of the unfortunates on their behalf by the present Government, and is a distinct tribute to the efficiency of Hon. Mr. Hanna, the Provincial secretary, as it is a very distinct mark of the inefficiency of his predecessor.

PEN POINTS

This annual report of the Department of Justice has been issued. It is for the nine months —period ending March 31. There were in custody in the penitentiaries of the Dominion on March 31, 1,423 prisoners, compared with 1,439 on July 1, 1906. In Kingston, on March 31, there were 460; St. Vincent de Paul, 410; Dorchester, 211; Manitoba, 216; British Columbia, 142. Besides these there were 42 in Alberta jail, since made the penitentiary for the two western provinces. There were 157 paroles, 29 pardons, 12 deaths, and one escaped during the nine months. The one successful escape was from Alberta. The number of absolutely illiterate in the prison population is 17 per cent., married 434, single 948, widowed 41. There were 74 per cent. total abstainers, and 44 per cent., temperate. There were 83 Canadian, 221 from Britain, 14 from British possessions, and 315 aliens.

The Mount Forest representative of the Shelburne Economist, writes: "How did it come to pass that barrooms became a part of hotels in this country? Why isn't it the case that they are a part of a printing office? If that was the case there would now be five printing offices in this town doing a roaring business, instead of two which are ample to do all the printing that is necessary. It is very plain, therefore, that the hotel business is overdone for the sake of the money made by selling intoxicating liquor. In fact the hotelkeeper tells you that he could not afford to keep a public house, if it was not for the profits from the bar. It is true, no doubt, that five of them could not; it is just as true that two of them could; or that there is just as much money in the hotel business, without a bar, if run on business principles. This may help some people to do a little sensible thinking about local option.

The Great Lake Car Ferry Can Nowhere be Located

Liberal Reward is Offered for its Recovery—Neither Cobourg nor Charlotte Knows Anything of its Whereabouts.

The Rochester Democrat and Chronicle, says:

Lost—All traces of the car ferry-boat Ontario, which was to have been completed more than a year ago, but after many delays was solemnly promised for delivery in Cobourg on Saturday early in the present week.

Strayed—A telegram, to have been filed on Saturday last, to be sent to the officials of the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg railway Company, notifying them that the ferry-boat had cleared from Cobourg for Charlotte. Liberal rewards. Address, Inspector of Sea Gulls, Charlotte.

Just where the car ferryboat Ontario is nobody in Rochester knows, although the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg Railway Company owns a half interest in the vessel, and is understood to be exceedingly desirous to have the Ontario get into commission. So far as anybody in Rochester knows, the boat may have foundered in the middle of the lake, although that such an accident has occurred is highly improbable.

The story of the Ontario is one of broken promises. Some people think it is a joke, and therefore have not hesitated to "josh" those whose feelings they thought might be a little sensitive on the subject. to those who have been teased, and practically all the officials of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg Co. are included, the subject has ceased to be funny.

The promises that have been made by the Toronto Shipbuilding Company, builders of the boat, have told several times, together with the excuses given for not keeping the promises. There were strikes without number on the boat, and one would be settled just in time to have another break out within a few days. Fully a dozen dates have been fixed by the builders for the delivery of the boat, but all have passed without the boat being seen. When President Arthur G. Yates started on his trip the Pacific coast in the summer, the shipbuilding company agreed to have the boat in operation before he returned.

When Mr. Yates returned he found the boat still in the possession of the builders. He brought the subject to the attention of the shipbuilding company, and the company promised to have the boat ready late in September. Mr. Yates had already taken notice, and when that promise came he remarked that it would probably be October the 15th at least before the boat reached Charlotte.

Another promise was made last week to the effect that the boat would reach Cobourg on October 12 which was last Saturday and would come to Charlotte the first of the week, to go into regular service on October 15th, which was Tuesday. "We will notify you by telegraph when the boat leaves for Charlotte" the letter said.

The boat had not reached Charlotte up to midnight last night, the telegram had not been received and not another word had been heard fom the boat. Whether the Ontario is at Toronto, Cobourg or some other place, or whether it will reach Charlotte this week or this month, was not known to the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg Railway officials at the close of business last night.

The Cobourg World adds:

From the above article it will be seen that our neighbors across the water at Charlotte and Rochester are waiting as anxiously for the new ferryboat as we in Cobourg. We can at least satisfy them on one point. Ontario No. I is not hidden away anywhere around Cobourg.

Is Water Being Taken From Lake Scugog to a Too Great Extent?

Depth is Gradually Decreasing Owing to Misuse and Waste of the Water at Lindsay—Port Perry Journal Points Out Government's Duty in the Matter.

From time to time the Port Perry Sun, stirred by the people of that lakeside burg, has something to say on the subject of the passing of Lake Scugog as a navigable stream, owing to the misuse and waste of water in Lindsay. In this week's issue the Star gives the draughts of many of the vessels plying below Lindsay, pointing out that only one of the fleet— the government tug Bob Hall — draws more water than the steamer Stranger, formerly plying out of Port Perry. The Star then goes on to say;

The only boat that is running on the lake at the present time is the Cora, owned and run by Captain Bowerman. To be accurate one should say that the Cora is the only boat running on parts of Lake Scugog. The other day Captain Bowerman tried to take a load of brick to Oaesarea, but was compelled to land his cargo at a point three miles distant from his proper destination. This caused the person requiring the brick six miles extra run for every load, and detained the scow to such an extent that the captain had to take two extra trips to see if it was free.

It begins to look as if the water was being taken from Scugog to such an extent as to impede navigation. The Cora draws 3 feet 89 inches of water and cannot navigate in its regular channels. The Stranger draws 5 ft-4 feet of water, and used to run freely on Lake Scugog. Now it cannot run at all. Navigation is being impeded on Lake Scugog. The people in the vicinity.—all except one or two, and we will speak of these later—demand that the cause of the impediment be removed.

LINDSAY DAM

Some time ago a plank was placed at the top of the dam at Lindsay, which raised the water in the lake about one foot. Some marsh lands were flooded and the owners, knowing the wealth and generosity of the Government, made complaint, and demanded that the plank be removed. The complaint was, in a measure, just, but the measure was extended unduly. Those who have travelled the lake in every part, state that the water could be raised three feet and not do $1,000 worth of damage along the whole shore. There is no need to pay $10,000 to adjust claims, which actually are not worth one-tenth of that amount.

The Government has the power to expropriate the land at a fair valuation. The usual course is to offer a reasonable sum for the land claimed to be damaged, and if that sum is refused, a board of arbitrators is appointed, with power to settle the matter finally.

The Government should never have allowed that plank to be removed from the dam at Lindsay. Proper study of the case would show that where one man is injured because the water is too high, a thousand suffer, because it is too low. Of what value are all the reports that are made if they are not acted upon. A report is only valuable to give the Government the air of being busy, if they do not act upon its recommendations.

There is a parable in the Bible, which tells of an importunate widow who at last received justice because of her importunity. We are going to follow the example of the widow.

Y. M. C. A. Harriers Propose Holding a Big Indoor Meet

Matter Discussed at Annual Meeting Last Night—Committee Appointed to Make Arrangements—Election of Officers—Other Business Transacted.

At the annual meeting of the Y.M. C.A. Harrier's Club last evening it was decided to hold an indoor meet and Messrs. C. G. Graham, E. S. Clarry and E. M. Best were appointed a committee to make the necessary arrangements for such, and to deal with all business in connection with it. The meet will be held in the near future and the proposal to hold one met with the greatest approval, and much enthusiasm was shown by those present.

It is the intention of the club to procure the Brock Street Rink some evening and run off a number of athletic events. This no doubt would be a great drawing card and the public generally would support it. Messrs. J. J. Howden, E. S. Clarry and Chris. Graham in referring to it, remarked that it would be a splendid thing, and such meets should be encouraged.

It is proposed to hold several races probably a five mile run, a 100 yard dash and several other runs, and most likely a walking match can be arranged. The club will also endeavor to bring Tom Coley or Longboat down from Toronto for the long distance events.

The meeting was attended last night by about twenty and the affairs of the club were interestingly discussed. Mr. E. M. Best occupied the chair and Mr. Jas. Clarke was appointed secretary pro tem. The minutes of the last annual meeting were read and adopted. It was decided upon motion to make the fee for seniors 50 cents, and for juniors, 25 cents per annum. The Harriers will be represented at the Toronto meet on Saturday by Ernie Wilson, but it was decided not to send a team to the Montreal meet, as the event they would enter would be a fifteen mile one and the Harrier runners had trained for only ten miles, with the exception of Fred Simpson.

The election of officers resulted as follows,—

Hon.-Pres., Mr. J. R. Stratton,
Hon. Vice-Pres., Mr. H. B. H. Kenner.
Hon. 2nd Vice-Pres., Mr. R. G. Morrow.
President, Mr. E. M. Best.
Vice-Pres., Mr. J. J. Howden.
2nd Vice-Pres., Mr. V. Eastwood.
Secretary, Mr. R. M. Glover.
Treasurer, Mr. C. G. Graham.
Captain, Mr. Ray Best.
Trainer, Mr. Dick Baker.
Committee—Messrs. F. A. Clarke, E. Watson, E. Bruce, E. S. Clarry, and A. Poe.

Mr. E. S. Clarry in a few well-chosen remarks, referred to the honor that had been brought to the club by Mr. Fred Simpson in winning second in the Hamilton Herald race. He took great pleasure in moving that a resolution of appreciation of the Indian runner, be placed on record. Mr. J. J. Howden seconded the motion, referring to the honor also brought the city of Peterborough by the Indian. The motion was carried unanimously.

The meeting then adjourned.

Saved Her Friend.

Ottawa, Ont.—Acquaintances of Mrs. M. E. Dewar, of this city, are showering her with congratulations on being rescued from what promised to be hopeless invalidism. Mrs. Dewar had not been herself for years. Physicians treated her for various complaints, but none of them did any permanent good. Finally, a friend determined that something must be done and that quickly. So she insisted on Mrs. Dewar trying "Fruit-a-tives"—those wonderful Fruit Liver Tablets that are curing so many people. Here is what Mrs. Dewar says about "Fruit-a-tives." "I have much pleasure in stating that I have found 'Fruit-a-tives' the best medicine I ever used for Constipation and Biliousness. I suffered from headaches of a severe kind for a long time, but, after taking 'Fruit-a-tives,' I have become entirely well. I can, with every confidence, recommend 'Fruit-a-tives' to anyone suffering from Constipation, Biliousness or Headaches."

Calomel, salts, oil and other violent cathartics act simply on the bowels. "Fruit-a-tives" are a liver tonic and stimulant. They act directly on the liver — reducing inflammation and increasing the flow of bile. Besides insuring complete digestion, bile makes the bowels move. That is why "Fruit-a-tives" also cure Constipation. They are made of fruit and tonics. 50c a box; 6 for $2.50. At all druggists, or sent on receipt of price. Fruit-a-tives, Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

DEBATING CLUB HELD MEETING

Interesting Programme Rendered at Last Night's Session

The fortnightly meeting of the Y. M.C.A. Debating Club was held last evening, when there were a large number in attendance and several new members joined the club.

Mr. W. Shiner, president, occupied the chair, and a talk on "Current Events," by Mr. N. A. Howard-Moore, was first given, and proved very interesting.

"Resolved, that education by reading, is superior to education by travelling," was the subject of an interesting debate.

The affirmative was led by Messrs W. McLaren and B. A. Lillie, while the negative was upheld by Messrs. Wm. Common and Chas. Coleman.

The judges were Messrs. Reed, Baker and F. Ray.

After a close consideration of the arguments presented by each side, they decided that education by reading was superior, and declared the affirmative had won.

A general discussion followed, in which all took part.

Mr. J. E. Hodgson, critic for the society, gave an impartial criticism of the programme, pointing out the defects and suggesting improvements along certain lines.

The evening was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

The next meeting will be held on Wednesday, Nov. 21st, when five nmembers will give a talk on "Men of Canada."

Mysterious Death In Eldon Township

Jury Concludes Automobile Was Not Responsible for George McKelvey's End

Lindsay, Nov. 6.—Some weeks ago rumors of a fatality in Eldon township, as a result of an automobile accident, were rife in town but strange to say, it was found impossible to glean any particulars. No record of the affair appeared in the Toronto or local press, and the incident passed from the public mind. Apparently an accident did take place, and an inquest was pressed for. After all night session Coroner Wood's jury at Kirkfield returned a verdict at 7 o'clock yesterday morning.

"That George McKelvey came to his death on Sept. 22, 1907, on the Portage road, by having four of his ribs broken, penetrating his lung. What caused the broken ribs we have no direct evidence to show. We find that no blame can be attached to the automobile or the occupants, and that due precaution was taken to warn him of this danger."

The automobile in question was that of William Mackenzie, of Toronto, and the occupants at the time included Mrs. William Mackenzie.

McKelvey, who was 70 years of age, was driving a load of logs on the road, about 2 or 3 o'clock in the afternoon, when the auto came up behind him. As to what happened there is a difference of opinion. McKelvey's daughters say they heard no horn. Mr. Mackenzie stated that the horn was blown, and that the old man heard it, and suddenly started back. The logs rolled off and the horses ran away. McKelvey died about three hours after his injuries.

County Crown Attorney Devlin, town, conducted the case for the Crown, and Alexander MacGregor, of Toronto, was solicitor for the widow.

Consumers Don't Like High Prices

But Hotelmen Say The are Forced to Charge What They Do

The present schedule of liquor prices that rules at the various local hotels does not meet with the approval of the consumers, but the hotelmen say that owing to the material advance in the wholesale prices made by brewers and distillers they have found it necessary to charge what they are doing at present.

However, consumers of liquor by the glass in this part of the country are fortunate compared with those in Western Canada where beer sells at 15c a glass or 3 for a quarter. And where whiskey is proportionately higher.

High Praise for Nicholl's Hospital

Peterborough, Nov. 6, '07.

We, the brothers and sisters of the late Isaac Baxter, desire to thank the Nicholls Hospital and their very efficient staff of nurses, through the columns of your very valuable paper, for the kindness shown to our late brother in his last illness, which extended to nearly two months in hospital. To his nurses we give the highest praise for their untiring kindness in waiting on him.

To the Lady Superintendent words fail to express how deeply we are indebted to her for her kindness to our late brother; also we thank her for kindness and courtesy shown to us by her when watching by our brothers' bedside, and the sympathy which was shown to us by her and staff of nurses in the loss of our brother, which we feel most deeply and keenly. We also thank the different clergymen who visited him daily, and their kindness to him.

BACK ACHE IS THE FIRST SIGN

Mixture Said to Relieve Lame Back and Prevents Kidney Disease

Take care of backache. A great many cases of kidney complaint are reported about here, also bladder trouble and rheumatism.

An authority once stated that pain in the back, loins, or region of the kidneys, is the danger signal nature hangs out to notify the sufferer that there is something wrong with the kidneys, which should receive immediate attention. Only vegetable treatment should be administered and absolutely no strongly alcoholic patent medicines, which are harmful to the kidneys and bladder.

The following prescription, while simple, harmless and inexpensive, is known and recognized as a sovereign remedy for kidney complaint. The ingredients can be obtained at any good prescription pharmacy, and anyone can mix them; Compound Kargon one ounce; Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well in a bottle, and take in teaspoonful doses, after each meal, and at bedtime.

This preparation is said to restore the natural function of the kidneys, so they will sift and strain the poisonous waste matter, uric acid, etc. from the blood, purifying it and relieving rheumatism. Backache will be relieved the urine will be neutralized and cleared, and no longer a cause of irritation, thereby overcoming such symptoms as weak bladder, painful, frequent and other urinary difficulties.

This is worth trying and may prove just what many people here need.

THE SHADOW BEHIND THE THRONE

"The Shadow Behind the Throne," which appears at the Grand on Saturday, Nov. 9th, for both a matinee and night performance, is one of the strongest dramatic productions of its kind on the road. It was given a splendid reception here last season and this year it is presented by the most capable company that has ever interpreted the piece. Referring to the appearance of "The Shadow Behind the Throne" here last year, the Review of September 22nd, 1906, says:

"With a capable company, an interesting plot, numerous thrilling incidents and plenty of go and action all the way, "The Shadow Behind the Throne," was presented before a large audience at the Grand Opera House last night. The play was well put on in every respect and made a decided hit.

"The piece deals with the adventures of the American Legation party at Pekin, during one of the native uprisings, and there is never a lack of excitement. The principal role, that of the Mandarin, the Shadow Behind the Throne, was capably taken by Leander de Cordova, whose acting was most realistic at all times. Celia Campbell took the part of Dorothy Calhoun, and did splendid work in the leading feminine role. W. P. Dale, as Bobby Carruthers, and Jos. Foley as the American correspondent were also conspicuous by their good work. The support given throughout was excellent.

"The scenic effects were unusually good, one of them, the dynamite scene, was quite novel, and showed great ingenuity behind the footlights. On the whole, the production had many points of merit and deserved an even better house than it received."

Many Boquets Are Given "The Mayor of Laughland"

Many boquets are given

To those who like a musical play brimming over with mirth and tunefulness, having elaborate stage embellishments, an all-star cast and a clever chorus, "The Mayor of Laughland," which appears at the Grand to-night, is sure to appeal. The play has received flattering press notices all along its route and concerning its appearance at Ottawa's leading theatre the Ottawa Citizen says:

"A tabloid of fun and laughter fits the programme designation of 'The Mayor of Laughland,' presented by Nixon and Zimmerman, which drew holiday audiences to the Russell yesterday afternoon and evening. And the description does not fit too badly. The Mayor of Laughland certainly succeeded in making the audience laugh. There is some fetching music, and Charles Fulton, May W. Waters and Bessie Merrill have pleasing voices. The chorus appears in variety of costumes, some of which are quite attractive, and introduces some novel features. But the comedy element predominates. Tom Waters had his name in black letters on the programme and he made good. He is a capital comedian and sings in a taking way, but his best work was in his piano playing which made a bit; Major Casper Nowak, a midget, also contributed to the humorous part of the concoction and got a good share of the applause."

Body as Yet is Unclaimed

Man Killed at Wesleyville Still in Port Hope Morgue

The remains of the late David Sullivan, who was killed at Wesleyville on Oct. 11th, are still occupying a place in Mr. Alf. George's morgue, Port Hope. It will be remembered that the deceased was travelling west on the train which leaves there at 3.45 p.m. He fell from this train, escaping injury, but while walking down the track he was struck by an eastbound freight, receiving injuries from which he died. The remains were found by Thomas Carscadden and Milton Outridge, and after being viewed by Coroner Aldrich were removed to Mr. George's. By papers found on the deceased it was learned that he resided on St. David street, Toronto, but as yet, none of his friends have been located.

The body has been embalmed and is in a splendid state of preservation.

Mr. Melville Moore and Miss O. White Win Handsome Prizes

Mr. Melville Moore and Miss Vera White were the winners of the contest for ladies and gentlemen skating in couples at the roller rink last evening. WESTMOUNT I COMING STRONG

Team Will be the Same as That Which Defeated Kingston

The Montreal Gazette says: Westmount will meet Peterborough in Peterborough on Saturday, in the final game for the O.R.F.U. championship, and the local team is now putting in its final work in preparation for the struggle. There will be signal practices tonight and tomorrow night, and a full line-up Thursday morning. The team will leave here Friday night, and unless something unexpected happens it will probably be the same fourteen that defeated Kingston in Kingston. Only one game is to be played in the final and as it was decided at the O.R.F.U. meeting that the game would be played on the grounds of the western winners, Westmount must travel. Westmount was under the final game would be played on neutral grounds, but afterwards found that the decision was as above. The referee will be an eastern man and the umpire a westerner. Names agreeable to the two teams have been decided upon, but the consent of the officials named, has not yet been obtained.

Be at the Turnbull Co.'s early on Friday and secure your share of the snaps in the Jno. Knox Sale.

BRAKE SHOE DROPPED AND STOPPED TRAIN

Peculiar Accident to C.P.R. Express Near Indian River

Two passengers on No. 3 west-bound C.P.R. express, which passes through Peterborough at 4.48 each afternoon, had a rather exciting time last night this side of Indian river.

The express was about an hour late owing to the wreck at Polycarpe, near Montreal, and was making good time, when all of a sudden there was a sudden jolt that threw some of them off their seats.

A most peculiar and unheard of thing had happened.

The brake shoe had worked loose and had slipped down between the two big driving wheels of the engine, where it became firmly wedged, so that the engine could not budge. She tried in vain to move. The two driving wheels were forced apart and an engine had to be sent down from Peterborough to assist the locomotive to move, so that the brake shoe could be released. The mishap caused a delay of about an hour and a half, and it was 8 o'clock before No 3 reached Peterborough on her way west to Toronto.

Another Fire in Hastings

Threatened at One Time to Destroy Whole Village

Hastings, Nov. 7.—About 11.30 this morning fire broke out in the furniture store of F. M. Howard, strong wind was blowing, and it looked for a time as if the east end of the town would be destroyed. The fire, however, was prevented from spreading, and the loss was not as great as was anticipated.

Word received by the Review from Hastings this afternoon states that the foregoing despatch is greatly exaggerated and that not more than $300 damages was done. The blaze broke out in the top storey from a chimney, about ten o'clock yesterday morning. The village was never threatened. In fact the damage done was principally by water and not by flames. The building is owned by Mr. Alex. Greenly. Mr P. M. Howard occupied the ground floor for storing furniture, while the upstairs was occupied by Mr. Robert Fennell as a residence.

The Y.M.C.A. Will Extend its Work

Will Devote Attention to Immigrants at Montreal

As a result of a conference held at the Y.M.C.A. headquarters in Montreal Wednesday night, it is probable that the association will appoint two men to devote their time specially to looking after the interests of the immigrants pouring into Canada not only from the United Kingdom, but from Continental ports. A building is likely to be taken where additional accommodation will be provided for young and old men, and assistance given to help the newcomers not only to find situations, but to get accommodation. There was a meeting last night at the association's headquarters, on Dominion Square, which was presided over by Mr. C. C. Holland, vice president of the association. The object of the meeting was to meet Mr. Charles Philidius, the secretary of the World's committee, at Geneva Switzerland. Dr. Peter Roberts, of Philadelphia, was also one of the speakers. The purport of the address was to the effect that there was good room for work on the part of the association, in regard to the immigrants now pouring into Canada, and the great idea on the part of all those present was to make the life of the immigrant, while he was here in Montreal more pleasant, and to save him from the many temptations and sharks, which beset his path, after he leaves the ship. The question of providing the incoming immigrants with quarters, was discussed, and the matter of the opening of a general bureau of information in regards to the city, and the situations, which might be found desirable for certain classes of men. The dominant idea of the gathering was that more earnest effort should be made by the Y.M.C.A. to look after the newcomers.

Herr Brand, for libelling Prince von Buelow, has been sentenced to eighteen months' imprisonment.

Quebec City Was Swept By Terrific Wind Storm

Gale Attained Velocity of 100 Miles an Hour.

Street Cars at Standstill—Wires and Poles Blown Away—Hundreds of Trees Uprooted—Shipping Suffered Severely — River Strewn With Wreckage — Many Houses Badly Damaged—Signs Swept Off.

Quebec, Nov. 8.—Quebec was visited Wednesday night by the most terrific wind and rainstorm it has experienced in 20 years.

A strong northeast gale set in about eight o'clock and gradually increased until one o'clock yesterday morning, when it attained the velocity of 100 miles an hour.

In the more exposed sections through the city hardly a householder escaped some damage to his property. Hundreds of trees and fences were found strewn along the sidewalks and streets yesterday morning. Dozens of outbuildings were razed to the ground, while through the business section countless signs were blown down and swept off for blocks by the hurricane.

The Quebec Railway, Light & Power Co. has suffered severely. The wires and poles leading to the Montmorency Falls have been carried away. In consequence, there was no electric power through the city up to noon yesterday. The street cars have not run since Wednesday night, and all industries operated by a dynamo are at a standstill. The Quebec Chronicle was not printed until shortly after noon yesterday owing to lack of power.

In the port of Quebec the damage is considerable. The pontoon of the Quebec and Levis Ferry Co. was swept from its moorings and being carried across the river, crashed into the pontoon and sheds of the St. Lawrence Navigation Co., completely wrecking both. The damage here is in the vicinity of $15,000. The Government steamer Druid was struck by another floating pontoon and slightly damaged, and it in turn struck the steamer Canadien, which also suffered some injury, while the Government steam launch was swamped.

Dozens of barges are high and dry along the Beauport Flats and as the waters have subsided they will have to remain in their present positions until the high tides next spring.

One schooner, laden with potatoes for the Beauport Asylum, was carried completely over the track of the Q. R. L. & P. Co., while many small craft moored along the lower town had their forepeaks stove in by coming in contact with the wharves. Great armies of carpenters and roofers are now at work repairing the damages caused throughout the city, while the cargoes are being removed from the beached schooners.

Track Washed Away.

St. John, N. B., Nov. 8.—A terrific easterly gale raged along the Bay of Fundy Wednesday night, the wind reaching a velocity of from 60 to 70 miles per hour. A large section of the C. P. R. track at Notre St. Andrews was washed away.

Actor Gets Great Ovation; Cheers Greet His Appearance

Truth Outdoes Fiction on a New York Stage.

Hitchcock Again Resumes His Role—Given Hearty Welcome by Audience—Broke Down at One Point—Touching Scene When Wife Throws Her Arms About Husband's Neck—Could Scarcely Go On.

New York, Nov. 8.—Raymond Hitchcock reappeared in "The Yankee Tourist" Wednesday afternoon.

There has been no time properly to stage this spectacular reappearance of the accused actor. Up to the moment of Hitchcock's arrival at the theatre the attaches of the house believed him to be still a fugitive. The matinee audience was small, probably because of the rain.

Led by strong-armed ushers, the applause that greeted Hitchcock's unexpected appearance on the stage was loud and long sustained. When it had subsided the actor advanced to the footlights and said:

"I thank you, friends, for this greeting."

Wednesday night the electric sign in front of the Astor Theatre flashed the name of Hitchcock instead of that of Wallace Berry, the understudy who has been taking his part. No formal announcement, however, was issued from the offices of Henry W. Savage, who controls the production of "A Yankee Tourist." Mr. Savage was absent in Washington.

When Hitchcock appeared Wednesday night he faced an audience that crowded the Astor Theatre to the doors. It was an unusual audience in many ways. It included few times familiar to Broadway theatre-goers. There was not a dress suit in the house, as far as The World reporters could see. More slips for complimentary tickets went into the box-office windows than close watchers could count.

The ovation was pulled off on schedule time. Hitchcock and Kirke Warren danced out upon the stage to the accompaniment of roaring applause. Muscular gentlemen, massed in the open space between the orchestra chairs, led the tumult with great determination and sustained vigor. They cried "bravo!" and "hurrahs!" 'till they were hoarse.

Just once there was a note of genuine sympathy. This was in the first act, when Flora Zabelle, the comedian's wife, in the role of Grace Whitney, meets her husband in the centre of the stage. Hand clasped in hand, they stood for a moment, lines seemingly forgotten, and the crowd applauded. When the actor's wife threw both arms around his neck, drew his face down to hers and kissed him full upon the lips.

Hitchcock may have been nervous, but showed no traces of it. He played with dash and spirit and got as many laughs as ever.

Wrecked Sailors Ashore.

St. John, N. B., Nov. 8.—After battling for their lives in terrific seas, the crew of five men of the two-masted schooner Tartar were washed ashore yesterday on part of the cabin. They were exhausted when pulled from the breakers.

The Tartar was bound from Sydney with coal for Richibucto and struck on a dangerous bar at the mouth of the harbor. Seas began to sweep over her, causing her to fall off in deep water, where she sank. The crew climbed the masts, the tops of which remained above water a few feet. Finally part of the house floated by and they clung to it.

A Fatal Mistake.

London, Nov. 8.—Miss Martha Waterhouse, 302 King street, aged about 70, is dead, as the result of having drunk a quantity of carbolic acid yesterday afternoon. Miss Waterhouse, who has been a cripple for a long time, and lives alone with a maid to care for her. It is believed that she took the poison in mistake for medicine.

KILLED IN COLD BLOOD

Wealthy Trader Shot by Escaping Horse Thief.

Robert Williams Attempted to Stop Man Crossing Ferry — Was Shot Through the Heart With Revolver —Indians Give the Alarm—Ruffian Escaped With Three Horses—Police In Chase.

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 8.—Robert Williams, owner of half a dozen trading posts in Cariboo, was murdered in cold blood Tuesday afternoon at a crossing of the North River, 60 miles north of Kamloops.

Walter Stout did the killing. Five Indians witnessed the tragedy and saw Stout escape. They jumped on their horses and hardly without drawing rein they galloped to police headquarters at Kamloops. There they arrived at midnight Wednesday.

Chief Constable Fernie organized a posse and started north yesterday morning to hunt for the desperado, who headed for Edmonton along the winter trail. Williams was the largest trader in the country. One hundred miles north Stout had stolen two horses, but word was sent by an Indian instructing Williams to prevent Stout crossing the river at his landing. Williams refused Stout permission to cross on the ferry, and Stout with a single shot from his revolver put a bullet through Williams' heart. Stout ferried himself across the river and escaped with three horses. Snow is falling and the chase will be a long one.

VICTORY FOR LLOYD-GEORGE.

Ending of British Railway Dispute a Triumph of Diplomacy.

London, Nov. 8.—The agreement drafted by David Lloyd-George, which has averted the threatened British railroad strike, provides for the consideration of further matters in dispute primarily by a sectional board of conciliation representing the various grades of employes and the individual railroads; in case of disagreement settlement will be reached by the board of conciliation, and an equal number of men representing the full membership of the society. If the board and these representatives fail to reach a decision, the matter then must be settled by arbitration.

The directors of the railroads thus bind themselves to compulsory outside intervention in disputes with their employes. The board will in every case be composed of elected employes of the companies concerned, as well as officials of the various railroads.

The dispute, apart from its effect on the public business, has attracted attention of high officials of the Government, even that of King Edward himself. His Majesty has taken the deepest interest in the crisis, and the extraordinary efforts and precautions adopted by the President of the Board of Trade.

For this reason the news of the settlement was not given out until the King had received from Mr. Lloyd-George information that the crisis was over.

Probably Shot Wrong Man.

Buffalo, Nov. 8.—Charles Charles, an Englishman, 32 years old, was shot, probably fatally, by Patrolman Crotty early yesterday. Crotty had heard a crash of glass, and when he saw Charles going rapidly from a store he called to stop. Charles began to run, so Crotty shot at him, the bullet entering his left lung. He denies attempting to rob the store.

Earthquake In Spain.

Madrid, Nov. 8.—A violent earthquake has occurred at Torre La Rebera, in the Province of Huesca. The earth opened, leaving great fissures, the disturbance being accompanied by subterranean rumblings, which caused a panic among the population. Many houses were shaken down, but the number of lives lost is not known.

Family Was Starving.

Ottawa, Nov. 8.—Alphonse Menard's wife and child were starving. He was out of work and could get none.

In desperation he broke into the Gesumon Fish and Game Club on the Lievre River, and stole several articles. He was arrested, pleaded guilty, and returned the goods.

Yesterday the Hull magistrate sent him to jail for two months.

Great Britain Much Alive.

London, Nov. 8.—The October statement of the Board of Trade shows increases of $15,125,000 in imports and $25,420,000 in exports.

The principal increase in imports was $15,000,000 in grain and flour, and the increase in exports were coal $5,000,000, and manufactured goods $18,750,000, of which $5,000,000 were cotton fabrics.

Young Woman Paralyzed.

St. Catharines, Nov. 8.—Miss Blanch Brooks, aged 22, employed as proof-reader at The Star-Journal office, Wednesday night, while dressing to go out to spend the evening, was stricken with paralysis, which left helpless the whole left side of her body. She had always enjoyed the very best of health.

Inter-Imperial News.

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 8.—The Vancouver Board of Trade favors the establishment of an inter-imperial news agency as a means of discouraging the present use by newspapers of so much material emanating from American sources, tending to crowd out Canadian and Imperial matter.

Another Big British Battleship.

Newcastle, Eng., Nov. 8.—The British battleship Superb, another improved Dreadnought, was launched at Elswick yards here yesterday.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

CHIDES CONVICTED HUSBAND.

Wife Taunts Man Who Is Going to the Gallows.

Hamilton, Nov. 8.—Jake Sunfield, alias Tamillo, who will hang on Nov. 29, for the murder of Andrew Radzyk, a German Pole, unless efforts being made by his lawyer, J. L. Counsell, for a new trial, are successful, received a letter this week from his wife, whom he left in Chicago:

"Dear Jake Tamilla," she writes, "I want to write you a few lines and tell you that your children were asking for you last Sunday when I seen them at 4 o'clock in the home, and I told them that their father was dead, and they did not say anything.

"I am very sorry that you must leave this world and go to the other all for a woman's sake. It would have been better if you had lived with your family.

"If you have any money that you can spare you should give it to the children, for I have to pay $12 a month and get their clothes. Besides, I think you should do something for your children. Answer as soon as you can. I go to see the children every Sunday afternoon. I have one letter from you that you sent me at the shop. I will send it back to you, and now you read it over and think it over again. I am not glad that this turned out, but I think the Lord wanted it to be so. I am very glad that the Lord took good care of me from all harm. I will send you a picture of mine and you can look at me once more and for the last. So good-bye forever."

The letter is signed, "Your true wife Mary Tamillo." In a postscript the woman adds a dash of irony. "Take good care of yourself and be good to yourself. I am working every day," she wrote.

ONLY SEVENTY ESCAPED.

Three Thousand Four Hundred Perished in Recent Landslide.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 8.—A despatch received here from Samarkand by the official telegraph agency says that a special representative of the local paper, who was sent to Karatagh, in the Hissar district of Bokhara, which was destroyed by a landslide following the earthquake of Oct. 21, reports that 3,400 persons were killed there as a result of the disaster, and that only seventy escaped.

Will Wipe Out Duty on Paper.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—President Roosevelt yesterday indicated to members of the committee on paper of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association that he will recommend to Congress the abolition of the tariff on press paper, wood pulp and the wood that goes into the manufacture of paper; also that he will make a recommendation to the Department of Justice that it take immediate steps to ascertain whether the anti-trust laws are being disobeyed by the manufacturers of paper.

May Arrest Manufacturer.

Montreal, Nov. 8.—At an inquest yesterday in connection with the case of a workman named Rousseau, who was killed in the factory of the Thos. Davidson Co., the company was held responsible for his death, and it is now proposed to arrest a member of the firm to answer to the charge. The ground for this step is that a piece of machinery was left unguarded, which, according to law, should have been protected.

Another Gigantic Fine.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 8.—Judge Olin Wellborn, in the United States District Court here yesterday, fined the Santa Fe Railway Co. $330,000 for rebating. The company was convicted on 66 counts of granting rebates to the Grand Canyon Lime & Cement Co. on shipments of freight from Nelson, Arizona, to Los Angeles. The fine is $5,000 on each of the 66 counts.

OPERATION AVOIDED

EXPERIENCE OF MISS MERKLEY

She Was Told That an Operation Was Inevitable. How She Escaped It.

When a physician tells a woman suffering with serious feminine trouble that an operation is necessary, the very thought of the knife and the operating table strikes terror to her heart, and our hospitals are full of women coming for just such operations.

Miss Margret Merkley

There are cases where an operation is the only resource, but when one considers the great number of cases of menacing female troubles cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after physicians have advised operations, no woman should submit to one without first trying the Vegetable Compound and writing Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice, which is free.

Miss Margret Merkley, of 275 Third Street, Milwaukee, Wis., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"Loss of strength, extreme nervousness, shooting pains through the pelvic organs, bearing-down pains and cramps compelled me to seek medical advice. The doctor, after making an examination said I had a female trouble and ulceration and advised an operation. To this I strongly objected and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The ulceration quickly healed, all the bad symptoms disappeared and I am once more strong, vigorous and well."

Female troubles are steadily on the increase among women. If the monthly periods are very painful, or too frequent and excessive—if you have pain or swelling low down in the left side, bearing-down pains, don't neglect yourself: try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The Prisoner of Zenda

Burlesdon got up, went to a corner of the room and searched in a heap of newspapers. Presently he came back with a copy of the Illustrated London News. Opening the paper, he displayed a double page engraving of the coronation of Rudolf V. at Strelsau. The photograph and the picture he laid side by side. I sat at the table fronting them, and as I looked I grew absorbed. My eye traveled from my own portrait to Sapt, to Strakenez, to the rich robes of the cardinal, to Black Michael's face, to the stately figure of the princess by his side. Long I looked and eagerly. I was roused by my brother's hand on my shoulder. He was gazing down at me with a puzzled expression.

"It's a remarkable likeness, you see," said I. "I really think I had better not go to Ruritania."

Rose, though half convinced, would not abandon her position.

"It's just an excuse," she said, pettishly. "You don't want to do anything. Why, you might become an ambassador!"

"I don't think I want to be an ambassador," said I.

"It's more than you ever will be," she retorted.

That is very likely true, but it is not more than I have been. The idea of being an ambassador could scarcely dazzle me. I had been a king!

So pretty Rose left us in dudgeon, and Burlesdon, lighting a cigarette, looked at me still with that curious gaze.

"That picture in the paper"—he said.

"Well, what of it? It shows that the king of Ruritania and your humble servant are as like as two peas."

My brother shook his head.

"I suppose so," he said. "But I should know you from the man in the photograph."

"And not from the picture in the paper?"

"I should know the photograph from the picture; the picture's very like the photograph, but"—

"Well?"

"It's more like you," said my brother.

My brother is a good man and true, so that, for all that he is a married man and mighty fond of his wife, he should know any secret of mine. But this secret was not mine, and I could not tell it to him.

"I don't think it's so much like me as the photograph," said I boldly. "But, anyhow, Bob, I won't go to Strelsau."

"No, don't go to Strelsau, Rudolf," said he.

And whether he suspects anything or has a glimmer of the truth I do not know. If he has, he keeps it to himself, and he and I never refer to it. And we let Sir Jacob Borrodaile find another attache.

Since all these events whose history I have set down happened I have lived a very quiet life at a small house which I have taken in the country. The ordinary ambitions and aims of men in my position seem to me dull and unattractive. I have little fancy for the whirl of society and none for the jostle of politics. Lady Burlesdon utterly despairs of me. My neighbors think me an indolent, dreamy, unsociable fellow. Yet I am a young man, and sometimes I have a fancy—the superstitious would call it a presentiment—that my past in life is not yet altogether played; that, somehow and some day, I shall mix again in great affairs, I shall again spin policies in a busy brain, match my wits against my enemies', brace my muscle to fight a good fight and strike stout blows. Such is the tissue of my thoughts as, with gun or rod in hand, I wander through the woods or by the side of the stream. Whether the fancy will be fulfilled I cannot tell, still less whether the scene that, led by memory, I lay for my new exploits will be the true one—for I love to see myself once again in the crowded streets of Strelsau or beneath the frowning keep of the castle of Zenda.

Thus led, my brooding leave the future and turn back on the past. Shapes rise before me in long array—the wild first revel with the king, the rush with my brave teatable, the night in the moat, the pursuit in the forest, my friends and my foes, the people who learned to love and honor me, the desperate men who tried to kill me. And from amid these last comes one who alone of all of them yet moves on earth, though where I know not, yet plans (as I do not doubt) wickedness, yet turns women's hearts to softness and men's to fear and hate. Where is young Rupert of Hentzau, the boy who came so nigh to beating me? When his name comes into my head I feel my hand grip and the blood move quicker through my veins, and the hint of fate, the presentiment, seems to grow stronger and more definite and to whisper insistently in my ear that I have yet a hand to play with young Rupert; therefore I exercise myself in arms and seek to put off the day when the vigor of youth must leave me.
